An Antrim Lady in Boston Writes to her Friends at Home.

TO THE ANTRIM REPORTER:—

The town of Brookline, Mass., has a population of twenty-four thousand. In the year 1886 it was a hamlet known as "Muddy River" and made exertion to provide "An able reading and writing Master." Now it expends two hundred thousand dollars annually for the support of schools.

The school buildings have an estimated value of over one million two hundred thousand dollars. One of the buildings is for a Manual training school and was built at the same expense as the High school house;—one hundred thousand dollars.

There are forty weeks of school each year with daily five-hour sessions above the second primary grade, which with the first primary has four-hour and the kindergarten three-hour sessions.

Parks, squares and play-grounds have been established at an expenditure of over one-and-a-half million dollars.

A very attractive public library building with every reasonable equipment, including books, is in charge of a lady with nine lady assistants, two men and a training class of three. Just now among picture-adornments on the walls are framed specimens of gypsy and brown-tail moths in their various stages of development and plainly written description of the habits of each.

About the time of the Franklin bi-centennial anniversary, small mounted portraits of that noted statesman and philosopher were placed on the walls with short biographical statements and lists of books on his life and times.

The church organizations of Brookline are of the denominations usually found in New England. A handsome church-edifice of stone is located on the spot of the first meeting house built in town. One of the pastors of this church was given a town celebration in honor of his fifty years of pastoral service. Perhaps the largest church-edifice in Brookline is that where Rev. Dr. Reuben Thomas preaches, which has seats for twelve hundred people. The present pastor of another church is also a teacher of elocution in Harvard College. Rev. Dr. A. E. Dunning and Rev. H. A. Bridgman, two of the editors of the "Congregationalist," are active members of Leyden church on Beacon street. This church was formed nearly a dozen years ago; an offshoot of Shawmut church, Boston, to fill a recognized need. Among other activities it makes a specialty of welcoming strangers.

The Laundry establishment that does the best finished work with every business detail carefully provided for, is owned and managed by a woman who was left to her own resources after having been reared in wealth.

An only daughter in a well-to-do home is taking systematic lessons upon how to care for the poor.

Of a woman who lives in a mansion with spacious grounds and has trained servants, it is said that "She works all the time."

The only idlers I have seen in Brookline are the occasional street musicians.

An army-like number of business men fit Boston-ward every morning to return at evening.

"There are no manufactures in Brookline, yet it requires a not very small multitude of dealers, and vendors, and makers, and repairers to meet the daily necessities of all of these homes.

But I must beg pardon for taking up so much space in our own home paper.

ELIZA A. KIMBALL.

Notice is hereby given that all water rents MUST be paid at once to W. E. CRAM, Treasurer. Antrim, Jan. 31, '06.

The Tuttle Library.

One year ago the 17th day of the present month, 'one of Antrim's most loyal and respected citizens—James Tuttle—passed on from this life, and as a monument to his memory left by will to the town what will amount to some twenty or more thousand dollars. Doubtless the town at its annual meeting in March will be asked to take some action on the conditions of the will.

Seldom has a town been more favored than has Antrim in this respect, and her citizens consider themselves fortunate indeed. No wonder so many want their say in regard to location, kind of building, etc. There is not the shadow of a doubt but what in due time every detail will be worked out in a manner satisfactory to all interested. The conditions of the will are very few as we understand it, about the only restriction being that it shall be called the "Tuttle Library."

When it comes to the matter of building, of course the tastes of the donor would naturally be largely considered. No one who knew Mr. Tuttle, and could judge of his wishes in the matter, would think otherwise than of putting up a neat, commodious, up-to-date building, one which would prove of lasting benefit and an ornament to the town, not going far beyond our needs simply because we have the means and no restrictions. It is reasonably certain that some new books might be purchased, but a large amount for this purpose would not be needed. A very pleasing feature connected with it would be to have sufficient funds set aside the interest of which to be used in the proper maintenance of the library and for the defraying of necessary expenses.

Fire in a School House.

The city of Berlin, this state, was unfortunate in having a fire last week which totally destroyed one of her best school houses, but what seems remarkable is the fact that the 400 pupils in the building were every one able to escape without getting injured in the least. This is accounted for by the fact that the teachers were cool-headed and had great presence of mind; also, it is stated that the drill of marching in and out of the building which was customary, aided greatly in the rapid exit from the several rooms. In this manner the teachers were able to quickly and quietly govern this large number of young people, but if they had been accustomed to go through the hallways as if shot out of a gun, falling over each other to see which could get there first, wholly regardless of order, the chances are more than equal that some would have got hurt and possibly seriously injured.

In the serious consideration of this matter, one is greatly impressed, and it would seem that too great care cannot be taken in such matters, and every precaution that is possible with the means at hand be exercised in the interests of the children in school.

Important Meeting of Breeders of Holstein-Friesian Cattle.

At the meeting of the New England Breeders' club recently held at Auburn, Mass., at which were present about two hundred, able addresses were made by president Gen. W. Wood of Worcester, Mass; Prof. C. L. Beach of Connecticut Agricultural college; Prof. F. S. Cooley of Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst and others. In the address of Prof. Wood, he stated that the cow had by actual record produced the largest amount of milk in a year was a Holstein having given over thirty thousand pounds in a single period of lactation within a year. The cow that has made the most butter in a year throughout the world is a Holstein Friesian having an official record of nearly 1,200 pounds of butter in one year. The world's weekly or seven days' butter record is held by a Holstein with records of 84 pounds.

While there are well established records of large herds yielding an average of 16,000 pounds per cow in year, it is safe to say that Holsteins of this country are averaging more than 12,000 pounds per annum. There can be no question, he said, but that the Holstein is the best cow on earth suited to all localities and is bound to cover the earth. She is the most easily kept, requires the least of care, is gentle and domestic, healthy and strong, makes the best of beef, produces the best calves that make the best veal, gives the best milk, makes the best and most butter.

Several of the Canterbury Shakers of East Canterbury had several representatives present who testified to the merits of the Holstein breed of cattle.

This breed of cattle was introduced from the provinces of North Holland and Friesland, a section of the Kingdom of Netherlands, bordering the North sea, commonly called Holland. The dairymen of these provinces were descendants of the ancient Friesians and these cattle were bred by them two thousand years ago.

Meeting of Hillsboro County Medical Association.

A meeting of the Hillsboro County Medical association was held in Milford, Thursday last, February 1. The association was organized in Nov., 1904, and this has been the first meeting since. The officers this last year have been Dr. Felt of Hillsboro Bridge, who passed away some months ago, Dr. Weaver of New Boston vice president, and Mrs. B. L. Atherton of Nashua, secretary. The business of the day included the choice of officers for the ensuing year. A dinner was served at the Endicott House. A large representation of the medical fraternity was present.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

As a last resort I commenced
the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Parasite Remedy. The result is a little short of a miracle. All the terrible symptoms of this disease are gone. I do not have any more difficulty in voiding the urine, no pain or ache in the small of the back, no more soreness across the loins or over the bladder, no more constipation or other symptoms of disease of the kidneys, liver or bladder.

So you see, help came to me
in Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Who would begrudge the cost of this medicine
(One dollar a bottle) for such a blessing or refuse this token of gratitude, for being perfectly cured?
And I hope my writing this will induce others who suffer from kidney or blood disorder to use the medicine. My son George suffered for many years with a fever sore on his leg. He used one bottle of this medicine and part of another, and as soon as I was writing this grateful acknowledgment, his leg is entirely healed up."

The Burden of Wealth.

A woman writer who has had opportunities for ample investigation of the subject says that the life of a wealthy woman in New York is not "what it is cracked up to be." It is beset with peculiar restrictions and annoyances and dangers. She selects one young woman of enormous wealth as an illustration
and says that it is not safe for this woman to walk upon the streets alone. Although she is an angel of goodness and charity, she is an object of hatred and distrust to the multitude of the great unsatisfied. She never has a photograph taken and is never pictured in any way because the dissemination of such pictures would make her known to the public and subject her to constant discomforts and importunities from an endless army of cranks. She cannot even in making a gift send with it the graceful compliment of an autograph letter, for her signature represents millions, and if it falls into unscrupulous hands it may be forged,
and thus has been done even by her beneficiaries.

A well known millionaire not long ago said that poverty was no doubt very hard to bear, but he thought that if most of the people who had to put up with it were to try the experiment of putting up with a very large fortune they would break down under it. With every additional million that a man makes comes not only an additional fear that he will lose it, but a new brigade of plunderers who will try to get it away from him. If a man with $100,000,000 lives long enough he concentrates at last all his faculties on the one job of getting rid of what he has been all his life trying to keep, and if he doesn't succeed in the distribution
his children will.

Victories of the Revolution.

The recent statement by Governor Pennypacker that the Continental armies won two battles in the Revolution will have the effect of sending the people to their histories for the facts in the case, and, whether the statement is borne out literally or not, the searchers will arise convinced that Washington and his men won a great victory and did it by hard fighting. Saratoga and Yorktown were unequivocal triumphs, and an army can afford to rest its glories upon those two military achievements. But there were battles and battles, as armed conflicts are usually designated.

Our Revolution was a long and tedious war, and the fact that the Continental kept the field at all was a triumph of arms. The British learned by bitter experience in countless engagements, which the military expert of today might call skirmishes, that the "ragged rebels" had fight in them.
And as a matter of fact it was policy sometimes to fight and run away so as to be ready for more important occasions. Washington often so manuevered as to avoid pitched battle and still threaten the enemy. This was noticeable in his campaign around New York. It was good policy to wear the enemy out, and often the Continentals
were the best fighters at the point of contact, and their smaller triumph had all the importance of a moral victory.
To win without hard fighting is the best of warfare, and the bands of Wayne, Stark, Sullivan, Greend, Lincoln, Mifflin, Sumter and Putnam, by the persistence as well as by the might of their valor, worsted the red-coats in the end.

Whittier's Boyhood.

To illustrate the fact that children suffer intensely from causes which they themselves regard as trivial and which they themselves are inclined to laugh at in later life Mr. Whittier once told this story of his boyhood to a friend:
It was at an ancient hillside farmyard near Haverhill. In ascending this hill his father was in the habit of relieving his horse by walking, and Greenleaf was expected to walk also. It was a terrible trial to the boy, for a gender would laugh his warlike threats as soon as he saw him, and in later life Whittier declared he could have marched to a battle without such a sinking of the heart as he felt whenever he approached this harmless but noisy fowl. If he dared to tell his father of his agony of dread he could have remained safely in the carriage,
but the fear of being laughed at prevailed over every other consideration.
Mr. Whittier thought this was the experience of many children and that parents should treat their apparently poorly troubled with more seriousness
than is their custom.

Mrs. Humphry Ward is coming to this country to get some atmosphere for her new story. Well, we have a lot of it to spare, and not an ounce of it but is fresher than the thin old world atmosphere which she has been using so freely in her famous novels.

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER

Vigorous Health Is the Great Source of Power to Inspire and Encourage—
All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life."

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies
are flagging, that she gets easily tired,
dark shadows appear under her eyes,
she has headache, dizziness, bearing-down pains, nervousness, irregularities
or the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."—Mrs. Bessie Ainsley, 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every sick and ailing woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle. Home of Swamp-Root, by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

The lunar eclipses will be visible in the United States, if weather conditions are favorable. The time of the eclipse is inconvenient, however, as it comes between midnight and daylight. From 1:30 A. M. until 3:30 A. M. the moon will remain totally within the shadow of the earth, and from the latter time till daylight it will gradually recover its brightness, beginning as a crescent and gradually widening to a full disc.

Banks are complaining because of the scarcity of small bills.

Brown-Eaton.

The Somerville (Mass.) News gave the following account of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Augustus Brown, well known young people who formerly resided here:

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ball, 44 Hawthorn street, West Somerville, Mass. The bride was Miss Pearl Wilton Eaton, daughter of Mrs. Ball. The groom was Eugene Augustus Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Brown of Rocky Hill, Conn. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of the relatives and a few of the most intimate friends of the couple. Rev. J. Vanor Garton officiated.

The rooms were made beautiful with palms and potted plants, and curtains looped with broad satin ribbons. The bride wore a traveling suit of dove-colored broadcloth and carried violets. A largely attended reception followed the ceremony after which a wedding lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Brown started on the midnight train for Montreal, where they will spend two weeks, after which they will go to Rocky Hill, Conn., where they will make their home. They will be at home there after February 10.

ALL THE GOOD QUALITIES of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it's an an-failing cure for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obsolete old cases have been cured in a few weeks. ## DEACON'S STORE, Antrim, N. H.

This Week It's a Sale of Laces.

Never in the history of this Country have Valenciennes Laces, and in fact Laces of all kinds, been in such great demand. It's simply impossible to fill half the orders that the importers have given them. We know whereof we speak when we state that the importing house that we represent could sell every yard of Val' Lace in stock to the manufacturing trade in N. Y. City, but they distribute these Laces over as much territory as possible. We make the above statements to let you know FACTS.

We would advise any person that is going to want Valenciennes Laces for Graduation Dresses, or for any Waists or Suits, to buy at once while our stock is complete, because no garment this coming season will be complete without Val' Laces. In the months of April and May it will be almost impossible for any store to get one quarter of the quantity of Val' Laces they will want; not only that, but this Lace has been advanced already 10 to 20%, and every week finds them still higher. Being connected with the largest Lace Importers in N. Y., we can give old prices.

BENNINGTON

DEATH CLAIMS FRANK B. GOULD,
ONE OF BENNINGTON'S BEST KNOWN RESIDENTS.

In the death of Frank B. Gould, Bennington has lost one of its most highly esteemed and influential citizens. Mr. Gould was born in Bennington, on the E. A. Holt farm 67 years ago and for the most of his life had resided here. When a young man he engaged in teaming for a Stoddard glass company and later drove stage on various routes leading from Hillsborough Bridge. For several years he drove team for Walter Woods of New Boston.

The last twenty-five years he has been employed as a polisher of drawing knives in the C. J. Kimball company factory.

Deceased was one of those unassuming, pleasant men, who was always the same; and it would really make him feel badly to say an unkind word or do an unkind act to anyone.

Mr. Gould represented the town in the New Hampshire legislature two sessions under the old law and one under the new law. He served the town several years as one of its selectmen, and at the time of his death was president of the Bennington Improvement society, and a member of the building committee of the new library building. He was a member of the Bennington grange, No. 207. On Feb. 1, 1876, the night of its institution, he joined Waverley lodge, No. 59, of Antrim, of which he has always been a member.

In 1865 he married Abby, daughter of Archibald and Betsey Winn, of this town, who survives him. His funeral was held at the Congregational church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was in charge of Waverley lodge, I. O. O. F. The Rev. W. T. Bartley officiated.

At the funeral was also the members of Bennington Grange in a body. The remains were interred in the village cemetery.

They never gripe or sicken, but cleanse and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels. This is the universal verdict of the many thousands who use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills relieve headache, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, torpid liver, sallow complexion, etc. Try Little Early Risers. Sold by Dickey of Antrim and Joslin of Bennington.

Mrs. E. I. Dodge is home from Milford.

Scott Knights has finished work in Wilton.

Odell & Young have been putting in their ice.

Mrs. Abbie Gould is slowly improving in health.

Bryon Richardson was in Greenfield Friday of last week.

G. S. Peavy of Greenfield was in town one day last week.

There were no services at the Congregational church last Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. T. Bartley has been on the sick list for several days past and is now improving.

The Reporter can be found on sale each week at P. E. Richardson's store; here also can be left any items of news which are desired for its columns.

The furnace is in place in the new Library building and has been started up to dry out the inside of the building, preparatory to putting on the finish.

ANTRIM, N. H.

The Town Library and Men Patrons.
It is alleged by the New York Independent that the number of men who take books out of the town library or go to it for reference is very small. The editor declares that men, unlike women, seek practical information in a library and that they are usually right in assuming that they cannot find it there. He thinks that the predominance of women in library management has tended to increase "the feminization of public libraries" and that "women use books as playthings." Men use books as tools, and the editor offers the following suggestions for adapting the library to men patrons:

When the farmer drops in to see what is the red bug that is eating his box elder trees and what to do for it, or, rather, against it; when the editor telephones over for a map of Port Arthur for the afternoon edition; when the orator for "pioneer day" finds there anecdotes of the early history of the town; when the boy who wants to study electrical engineering in his odd hours does not have to send $25 to a correspondence school for books the library ought to supply; when the village inventor can learn how many times before his nonrefillable bottle has been patented; when the mechanic can find out what horsepower he can get from a windmill above his shop; when the political junta adjourns from the drug store to the library to see how much McKinley ran ahead of his ticket in 1896 in the Fifth congressional district; when the young married couple look over the colored plates of a volume on the house furnishings a part nouveau; when the labor leader comes in to look up English laws on the financial responsibility of trades unions; when the mayor sends in for all the books on the municipal ownership of electric light plants; when the clerk of the district court discovers in the files of the local paper an advertisement of a dissolution of partnership ten years ago, then we can be sure that Andrew Carnegie has not wasted his money.

Libraries in large cities are work-houses for men in all departments of activity, and the books of reference and newspaper files are the most thumbed of all. Perhaps an approach to the city model, at least in the breadth of the information offered, is best suited to the town.

A Rockefeller in India.

The rajah of Baroda is not in the oil business. His wealth is in precious stones and is said to equal if not exceed that of John D. Rockefeller. Sayaji Rao, for that is the dusky plutocrat's name, literally revels in a setting of jewels. Mrs. Rao notes about the most famous diamond necklace in the world. It is made up of 250 stones the size of a hazel nut. It is worth over $10,000,000, and if hubby should donate it to a college pension fund the family would hardly miss it, for the lady also has a collection of 500 perfect diamonds, the smallest of which is worth at least $2,000.

When the Raos take a notion they can walk on a floor of diamonds, pearls and rubies. In the treasure chamber of the palace there is a carpet four square yards in surface made up entirely of ropes of precious stones. In this tidbit of fancy work there are $4,000,000 worth of gems, and it took the weavers four years to get it into shape. But the rajah and his spouse are not jewel miners. He is a noble ruler, and his people are happy. He lives in regal splendor because he has the price. The corridors of the palace are lined with marble and onyx of inestimable value. In galleries and elsewhere are bronzes, paintings and many brought from all parts of the world and worth many millions of dollars.

Its Charms.

Fair Visitor—So you have really decided not to sell your house? Fair Host—Yes. You see, we placed the matter in the hands of a real estate agent. After reading his lovely advertisement of our property neither John nor myself could think of parting with such a wonderful and perfect home.

Francis Joseph, emperor of Austria-Hungary, who recently celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday, ascended the throne of Austria during the outbreaks against despotism in 1848. Into his life has entered more than one man's share of grief and tragedy, suicide and assassination having smitten the royal household. And now on the eve of his departure from the stage Hungary is ripe for a revolution, which will doubtless disrupt the empire.

Canada will not let the United States immigration boom die out if she can help it. The authorities across the line are preparing to welcome this year a record breaking procession of settlers from the northwestern states.

Experts are still figuring on the population of China, and the estimates vary from about 200,000,000 to 400,000,000. The missionaries lean toward the larger figures.

If Senator Tom Platt is really convinced that he might have done better he can "save face" by telling other travelers over the same road how to avoid pitfalls.

THE HOTEL CHILD.

Dangers That Beset the Luckless Offspring of Restless Parents.

It is not the material aids to existence which are the bane of the hotel child; it is the mental and spiritual attitude accompanying this life which is to be deprecated. It destroys a democratic spirit through emphasizing the difference between the servant and the served, it exaggerates the power of money, fosters a spirit of dependence and unfits the pampered individual for any other kind of life, and, worst of all, in a child so brought up there can be no understanding or love of home. There may be some future for the child who knows nothing of art, some function for the one to whom literature makes no appeal and who is not sensitive to music, but there is no place in the state for the man who has neither initiative, self-reliance, patriotism nor love of home. He is a social menace, a disease. The community is better off without this satellite of the manager, parasite of the bell boy and source of supply for the waiter.

If there is one child in our community who is superfluous it is the hotel child. As places for temporary occupation by homeless and childless adults hotels are to be tolerated, but as residences for children they are without the possibility of excuse.—Miss Martha S. Bensley in Everybody's Magazine.

FIVE MINUTES.

Under Some Circumstances It Seems a Very Long Time.

In a murder trial before a western court the prisoner was able to account for the whole of his time except five minutes on the evening when the crime was committed. His counsel argued that it was impossible for him to have killed the man under the circumstances in so brief a period, and on that plea largely based his defense, the other testimony being strongly against his client.

When the prosecuting attorney replied, he said: "How long a time really is five minutes? Let us see. Will his honor command absolute silence in the courtroom for that space?"

The judge graciously complied. There was a clock on the wall. Every eye in the courtroom was fixed upon it as the pendulum ticked off the seconds. There was a breathless silence.

We all know how time which is waited for creeps and halts and at last does not seem to move at all.

The keen witted counsel waited until the tired audience gave a sigh of relief at the close of the period, and then asked quietly:

"Could he not have struck one fatal blow in all that time?"

The prisoner was found guilty, and, as it was proved afterward, justly.

THE DOG'S COAT.

Brush It, but Do Not Wash It. If You Want It Perfect.

In the Country Calendar Reginald F. Mahew writes: "Even careful feeding will not give a dog's coat that glow which is such a sure sign of health if he is continually washed with soap and water. Owners who allow their dogs to live in the house are forever washing the wretched animal and forever complain that his coat is coming out. The oftener the dog is washed and scrubbed the more will his coat leave its trail and the dander and diller will look. The health and growth of a dog's coat depend entirely on a natural oil from the skin. As often as the dog is washed so often is the oil washed out and so much more is the destruction of the coat. If a dog were brushed every day for five or ten minutes against as well as with the grain a coat would not only have a luster, but would cease to disfigure itself all over the place except for a very short time once or twice a year. Besides this, brushing has a stimulating effect on the whole system, helps the blood circulation, by this the digestion, and so the general health."

MacMahon's Epigrams.

When Marshal MacMahon in the Crimean campaign took the Malakoff by storm and wrote his celebrated dispatch, "Ty suis, ty reste" ("Here I am; here I stay"), these words made him famous all over the world. Yet his friends said that the worthy soldier had written them in the most matter of fact manner, with no thought of phrase making. The most surprised person over the success of this epigram was MacMahon himself.

Ancient Jewelry.

The jewelry found in an excavation near one of the pyramids of old Memphis, Egypt, exhibits about as much skill in working gold and precious stones as now exists, although the articles found were made 4,300 years ago. The figures cut on amethyst and carnelian are described as exquisite and anatomically correct. The gold is skillfully worked, and precious stones are let into it so as to give the effect of enameling.

DOWN THEY GO!

We have just finished our annual inventory, and going through our stock we found many small lots here and there which we have laid one side, and marked about half their original cost just to close them out and make room for the new Spring Goods which are now on the way. This will be a great week to visit The Big Store at Milford. We will just mention an item or two below, to give you an idea of the kind of bargains we are offering:

We find an overstock of 58-4 KID GLOVES that always sell at $1.00. We have marked them at 25 cents per pair.

We also found an overstock in the BUTTON DEPT., so we have placed on a counter all of our 25 and 50c buttons for 10c.

Also a lot of remnant LACES and HAMBURGS, all fine goods, at 5 and 10c per yard.

A lot of handsome, stylish, all wool DRESS SKIRTS, were $5 and $7, while they last you can have them at $3.49.

A few left of those Children's $1.69 COATS for 98c

Every lady should have one of those useful KIMONOS; the 1.50 and 2.00 kind for 98c; the 2.25 kind for 1.25.

A lady who drives will appreciate those heavy CAPES that were 8.50, 15.00, now 3.98, 9.50.

Angora Golf GLOVES, were 50c, now 31c.

The above is just to set you thinking. Visit the store, and you will go home satisfied that you never spent a more profitable day. JUST A WORD about new goods—just opened some very handsome lines—Organdies, Waistings, etc.

Bennington.

Mrs. Gould has not been quite as much improved the past day or two.
Miss Annie Ramsey was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Augusta Whittemore, over Sunday.

Miss Mary Cashion is caring for her sister, Mrs. Clara Whittemore, who is gaining slowly from her recent illness.

Rev. W. T. Bartley attended a reunion of his class in Boston last week. Owing to illness in the family there was no service at his church last Sunday morning.

Mrs. George Cheney, with Mrs. Prescott of Francess town, visited Keene last Saturday. A very handsome Kroege piano was placed in Mrs. Cheney's home Tuesday of this week from Lake's piano rooms, Keene.

The funeral of Frank Gould was held last Friday in the Congregational church. A large body of Odd Fellows attended. The occasion was made very impressive by their beautiful service. The flowers were very choice: an anchor of white roses, carnations and violets from the shop mates, was especially beautiful; the Odd Fellows, a pillow; Mrs. F. Bartlett, a spray of ferns; the Grange, a pillow.

The obituary appears on the sixth page with other Bennington news.

She was a kind neighbor and a devoted wife, mother and daughter. She used to say she should never leave father and mother as long as they needed her; and passed nearly if not all of her life under the same roof with them. During her illness they with her husband have tenderly cared for her. The family have the sympathy of the community in their affliction.
