ANTRIM TOWN FAIR

A Few Letters From Citizens Regarding this Fine Proposition

The "Antrim Town Fair" proposition should command the hearty support of every person interested in Antrim.

It is one of the least expensive and yet the most promising and effective schemes for advertising the advantages of our beautiful town that has been suggested for many months. The success of the undertaking, however, will depend much upon the united, honest help of every man, woman and child.

The beneficial influences that will naturally and surely pervade our own community and extend by newspaper reports and other means to all parts of the country, now so wideawake and appreciative of every special attraction and advantage offered, need not be guaranteed.

Antrim will surprise Antrim people and surely surprise many people in other towns and cities in this state and other states. Is it that what we want to do? Sure!

That is what we want to do.

That is what we propose to do.

That is what will help you, my reader friend, and that is what will help us all.

Let us call it the Town Fair or the Town Exhibition and Fair or better still the Antrim Exhibition and Fair—never mind which or what you call it, but let us fill the Town Hall with exhibits and people, material things made by Antrim people; fill the horse sheds with animals, live stock, the best in town; fill the churches with people to hear music, readings and speaking; fill the streets with teams and automobiles and people; fill in the time with games and sports and the byways and hedges with harmless and interesting amusements.

Antrim can make a showing of manufactured products that will never be forgotten and that will surely lead to more attention and interest in our town than anything else possible for us to do.

W. D. FARNHAM.

MR. EDITOR:—

In the last week's issue of the Reporter is an article signed by W. E. Gibney, the worthy secretary of the Board of Trade, inviting the people of the town to hold a Town Fair sometime during the month of August.

It is an invitation to which all the people of the town should most heartily respond. "Are you ready for the question?" Aye! Aye! We will all acquiesce.

Be getting ready today; tomorrow will never come.

G. A. COCHRAN.

We wish to state publicly that the plan to hold a Town Fair, under the direction of the Board of Trade, meets with our hearty approval, and we trust the meeting June 3 will have a large attendance.

LANE & WEEKS.

I am greatly pleased that at last there is prospect of a Town Fair. Let us each and all do our utmost to make it successful and I am sure we can hold a fair to be proud of. This is no new project, as it has been talked of for years.

Success to the Antrim Town Fair!

J. E. PERKINS.

We hope every man and woman in town who is interested in the welfare of Antrim will attend the public meeting of the Board of Trade next Monday evening. Come and give your suggestions and listen to others in regard to making our Town Fair a success. This is something in which we can all take a part, and if we get at the matter with our usual enthusiasm for celebrations, we believe it will result in great advantage to the whole town. We need to begin now to get the best results.

F. C. PARMENTER.

The Public Meeting of the Board of Trade will be held on Monday evening, June 3, at 8 o'clock, in the town hall; object—discussion of the program for the Antrim Town Fair. "He who runs may read" and you who read what others say regarding it in this issne of the Reporter may, can or must run to this meeting.

There is a wonderful interest being shown in the matter, many have said it is something that ought to have been done years ago. Everyone seems enthusiastic and eager to help, and if the idea will only be taken hold of by the citizens of the town generally as it has been by the comparatively few who have been approached, the successful carrying out of the program which it is hoped will be practically completed at this meeting will be assured.

In order to give the matter the widest possible advertising, it is earnestly desired that you will be present and urge all your relatives and friends to attend.

Please bring your talking machine with you.

W. E. GIBNEY, Sec'y.

There is much enthusiasm on the part of those in charge to make the Town Fair, given under the auspices of the Board of Trade in August, a great success. But enthusiasm and interest must have a substantial backing and now is the time to show your appreciation of this work by sending in your names and dollars to become members of this association for the support of those who are willing to give their time and energy in working out the various plans for the Fair and bring them to a successful issue.

This is a unique affair for Antrim, but some of the adjoining towns have had these fairs and they have proved very beneficial to the town in which they were held.

This gathering together of all the people to see the various products that will be on exhibition cannot but be an inspiration to all to do better work and keep out of the ruts.

The exhibits will include cattle, sheep, poultry, manufactured goods, fancy work, fruit, flowers, vegetables, preserves, and any article foreign or domestic, antiques and moderns of any description that will be of interest to the people. Think over your lists of any or all these and make up your mind what you will exhibit and then work for the best.

Let every one set to with a will taking special pride in his own exhibit, and we will have a fair worthy of any County Fair.

The official program has not been completed yet, but as far as arranged there will be a base ball game and other sports, including horse racing.

It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance at the public meeting to be held Monday evening, June 3d, at 8 o'clock, in the town hall, to discuss the plans for the Town Fair.

FRANK E. BASS,
President Board of Trade.

The Editor desires to say a few words favoring the Town Fair, to the effect that we believe it will be beneficial to the town and a success in every way; Antrim always does things well and know she will at this time.

Attend meeting Monday night!

"Strife or Labor Against Capital"

The large audience that greeted the production of this four-act comedy drama at town hall on Friday evening last, proved that not only was the play a popular one but the cast and the cause of presentation found favor with our people. Rose Ethel (Mrs. A. J. Lapoint) staged the play and it was done in a most pleasing and accomplished manner; the several parts were well assigned and presented admirably.

On Friday evening of this week, at the Antrim town hall, the dramatic club of the Hancock fire department will by request present the drama with the above title. Memorial Sermon

Rev. C. H. Frost, pastor of the Baptist church gave the annual sermon before the G. A. R members at the town hall on Sunday last. He was assisted in the service by Rev. F. Albert Arbuckle of the Presbyterian church and a union chorus choir. An unusually large attendance was present. The speaker made no pretentions of giving a Memorial Day address, but delivered a nice sermon appropriate to the occasion, one easily understood by all present and containing a gospel message of value to everyone. It was fine that so many were present to enjoy the patriotic service.

VOTING CONTEST CLOSES

Monday, June 10th---Only a Few Days Left to "Keep Busy" In

There are now but a few more days in which the candidates engaged in The Reporter popular voting contest have to work for the several prizes offered. The voting comes to an end Monday, June 10, at 8 o'clock, and immediately thereafter the counting will be commenced to see who shall be declared the winner of the splendid Obermeyer piano and the other beautiful and useful articles offered to those who are making an endeavor to land the premiums. It is not believed by those who have given the matter careful thought that any particular person has the grand prize cinched at the present time but there are several in the race who have a good chance to land it if they only will hustle.

If you have not yet seen the fine piano offered in this contest go to Grant & Boyd's store and take a look. Many of our citizens have examined the instrument as to its quality and appearance and there is yet the first one to say that it is not a fine one. It is of a plain rich mahogany, and a prettier piano was never unloaded at Antrim. Musicians of this vicinity have tested it as to its quality of tone and volume and every one of them say it is finer than silk.

There are several young ladies who appear to have the best of the contest but none of them have a sure cinch of being the ultimate owner of the first prize. If one of these contestants who is way down the list should take it into her head that she was going to win the big premium she could do so. She would have to do some work to make it, but that was what was expected when the contest opened. Several bunches of seven new subscribers or renewals in the groups of seven would put the lowest candidate in the race up among the leaders.

For those who wish to vote without any competitor seeing them, The Reporter desires to state that cash with your subscription, telling where the paper is to be sent and to whom the votes shall be given can be placed in an envelope and deposited in the ballot box. The judges will open these envelopes as soon as they start to count and will credit all votes, including bonus votes. In order to secure bonus votes on merchant's coupons they must be counted at The Reporter office before being voted.

Mrs. Ray Taylor was in the lead at the last count. Several others are well to the front and are putting forth every effort on the home stretch to win the coveted prize. Either of these ladies can land the prize if they will take the time to get out and solicit new subscriptions and renewals. Every bunch of seven new subscribers means 12,200 votes and seven renewals will bring in 9,500 votes and the way to win is to get these new subscriptions and renewals, as they count up rapidly and they carry with them the big bonus offers which contestants should be seeking.

From now on until the close of the contest which will be on Monday, June 10, we will give the following bonuses. These will positively be the last bonus offers, and they will hold good until the close of the contest.

Monday June 10th, the voting will cease and the final count will be made that evening. This is but a short time ahead and it is worth the while of the candidates to get out among the people and work like Trojans from now until the ballot box is closed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the day mentioned. No ballots will be received after 3 o'clock under any circumstances, no matter who may have them or what excuse they may present for not getting them in at the proper time.

For every 40 merchants' coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher or his assistants, a bonus of 1000 extra votes will be given a total of 2,000 in all.

These merchants' coupons may be collected from any and all merchants who are giving coupons, and must be brought to the Reporter office in bunches of forty tickets, to be counted by the publisher or one of his assistants before the coupons will be issued.

The contest is on the square and there is to be a fair field and no favorites.

All bonus votes that are to be cast must be accompanied by the number of coupons stated on the bonus or the bonus votes will not be counted nor allowed to be given to the contestants.

The ballot box is now at the Reporter office where it will remain until the contest closes, the key is deposited with an outside disinterested party, thus assuring the "Square deal."

Remember that there are many handsome prizes given by various merchants around town, a list of which may be found in the big advertisement on another page. After the piano is awarded, the next contestant has first choice of the other prizes, the next one has the second choice, and so on until all are claimed.

The following are the enterprising merchants who give coupons.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
"Digests what you eat."

NOT with the anguish of hearts that are breaking
Come we as mourners to weep for our dead;
Grief in our breasts has grown weary of aching.
Green is the turf where our tears we have shed.

While o'er their marbles the mosses are creeping,
Stealing each name and the legend away,
Give their proud story to memory's keeping,
Shrined in the temple we hallow today.

Hushed are their battlefields, ended their marches,
Deaf are their ears to the drum beat of morn;
Rise from the sod, ye fair columns and arches!
Tell their bright deeds to the ages unborn!

Emblem and legend may fade from the portal,
Keystone may crumble and portal may fall;
They were the builders whose work is immortal,
Crowned with the dome that is over us all!

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, the poet of occasions, wrote this lyric for the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of Harvard's great Memorial hall, built in honor of her sons slain in the Civil war. Grandsons of the undergraduates who heard it when it was first read have since been born, and have passed under the stately roof of the Memorial hall on their way to the lofty dining hall of the old college. To them and to their children the grief which had ceased to be heartbreaking when Holmes penned his poem, is no more than a reverential, idealized and ennobling sentiment. Yet thirty-four states will by fiat of their respective legislatures observe Memorial day as a day consecrated to memorial services for those who served in the wars of this country. And to most of us this means the soldiers of the Civil war, though in truth a recent visit to Arlington cemetery brought home the truth that the war with Spain demanded its toll of the nation's manhood.

But the custom of placing flowers on the graves of soldiers on a certain fixed day devoted to services commemorative of their patriotism came into practice the close of the Civil war, and Memorial day is still most intimately associated with the men of that war, most of whom have passed into the land of memory, though a comparatively small number of its veterans still survive to march in the procession which is a part of the day's observance.

The first Memorial or Decoration day which these veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic recall each year was not, as it is now in most of the states and even in Alaska and Porto Rico, a legal holiday. It came as the result of an order issued by Gen. John A. Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, then a young organization. It was in May, 1868, that Adjutant General N. P. Chysman conferred with General Logan concerning the matter of having the Grand Army inaugurate the custom of placing flowers on the graves of Union soldiers at some uniform time. Following this conference General Logan issued an order setting aside May 30, 1868, "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion and whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village or hamlet churchyard in the land."

Chicago had the first celebration of a Decoration day under the auspices of the Grand Army organization in 1868. Two years before this, in a letter which was printed March 12, 1866, in the columns of the Columbus Times, a southern woman, Mrs. Mary Ann Williams Howard, widow of a confederate officer, Maj. John H. Howard of Milledgeville, Ga., had suggested that April 26 of that year be set aside as the date "to wreathe the graves of our martyred dead with flowers." The suggestion was followed and that date, April 26, is now observed as Confederate Memorial day, and set aside as a legal holiday, as is May 30 in other states, in four southern states, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Florida. Mrs. Williams was greatly beloved in the south. During the war she was as active in doing all she could to serve the southern side as her husband and was the moving spirit in putting into operation what were known as "wayside houses," in which care was given soldiers en route to battlefields. When she died at Columbus, Ga., in 1874, she was buried with military honors.

Two southern states, North Carolina and South Carolina, observe May 10 as their memorial day. In New Mexico it is left to the governor to appoint the day. As every state is independent in its legislation, traditions and customs, every state has power to appoint its own holidays, but, despite these variations, a spirit of centralization or the growth of a national spirit, if you wish to call it that, has aided in bringing about an approximate uniformity of date for Memorial day in most of the states. Thirty-four states and Alaska, Porto Rico and the District of Columbia observe the 30th of May as a legal holiday dedicated to the memory of soldiers. Four southern states, as has been said, observe the day on April 26, two on May 10.

It is a good custom this, which teaches each succeeding generation to honor the courage, patriotism and loyal sacrifice of those who have preceded it. A nation which does this in spirit every day as it does in special ceremonies one day each year may fearlessly face the future, confident that it will be worthy of the past.

MINGLING OF BLUE AND GRAY

Suggestion for One Common Memorial Day While Yet the Veterans Are With Us.

Early in 1866, just after the close of the Civil war, Mrs. Mary A. W. Howard, widow of a confederate officer, suggested the setting apart of a day for placing flowers on graves of confederate soldiers and for appropriate memorial exercises. The idea was received with general approval, and April 26, that year, was made the occasion for the first confederate memorial observances.

This southern idea appealed to the sentiments of men and women of the north as worthy of imitation. In 1868, Gen. John A. Logan, then national commander of the Grand Army, issued an order calling for Memorial day exercises May 30.

The latter date has been retained as the time for the annual decoration of union soldiers' graves and public exercises commemorative of the lives and deeds of the men in blue. The ex-confederates in most of the states have continued to observe April 26, though the custom is not uniform.

On both sides, the rosters of the survivors who will participate in the memorial exercises are decreasing sadly, fearfully. In a comparatively short time all will have joined their comrades "on fame's eternal camping grounds."

There still is left time for both sides to unite in observing a general Memorial day. Nothing in all the world's history was ever so impressive as would be the mingling of the blue and gray in paying mutual tribute to the dead of the two armies who fought each other in the awful days of '61 to '65. Why not signalize present conditions and glorify future prospects by such an observance?—Col. M. A. Aldrich

Beautiful Grand Army Habit.

It is no improper exposure of the "lodge" work of the Grand Army of the Republic to call attention to a most beautiful and effective method of the order in dispensing kindness and paying tribute to members.

In each meeting of a post inquiry is made concerning the number and names of those incapacitated by sickness from attending the gathering. When the list is completed formal order is made that flowers be sent to the bedside of each sufferer.

Further, if any of the sick are known to be in desperate financial circumstances, a five-dollar bill, or one of larger denomination, goes with the flowers.

Thus do the defenders and saviors of the government and of the nation remember and pay tribute to their comrades in hours of suffering and want.

Couldn't Fool Him.

"Sir," faltered the office boy; "kin I git off to go an' see the hockey game this afternoon.

The boss looked at him sharply. Then he brought his fist down hard on the desk.

"No!" he shouted, decisively. "You kids try to fool me. You ask to get off to see a hockey game, and the first thing we know you are sneaking away to go to your grandmothers' funerals. No! You stay right here and work!"

JERICHO LEAVES

Nature's wonderful gift—a perfect laxative. The most remarkable of all natural phenomena is this Shrub Leaf from the Holy Land. Scientists of today, with the accumulated knowledge of 4,000 years to guide them, have not been able to manufacture a harmless laxative which relieves, stimulates and cures as Jericho Leaves do. More effectual than drugs or manufactured nostrums. Jericho Leaves are pleasant, pure and harmless as ripe fruit. They cleanse the system thoroughly and in the gentlest way possible. Instead of irritating the delicate intestinal membranes as drugs are apt to do, they sooth these delicate tissues and stimulate all the life-giving organs.

This wonderful nature remedy was introduced into the Holy Land by Arabian physicians more than a thousand years ago and is in universal use in that historic country today. To the use of these leaves as a laxative and regulator is due the extreme age of those ancient people. They grow only in the Holy Land adjacent to the River Jordan, on shrubs, are carefully gathered, sun dried and reach you in the natural, or purely vegetable state. Taste good. Act good. Plain cloth sack delivered for receipt of 50 cents coin, stamps or money-order. Money back if not satisfactory. Obtainable in the U. S. by mail only. Mention this paper and order now. are mosquitos. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite flies and the strength fails; also malaria often paves the way for deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and cast out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a fine appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. The Ladies' World for June

We can unqualifiedly say that The Ladies' World for June is the most interesting number of that publication yet received. From the unusually beautiful cover to the last page there is something that grips the attention. In addition to contributed articles of interest, there are short stories by popular authors, and the departments are, as usual, very practical, and the housekeeper is sure to find just what she wants to learn about, while there is excellent advice given on the care of babies in summer, and on the proper diet for thin people. The children are well looked after, and the fashions are pretty, but not extravagant.

Bread Record Broken

37½ lbs. of Beautiful Bread from a 24½ lbs. sack (⅕ bbl.) of

Stratton & Co's Queen Bess Flour

Some western flour mills advertised that 35 lbs. of bread could be made from 24½ lbs. of flour.

In order to test the amount of fine home-made bread that could be baked from a 24½ pound sack of Stratton's Queen Bess Flour we asked Mrs. William M. Dyer of 6 Rollins Street, Concord, N. H., to bake up a sack of this size, and the bread was carefully weighed. 37 1-2 Pounds of Bread was the result, all of the finest quality and texture, and thus the flour was proven not only the best but th most economical.

Save money and get the Best Value in flour on the Market, requires less kneading so makes it easier to make and bake.

To obtain the best bread mix the dough very moist and knead as little as possible in shaping it for the baking tin.

W. E. Cram has sold this flour since he has been in business and never had to take a barrel back.

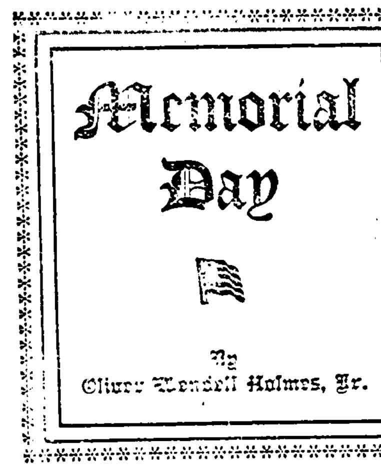
In Use For Over Thirty Years

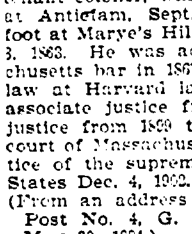
CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.



Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., jurist, was born in Boston, Mass., March 8, 1841. He received his education at Harvard university, where he received the degree of A. B. in 1861 and LL. B. in 1866. In 1886 he received the degree of LL. D. from Yale, and in 1909 the degree of D. C. L. from Oxford. He served three years in the 20th Mass. volunteers as lieutenant and lieutenant colonel; was wounded in the neck at Antietam, Sept. 17, 1864, and in the foot at Marye's Hill, Fredericksburg, May 3, 1863. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1867, became professor of law at Harvard law school in 1882, was associate justice from 1882 to 1899; chief justice from 1899 to 1902 in the supreme court of Massachusetts and associate justice of the supreme court of the United States Dec. 4, 1902.

(From an address before John Sedgwick Post No. 4, G. A. R., Keene, N. H. May 30, 1884.)

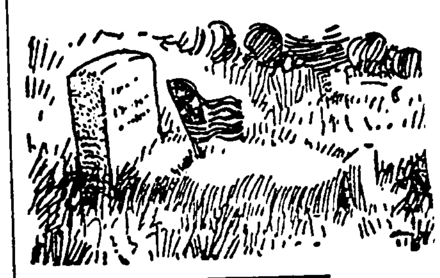


COMRADES, some of the associations of this day are not only triumphant but joyful. Not all of those with whom we once stood shoulder to shoulder — not all of those whom we once loved and revered—are gone. On this day we still meet our companions in the freezing winter bivouacs and in those dreadful summer marches where every faculty of the soul seemed to depart one after another, leaving only a dumb animal power to set the teeth and to persist—a blind belief that somewhere and at last there was rest and water. On this day, at least, we still meet and rejoice in the closest tie which is possible between men—a tie which suffering has made indissoluble for better, for worse.

When we meet thus, when we do honor to the dead in terms that must sometimes embrace the living, we do not deceive ourselves. We attribute no special merit to a man for having served when all were serving. We know that if the armies of our war did anything worth remembering, the credit belongs not mainly to the individuals who did it, but to average human nature. We also know very well that we cannot live in associations with the past alone, and we admit that if we would be worthy of the past, we must find new fields for action or thought, and make for ourselves new careers. But, nevertheless, the generation that carried on the war has been set apart by its experience. Through our great good fortune, in our youth our hearts were touched with fire. It was given to us to learn at the outset that life is a profound and passionate thing. While we are permitted to scorn nothing but indifference, and do not pretend to undervalue the worldly rewards of ambition, we have seen with our own eyes beyond and above the gold fields, the snowy heights of honor, and it is for us to bear the report to those who come after us. But, above all, we have learned that whether a man accepts from fortune her spade, and will look downward and dig, or from aspiration her axe and cord, and will scale the ice, the one and only success which it is his to command is to bring to his work a mighty heart.

Such hearts—ah me, how many!—were stilled 20 years ago; and to us who remain behind is left this day of memories. Every year in the full tide of spring, at the height of the symphony of flowers and love and life—there comes a pause, and through the silence we hear the lonely pipe of death. Year after year lovers wandering under the apple boughs and through the clover and deep grass are surprised with sudden tears as they see black veiled figures stealing through the morning to a soldier's grave. Year after year the comrades of the dead follow, with public honor, procession and commemorative flags and funeral march—honor and grief from us who stand almost alone, and have seen the best and noblest of our generation pass away.

But grief is not the end of all. I seem to hear the funeral march become a paean. I see beyond the forest the moving banners of a hidden column. Our dead brothers still live for us, and bid us think of life, not death—of life to which in their youth they lent the passion and glory of the spring. As I listen, the great chorus of life and joy begins again, and amid the awful orchestra of seen and unseen powers and destinies of good and evil our trumpets sound once more a note of daring, hope, and will.



Patriotism.

You cannot analyze it. It is subtle, but it is true. It often "sleeps like the lamb, but roused from its lethargy breaks out with the strength of the lion." Never was patriotism more sublime than in the soldier of '61.

With crepe upon our banners
And arms reversed, we meet
In memory of the soldiers
Sepulchred at our feet.
They are the voiceless heroes
Who spoke where the field was red—
Spoke when the captain ordered:
"Fire from behind the dead."

They came from farm and village,
From crowded city and plain;
They marched in the sultry sunshine,
And pillowed their heads in rain,
They heard the blast of the bugle,
And quickly answered the call:
"Form in line of battle—
Infantry, troopers, all."

Some of these dropped by the wayside,
Some while on picket were shot—
Some fell in the skirmish line—
Some where the battle raged hot.
But, alas, for the youthful soldier,
Alas, for the veteran gray,
Who languished in pitiless prisons
Where the reaper, Death, held sway—

Dreaming of skies they could not see—
Hoping where hope was vain
To break the guarded prison bars
And breathe free air again.
Yearning for wife or mother—
Yearning to be caressed,
Or longing with broken spirit
To be, like these, at rest.

Over these dead nine hundred
Fold the flag of the brave,
While the marching column halts to plant
A flag at each soldier's grave.
Violets, pinks and daisies,
Roses and lilies bring,
When the apple trees are in blossom,
And the lark and the linnet sing.

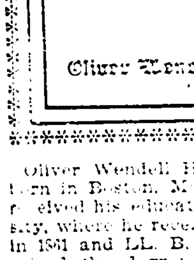
WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.



Louisiana, Mo.—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women.

"I had been sick about twelve years, and I had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at [illegible] ... nervous spells, and was [illegible] all the time. I would [illegible] one spell when I would be [illegible]. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is worth more than mountains of gold to suffering women."—Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 503 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Is there anything in all this world that is of more importance to you than good digestion? Food must be eaten to sustain life and must be digested and converted into blood. They increase the flow of bile, purify the blood strengthen the stomach, and tone up the whole digestive apparatus to a natural and healthy action.

All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

The entertainment of the Brothers was given Wednesday evening last and consisted of a minstrel show, farce and musical selections. Refreshments of strawberries and cream with cake were served.
