R. veterans, of which deceased was a member.

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the material and poisonous. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at Antrim Pharmacy.

Card of Thanks.
We desire to thank all of our friends and neighbors who in many ways so kindly assisted us in the sickness of our little girl, and for their sympathy in her death and burial; especially do we wish to tender our gratitude to the four little girls who sang at the funeral; and for the floral offerings. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. BURKEFIELD.

Our New School House.
As per vote at the last annual school meeting, an addition to the school house has been built and new heating apparatus put in. Not long after the annual meeting a building committee was appointed, consisting of E. W. Baker, H. P. Kimball and D. W. Cooley, who at once set to work to get the necessary plans and specifications, and receive bids for the new addition. Of the bids received, C. F. Downes of this place, an experienced and competent builder, was the successful one, and as soon as practicable Mr. Downes commenced operations on the building which date was about the 8th of July; the job was completed and school opened Sept. 8, making only about two months on the job.

The building as completed has a tower in front of the old part 16x18 feet and 65 feet high, in which is the light of stairs and well lighted. At the rear is an addition 41 feet long by 20 feet wide; in this new part on ground floor is the new first primary room, and above is a room to be used by the High school as a recitation room or for any other purpose necessary. These new rooms and the tower are finished in North Carolina pine; the primary room contains the most improved heating, the new room on second floor is not furnished, but contains three school rooms on the ground floor, besides the large hall, comprising first and second primary and intermediate rooms; on second floor are located the Grammar and High school rooms, and the extra recitation room, in addition to the hall-way.

On third floor is a laboratory, furnished with tables, sinks, and other apparatus. This room at present is unfinished.

The heating outfit consists of a double boiler with two fire-pots, and was put in by Forsath & Hunt of this place. It is of the most improved make and will furnish an even temperature in all the rooms in the building when properly conducted.

The appropriation was $2000 for the new addition and $1000 for the heating apparatus, which sums were sufficient for the building and heating; the school board furnished the new primary room outside of the appropriation.

Antrim now has a nice commodious school building, well lighted and heated, which will accommodate the demands upon her in this direction for many years to come, judging the increase in population and school children in the future by that of the past.

Granger's Fair at Keene.
It is a grand exhibition which has been arranged for by the Grangers at Keene, N. H., September 22d to 24th, and a continuous round of enjoyments is in store for all who attend. Tickets for the Fair are on sale at various stations on the Boston & Maine Railroad which are good going September 22d to 24th, and good returning on above dates and also on the morning trains of September 25th. Information is obtainable at the ticket offices.

There will be a dance at Eaton's hall, Hancock, the night of the Fair, Friday evening, September 25.

An Advertis.
This is to certify that on May 11th I walked to Melick's drug store on a pair of crutches and bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for influenza. The remedy which I had had crumpled me up. After using two bottles I am completely cured. I can cheerfully recommend it.—Charles H. Wetzel, Stoddard, N. H.

90th Birthday.
Louis Green, father of James Green of this place, celebrated his 90th birthday on Saturday, Sept. 5, at the home of his son, Geo. Green, of Sudbury. He is the father of 15 children; his wife died some eight years ago in Cochueta, where he now lived. He has spent his life in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and is now living with his daughter at Ashburnham, Mass. Mr. Green has seven children living, 35 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren. There were present at this celebration all his children, 17 grand-children, the youngest being 5 weeks old, also 15 great-grandchildren, the youngest being 16 months. Dinner was served at noon for about 60, and friends several presents, also a purse of money, which was presented by a grand-child, Chas. Green of Lynn, formerly of Antrim, who was the life of the party; he is a conductor on the Boston & Lynn Electric Railway. The day was spent in playing games, story-telling and a general good time. Mr. Green retains his faculties well for his years, and walks several miles every day which he greatly enjoys.

The Grand Army.
The Grand Army of the Republic assembled this year at St. Paul, Minnesota. The Auditorium, the largest hall in the city, was profusely decorated and filled with old soldiers. They are now almost exclusively gray-headed; the young blood of the war days has become old blood, from which the fever and excitement of the struggle have disappeared. Not much was done of general public interest. Gen. Ivan N. Walker, the commander-in-chief for the year, stepped onto the platform and read his annual address. He gave the total membership of the Grand Army as 385,406, of which 340,610 are in good standing and 42,511 are carried on the suspended list for non-payment of dues. This suspended list has been decreased the past year by 7,982. The gain has been, during the year by muster, 13,467. The total loss during the year was 11,406, of which 7,292 passed out by death, making an actual decrease in the total from last year of only 75 members. The new commander-in-chief, elected in place of Gen. Walker, is Col. Thaddeus Stevens Clarkson, of Omaha, Neb. The Colonel was born in 1840 at Gettysburg, Pa., a place which afterward became famous as one of the great battle fields of the civil war. He enlisted in 1861. He removed to Omaha in 1866, where he has served as department commander and on the national council of administration.

White Mountain Excursion.
Attired in garments of the most beautiful hues, the majestic Mountain ranges of Northern New Hampshire bids welcome to visitors. Vast is the territory, and numerous are the peaks comprising the famous White Mountains, but at every turn will be found bewildering and marvelously interesting features which will, because of the peculiar make-up, demand more than a casual observation. Gradually the mountain season has prolonged, and September and October are now considered ideal months in which to visit this ideal region.

During the period from now until Oct. 10th, the Boston and Maine Railroad will place on sale at all the principal stations on the System, reduced rate tickets to the leading mountain resorts. These tickets are good for stop-over at points north of North Conway or Plymouth. Reduced rates will be given to holders of these tickets at the leading mountain resorts.

Side-trip tickets to various points of interest will be on sale at Fayans and Bethlehem Junction, and any information regarding these excursions can be obtained at the principal ticket offices on the Boston & Maine Line, and also at the City Ticket Office, 322 Washington St., corner of Milk St.

Conference of Boards of Health and Health Officers.
There will be a meeting of the local boards of health and health officers of New Hampshire, at Concord, N. H., October 8, 1896, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of effecting a permanent state organization, in the interest of the executive work of health officers and the public health generally.

The importance of organization among the professions, sciences, trades, and occupations, for the promotion of the interests of the same, is witnessed on all sides. Nothing else so effective in the accomplishment of a great purpose as co-operation and organization, and in no direction has this fact been more strongly emphasized than in public health work, as is exhibited in what has already been done by national, state, and local sanitary organizations.

We now propose to organize in New Hampshire a state association of health officers, under such plan as may be determined at the meeting now called. At the same time papers on various public health subjects will be read, and time will be given to the discussion of matters pertaining to the work of town and city boards of health. We believe that a meeting of this kind will be of material benefit to every health officer in the state, and to which all are invited.

We would respectfully ask each and every local board of health in the state to send one or more delegates to this meeting. The Boston & Maine R. R. has granted, Concord rates from all stations in N. H., at which tickets are valid. A programme of the meeting, together with other details, will be sent to all boards of health some ten days prior to the meeting.

Very truly yours,
IRVING A. WATSON, Secretary.

DIPLOMATIC DINING.
How Grosham's Digestion Was Saved Through a Run of His Secretary.

The presentation by the Japanese minister of his emperor's tokens of esteem to Mrs. Gresham will probably be followed by a like act on the part of China's diplomatic representative. The supposition that the Chinese minister will follow the example of Japan's representative is founded on several incidents which happened during the last year of the late secretary's life. One of them is sufficient for illustration.

The Japanese minister had given a dinner in honor of Secretary Gresham. As soon as it became known to the Chinese minister he concluded the interests of his country, and therefore of himself, would be best served by dining Secretary Gresham. He did so. The secretary had a good time at both places.

The Japanese minister, desiring to outdo his Chinese colleague in the diplomatic corps, invited Secretary Gresham a second time and honored him with a more splendid feast than the first. This was followed in a short time by another dinner to the secretary of state at the Chinese legation. This dinner not only surpassed the one at the former legation, but the last one given by the Chinese minister. This was followed in turn by another dinner at the Japanese legation, and the rivalry continued with greater frequency and more splendor until the digestive organs of the secretary of state were threatened with collapse.

It is a fact that he inquired of his private secretary, K. M. Landis, whether the first dinner had been tendered by the Japanese or the Chinese minister. The secretary's purpose in making the inquiry was to treat each minister with the same respect, so that if the Japanese diplomat had given him the first dinner he would not be the last one to be accepted was from the Chinaman. Mr. Landis had forgotten, and he so told the secretary.

"Well, Landis," said the secretary in a fatherly way, "I hid up the invitation. This is a grave matter with me. You know it would never do to play favorites, or even seem to, as my accepting more from one than the other—right in the midst of a year, too—and might be interpreted as doing. But this has got to stop some time. This high feeding is killing me."

Landis spent the best part of the day hunting for that invitation. But his hunt was fruitless. There was apparently nothing but a long list of highly placed dinners in store for the secretary of state if the onto between this country and the two chief nations of the orient was to be kept out of jeopardy. Happily, however, so the story goes, the ingenious Landis hit upon a plan. He invited the Japanese minister to a quiet little dinner at Chamberlain's. After the sixth course and the third bottle Landis observed that the Chinese were dead diplomats.

"How so?" replied the Jap.
"Well," quoth Landis, "I take them in five things. Now this series of dinners for instance, which you and John are giving the old man. You wouldn't have thought of it had not John given the first one."
"Why, my dear fellow," said the Jap, "you are mistaken. It was the Japanese minister who gave the first one."

"Surely you are joking," said Landis.
"On the contrary," the Jap replied, "I was never more serious. I was speaking of it today. You remember it was just after Secretary Gresham returned from Chicago and his Indian farm. The night after he came back he died with us."

"Permit me," said Landis, "to open another bottle out of compliment for your memory. It is truly marvelous. I remember it myself. But I wanted to see if your memory was as good as I have often heard the old man say it was."

Whether it was the wine or the compliment matters not. The fact remains that the Jap smiled happily for hours. The dinner ended with the next, and the secretary's digestion was saved.—Chicago Journal.

WOMEN DISCOURAGED.
GOOD AND SUFFICIENT REASONS FOR THE BLUES.

Doctors Fall to Understand Symptoms That Are Danger Signals.

A marked trait in woman's character is to place implicit confidence in her physician.

A man must work entirely from theory in the treatment of female diseases, for unfortunately facts based upon actual knowledge, belong to the female sex alone. Many women who periodically suffer with attacks of faintness, dizziness, extreme lassitude, "don't care" or want-to-be-left-alone feeling, do not at first realize that these are the infallible symptoms of womb trouble and the forerunners of great suffering.

Soon they grow to feel that the doctor does not understand their case. "Then they remember that 'a woman best understands a woman's ills,'" and turn to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter is but one positive illustration of this fact:—
"Four years ago I began to suffer with great weakness of the generative organs. My womb was prolapsed; I suffered with continual backache and all the other pains that accompany that weakness. I tried doctor after doctor, but operations. The final operation after which I became a total wreck, was scarping of the cervix.

A friend, one day, recommended to my husband your Compound. He bought me a bottle. The relief I experienced after taking it, was wonderful. I continued its use, and I am glad to say my recovery is a perfect surprise to everybody that knows me."—Mrs. H. HURON, 4910 San Francisco Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Falls has returned home, after a visit to her mother, Mrs. Helen Blanchard.
Lela Langley visited the children's Hospital in Boston, last Thursday, in company with Dr. F. G. Warner, of Antrim.

The many friends of Miss Maud Philbrick in this village were sorry to learn of her serious illness at Concord, however she is now believed to be out of danger.

Holmes B. Avery of Greenfield, Mass., is visiting his father, A. W.
Avery.

Mrs. W. D. Woods is entertaining her sister, Mrs. S. A. Walker, of Erie, Penn.

We were sorry to chronicle the death of Miss Nellie Cashon at her home last Friday afternoon. The funeral occurred Sunday at the Catholic church at Peterboro, and was largely attended; a quartette of young men from her boarding place in Manchester attended the service. Floral tributes were many and beautiful.

George Mayhew is entertaining his father and mother for a few days.
R. V. Knight is shingling Henry Jourdant's shoe-making shop for S.
B. Strickland.

The Bennington Base Ball nine are in pretty good trim now, and would like to give the Antrim first nine some practice games, as they did one season before, when they were so well pleased with the result. As they had to play against four of the first nine players last Saturday when the second nine came over, they think perhaps the time would like to cross bats with them. The Antrim's played fine ball up to the sixth inning and what happened then shows in the score, which stood we believe 18 to 8 in favor of the home team.

Stands at the Head.
Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr.
King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have. J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr.
King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappours. Free trial bottles at Antrim Pharmacy.

ANTRIM CENTRE.
Ira Hutchinson, and his sister, Miss Linda, and Harry Gove visited the Grange Fair at Tilton.

A small party from Wilton, including Frank Woods, visited Morris Woods on Sunday.

Strawberries were picked on Hill's Hill during the week; probably the last of the season.

Miss Helen Rogers, from Lyndeboro, has been visiting friends in the neighborhood.

Roscoe Whitney has been at Franklin Falls visiting John B. Leighton.
From there he went to the Grange Fair at Tilton, returning on Friday.

Mrs. J. P. Symes, Miss Kennedy and Geo. Symes are spending a vacation on the homestead.

SPECIAL NOTICES.
Insist Upon Hood's Sarsaparilla when you need a medicine to purify your blood, strengthen your nerves and give you an appetite. There can be no substitute for Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, prevent constipation. 25c.

WONDERFUL are the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and yet they are simple and natural. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes PURE BLOOD.

GREENFIELD.
Summer boarders have nearly all left us.

The panther scare has not entirely abated yet. His melodious voice was heard again on Saturday night last.

Miss Nellie Cashon died at her home here on Friday of last week.
Her remains were interred at Peterboro Sunday. Full particulars of the funeral will be given next week.

A social dance will be held at new hall on Friday evening. An elegant silver fruit dish will be given to the most popular lady present. A slack wire artist has also been engaged to give an exhibition. Everybody should attend this party.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best and Most Popular.
"We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of all other combined," writes Messrs. Kerr & Sons, druggists, of Marr, Pa. They also say: "The sale of it is something phenomenal. We have sold two gross this winter, selling as high as six bottles in one morning to as many different customers. This remedy has proved particularly successful in croupy affections. Our customers invariably pronounce it the best they can find, and we know of no case where it has failed to give satisfaction." For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by Putney & Little, druggists.

HANCOCK.
Mrs. E. M. Ware and daughter, of Peterboro, spent a few days last week, with relatives and friends in town.

We miss the faces of Roy Otis and Bertha Duncann. Both are attending school in Ashburnham, Mass.

The Town Fair is set for Sept. 25, and we expect a good time.

Hawks are having a hard time owing to the bounty. Two, one measuring three feet ten inches, were paid for Saturday last.

RUSTIC.
In 1880 the amount of capital invested in cotton factories was $308,000,000; ten years later it had risen to $854,000,

AN IMPRESSIVE SIGHT.

The Remarkable Demonstration Made Everybody's Property for the Jews.
The Jewish population in Jerusalem is said to be about 13,000, and it is steadily increasing. I entered two of the synagogues, but their dirtiness, poverty, and baroness, and the absence of beauty and taste in their decoration, formed a contrast to both Christian and Mohammedan edifices. The Jews, however, make one most remarkable demonstration in Jerusalem every week. On Friday evening, just before the beginning of the Jewish Sabbath, they repair pieces of the old wall, and there hew all the facts that has overtaken the Holy City. The "wallers," as they are somewhat ruddily called by English visitors, include Jews of every class and every age. Some I saw poor and elderly gentlemen, and others as at the height, and of more common material. There were Jews of nearly every nationality, including Russia and Poland, and many of them wore the lovelock which is peculiar to the children of the tribe of Benjamin.

A more impressive and pathetic sight it would be impossible to imagine. The whole company stand with their faces to the wall, and they chant, not together, but each one for himself or herself, a litany of lament over the fate of the City of David. The litany is in Hebrew, and every one present has with him the litany prayer book. There is no union or harmony in this recitation of sorrow and humiliation. Each one as he arrives begins to deliver his lamentation, bending frequently to the wall, which he believes to be a remnant of the old city.
While to a general, confused, but penetrating note of woe. Of the intense sincerity of this weekly service there can be no doubt. Many of those who take part in it are deeply moved. Some of the men and nearly all the women (for women also take part in it) are electing tears. The Turks, no doubt, view the performance with complacent scorn, but in its combination of patriotism and religion it affords a striking testimony of the vitality of the Jewish race.—

MUST GO "ONE BETTER."
We build and furnish our homes to Surpass Our Neighbors.

Perhaps the most common revolution in the building of new houses is that nearly universal desire to excel our contemporaries—a desire doubtless implanted for some wise purpose, but which often leads to most extraordinary results. For the reason that many of our fellow mortals are considerably off the track, and when we surpass them in any direction we only go still farther astray. Thus, when a man has more money to spend than his neighbor, he examines his neighbor's house and proceeds to build one "just like it—only more so."

His neighbor's rooms are 10 feet high. He will have his 12 or 14, build three stories instead of two, and cover them with a pretentious roof. If his neighbor has a four sided cupola surmounted by a plain pyramid, he will have an eight sided or circular tower, with a covering, for which there is no adequate word of description, mathematical or otherwise. His neighbor's house is wood. He shall have granite or Roman marble, terra cotta, granite or polished marble, separately or in combination.

His neighbor and his neighbor's wife have common glass, pine finish, ingrain carpets and a cherry table. He will have oak, walnut, mahogany, plate glass, brass and velvet, and a thousand other things, not because they are more suitable or beautiful—they may or they may not be, but because they cost more, because, in certain directions, they surpass his neighbor's—very likely surpass them in the wrong direction.—

So Didn't Want Them to Fight.
I was going along a bridle path in West Virginia when I heard a young man and a young woman talking over-boardly:
"I don't want you all to fight," said the girl.
"But you don't promise to marry the one that whopped," remonstrated her escort.
"I don't keer. I didn't think no way."
"Well, maybe neither of us'll get shot."
"If one got killed, you'd marry t'other?"
"Yess."
"An if both got killed that'd plenty more wants you."
"Yass; that's Sam, an I think a heap of Sam. But that ain't it. S'posin one gits killed and t'other gits crippled so he kin't tote water from the spring, water if I marry you. Kin't you all play leards, for I kin't abide to marry a cripple nohow, an I'd be bound if yo' all had the foot."
"Well, I'll see Tom, but I'm afraid he kin beat me at leards, but I kin outshoot him sho'." — Philadelphia Times.

How Sand Hills Grow.
A sand hill is not "made" so much as planted. Wherever a patch of "marrum grass" takes root, there the sand blown from the great bank gathers round it.
As the sand spreads, the grass grows through it, until the hard dry blades form the nucleus of thousands of tons of "hills." Near Holkham lay there lay not 40 years ago a vast "lake" inside the high sand. There the "gamers" used to hide for curlew, digging holes and filling them with "marrum grass" to make them dry and comfortable.
This grass took root, the sand gathered round, and where the "lake" lay is now a tumultuous mass of rounded hills, rising to feet above high water level, built by the "marrum grass" from the surplus driftings of the mighty sand.—

Lord Ellenborough's Wig.
Lady Ellenborough, a renowned beauty on one occasion accompanied the judge on circuit, on the distinct understanding that she should not incur the charge with bandboxes—his abhorrence. During the first day's journey Lord Ellenborough, stretching his legs, chanced to strike his foot against something lying under the seat. It was a bandbox.
Down went the window and out it flew.
The coachman, thinking the box had fallen out, at once pulled up, but his master furiously roared out the order to "drive on." On reaching the next station town, Lord Ellenborough proceeded to equip himself for the bench. "Now," said he, "where is my wig?" "My lord," replied the attendant, "it was thrown out of the carriage window." —

George Elliot's portrait represents her as having a remarkably unprepossessing face, with heavy nose and chin and thick, badly shaped lips. She would be pronounced positively ugly.

ed in cotton factories was $308,000,000;

Tired

Without exertion, weak, weary and depressed. This is the pitiable condition of thousands at this season. It is due to impoverished blood. The vital fluid has become loaded with impurities and depleted in quality. — It leaves the system

Weak

Because the blood is the means nature provides for supplying nerves, organs and tissues with nourishment, and health and vigor cannot be expected when the blood is thin and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this weakness, because it enriches the blood. It cures

Nervous

Troubles by feeding the nerves upon pure, rich blood. It overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite and gives refreshing sleep. If you want to feel well you must have pure blood. You may have pure blood and good health by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by its unequalled record of cures has won the first place among medicines. Get only

I WANT
Every Farmer to know that he daily comes in contact with a cheap substance, which when mixed with Paris Green, can be used with half the labor and expense, and is a better exterminator of the potato bug than anything he has yet used. I accidentally made this discovery while on my own farm and will give it to any farmer who will send me his address, with postage stamp and ten cents.
