FREDERICK S. LITTLE, A Native of Antrim, After a Short Illness, Passes Away.

MR. FREDERICK S. LITTLE, one of the worthiest citizens of Antrim, passed away Friday, July 13, 1906. He was born in the Branch village, July 20, 1826, thus lacking but one week of being 80 years of age. He was son of Dea. William Little and brother to Gen. Sylvester Little, who is now the last one living of 10 children.

Frederick S. Little married first Miss Julia Keyes of Goshen, who died in 1869; married second May Emma Gilman of Unity, Oct. 11, 1870.

He is survived by the widow and three children:— Nellie L., now Mrs. Dana D. Goodell; Fred Orson, now a merchant in Boston; and Ethel B., now wife of Prof. Alberto W. Small.

Mr. Little was a quiet, unassuming, clean, and strong-minded man. He held offices of selectman and superintending school committee in Goshen, and also held both offices a long time in the town of Newport, to which town they moved in 1874. He was four years in charge of an academy in New Jersey. He taught more than 50 terms of school, and taught music several terms. He moved back to Antrim in 1883, and was here held in universal esteem. The body was covered with flowers and laid away in Maplewood Cemetery, Monday afternoon, July 16, 1906.

While not being in extra good health for some time, he followed his usual avocation till within a very few months of his death.

Mr. Little was so reserved and humble and self-withdrawing, that few knew his worth and ability.

The funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church, Dr. Cochrane officiating. Singing by Mrs. Nims, Mrs. Whittle, Mr. Carpenter and Mr. Prentiss.

F. Grimes & Co., of this town, were funeral directors.

OF GENERAL INTEREST. Our Special Correspondent Writes on Timely Topics.

It is an undisputed fact that the gubernatorial situation in the old Granite State has already reached The Crisis. Another good man!

THE wide-spread national satisfaction expressed by President Roosevelt in his despatch to the head of the American team in Greece, is well merited, for in the Olympian games the United States are so far in advance that there is no comparison.

AUTO owners are following the alcoholic question with keen interest. It is proclaimed that alcohol is a cheaper and more satisfactory fuel than gasoline, and is far more reliable. Once let its price be brought down and the chances are the perfumes of gasoline will no longer offend the nostrils of the world-on-the-sidewalks.

THE sum and substance of the need of the present meat-inspection law is the necessity for protection against the ignoramus and the criminal. There is a necessity for open inspection of meat-products throughout the country; man cannot be trusted to sell his brother good meat when he can get the price for bad. This condition is the outcome of ignorance or criminal neglect. The sanitary conditions of the plants, the handling of the meats, and all things pertaining to meat and its preparation for food, should come under the bill without special stipulations. The bill is a "security." The people will have to pay to make this special business safe, as they have to pay for all securities. The strictest or most strenuous measures are valid without the proper execution; the law counts for nothing unless it is enforced. A great many of the existing evils arise not from lack of law but from lack of the execution of law.

Base Ball.

Antrim defeated Henniker last Saturday, by a score of 4 to 1. The ex-league pitcher, Gildea, played a clean game for the visitors, and Sawyer and Fairfield did excellent work for Antrim. The many errors made were due to accepting chances that were almost impossible, and in most cases were not costly.

August Designer.

In addition to the many handsome and practical fashion designs of the month, The Designer for August presents two special articles: One is on "The Baby's First Short Clothes," and the other on "Becoming Styles for the Stout Woman." Hats for late summer wear are also pictured, and shoes and slippers of the latest cut are given an entire page. The usual departments are well represented, as is also the subject of fancy work; and in this number "Men's Fashions" find a place.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure "Digests what you eat."

The New Idea

Woman's Magazine for August is up with any of its predecessors in regard to interesting reading matter and fashion plates. In some respects however this is a superior number and one in which all ladies should be particularly interested. Well-written articles concerning the Lace Trimmed Blouse, Bookbinding in the Arts and Crafts, Americanizing Our Immigrants, are instructive and readable.

The Delineator

For August contains a wealth of suggestions for the newest Summer gowns, which is interesting, not only from the standpoint of fashion, but for its reading as well. Among the fiction are some stories of unusual merit; the continued stories continue more interesting. Safe Foods is a subject treated, and there are numerous articles devoted to the interests of the home; also pages for the children. The Butterick Publishing Co., New York.

Charles H. Burns, for his timely remarks and deep interest in our Nation's welfare; and to the Red Men of Hillsboro and Cavalry of Peterboro for their assistance in the parade.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Pain Family

You know them; they are numerous, and make their presence felt everywhere. The names of the family are Headache, Toothache, Earache, Backache, Stomach ache, Neuralgia, etc. They are sentinels that warn you of any derangement of your system. When the brain nerves become exhausted or irritated, Headache makes you miserable; if the stomach nerves are weak, indigestion results, and you double up with pain, and if the more prominent nerves are affected, Neuralgia simply makes life unendurable. The way to stop pain is to soothe and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this. The whole Pain family yield to their influence. Harmless if taken as directed.

"I find Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills an excellent remedy for overcoming headache, neuralgia and distressing pains of all sorts. I have used them for the past seven years in this capacity with the best of results." MRS. JOE MERRILL, Peru, Ind. are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

TELEPHONE CONNECTION

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1906.

Entered at the Post-office at Antrim as second-class matter

"Say your say with a silver tongue and wait for results in golden silence."

Don't be too anxious to get the best of your neighbor every time on a bargain. Let him have the best end once in a while.

There is no better way of building up our town than giving to our home business men our entire and exclusive patronage. The more we help each other the more we help the town.

Health, happiness and good temper are the best beautifiers, and those who cultivate these will ward off objectionable wrinkles all their lives. Although genuine laughter and good natured smiles may bring wrinkles they are just around the mouth, and rather fascinating than otherwise, and ought to be encouraged.

When we see so many young men with their hair parted in the middle and hanging down over their foreheads so as to obscure every trace of intellect, and so many young women with their hair all frizzly-frowsy and flapping around over their faces in fifty different directions, we are not surprised that the followers of Darwin are now positively sure that mankind descended from the monkey.

We presume that some people think newspaper men are persistent dunners. Let a farmer place himself in a similar position and see if he would not do the same. Suppose that he raises a thousand bushels of corn, and his neighbor should come and buy, and the price was one dollar or less, and says, "I will pay the amount in a few days." As the farmer does not want to be small about the matter, he says, "All right." Another comes the same way, and another, until the whole thousand bushels of corn is trusted to a thousand different people and no one of the different ones concerns himself about it. It is a small amount they owe the farmer and of course that will not help him any. He does not realize that the farmer has frittered away his entire crop of corn, and that its value is like in a thousand little dribbles, and that he is seriously embarrassed in his business, because his debtors treat it as a little matter. But if all would pay him promptly, which they could as well as not, it would be a large sum to the farmer and enable him to carry on his business without difficulty.

New England's Coast Resorts

Boston & Maine R. R. Literature
Which Describes and Details
the North Shore Beaches

The call from the Seashore has already sounded! Vacation dreams were planned months ago but the advent of hot weather and the sultriness of city heat have set in bloom and matured the early seedlings and budding plans of previous days. Vacation days are already here! The seashore resorts are fast preparing, and in a short while the coast of Northern New England, from Boston Harbor to the Bay of Fundy, will be welcoming the resorters. Massachusetts has certainly a gay procession of seashore resorts. The North Shore whose unbounded fame gains year by year, boasts of everything that is best in the seashore line. Swampscott with its magnificent palatial summer hotels and delightful opportunities for bathing; Marblehead, famed for its spacious harbor where congregate the fleets of summer yachtsmen and the admirable location of the summer colony at the Neck; Beach Bluff, Clifton, Devereaux, Manchester, Magnolia, Gloucester, Rockport, Plum Island and Salisbury Beach. New Hampshire has not so much to offer in her shore resorts as to number, but the beauties and attractions of Hampton and Rye, the fame of Newcastle with its never to be forgotten "Peace Conference Associations," well balance any laxity in number. Maine is the premier shore land of the United States. Her entire coast from Kittery to Eastport is a stretch of broken coast land which forms beautiful harbors and coves, the most magnificent summer resorts to be found anywhere. York, Old Orchard, the Queen of the North Atlantic beaches Scarborough, Wells, Kennebunk, Peaks Island and so on to Bar Harbor. Maine's shore possessions are numerous and attractive. In order to fully appreciate the glories of New England's coast, one should spend a vacation at some of these resorts. The Boston & Maine R. R. will give you all the necessary directions. In the Hotel Booklet for 1906 will be found a list of all the shore resorts, their hotels and accommodations, and a beautifully illustrated and descriptive booklet called "All Along Shore," describing in detail the glories of the North Atlantic Coast, will be sent upon receipt of a two-cent stamp. The Hotel Booklet will be sent free by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine R. R., Boston. A delightfully illustrated portfolio containing thirty-one beautiful half-tone reproductions of the choicest views along the shore will be mailed upon receipt of six cents in stamps.

You cannot induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach, once overworked must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. Kodol for Dyspepsia takes up the work for your stomach, digests what you eat and gives it rest. Put it back in condition again. You can't feel good with a disordered stomach. Try Kodol. Sold by Dickey of Antrim and Joslin of Bennington.

ASK Mr. Hulett! HE PROBABLY KNOWS About the Latest Styles in Decorating, Painting and Paper Hanging.

He has certainly had the opportunity, as he has traveled about all over the United States in the past three years, and has worked in some of the Largest Hotels of Florida, Fine Residences and Departments in Washington, New York, and other cities East and West. It seems to be the prevailing style to use flat or dead coats for all inside painting except for kitchens and walls where a great amount of wear comes; Varnish flated Paints are used and they wear well and clean well. For hardwood-finishing, everything is rubbed to a dead finish for best work. In Washington and New York about every room is papered. MOIRE is the most popular Ceiling Paper and it is made in shades to match all papers. The two-thirds effect seems to lead for Dining Rooms, Living Rooms, Libraries and Chambers, with Picture Moulding in angles or dropped ceilings, chair rail, plate rail or photo rail. There is no end of variety in Wall Papers this year. Call and see samples, or we will bring them to your home if you will send a postal card. Don't buy Borders by the yard, a roll of Border costs you no more than a roll of Paper. Don't let anybody put anything but lime on your whitewashed ceilings. Don't let anyone paint your walls without stippling them. If you are discouraged with your Varnished Floors, try waxing them. We will be pleased to estimate and give you bottom prices for

Painting Your House, Your Carriages, Your Signs, or Your Furniture.

Senorita Rita

By IZOLA FORRESTER

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

"So you are going home, señor?" The girl looked straight ahead at the wide sweep of level prairie pasture, her red lips parted in a smile—a most tantalizing, annoying smile Carruthers thought as he caught a glimpse of it sideways. "Perhaps," he returned moodily. "I have stayed too long already."

"You do not like Texas, señor?" "You did not call me señor last week." He bent toward her slightly, but she did not turn her head. "You called me—Jack."

She laughed and flashed a hasty glance at him from her soft, dark eyes. "That was a long time ago—last week—but I will call you it again if you wish, Mr. Jack."

Carruthers did not notice the concession or her gay scorn. He stared out to where the cattle browsed—a sea of still, brown waves, hundreds of them, motionless and peaceful in the morning sunrise. Here and there on the outskirts stood a figure of a horse with a silent rider watching the grazing herd. Carruthers' gaze swept over the mass until it rested on one herder at the extreme north. Even with the distance of nearly a mile between them he knew what the figure looked like. He knew that it was watching them as he was watching it. It was not a pleasant knowledge.

"You have changed your mind, Senorita Rita," he said bitterly, "since Ramon came to the ranch. I was very happy—in Texas—until your old sweetheart appeared."

Rita laughed again, deliciously, warmly, with a full enjoyment of his mood.

"You are not tired of Texas, Mr. Jack," she said merrily. "You are tired of me—ah, yes, I say you are. You love me so madly, so entrancingly, until somebody else comes who also loves me so madly, so entrancingly, too; and then all at once you are jealous and distant and dissatisfied, and, presto, now, this minute, you say you will leave Texas, you will never, never come to the Fortuna ranch again. You are—what did you call me the day I cried when you broke his leg?—kid, that is it. You are a big, foolish kid, Mr. Jack. When a man loves he does not sulk and ride away. He stays and fights. See!" She held up her hand and snapped her small tanned fingers sharply in the air. "I would not give that for the silly kid lover who rides away. Ramon is a Mexican, but he is brave; he can fight. If I but let him know the least bit I loved him he would carry me off on his horse way, way south over there to Mexico. You would not carry me away to your home like that, would you, Mr. Jack?"

"I would carry you to the end of the world," retorted Carruthers. "But not to your home?" she persisted.

"I have no home," said Carruthers. "When I came here to Texas I meant to stay even before I met you."

"But you are rich. Ramon says you could buy all of the Fortuna for a pastime if you cared for it. And the Fortuna is the richest ranch within a hundred miles of the border. There is no cattleman so rich as my father in Mexico."

She lifted her head with the little tilt of pride he knew well. Senorita Rita Riaz, heiress of the Fortuna, could well afford to lift her head a trifle higher than other girls. But to Carruthers the motion brought merely regret. He knew the truth about the Fortuna—knew what every Texan as far as San Antonio would know within a week—that old Diablo Riaz had squandered his wealth in gambling; that not a thing on the Fortuna was un-mortgaged save his daughter, and even she, it was rumored, was pledged to Ramon Doranda in return for his promised assistance when the crash came.

Carruthers might have given the same assistance and claimed the same reward, but something within him revolted against making the hand of the girl he loved the stake in a transaction over old Riaz's gambling debts. If he could win her, if he could hold her promise freely from her own lips, then he felt free to buy up the whole Fortuna when the crash came and lay it at her feet. But she must be free to say yes or no. And she would say neither. She would only laugh.

"Have you told Ramon you would marry him?" he asked, with sudden earnestness. The uncertainty was maddening to him.

"Why do you ask?" she answered teasingly.

"Rita," he pleaded, "be serious. If you do not—"

She raised her arm with a sudden, imperative gesture and pointed to the herd.

"Look!" she cried. "They are stampeding!"

Carruthers looked. The brown sea had suddenly stirred to life. Undulating, swaying, branching out loosely at the edges, it was lurching toward them. There seemed to be nothing rapid or swift about its coming. Carruthers thought, almost idly, of how it resembled the swing of a bunch of race horses rounding the end of the field, when the movement was so concerted, so deliberate, that it hardly seemed a movement. The herders were riding here and there in confusion. They seemed mere specks of helpless misdirection in the distance.

Rita's face had lost its color. She turned her horse about, the rein held short and tight in her clinched hand.

"We must race before them as they come," she said. "If the horses keep their strength they will not trample us."

But Carruthers had slipped from the saddle.

"It is sure death to try to ride with them," he answered. "Dismount and do as I tell you."

The stern masterfulness of his tone startled her. He had never spoken like that to her; no one had.

"Hold the horses," he ordered. She obeyed, watching him in breathless silence. The brown cloud on the prairie was becoming more and more distinct. There was a heavy, low rumble in the air like far off thunder. Carruthers drew a cigarette case from his pocket, and after hunting carefully he produced one match.

"That is the only one I have," he said. "Pray that it doesn't go out."

He struck it on the box. The faint flame wavered in the southeasterly breeze, caught the end of the cigarette and lit it. Before the match went out Carruthers snuffed it and set fire to the grass. It was dry and yellow from the sun and caught the blaze with a snap. The wind fanned it, and a wavering line of thin smoke slid like a snake along the roots for several feet.

The horses reared and kicked at the first whiff, and Carruthers seized the bridles from the girl.

"Take the cigarette," he said, handing it to her. "Keep it alight and set fire to the grass as far as you can reach in a straight line facing the north. The wind is from the southeast and will blow the fire toward the herd. It may turn them."

Holding the plunging, trembling horses, he watched her. There was no fear, no sign of weakness. She was alert and sure in her touch as she knelt here and there in the grass and fired it. As the cigarette faltered she tore a bunch of grass, tied it with another wisp and set it blazing like a torch. In another minute a wall of smoke and smoldering flame closed them in from the rushing herd line.

"Come back," called Carruthers. The herd were not a quarter of a mile from them. He could see the leaders, heads down, and behind them line after line of tossing horns.

"Will they reach us?" whispered Rita as she stood close beside him, her face lifted to his.

"God knows; I don't," said Carruthers desperately. "It is all we can do."

"Jack, listen to me." There was a new light in her dark eyes, a new softened tone to her voice. "Ramon has done this. The herd has never stampeded before. He has done it for revenge upon you and me. Last night I told him no. I know about him and the claim he holds over the Fortuna and my father, but I would rather lose it all than—"

"Then what?" Carruthers let the bridles trail on the ground and held her close in his arms. The tremble of hundreds of hoofs shook the ground, the thunder grew louder, now and then there came a low, threatening bellow from some steer gored by its fellows in the onrush.

"Then lose you," Rita whispered as she closed her eyes to meet what might come.

The herd was on them, but as the leaders caught the first sickening whiff of smoke they hesitated and wavered. Low leaping tongues of flame flashed up before them—and rolls of smoke curled upward.

The leaders swerved westward. After them plunged the frightened herd, maddened and seared at the smell of the fire. The two horses, loosened, joined them in the frantic gallop, and in less than three minutes the danger had passed, and on the blackened bit of land stood Carruthers and Rita alone.

"The river will stop them," said Rita. "Ramon—I know he has done this to harm you. You must leave the ranch. No one can say what he may do next."

Carruthers bent to pick up something from the ground. It was the stub of a cigarette. He placed it tenderly and carefully in his case before he spoke.

"I know what Ramon will do next, sweetheart. He will cross the border into his own land tonight or else land in the hands of the sheriff. I mean to stay in Texas, and there is not room for both of us."

"On the Fortuna?"

"On our ranch," he said. "I bought the Fortuna yesterday to make sure of Ramon and of my senorita."

His Scheme.

Creditor—Can't you pay me something on account of that bill you owe me? Debtor—How much do you want? Creditor—I'd like enough to meet the fees of a lawyer to sue you for the balance.

GREEN TURTLES EXPENSIVE.

Where They Are Caught and How They Are Brought North.

"The flesh of the green turtle often brings $50 a pound," said an oyster dealer. "This rich meat comes to us from the coral reefs of the West Indies."

The turtles are caught in nets among the rocks. They are very carefully brought north. They are deck passengers at first, but as the weather grows cold with the ship's progress they are penned in warm rooms below—regular staterooms.

"It's a different treatment that they get, though, at the natives' hands. If a native is bringing turtles north he nails them fast to the deck by their flippers. Strange creatures that they are, they appear to suffer little under such cruel treatment."

"The calipee and callipash are respectively the flesh from the breast and the back of the green turtle, tidbits which, I have heard epicures say, are unequaled in the earth beneath the heavens above or the waters under the earth. This meat is superlatively rich, delicate and tender."

"Live green turtle fetches wholesale from a dime to a quarter a pound. What makes the meat so expensive in the end is that out of a 140 pound fish you'll only get two pounds of calipee and one of callipash."

"Several times when there has been a tight turtle market the chefs of millionaires and of certain extravagant hotels have offered me $1 a pound for live turtles. At that rate your calipee and callipash would come to quite $50 a pound."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

LIGHTHOUSES.

The First of Them Was One of the World's Seven Wonders.

The first lighthouse of which there is any record in history was built by Ptolemy Philadelphus about 306 B. C. It was a tower on which wood fires were kept blazing at night. It was built on Pharos, a small island in the bay of Alexandria, and was one of the seven wonders of the world. It is an interesting fact that the modern French and Spanish names for lighthouse—the one being phare, the other faro—still preserve the memory of the island where the first attempt at seacoast illumination was located. The ruined tower in Dover castle, England, erected about A. D. 44, is claimed by some authorities to have been built for a lighthouse, upon which an enormous wood fire was kept burning.

The lighthouse on the southern end of the island of Conanicut, at the mouth of Narragansett bay, is said to be the oldest in the United States. The present structure is comparatively modern, but the first one was erected in 1750, and for nearly 100 years previous a watchtower, with a beacon fire, had existed at the same point.

The lighthouse bears the odd name of Beaver Tail. The southern portion of Conanicut island is shaped something like a beaver, with its tail pointing southward, and in early times it was known by that name, the two extremities being called head and tail.

Clever Rabinstein.

The Italian tenor Marconi once made a visit to Rabinstein, during which the latter's little son came tripping eagerly into the music room and said, "This is my festa, papa, and I want a present."

"Very well, my son, what shall it be?" "A waltz, papa, a new waltz all for myself, and now."

"What an impatient little son it is!" exclaimed the great musician. "But of course you shall have your gift. Here it is. Listen! And for you," turning to the distinguished tenor, "I will play my 'Nero.'"

"It seems incredible," says Marconi, "but then and there I witnessed and heard a most remarkable phenomenon. The maestro improvised and played a charming waltz with his left hand, giving me at the same time with his right the splendid overture."

In the Pillory.

The picturesque, but most painful, punishment known as the "pillory" has long been a thing of the past in England. A man was made to stand in a frame on a platform, probably with his head and hands fastened through holes in pieces of wood that were then padlocked to keep them firm, and thus to remain at stated periods while the crowd gaped at or even pelted him.

The last time known that a man was pilloried was when Peter James Bossy was punished for perjury, June 22, 1830.—London Mail.

Comforting.

"Say, Elsie, look around the street corner again and see if August isn't coming yet."

"No, I don't see him. But don't be worried; the people are looking more and more like him every minute!"—Fliegende Blätter.

Scarcity.

"One has very few friends in this life," said the misanthrope.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "I suppose that is one reason why a friend is so likely to be overworked."—Washington Star.

THE BAY LEAF.

Famous For More Than Its Use For Culinary Purposes.

"Two-thirds of modern recipes seem to call for 'a bay leaf,'" said a young housekeeper the other day, "and somehow it is always the one thing in the whole formula that a housekeeper will omit. One never has a bay leaf, probably for the reason that they are so elusive. Other necessities confront you on market stalls and shop counters, but the bay leaf rarely does."

"When I finally obtained mine (a small glass jar of them) a short time ago I had not the faintest idea of a connection between the little withered looking things in the glass and the laurel leaves of the poets. To my surprise I now find that they are one and the same. I believe most sister housekeepers would be amazed to find that when they send a bay leaf fluttering into the pot of soup or stew they are really consigning to it the historic 'bays' which wreath the brows of Homer and the bard of Avon. The scientific name is Laurus nobilis, and it belongs, according to my encyclopedia, to the laurel family, which includes the familiar sassafras. It is the 'green bay tree,' to which the wicked man is likened in the Scripture."

LOVE OF HOME.

An Instinct That Is Remarkably Strong in the Horse.

The strongest instinct in the horse is that of home—all his thoughts and interests lie there—and the most wearing pain he suffers is that of nostalgia—the longing for the familiar stall and the well loved surroundings. What wonder that our pets almost invariably return to us from such unhappy experiences mere shadows of their former selves, and in such wretched bodily condition that it is months before they regain their usual health and spirits. We blame the man in charge, poor feed, bad stabling, insufficient pasturage, etc., and overlook entirely the fact that it is our own fault and the direct result of heart hunger which no grass, grain or roof-tree could entirely assuage. Of course the little used muscles have, from lack of exercise, shrunk and lost their firmness and plumpness; the crest has fallen from the same cause; "poverty lines" appear in the quarters and shoulders; the tail and mane are all out of shape or all worn away; the feet stubbed off; the coat dingy and sun-burnt; the skin full of all manner of scars, cuts and abrasions; all these are the effect, not the cause, of the lack of bodily condition which is two-thirds due sheerly and solely, in the high bred, nervous, sensitive horse, to simple homesickness.—Exchange.

POOR LITTLE PENGUINS.

Many Are Nursed to Death by the Adult Birds.

An antarctic explorer writes: "I think the penguin chicks hate their parents, and when one watches the proceedings in a rookery it strikes one as not surprising. In the first place, there is about one chick to ten or twelve adults, and each adult has an overpowering desire to sit on something. Both males and females want to nurse, and the result is that when a chicken finds himself alone there is a rush on the part of a dozen unemployed to seize him."

"Naturally he runs away and dodges here and there till a huge 'emperor' falls on him, and then begins a regular football scrimmage, in which each tries to hustle the other off, and the end is too often disastrous to the chick. Sometimes he falls in a crack in the ice and stays there, to be frozen, while the parents squabble at the top."

"Sometimes, rather than be nursed, I have seen him crawl in under an ice ledge and remain there, where the old ones could not reach him. I think it is not an exaggeration to say that of the 77 per cent that die no less than half are killed by kindness."

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

Miss Margaret Merkley

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Of Respect, adopted by Mt. Crotched Encampment, No. 39, I. O. O. F., on death of John R. Putney:

Phenaud E. Call, from Boston, was with his family here two days this week.

Sylvester Little and wife are entertaining Mrs. Little's brother and his wife, from Madison, Me.

About midnight Tuesday, Dr. Prouty of Keene, assisted by other doctors, performed an operation on Frank Seaver; the intestines were found to be twisted, this being a difficulty which medicine could not reach, also on finding the appendix inflamed it was thought best to remove same. The operation was successful and at this writing the patient is comfortable and it is hoped by his many friends that Frank will have the strength to regain his usual good health again.

Lightning Struck.

In the shower of Tuesday afternoon, while of short duration, was quite sharp in this section. The dwelling house of Wallace Story at Clinton Village was struck, the bolt entering a front room, tearing off plastering and laths, and upsetting things generally. Mrs. Story was in the room, within a foot of where the bolt entered, but received no lasting effects. The strange thing about the matter was that no fire resulted, nor was any fire seen, but in a bureau drawer was found some articles which were scorched and came nearly being burned.

Romance Versus Reality.

Cumback—What became of that pretty Miss Dreamer who used to declare she would never marry until a handsome knight rode into town on a fierce charger with a glittering sword by his side and claimed her for his own? Homer—Oh, after breaking into the spinster class she was married to a man who drove two chargers hitched to a milk wagon, and she did remarkably well at that.—Chicago News.

And She Went Quickly.

"Mamma has just gone across the street, ma'am," said the demure little six-year-old to the caller. "Did she say when she'd be back?" asked the lady. "Yes'm"—as demurely as before—"just as soon as you had gone, ma'am."

His Real Self.

"When did you first become acquainted with your husband?" "The first time I asked him for money after we were married."—Life.

The great error is placing such an estimate on this life as if our being depended on it and we were nothing after death.—Rousseau.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Thousands Never Suspect That They Have It.

It is now generally admitted that diseases of the kidneys and bladder constitute the greatest source of disease. Cure these and we remove the cause of nearly all ailments of the Liver, Blood, Stomach and Bowels. But the approach of Kidney disease is so slow and gradual that the first symptoms may not be noticed. Here are some of the most common symptoms of this dangerous disease:

Discolored or dark urine, sometimes excessive and of pale color. Unusual desire to urinate, especially at night. "Brick Dust" deposits, sometimes containing albumen and blood. Swelling around eyes, ankles and abdomen. Drowsiness and a constant tired feeling. Pale, hot and dry skin.

Pain in the back, headache, cramps in the legs. Bowels constipated, digestion impaired. Rheumatic pains in the joints and muscles. If you have any of the above symptoms your kidneys need immediate attention, and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy should be taken at once. Do you know what will happen if you neglect these symptoms? Bright's Disease, most terrible, is nearly always the outcome. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has cured thousands of kidney disease, and we have the positive proof. It will cure you. Send to Dr. David Kennedy's Sons, Rondout, N. Y., for a free sample bottle and medical booklet. Large bottles $1.00, at all druggists.
