MARRIAGE.

That of my own, my darling and my wife, and when we pass into another life, will then be mine. All this which now we see is but the shadow of eternity.

THOROUGHFARE GAP

BY H. QUAD

Lee was moving to invade Maryland and Pennsylvania. The mountains hid his marching columns from sight of the Federals, and at every gap in the Blue Ridge he left a force with instructions to hold out to the last and give up only all the time possible to reach and cross the Potomac. It was the aim of the Federals to break through at some point and penetrate his movement, and there was fighting on every mountain trail and at the mouth of every mountain gap. The major general had said to the brigadier ordered to proceed to Thoroughfare gap:

"I do not know how many Confederates are holding that gap, but be the number 500 or 10,000 you must break through. That is the order—break through. If only one man of your command is left alive, he will bring us the news we want."

to hand fight now, and every man was a devil, and after a quarter of an hour of bloody fighting the Federals held the position. The dead lay three deep below the wall, but the living stood upon its crest and cheered and cheered again. The cheering soon died away in growls and oaths. A quarter of a mile above, at a bend of the ravine, there was another stone wall, and the Confederates had simply withdrawn to the new position. They had lost 100 men, but the Federal brigade was no longer a brigade. It lacked a full regiment. That night the brigadier had another wound, and again there were orders from the major general:

HARRY DEACON, ANTRIM, N. H.

"Out of h—ll and into Pennsylvania—forward—march!"

And when the long night had passed and daylight came again the Federals found the stone wall undefended and clambered over it and ran to the mouth of the gap to shout to each other: "Lee has passed, and we are too late!"

A JASS OUSE.

The late Sir John Bridge, the well known London magistrate, was fond of telling his friends of a curious letter he received not long before his retirement from Bow street. It ran: "Sir—I am sorry to occupy your time, but I feel I must write to thank you for having looked up my wife for six months. My wife had often come before the court for drunkenness, but after being fined she was worse. You were kind enough to give her six months, and she came back to me a reclaimed woman and is now the best wife in England."

This letter was all the more valued by Sir John Bridge because he was ordinarily a lenient judge.

Why We Ate Salas.

Mrs. Greene-Charles, I was astonished at the way you devoured that salad tonight. You know you always write the addressed stamp, and to attach the required stamp, but for the latter they make an extra charge of a cent. It is hardly necessary to state that only very ignorant people, who are totally unacquainted even with the simple formalities of mailing a letter in addition to not knowing how to write, have recourse to the swagirls for stamps.—Mexican Herald.

Food For Reflection.

"Food for reflection," observed the ostrich, with a certain rude wit, as he swallowed the fragments of the mirror.—Detroit Journal.

What has become of the old fashioned woman whose first thought in an emergency was to light the fire and put the kettle on?—Athenian Globe.

I never have seen any good thinkers, any real beauty, anything noble or anything of great simple nature.—Henry Ford.

When Ignorance is Bliss.

Fudge—Do you believe in love at first sight?

Fudge—Cert. It is then that neither party knows what kind of a person the other is. Why shouldn't they fall in love?—Boston Transcript.

Flourishing is one of the greatest drawbacks to happiness. Most of it can be avoided if we only determine not to let others carry us; for the largest amount of flourishing is caused by the smallest pain.

Take Notice and Consider.

The National Life Insurance Company, Montpelier, Vt., Charles Dewey, President, on its fiftieth year of business, with over sixteen millions of assets and over two millions of guaranteed surplus.

Note a Few Stubborn Facts.

It is a fact that every man needs Life Insurance to protect his family if he has one, his business if he does any, and himself if he lives. It grants protection upon mutual plans, at the lowest guaranteed cost. It is immediately payable on proof of death, or also, if a bond, at the end of the specified term. It guarantees the most liberal, endorsed cash, paid up and extended insurance values. It places no restrictions on residence or travel. It is incontestable, non-forfeitable, and adjustable,—a policy of guarantees.

Surplus.

Surplus may be applied 1—to cash, 2—to reduce future premiums, 3—to the purchase of an annuity or life income or 4—converted into additional paid-up insurance. During the last ten years it has gained $48,844,472 of insurance, $10,961,940 of assets, and $1,108,479 of surplus. NOTE—A sample policy will be sent you by return mail. Send your date of birth and state the kind of insurance which you wish to buy.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube and restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for circular free.

Story of a Slave.
To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting, and dizzy spells. It is a goddess to weak, sickly, run-down people. OBITUARY.
Horace Gills and Wife.
Horace Gills, last surviving child of John and Hannah (Aiken) Gills of Deering, died in Ashburnham, Mass., July 28, 1890, aged almost 88 years. He was one of the kindest and most upright of men. Through his long life he made no enemies, and he had the respect of all who knew him. He was an attendant at the Home of God, a constant friend to the church, and a helper of every good thing. Mr. Gills lived a large part of his life in Antrim, and was well known to the older people here, having moved from this place to Ashburnham, about 1844.
He married Elizabeth Tattle, of Antrim, Oct. 6, 1842. She was called "one of the fairest and sweetest of the town" in her day, and she was truly a woman of unusual wisdom and worth. She died at 3 a. m., Aug. 1, 1900.
The bodies of both were brought here on the afternoon of Aug. 2, for burial at North Branch cemetery. And there, while the sun was sinking low in the west, their peaceful faces were looked upon for the last time, a brief service was conducted at the grave by Rev. Dr. Cochrane, and the two caskets were laid side by side for the last sleep.
It is worthy of note that they were born within two days of each other; that they lived together in beautiful and unbroken affection nearly 58 years; and that both were buried the same day, with the same funeral services, and in the same grave. "Lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided."
They are survived by their only daughter and only child, Mrs. Samuel G. Newton of Ashburnham. Miss Annie B. Newton, a teacher in Antrim's schools for the past several years, is a grand-daughter.

Mrs. Tryphena Tenney.
One of the oldest of our esteemed elderly women, Mrs. Tryphena Tenney, died on Tuesday night of last week at the home of her son, J. F. Tenney, at the head of West street, where she had made her home almost constantly for the past several years. Deceased was born in Lyndebo 78 years ago last April, and the cause of her death was attributed to consumption of quite long standing.
In her younger days, deceased was a student at the Hancock Academy, and the first school which she taught was in her native town almost on the very spot where her grand-daughter, Mrs. Anabel, now teaches. Soon after this she came to Antrim to teach and here met Benjamin B. Tenney, whom she afterwards married. To them were born two children, John F., and Amy T., the former the only surviving child, the latter dying at the age of 16 years.
Mrs. Tenney lived a conscientious christian life and was a good woman; she was one of the oldest members of the Antrim Baptist church, and when health permitted was a constant attendant at its services.
What was a great comfort to the deceased and the family was that the relatives and friends came to see her while she was living and knew them, and could converse with them; all her preparations were made, and when the Death angel touched her she was ready to follow him.
Besides the son and his family who are left to mourn their loss, she leaves one sister, Mrs. Susanna F. Harrington, aged 84, residing in Lyndebo, and a half brother, Dea. David Putnam, of the same town.
Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from her late home conducted by her pastor, Rev. B. H. Lane. Interment was in Maplewood.

Look at your tongue. Then you have a bad taste in your mouth every morning. Your appetite is poor, and food distresses you. You have frequent headaches and are often dizzy. Your stomach is weak and your bowels are always constipated. There's an old and reliable cure:
Ayer's Pile Plus
Don't take a cathartic, dose and then stop. Better take a laxative dose each night, just enough to cause one good free movement the day following. You feel better the very next day. Your appetite returns, your dyspepsia is cured, your headaches pass away, your tongue clears up, your liver acts well, and your bowels no longer give you trouble.
Price, 25 cents. All druggists.
"I have taken Ayer's Pile Plus for 25 years, and consider them the best. One pill does me more good than half a box of any other medicine I have ever used."

With the Ninth in China.
The Boston Journal Has a Special Correspondent There.

"The only New England newspaper that has a special correspondent with the American troops in China" is the interesting announcement which the Boston Journal is making. Its representative, who has been with the Ninth Regiment since its departure from the Philippines, through the landing on Chinese soil and through the battle of Tien-Tsin, in which the regiment lost so heavily, is A. G. James, a New England man with years of experience in practical newspaper work in the cities of Chicago, New York and Boston. He went with the Forty-sixth Regiment to the Philippines as the correspondent of the Boston Journal, and his letters in the Journal descriptive of the campaigning in the islands prove him to be an acute observer as well as a most entertaining writer.

The Boston Journal's designation as "The Paper with the Photographs" has become familiar all over New England.
Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like DeWitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. C. H. Martin, Antrim, Eaton Bros., Hancock, G. O. Joelin, Bennington.

The second city in size of the British Empire is Calcutta.
The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because, if he traveled on his reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salve on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures all skin diseases. Chas. H. Martin, Antrim, Eaton Bros., Hancock, G. O. Joelin, Bennington.

ZEB KNEW THE HOWL

IT INTERRUPTED A DISCUSSION ON THINGS BIBLICAL.

The Old Possum Hunter Tells About a Wildcat Scrimmage and How, After He Thought He Had the Old Woman Licked, She Silenced Him.

(Copyright, 1920, by C. B. Lewis.) "One evening," said the possum hunter of Tennessee, "as me an the old woman sat smokin' our pipes on the doah-step an' feelin' at peace with the world, she suddently says to me: 'Zeb, do yo' know why the preacher didn't stop with us when he was 'long yere two weeks ago?'

"'Bakase he stopped with Jube Taylor,' says I. "'He stopped that, but he wasn't gwine to till he heard what yo' had said. Then he got mad an' wouldn't step foot over the doah.'

"'An' what did I say?'" "Yo' was blowin' round that yo' didn't believe the whole swallered Jones. 'Feared that yo' wanted to start fussin' with somebody. What's that whole an' Jones got to do with yo'?"

"'But I ain't a-believin' the story. How's a man gwine to live right on arter he's bin swallered by a whole?'" "That's none of our business," she says.

"'But I'm makin' it my business,' says I. 'What doin' seem likely to me I ain't gwine to believe in.'"

"'But yo' might keep shut about it an' not raise a fuss. Who air yo', Zeb White, that yo' dispute the Bible?'" "That started the row," said the old man. "An' we had some purty hot words. I said I didn't believe the story, an' she said she didn't keer whether I did or not, an' we was sassin' away when we heard a cry up on the hillside. It was sounthin like the cry of a child, an' the old woman an' me both listened an' says: 'Zeb, that's a leetle child wanderin' about in the brush. Jest hoot two or three hoots to draw it this way.'

"The cry come ag'in, an' then I knowed what it was. It wasn't no lost child, but a prowlin' wildcat. I had heard one fur two y'ars, but I was dog sash of the game. I'd hev told the old woman, but she got mad bakase I wouldn't hoot an' called me names. When the third cry come, she says to me: 'Zeb White, that must be Joe Baker's leetle boy Jim, an' he's wandered two miles away from home. If yo''ve got a heart in yo' bunsom, yo'll go up the mounting an' find him an' bring him down in yo' arms.'

"'I ain't huntin' fur lost boys,' says I. 'I fill my pipe.'"

"'Then I an' I'll go up thar myself.'"

"'Better not.'"

"'But I will. Befo' the Lawd, but I don't know what's come over yo', Zeb. Fust yo' go an' deny that the whole swallered Jones, an' then yo' won't move hand or foot to save an' innocent child from perishin'. Mebbe yo' air git-ting ready to turn Mormon an' run away from me?'"

"'I ain't takin' wild varmints fur lost boys,' says I. 'As the screem come ag'in, it's no wild varmint. It's the voice of leetle Joe Baker, an' he must be skeert almost to death of the darkness. Yo' sot right yere like an old mewl, an' I'll go up an' find him. I'm thakin' the Lawd yo' ain't got no children of yo' own.'

"'With that she grabs up a stick an' starts up the hill. While I knowed that a wildcat was roamin' round, I didn't think the old woman would come to any hurt. I hoped the cat would yell out an' skeer her, an' so it was ten minits befo' I follered on the worst push-in through the brush an' callin' to Joey, an' now an' then the cat cried out in answer. I was doin' a heap of laughin' to myself when the old woman calls back to me: 'Come on, Zeb! I've dun found the child!'"

"'Then bring him along,' says I. "'I can't. He's up a tree. Zeb, did yo' ever hear of a lost boy climbin' a tree?'"

"'Not akassy, but mebbe they do it.'"

"'An' his eyes are showin' that lost children's eyes looked that way at night.'"

"'I knowed the cat had clumb a tree an' was lookin' down at the old woman, an' I had jest opened my mouth to cry out a warnin' when the cat hissed an' growled an' raised the hair on her claws. That was 'nuff. The old woman an' gin a yell an' started to run, but at the fust move she fell over a log. I reckon that cat must hev bin mighty mad 'bout sounthin, fur she screemed out an' jumped to the ground an' in two jumps was on the old woman's back an' ratta her teeth an' claws like sin. I grabbed up a club an' mixed in, but at the fust blow the club broke, an' the cat turned on me. Lemme tell yo' 'bout this 'bout wildcat. If yo' was to be pitched into a hole on top of 'footen bushes, it wouldn't be as bad as bein' hit by a row with one full grown wildcat. She would gin me a bite an' then gin the old woman a clawin' an' then she'd fight fur our lives, an' I never did sich fight in all my days. We'd hev both bin done up except that I dashed the cat ag'in a tree an' stunned her, an' while she lay thar we fed to the house an' locked the doah. We was screedin' in her face, an' she was screedin' at us, an' not bein' able to get at us, she went round to the shed an' bit an' clawed my old mewl till he was no good all winter."

"'We was a dreadful sight to see when we got into the house—me an' the old woman. We was in sizzers an' livered with blood, an' we jest fell down an' laid thar. I was the worst hurt, but I hadn't got over both mad yet. Stimey I set up an' says: 'Mebbe the whole swallered Jones, an' mebbe he didn't.'"

"'The old woman growled with her teeth an' didn't say a word.'"
