Election Results.

The results of the late election in Antrim as well as in the state generally have been favorable to the republicans. The voters have made choice of Sylvester Little to represent the interests of the town in the legislature the next two years. In the state senate, Mr. D. W. Burnham of Greenfield, the republican candidate for the 8th senatorial district in which the town of Antrim was designated two years ago by the new apportionment, was elected over Mr. Peavey, the regular democratic candidate. This is all the more significant because the district is naturally democratic.

Bill C. Butterfield, Henry A. Hurlin and Arthur H. Ingram will officiate as supervisors of the check-list. Arthur L. Smith has been elected as moderator, to serve the next two years.

But the results of the national election have been overwhelmingly in favor of the democrats. It was to them as much of a surprise as it was to their opponents, and Mr. Cleveland will succeed Mr. Harrison as President of the United States on the 4th of March next.

The results in the state at large, have been of increased advantage to the republicans, they having elected their candidate, Hon. J. B. Smith of Hillsborough Bridge, to the governorship by the popular vote. The representation in the national house has been reversed politically, by the election of Mr. Blair in the first Congressional District, and Mr. Baker in the second.

The legislature will be republican by an increased majority in the house, and on joint ballot it is estimated that a majority of 85 will appear.

Antrim's Representative.

Sylvester Little, who has been elected by his fellow citizens to represent the town in the legislature of his state, is a native of Antrim and has always been a resident of the town. He was educated in the common schools of his town, receiving in common with many of his fellow townsmen all the advantages that the town afforded in that direction. It will be remembered by the older people in the community, that for many years he was a successful teacher of vocal music and was for a long time leader of the choir at the Presbyterian church at the centre of the town. He entered quite early into mercantile life and for a period of fifteen years was traveling salesman for the Goodell Company, introducing and disposing of the products of their manufacture to the largest dealers in the west and south. In this calling he proved efficient and successful, the opportunity afforded him a most excellent chance to become acquainted with men and business matters throughout the country. About two years ago, he resigned this position and entered into other business enterprises. Mr. Little is a member of the Presbyterian church, and also has a membership in the Masonic fraternity. He allied himself many ago with the republican party and has always been a staunch believer in their political faith. When Mr. Goodell became governor of the state, Mr. Little was honored with a staff appointment as Commissary General, which position he filled with honor to himself and credit to the state. He is a courteous gentleman to meet, widely known throughout the state and elsewhere and respected by his fellow townsmen.

In the Interest of Better Roads.

In order that a road department may be established in Washington, D. C., and that a road exhibit be among the attractions at the World's Fair, petitions are in circulation to that effect and will be presented to Congress for the approval of that honorable body with the request that an appropriation be made to carry out the project. A circular letter from Mr. Albert A. Pope of Boston, who has the matter in charge, among other things says: "The time has now arrived when the people are thoroughly aroused to the importance of improving the highways. Let us all together endeavor to do something practical to secure better roads. The establishment of a road department, an institute of road engineering, and a permanent road exhibit in the city of Washington, and a comprehensive exhibit of road construction and maintenance at the World's Columbian Exposition would accomplish much in the way of practical results. This is a subject of both local and national interest."

The change in interest in New Hampshire seems to be on the increase, there being 38 new grants organized in the state this year, as reported by the session of the state grants now being considered. A session of the state grants will be held in the next week, and will be attended by the state grants from every state.

Col. Bain in Antrim.

The lecture by Col. Bain on Saturday evening at the Methodist church was fairly attended. His effort was pronounced fine and finished from beginning to end. He took his audience in vivid imagination on a trip to California, "The Golden Gate," and at intervals would picture to them the wonderful and picturesque scenes at places of note on the trip. It was intensely interesting and instructive.

On Sunday evening at the Baptist church, he kindly consented to speak on the subject of temperance, but more properly defined as "The American Home, as against the Saloon." The speaker, while he is evidently very enthusiastic in the cause, is no doubt at the same time terribly in earnest. He commenced by claiming that if the influences and moral tendencies of the saloon and drink interest, elevated the moral sentiment of the community, made homes happier, then we wanted them; if however the contrary state of affairs could be proven, then we ought to do everything to diminish their influence and drive the evil from our country. From his standpoint, the predictions as to the future of this Republic, if there shall not be a universal prohibition of the traffic in all directions, cannot be doubted by any intelligent person who may give the subject a fair consideration. He contended that if the curse was not eliminated from this fair land by wise statesmanship, that the military arm would at last be called in requisition and some military leader would win renown. If neither should cope with the evil, then the nation would go down in ruin. But after all he thought there were signs of a peaceful solution of the problem from the fact that great efforts were now being made in the schools to educate the children in regard to the injurious effects of alcohol; different societies had been formed for the promotion of the temperance cause; also that a vast amount of temperance literature was being published and put in circulation. He emphasized the fact very strongly that the saloon could be driven out, if a strong public sentiment stood behind it, and cited cases near his home in Kentucky, where the traffic had been suppressed forever, also in a great number of places in other southern states. Like the slavery question, we might patch it up with compromises in one way and another, but it will never be settled until it is settled right. There was solid truth in the lecture and everybody was strongly impressed with the forcible and eloquent manner in which the subject had been presented by Col. Bain.

On Thanksgiving evening, the Young Men's Club of Antrim will give their first grand concert and ball of the season, at Odd Fellows hall. They have engaged the Walmeth orchestra of Hillsboro' Bridge and all lovers of fine music will hail their advent with great satisfaction. The committee embraces an array of young men fully competent to cope with this pleasurable giving enterprise in all respects and it is not too much to say, that those who shall attend will find it a season of unmixed pleasure. We trust that the public will patronize this effort of the club to furnish a first-class musical entertainment. If successful it is their intention to give our citizens an opportunity to hear the best orchestra in this section.

The Reporter to Jan. 1, 1892, for the sum of $1.00.

We are making an earnest effort to increase our subscription list, and to that end we make the following offer: Any person, who is not a subscriber to the Reporter, by sending $1.00 to this office can have the paper sent to their address from the time they subscribe to Jan. 1st, 1893. An old subscriber in arrears, by paying his subscription to date, and $1.00, besides, can also have the paper sent to him for the same length of time.

You can't afford to paint your house every year.—The manufacturer who makes up his mind to produce a first-class article, paint for example, and sells it at a reasonable price, generally finds that there is room in the market for his productions. That a good article recommends itself, and once a customer always a customer. This has been the history of the Chilton Paint Co. Their paints have stood the test of time and proved their durability. What you want is a paint that will stand exposure to wind and rain and sun. You can't afford to paint your house every year, and you won't have to if you use the Chilton Paints. We have a color card for you.

The shipment of apples from the Antrim station this season has been comparatively large, but possibly not up to that of previous years. The average price paid by contractors has been $1.50. Much of this year's shipment has been to western and southwestern points, and when they reached the consumer probably brought about $3.00 per barrel. The crop has been short in the western country.

There was a rush for daily papers on and after Wednesday last. Considerable enterprise was shown by the Union of our own state, in sending out its 5 p. m. edition, also by the Boston dailies in the same direction.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him. Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Harrington & Kibbey.

J. A. BALCH, - - - - Antrim.

The rainy season seems to have set in.

Messrs. Davis and Wright of Keene are putting in a hot-water service for heating the new building of C. O. Kimball.

By the display of fur-coats at the store of Putney & Little, it may be inferred that cool weather is approaching.

The high wind and heavy rain of Tuesday night made sad havoc with the democratic flag. Well, flags may go down, but principles are eternal.

On Wednesday last the people of this country emphatically decided that ex-president Grover Cleveland should preside over the affairs of the nation for the next four years.

Miss Bessie Walker of Concord, is visiting with her aunts, Miss Mary Butler and Mrs. N. C. Jameson, also other relatives in town.

Mr. Ben. Springer and daughter of Colebrook, are stopping with his sister, Mrs. Sumner Morse.

The Grammar school in this village closes this week; examination, Friday afternoon. The High school will close next week.

G. N. Hulet, the new carriage painter, who has recently opened a place of business in town, has leased a tenement in the brick house, corner of Main and West streets. His family, now in Keene, will join him about Dec. 1st.

Geo. M. Barron was summoned by telegraph to his home in Foxboro, Mass., in consequence of the severe illness of his little daughter.

The household goods in part of C. C. Phillips arrived on Saturday by team, the balance of which came by car. He is to occupy the southerly tenement in the Whitman house. Mr. Whitcomb, who is to occupy the upper tenement, expects his goods to arrive soon, as they are on the way.

As usual, general observations are being made in regard to those persons who hold public office under the present administration. It is highly probable however, that in most cases the position will be ready for surrender as soon as appointments are made. Possibilities of this nature are taken into consideration very forcibly by those who hold public offices and they govern themselves accordingly.

In the purchase of a lot of cigars not long since by J. A. Balch, there was included a nice gold filled watch. It was disposed of by guessing how many beans there were in a glass jar, and to the one who should guess nearest to the number therein contained, should be entitled to the time keeper. A. W. Boutelle was the lucky man and carried off the prize. The jar contained 637 beans and was just the number he guessed.

It was discovered on the day of the election, that the democratic flag pole in front of Jameson block, was cracked near where it entered the ground, and stays were put up each side to strengthen it. As further evidence of a "sweeping" victory, the universal emblems of brooms have been suspended on the line, one each side of the flag.

Dodds' Catarrh Cure.
Local and Internal Treatment.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessary to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards, affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. Send for our book treating on catarrh. FORTNA, MEXMUN & Co., proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold in Antrim, N. H., by E. C. Goodwin.

If I am allowed to judge others by my own case, I say that every body can be cured, if you only use the proper remedy. I have, during my many years' suffering, tried a great many different kinds of medicine, and have also employed good Physicians. You'd get relief for a short time, but could not seem to get permanently cured until I used Grover's Kidney Syrup, then at once I noticed a change. In the first place, it regulated my bowels, and in a short time my stomach began to perform its duty. My food, my headache, my backache, my rheumatism, my nervousness, my palpitation of the heart, my nervousness, my bleeding spots, my kidney complaint, my urinary pains all through my body. I am now, as you can see, in good health, and healthy, thanks to Grover's Syrup. Yours respectfully, F. STORY, Augusta, Me.

TO PROVE OUR FAITH IN THE MEDICINE.

On and after October 1, 1891, we give every person selling our medicine the privilege of selling six bottles for $1.00, and guarantee that in case it does you no good you can receive your money back. We guarantee with every bottle. We claim to cure Dyspepsia, Headache, Stomach, Heart, Kidney Complaint, Neuritis, Distress after eating, Palpitation of the Heart, Cold, Nervousness, Loss of Sleep, Nervous Irritability of the Appetite, Urinary Pains, Bleed, Wind on the Stomach, Headache, Constipation. And why will it cure? Because it is Relaxing, Purifying, Soothing, and Healing. It is compounded from the purest roots and herbs, free from Alcohol or Morphine. It is harmless to the smallest child; children like it, and it is far superior to Castor Oil and all other preparations. Call for Grover's Kidney Syrup. None genuine unless bearing our trade-mark, the Beaver.

TEST FOR WHOLESALE MILK.

A good way to tell when to use new milk from the cow is to bring a sample to a boil and if it curdles then do not use it, but if it remains limp it is all right. This test should be used always before sending milk to the factory, though perhaps it is not so important when the milk is peddled on a route, though this colostrum tends to save the milk in warm weather.—American Dairyman.

APPLE BUTTER FOR MARKET.

Why do not farmers who have large amounts of apples that do not pay for drawing long distances to market try the plan of turning some of the surplus into apple butter? It requires but a considerable labor, as it is a branch of manufacture; but the farmer who has invested labor in this way is sure to get pay for it than he is for most of his work on the farm. As far as possible the farmer should put the product of his farm in the form where it will bring him most money, and if he thereby turns his farm at some seasons into a factory he may be none the less prosperous.—New York Herald.

AN ELECTRIC INCUBATOR.

A novelty in the hatching of eggs has appeared in the shape of an electric incubator. The special feature of this machine is that the heat of the egg drawer is automatically regulated to the fiftieth part of a degree Fahrenheit. It consists of a tank incubator, heated by radiation from the bottom of a water tank, which is constructed on the multi-tubular system. When the egg drawer reaches the temperature of 104 degrees Fahrenheit an electric thermostat connects a dry battery with an electro-magnet which actuates a damper, allowing the heat to escape through the open air instead of passing through the flues of the water tank. This entirely automatic device is said to be the most perfect yet devised in the fuel used for heating.—Boston Transcript.

COWS IN WINTER.

Feed to a considerable extent determines the quality and quantity of the milk and butter. It does not pay to keep a cow on half rations and hardly get a good milking at any time during the winter. In most cases both the milk and butter are of more value during the winter than at any other time, and generally enough more to make it worth while to give the cows good treatment during the winter. They must be fed enough to live, at least, and they ought to have enough to keep them healthy, as there is no advantage in letting them run down during the winter and then be obliged to take the best part of the spring to make up what has been lost. A little additional feed will not only keep them healthy, but in many cases insure a good flow of milk, and this implies a profit rather than a loss, as it is often the case when the cows are fed on the plan of barely keeping them alive through the winter.—St. Louis Republic.

THE CISTERN RESERVE.

"How much will your cistern hold?" I asked a friend, relates Hollister Sage. "Oh, half a dozen twenty dollars for it. It cost me $30." Twenty dollars for an unfailing supply of water which is never contaminated by soil-leachings! Cheap enough if the cistern be well made and lasts for twenty years, a reasonable time frequently exceeded. How many farms are considered almost worthless because poorly watered? How many are sold at a loss because the water can be done by any farmer—druths would be tied over and no trouble made. I have now in mind a place where the only source of supply is a well which falls on the first provocation. It is offered low. Another place near, and also poorly watered, has an excellent cistern under a barn, kept full by its roof, and although the farmhouse has been burned, the place is still held at over $100 per acre. A lane leads from the pasture to the farmyard, where a trough is kept full constantly by use of a pump. This is a good plan in the West, even in many cities, cistern water gives the sole supply. The cleanly house-owner pumps dry his supply reservoir and has it cleaned thoroughly before the autumn or April rains begin. As soon as the water is clean the cistern is allowed to fill closed tightly and kept so for the year. Fresh, copious water of spring lasts until the earth is sprinkled, the fall dust laid and all the leaves blown away, when, if the supply be short, the great distillery of the heavens is again allowed to pour in a sufficiency.—New York Tribune.

PLANTS FOR WINTER.

The fall is the time for preparing those plants that are chosen to brighten the home with leafage and bloom during the winter. The first point to be considered is the choice of the plants. Young breathing plants are always to be preferred rather than those that are heated with artificial heat during the summer. It seems almost heartless to leave tall, thrifty plants to the mercy of the frosts, but not only their prolonged blooming has weakened them, but their rapid growth under summer sun has rendered them less hardy. "Double plants should never be taken into the window garden unless it be to save some favorite species.

Examine the earth carefully and so that it is free from insects and grubs. It is a good plan to put handfuls of loamy garden earth and leaf mold mixed into the oven, and bake it half an hour. This will kill all insects, and when the earth is cool is ready to use. Cut off all water-soaked roots, and then press the earth firm around the plants, using always the common red earthen pots with separate saucers for each pot.

Keep rooted plants in a shady place for a week or so, until they are well settled in their new homes. Do not let these plants bloom for a month or two, but pinch off all buds, that the strength of the plant may be concentrated in the roots, in order to produce a new, vigorous growth of branches.

In choosing the windows for plants during the winter, it is best to have the plants need all the sunlight they can have, and for that a south window is the best. A southeast window is the next most desirable, then a western window, while a north light is worst of all.

There are a few plants, like pansies, carnations, and geraniums, that like the shade of a north window, and a north-south window is a good plan to place blossoming plants in during the winter. These plants are the best. The life of the sprays of these plants is longer than that of any other.

An automatic medicine stand for the home, consisting of two cups, two spoons and an index that automatically marks the next cup from which medicine is to be taken.

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.

BAKE BREAD DURING DAYLIGHT.

All kinds of rye bread or cakes rise much earlier in the kitchen in the day time when the kitchen is warm, than at night, when the fire is out. Therefore five or six hours in the day are equal to twelve hours at night. In cold weather anything made with yeast should be made early in the morning, that it may be done in the kitchen in the day time. Some housekeepers keep a piece of an old ironing board, kept clean, to fold and lay over the cotton or linen bread cloth, to keep the bread warm while rising.—Boston Cultivator.

TO PRESERVE PEPPERS.

Take a mixture of red, green and yellow peppers, cut off the tops and remove the seeds, throw them into brine sufficiently strong enough to float an egg, and stand aside for twenty-four hours; then drain and wash them, put the peppers carefully into stone jars, sprinkle with salt, and cover with brine. When the jar is full put two or three cabbage leaves over the top, then a small saucer to keep them in the brine; stand in the cellar until needed. The day before you wish to use them take a sufficient number from the brine and soak them over night in cold water. They may then be stuffed with a mixture of meat and rice or rice and tomatoes.—New York World.

COMFORTS FOR SERVANTS.

Certainly the hardest working woman in the house should have at night as comfortable a bed as any man or woman. It is not the case even in luxurious houses, a springless cot being thought good enough for the girl's room. Though in a city home, the room of the maid-of-all-work is a small hall bedroom on the top floor. This may still be made comfortable in its appointments, with dainty spreads, convenient toilet articles and a whole lot of things that should be a bureau of some description, with a draw reserved for her towels and bed linen, so that she need not call on the mistress for these things common enough to the rest of the chambers, but luxuries here. A very good way to appreciate a girl's weariness by those who seem never to dream that she can get tired, is to try some day to take her place. After getting thoroughly tired out with half the work undone, the mistress begins to understand what a day's work means to a domestic girl means. When on Tuesday an ambitious girl is hurrying to complete a large ironing in one day, it is hardly fair to call on her repeatedly to do something else, as often happens when there is only one servant.—Detroit Free Press.

CHEMISTRY OF THE BAKED POTATO.

Usually the first vegetable prescribed by the physician for the sick person who is beginning to use solids is a baked potato. A baked potato, however, may be so better than a boiled unless it be done in so high a temperature that the starch is affected. Baked potatoes are subjected to a high temperature than 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Baked potatoes may be done in such a way that they are little better than boiled—for instance, done in a slow oven. On the other hand, if they are put into a temperature of 380 or 400 degrees Fahrenheit, or what is called a "hot oven" that is done in such a manner that the conversion of starch will to a degree take place and the potato be consequently palatable and easily digested. Potatoes roasted in hot embers are delicious and for the same reason. The high degree of heat cooks the starch properly, but it may not be understood that by cooking potatoes in a high temperature the starch which they contain is all changed into dextrine. This does not usually take place except in slight degree; however, by the high temperature in a boiler or steamer for the cleaning in the processes of digestion. Probably what does take place is a sort of hydration of the starch, resulting in the complete swelling and final bursting of the granules. Just at the moment when this takes place the potatoes are done and should be immediately taken from the steam and served at once.—St. Louis Republic.

RECIPES.

Cabbage Salad

Select a solid head, and one that is white after the outside leaves are taken off; lay on a board, and with a sharp knife cut fine; set in ice box until ready to use.

Canned Salmon

If you prefer it heated, immerse it in a kettle of boiling water until heated to the point of boiling; open and drain off all the liquid; then remove to a platter, taking out any skin or poor pieces. Garnish with parsley.

Pop-Overs

Three eggs, three cups of flour, three cups of milk, a little salt, and the size of an egg; two teaspoons baking powder. Beat the whites and yolks of the eggs separately, and add salt. Bake in small muffin pans in hot oven.

Milk Biscuits

Two cups sifted flour, add two teaspoons baking powder, mix and add one heaping teaspoonful of butter, cut in bits, mix through the flour, then slowly add sufficient sweet milk to make a soft dough; roll and cut out; bake in a very quick oven.

Floating Island of Apples

Bake nine apples; when cold stir. Beat in enough sugar to sweeten. Add the whites of three eggs, and heat on cold boiled custard made from the five yolks of the eggs, a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and one quart of milk.

Mushroom Sauce for Fowls

Peel about a pint of young mushrooms or use a can of canned mushrooms; put them into a saucepan with a little salt and pepper, a very little macaroni, a pint of rich cream and a gill of butter rubbed up with a teaspoonful of flour; boil up once and serve in a gravy boat.

A Barfoot Cure.

The barfoot cure is evidently the coming case in pneumonia, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. It has been used for the cure of the fever and now the barfoot cure. Returning travelers from Germany and Austria are bringing the idea over with them, and as it is vastly less harmful than the cholera bacilli, which they might have brought, it is as well to be lenient with the lesser folly. The barfoot cure is a plan more than one process of cure. Under one authority it is carried on a sunny beach, and the patients race through the hot sands barefooted, barfooted, bareheaded and bare to the knees. This is to give the sun and heat, with their health-giving properties, free access to the skin. According to another curist, to cold a water, it is a part of the hardening course, and though you begin walking barfooted over smooth turf, you advance by running through wet meadows, and, later, meadows heavy with hoar frost, to have your feet rubbed with cold cream.

As most of the cures adopted at present have outlined their novelty, at least we may expect to find this brand-new barfoot cure eagerly seized upon.

HEROES OF FICTION.

Usually Endowed with the Perfection of Physical Qualities.

All novel readers—and they are about 80 per cent of all the people who read books at all—must have been struck with the fact that the heroes and heroines of fiction are usually endowed with the very perfection of physical qualities, even made early in the morning, that it may be done in the kitchen in the day time. Some housekeepers keep a piece of an old ironing board, kept clean, to fold and lay over the cotton or linen bread cloth, to keep the bread warm while rising.—Boston Cultivator.

It is true that there are exceptions to this general rule, but the number is not numerous enough to impinge in any degree upon the generality of the rule.

Once in a while an Antinous may turn burglar or a Corneilla may be convicted of shoplifting, but the cases are so rare as to be unmarked in the annals of crime. If it is to be conceded that realistic fiction serves a useful purpose, that purpose should not be defeated by making vice attractive or criminals physically perfect. If the novelist desires to portray a bad man or woman, the picture should be drawn true to nature, physically as well as morally; and it is certain that there is not only a heredity in crime, which stamps itself ineffaceably upon the physique of the criminal classes, but that the environment produces the crime, and the crime is the result of the combination of the two.

"August Flower"

Eight doctors treated me for Heart Disease and one for Rheumatism, but did me no good. I could not speak aloud. Everything that I took into the Stomach distressed me. I could not sleep. I had taken all kinds of medicines. Through a neighbor I got one of your books. I procured a bottle of Green's August Flower and took it. I am to-day stout, hearty and strong and enjoy the best of health. August Flower saved my life and gave me my health. Mrs. Sarah I. Cox, Defiance, O.
