GRAHAM'S ISLAND.

BY CHARLES R. LEWIS.

We had called at Mauritius on our way from Liverpool to Bombay in the ship Farewell and were five days out from the island when the adventure occurred by which we lost the captain and laid the foundation for this story. It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon of a bright day, and the ship was not making above four knots an hour. What sea there was would not have bothered a quarter boat, and the ship lifted to a wave only at long intervals. The second mate and I were superintending some work forward, while the captain was alone on the quarter deck. All of a sudden and without the slightest warning the sea began to boil and heave under us, and around us in the most violent manner, and for five minutes every man had to hold on for his life. In her pitch the craft shipped three or four green seas, which swept the decks of every thing movable. We were congratulating ourselves that all had escaped when the captain was found to be missing. The last wave we shipped had no doubt carried him away, and by the time we had come to this conclusion it was too late to make any move.

The sea had been disturbed by an earthquake. Just where we were when the agitation began the chart showed the depth to be a full mile. Three months later, when soundings were taken by a French vessel, it was found that a mountain two miles in circumference at the base had heaved up until its crest was only 40 feet below the surface. The set of wind and wave before and after the agitation was to the westward, and ten minutes after the ship had come back to a level keel the wind changed to the east and blew half a gale for the next seven hours. As a matter of record, the ship pursued her voyage and made the port of Bombay without further adventure, and the remainder of the story relates to the captain. He was swept overboard by the last wave, just as we concluded, and presently found himself far to leeward among a lot of spars and casks which the same wave had taken from the main deck. While the man was a spar and cask a lashing around his body had no hope of rescue.

Almost before he realized his position the ship was a mile away, and he felt sure that no boat would be lowered to make a search for him. The spar to which he was lashed drifted away to the west, and evening came. At ten o'clock and sunset four ships passed the drifting man, but all too far away to see or hear, and when night came down he felt that there was no longer the slightest chance for him. He drifted to the westward, as I have told you, but how far has never been known. Night passed and another day came, and toward the close of that day Captain Graham lost consciousness. He may have drifted a day after that—perhaps two days. When he came to his senses again, he was lying on a sandy beach, with his feet in the water. He had been cast ashore on an island. It was surely an island to the north and west of Madagascar, but for reasons which will be explained later on it cannot be more definitely located. For an hour after opening his eyes the man could not unlash himself from the spar. When he had finally accomplished that, he tried to reach the shore of the beach. When high noon and the weather hot, the captain was so exhausted that he could not get so far as the water and he went to sleep. When he awoke, he found the spar still in his hand, and when he tried to raise his head he was aware of the fact that he was on a narrow strip of land, and that the spar was still in his hand.

FRENCH SUSPICION.

IT HAS PLAYED AN IMPORTANT PART IN THE COUNTRY'S HISTORY.

At all the great crises of French life the element of proterrestrial suspicion has played an important part. Like some mischievous Puck it hovers over the land, whispering doubts here, mingling them, converting the whole nation into monarchs, whose business it is to set a watch on their neighbors day and night. We have such a profound admiration for many qualities of the French people; such a sincere belief in the necessity of a powerful French factor in the complex mesh of Western civilization, that we can afford to bring this charge of undue suspicion against France as a whole. No student of French history can fail to see the confusion it has wrought. It is not the growth of yesterday, but it is almost as evident in the complex mesh of Western civilization, that we can afford to bring this charge of undue suspicion against France as a whole.

who was assumed to be absolutely under another's actions and perpetual attempts to fathom one another's inward thoughts, and the "law of suspects" was simply a formal expression of national craziness. That was madness lies. In the person of Robespierre proterrestrial suspicion attained its most complete incarnation. His future motto was over on the dart for his prey. He could not bear a good word said of any man but he instantly began to revolve in his mind the question as to whether there were not some concealed motive in the praise. The shout of triumphant relief which reverberated over France when Robespierre's head fell into the basket marked the break of the straining point of that suspicion which had created and sustained the terror. When we remember that but for an accident Carnot would have fallen a victim to Robespierre's suspicious and that this suspicious disposition had led a man of sentimental virtue to become a wholesale murderer, we can understand that feeling of relief—London Spectator.

A RAILROAD TO MECCA.

Religious Prejudices the Chief Obstacle. The poet Thomson, in his stanzas on "Summer," made allusion to what was probably a condition, not a theory, confronting the progressive Arabians when he said, "And Mecca saddened at the long delay." Allusion was probably intended to the delay of tourists and travelers in reaching Mecca. The present trade of Mecca is carried on mostly by caravans, though the number of visiting pilgrims who reach the Mohammedan Holy city by way of the Red Sea ports is on the increase each year and requires the constant service of a considerable number of small ships in and about the harbor of Jiddah. In all about 100,000 pilgrims go to and from Mecca each year, and there is also considerable traffic between Yembo and Medina.

Mecca yesterday train is mighty repentant to and clearly against all the recognized teachings of the Mohammedan sects. The proposed railroad to Mecca has one argument in its favor which does not generally come up for consideration in like projects. It is favored as a probably sanitary measure, for it is a fact well known that some of the most disastrous and devastating plagues and pestilences which have overrun Europe and thence spread America have had their origin in the lack of hygienic conditions among the hordes of zealous and excited pilgrims going or returning from the city of Mecca.
The establishment of a railroad to that city would, it is thought, be a long step toward the establishment of a quarantine.—New York Sun.

Ladies Not in It.

The gentlemen of the 1st Presbyterian church will give a supper and social at the church vestry on Tuesday evening, February 8th. The entire charge of the affair will be in the hands of the gentlemen who will undertake to do all the cooking and attend to all the necessary details and arrangements, without the assistance of any of the ladies. Some revelations and new discoveries in the culinary art are discovered. There is to be a short entertainment and a pleasant time is anticipated. Everybody cordially invited and especially the ladies, who will have an opportunity to acquire many new and original recipes for table use. Supper ready at 6 o'clock. Admission and supper, 25 cents; children, 15 cents.

A NECKLACE OF PEARLS

Is a beautiful possession. If a woman owns one, she has a single pearl drop of the string she makes it a habit to find and restore it. Good health is a more valuable possession than a necklace of the most beautiful pearls, yet one by one the jewels of health slip away, and women seem indifferent until it is almost too late, and they cannot be restored. To die before you are really old is to suffer premature death, and that is a sin. It is a sin because it is the result of repeated violations of nature's laws.

Pain, lassitude and weariness, inability to sleep, dreadful dreams, starting violently from sleep, are all symptoms of nerve trouble. You cannot have nerve trouble and keep your health. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the womb, the ovaries and the bladder are affected. They are not vital organs, hence they give out soonest.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, by building up the nerves and restoring woman's organism to its natural state, relieves all these troublesome uterine symptoms. In confirmation of this we give permission, refer to the following women, all of whom speak from experience: Miss CRIZA VAN HORN, 1912 Sharswood St., Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss GRACE COLBORN, 1434 Eastern Ave., Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. NEWELL, 50 Kyrwood St., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. MRS. THERESA, 220 Chestnut St., Woburn, Mass.; Mrs. A. H. COLE, New Rochelle, N. Y., and many others.

For special symptoms Mrs. Pinkham has prepared a Sanative Wash, which will cure local troubles. Give these medicines a trial. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., if you are not quite satisfied; you can address private questions to a woman.

Look at the Reed Rockers, at Putney & Little's.

Will Ingram visited last week with friends in Lynn, Mass.

Zero weather and a heavy snow-storm was the variety Monday morning.

Read notice of "Ladies Not in It," in this paper to-day. It will surely interest you.

Owing to the storm the Library will not open Tuesday, but instead will be open Thursday at usual hour.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Enoch Page Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock of next week.

The J. C. Rockwell dramatic company have left town and are now holding forth in Hillsboro Bridge.

Leander Patterson will leave the employ of C. W. Farmer and accept a position with the Goodell Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Muzzey are occupying rooms in the second story of C. F. Downes' residence, corner of Summer street and Highland avenue.

The Odd Fellows anniversary sleigh ride to Franconstown which was to take place Tuesday, was postponed on account of storm till Monday afternoon next at two o'clock.

Henry Brooks accidentally sawed off a small portion of three fingers on one of his hands, while at work with a circular saw at shop No. 1 of Goodell Co., one day last week.

Rev. Wm. Hurlin assisted at the morning service at the Methodist church Sunday last, and preached an excellent sermon from the first chapter of Romans and the sixteenth verse.

Examinations of schools this week as follows: Division 4, Thursday forenoon; Division 1, 2nd Primary, Thursday afternoon; Intermediate school, Friday forenoon; Grammar school, Friday afternoon.

Dr. C. W. Rowley of Manchester will lecture at Town Hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 9, this being in the high school course. His subject will be "The True Spirit of American Patriotism." Everyone will want to hear Dr. Rowley give this lecture; he is a smart, scholarly speaker, very interesting to listen to, and will be sure to present many instructive thoughts which will be a help to his hearers.

Laid at Rest.

Thursday morning just as the sun was about to cast its rays of light over the distant hills, the death of Maria C. Mitchell was learned by the people of Clinton Village. Mrs. Mitchell passed away after several months of sickness. She bore her sickness bravely as she did not take her bed until two days previous to her death. She was the wife of the late Elbridge F. Mitchell, who died in the fall of '91. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell moved from Berlin to this town in the fall of '89. She had but one child, Mrs. Lewis Gove of Clinton, who has cared for her during her sickness. She left two brothers and one sister: Sarah Russell and Mr. Charles Lowe, both of Greenfield, and Isaac Lowe of Lyndeboro. Mrs. Mitchell's funeral was on Saturday and her body was placed beside that of her late husband in Maplewood cemetery. She was born in Greenfield, May 29, 1822, and consequently at the time of her death was nearly 75 years of age. She has been a member of the church for many years and was highly respected by all who knew her.

The Discovery of the Day.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shrewsbury, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cured my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free bottles at Antrim Pharmacy.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The following papers and magazines have been decided upon for the reading room: The Outlook, Scientific American, Our Day, Ram's Horn, The Christian, Boston Herald, Boston Journal, Manchester Union, Judge, Harper's Weekly, Youth's Companion, McClure's, Harper's, Scribner's, Review of Reviews, Cosmopolitan, Outlook, Forest and Stream, Overland Monthly.

Some of these will be donated by people in town and if anyone wishes to furnish any one of the papers here named or any other suitable paper or magazine, please make it known.

All who agreed to join as an active member and any who wish to join are requested to meet at the rooms next Monday evening, Feb. 7th, at 7:30 o'clock.

If You Are Going

to paint, just remember that Harry Deacon is agent for the paint that covers a better and wears at least a longer—made by F. W. Devos & Co., New York, the oldest and largest paint manufacturers in America.

In a speech delivered at Philadelphia a few days since, Secretary Gage said: "The political head of the Republic bimetalism under the only conditions by which it can be maintained, namely, international agreement with open mint to both silver and gold. In his efforts to inaugurate such methods, the President heartily supports the principles of his party's platform, and in his efforts he has the support of all the members of his official family, innuendoes and declarations from various sources to the contrary notwithstanding. Until it can be secured in this rational manner, we propose to maintain the kind of bimetalism we have now, under which five hundred millions or more of silver are kept on a parity with gold. Under this standard precisely for sixty years, and according to the Democratic candidate's admission for twenty-seven years by a statute law, this country has developed and flourished as no other country has."

Card of Thanks

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a fifty cent bottle of Greene's Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold; we also warrant a twenty-five cent bottle to prove satisfactory or no pay.

Chas. H. Martin, Antrim,
H. Marcy & Son, Hillsboro,
W. S. Scanton & Co., Hillsboro.

A few months ago, Mr. Byron Eberly, of Woodstock, Mich., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. His right leg was swollen the full length, causing him great suffering. He was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first bottle of it helped him considerably and the second bottle effected a cure. The 25 and 50 cent sizes are for sale by C. H. Martin, Druggist.

Card of Thanks

We, the undersigned, do most heartily thank friends and neighbors, bearers, and all who in any way aided us in the care and burial of our beloved wife and mother, and may God bless you all.

JOHN W. HERRICK,
FANNIE F. HUTCHINSON and Family.

Mrs. John W. Herrick.

Mrs. Angeline (Curtis) Herrick, wife of our esteemed fellow citizen, John W. Herrick, died about one o'clock in the morning of Jan. 28th. She was born Nov. 18, 1822, and hence was 75 years, two months and ten days old. They were married April 18, 1847, and had lived together more than fifty years. She was a feeble health for many years and was known to but few of the present generation of the place; but was an excellent Christian woman, faithful in her duties, and a most devoted mother. She was a member of the Methodist church, and was very kind, gentle spirit, and was loved by all. She was buried in the cemetery of Hillsboro, on the morning of the 30th inst. She leaves behind her a husband, two daughters, a son, and a number of grandchildren. Her funeral was held on the 31st inst., at 10:30 o'clock, at Hillsboro, by Rev. G. W. Norris, and interment was made in the cemetery.

Woman's Protector

The greatest protection for women is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. No woman can be weak very long after she takes it. Disease must yield when the FAVORITE REMEDY attacks it. There is no female weakness or irregularity which it will not relieve and cure. There is no pain or ache peculiar to women which it will not drive away.

Dr. David Kennedy, 235 Varadero Alley, New York, N. Y., is the only person who has a right to sell this medicine.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Cures.

The Associated Charities Thus Place Dr. Greene's Nervura Above All Other Remedies to Cure—a Real Blessing to the Sick and Suffering—The Remedy Which Will Surely Make You Strong and Well.

More enthusiastic still is the report of Miriam F. Witherspoon, General Secretary of the Associated Charities of Worcester, Mass. (35 Pearl Street), regarding the great value, as a medicine, of Dr. Greene's Nervura and its marvelous powers to cure disease and restore health to the people. She says:—

"In my work as General Secretary of Charities in Worcester, I have distributed Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy among the needy poor and sick, and it has been received with thankfulness and great joy. One poor woman said she had been trying to save money enough to buy a bottle, and when she found it was to give her one, her joy and gratitude were great."

"In all cases the results have been as we hoped for, building up the feeble, nervous, overworked and underfed people who have in general no help. As far as Nervura goes it has been a real blessing. G. S. WILSON, Gen'l Sec'y Associated Charities of the District of Columbia."

Teaming business is lively these days. The sledding is excellent. G. F. Russell's mill is being stocked with logs quite freely.

The Improvement Club meeting, Monday evening, was well attended. The question was, "Resolved, that Greenfield is Ahead of adjoining Towns." Judge Fred J. Albee, who, after listening to the arguments on both sides, decided in the affirmative. Question for next Monday evening, "Resolved, that the Australian ballot would be better than the present system for our annual town meetings."

Mrs. Augustus Hurd died at the home of her son-in-law, J. F. Deane, Tuesday morning. Mrs. Hurd had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Deane, for some time. Her funeral services were held Thursday at 2 o'clock, attended by Rev. J. S. H. Robinson, and Friday morning her remains were carried to Wayland, Mass., for interment. Her age was 74 years, and she leaves five children—Frank E. Hurd of Providence, R. I., Mrs. L. H. Belcher and Mrs. Nellie E. Nutting of Franconstown, Mrs. W. H. Smith of Haverhill, Mass., and Mrs. J. F. Deane of this town—Transcript.

Two farmers were discussing their local paper. One thought there were too many advertisements in it. The other replied: "In my opinion the advertisements are far from being the least valuable part of it. I look them over with care and save at least five times the cost of the paper each week through the business advantages I get from them." Said the first: "I believe you are right—I know that they pay me well and rather than that I do not want to do it." "These men have the right idea of the matter." It pays any man with a family to take a good local paper for the sake of the advertisements if nothing more. And if business men fail to give farmers a chance to read advertisements in the local paper they are blind to their own interests to say the least of it. "You never trade with me," said a business man to a prosperous farmer. "You have never invited me to your place of business and I never go where I am not invited; I might not be welcome."

Mr. Ward L. Smith, Fredericks-town, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians in Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a newspaper and glanced to read an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose helped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by C. H. Martin, Druggist.

Colonel Frank Rollins of Concord is at present the most talked of Republican candidate for Governor of New Hampshire in the coming campaign. From some of the remarks recently made by another and following precedence long since established, it would seem Dr. J. Albino Greene will also be a most active candidate. They are both good men and will fill the gubernatorial chair with much ability.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank those who so kindly assisted in the burial of our dear mother. May Heaven's richest blessings be yours.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gove and Family.

Big pension frauds are reported to have been discovered in Norfolk, Va. These frauds are very few in the northern states, and especially so in New Hampshire.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarella Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, acts gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispelling bile, removing all humors, curing constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. to-day, 10, 25, 50 cents. Bold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

The first of the Manchester nuisance case, which was on trial in that city the first of the week and in which Hon. D. H. Goodell of this town has been much concerned, resulted in a verdict. It is understood that the jury were very evenly divided regarding a verdict. There are several more cases of the same nature which are to be tried at once. Should other disagreements follow it is a question whether all the cases will be tried or not, though it is probable the question of expense to the county may have little weight in the matter.

Modern Journalists.

Great Editor—They have just introduced a newfangled electrical chair as Bing Sing please, but I have learned there are doubts as to its efficiency—in fact, some experienced electricians say it will not kill. Detail a reporter to try it. If it escapes, it will be the biggest thing of a sensation.

City Editor—But what shall I do if it does kill?

Great Editor—Get a new reporter.—New York Weekly.

Editorial: May Job.

Thought I give Columbus credit for his grand voyage, but for his wife's glory during his purpose and interest.

Yet I own, I always wonder at the public incredulity in hearing that Columbus sailed on the 31st of August, the 31st of August is the 31st of August.

Forgetting to be covered by being the general opinion.

Should you wish to have a copy of this paper, please send your name and address to the Editor.

A reporter who was asked to report on the case of a man who had been killed by a horse, said: "I have no objection to the case being tried."

Dr. Greene's Nervura Cures.

The Associated Charities Thus Place Dr. Greene's Nervura Above All Other Remedies to Cure—a Real Blessing to the Sick and Suffering—The Remedy Which Will Surely Make You Strong and Well.

More enthusiastic still is the report of Miriam F. Witherspoon, General Secretary of the Associated Charities of Worcester, Mass. (35 Pearl Street), regarding the great value, as a medicine, of Dr. Greene's Nervura and its marvelous powers to cure disease and restore health to the people. She says:—

"In my work as General Secretary of Charities in Worcester, I have distributed Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy among the needy poor and sick, and it has been received with thankfulness and great joy. One poor woman said she had been trying to save money enough to buy a bottle, and when she found it was to give her one, her joy and gratitude were great."

"In all cases the results have been as we hoped for, building up the feeble, nervous, overworked and underfed people who have in general no help. As far as Nervura goes it has been a real blessing. G. S. WILSON, Gen'l Sec'y Associated Charities of the District of Columbia."

No greater proof of the wonderful efficacy and great curative powers of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy among the sick and suffering is possible than the enthusiastic and glowing reports of the Associated Charities concerning this wonderful medicine and the marvelous cures it is everywhere effecting.

Mr. Geo. S. Wilson, General Secretary of Associated Charities of Washington and the District of Columbia, and the best known man in the country in the field of charitable work, reports:—

"In our work of the Associated Charities of Washington, we have dispensed Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy among the sick."

"It has been gladly received and with very gratifying results. In one case especially of nervous debility the report is very encouraging. She was also afflicted with dyspepsia."

"I am pleased to say that all reports that have come to my knowledge have been highly favorable."

Geo. S. Wilson, Gen'l Sec'y Associated Charities of the District of Columbia."

Nearly an Elopement.

It was a dark night. Slowly down the marble steps into the garden stole a little figure of perhaps 240 pounds.

In her hands she carried a small parcel. It was a Saratoga trunk.

She was clad only in garments, with the exception of her hat and shoes and stockings.

She glanced carefully around, and seeing no one she took a step forward.

"Ah, had I felt?"

It was a deep cry of triumph. A large man of 5 feet 3 inches sprang from the bushes and seized the maiden. In spite of her struggles no bore he into the house, a glow of victory in his eyes.

Was it a storm parent ruthlessly preventing his daughter's elopement? No. It was a calm suburban citizen, and he was preventing his new cook from jumping her job.—New York Sunday World.

The Wanderer's Return.

"Home again at last, darling."
"John, dearest, you don't look a day older."
"I must. Centuries can't roll over a man's head without leaving traces."
"It was ages and ages, wasn't it? And, oh, John, how lonesome I have been!"
"You poor little wife! If ever I have to go away again, you shall go with me. But you're more beautiful than ever, sweet one. What have you been doing with yourself all the time I was away?"
"Thinking of you, darling, and longing and longing and longing for you to come home."
"If that is the secret of beauty, I ought to have grown a perfect Adonis. And you're sure you recognized me right off without thinking at least a minute?"
"Of course, you old dear. Do you suppose I could ever forget you?"
"Good gracious, it doesn't seem possible that I've really been away only since day before yesterday, does it, sweetheart?"
"Not a bit more, husband mine, than that we have actually been married a whole month tomorrow."—Alex Rickerts in New York Truth.

Final Settlement!

The Selectmen of Antrim wish to give notice that they will meet at their Rooms in Town Hall building, on Friday and Saturday, February 11 and 12, for the purpose of settling all Town accounts. As this will be the last meeting of the Board the present year, it is necessary that all claims against the Town be presented at this time.

By order,
SELECTMEN OF ANTRIM,
January 26, 1898.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at Antrim Pharmacy.

Hold Her Hands.

A lot of girls imagine that when their young man holds their hand it's a proof of love, but in 99 cases out of 100 it's simply to keep them from playing the piano.—Ally Sloper.

The Emperor's Wives.

The emperor of Austria, for instance, had a splendid collection of the king of Prussia rare book, Queen Christina of Spain priceless alabaster, Prince Maternich genuine cachet d'or, and so on. The whole was kept in a large iron cupboard in the study of the learned physician, known as the Emperor's library. Eugene was then a college freshman, and having procured a skeleton key to the cupboard, with his friends, Adolphe, Adam, Veron and others, proceeded every night to investigate the contents of the bookcase. Not wishing to have their explorations prematurely stopped, they took the precaution to fill up the partially exhausted flask with water and then to reveal them. When, for a long time afterward, the doctor brought forth samples of his precious stock for the delectation of guests worthy of it, and the company tasted it with a due sense of awe, it was privately felt that the celebrity of these grand brands was all moonshine, that ordinary table d'hote bordsaux was preferable to them. But nobody dared to say so, and it was only after the death of his dear father, that the novelist confessed the sacrifice.
