Burt Seymour, son of Farmer Seymour, had given a "sugaring off" party in the sap bush, and his invited guests numbered a dozen of the young men and girls of the neighborhood. Such parties are always given with the last run of maple sap and are simple affairs. The guests all gather at the sugar bush, where the sweet sap has already been boiled down to thick sirup, and seat themselves on a log while the sirup is boiled a little more and then served around on clean maple chips. There is snow yet left in the woods, and a dab of sirup dropped on the snow produces maple wax. There is a general stickiness, a general state of hilarity, and the girls go home with wet feet and the young men with wax on their chins.

In one sense this party referred to was a great success. In another it was a calamity. A sawing machine agent had been stopping at Farmer Halliday's for the last two weeks, while he heat up the country. He happened to be a young man and a talking fellow, but there was no earthly reason for Burt Seymour to be jealous of him. Eunice Halliday and Burt had been engaged for three or four months, and while she was naturally flattered at the compliments paid to her by the agent, whose name was French, they didn't turn her head by any means. She saw from the first that Burt was inclined to be jealous, and she was therefore more circumspect, but Burt's jealousy still rankled. He took good care that the stranger shouldn't be invited to the sugar party, to which Eunice was duly escorted by the host, but cheek is a part of the stock in trade of agents of all sorts, and no one was greatly surprised when Mr. French showed up as cool as a snow bank and took the biggest chip in the collection.

As old Aunt Martha used to say, all girls that amount to anything have a spice of devilry in their nature. Be they ever so sweet and nice, there are times when they like to hector. When Eunice saw, with all the others, that the coming of the agent annoyed her lover and that Mr. French was inclined to put himself out in another and more agreeable way to make things a success, she came as near flirting with him as she could and miss it. The harder Burt scowled and the more he showed his vexation the more reckless she became. She didn't intend to go too far, but just far enough to punish him. He would be sulky and sulkily going home, but she would make up with him before they reached the gate—that is, she thought it would be that way, but she was mistaken. Burt referred to the agent as a "snide," a "squirt" and several other things, and, although she only defended mildly, it was sufficient to keep his temper hot. He announced that he had been disappointed in her; that there was no such thing as loyalty known to her sex; that a few compliments from a "masher" were valued by her more than his enduring love, and when the gate was reached she announced that she wouldn't submit to be browbeaten, and he flourished his arm in reply and exclaimed:

"Farewell, false girl! I have loved you as no man ever loved before, but you have let a fool part us. I may be sunstruck this summer or die of a broken heart or commit suicide, but 'twill not matter to you. You will have simply broken one more human heart—shattered the faith of another man in woman's integrity."

Of course Eunice went into the house prepared to brave it out, and of course it wasn't fifteen minutes before her mother suspected that something had transpired and whisked her into the family bedroom to say:

"Now, then, has that Hattie Jones been saying mean things about you again?"

"No, ma," replied the daughter as she burst into sobs.

By and by all the details were in the mother's possession. The girl did not deny that she had flirted a bit, but she had not really meant anything serious. She was deeply in love with Burt Seymour, and as she thought of his dying of sunstroke and going to his grave believing she cared for any other man, no matter how many sewing machines he could sell in a week, it almost broke her heart.

"Well, now, stop crying while I talk to you," said the mother. "You should not have flirted, and Burt should not have made a fool of himself. He's gone away to chew the rag, as your cousin Ben puts it. He thinks he'll get a letter from you in a day or two asking his forgiveness. Then he'll take a week before coming around and condescending to make up. First and foremost, you are not to write him a line. Second and hindmost, he's got to come to you if there is any coming about it. Your father was just another such idiot when he was running after me, and I made him crawl. That's why I have always had the whip hand of him."

"But you know how set Burt is in his ways," pleaded Eunice.

"But you can be just as set in yours."

"But suppose he's found dead with my photo on his broken heart."

"Suppose our old dog should bark his tail off! You are going to do just as I say, and that ends it. I'm your mother, and I know something about men, and if I don't help you to bring that smart young man back within two weeks I'll never darn another pair of socks for your father."

One event invariably follows the other in the country. After the sugar party, about two weeks after, comes the last day of the district school, or the close of the term. Word goes out for ten miles around, and the 200 young and old who attend manage somehow to get into the schoolhouse. Then two persons choose sides, and the whole crowd lines up, and the schoolmaster pronounces the words. The spelling school for the Seymour district was announced for a date two weeks subsequent to the sugar party and the lovers' quarrel. No Burt called at the Halliday farmhouse to make up. The days passed, and poor Eunice went about with tears in her eyes. Even her father noticed that the daughter was looking red eyed and pale faced and asked the wife if a doctor had not better be consulted.

"Don't you worry, Joseph," was all the reply he got, and about all he expected, but to the daughter the mother said:

"Eunice, when the spelling school comes off I am going to bring that young man to the mark. He is one of the best spellers around here, isn't he?"

"Yes, ma."

"Well, so are you. Some folks say you are better than he is. If you are on one side and he on the other, you are going to beat him."

"But suppose I can't?"

"I'm just going to pray that you will."

"Then he'll be madder yet. Maybe he'll go right home and commit suicide."

"And maybe he'll go right home and get some sense in his head. I'm running this show, and I want you to do just as I tell you."

There was the usual big turnout when the evening came. The sewing machine agent had departed for other fields, and Eunice arrived at the schoolhouse in the company of her father and mother. Almost immediately she heard that Burt Seymour had come alone with his horse and buggy. She also heard that their misunderstanding was being gossiped about. The schoolmaster was well known to the Hallidays, and a few whispered words from Mrs. Halliday perfected her plans. It was announced that Mr. Burt Seymour and Miss Eunice Halliday would choose sides, and they found themselves at once the center of interest. Each sought to decline, but each was pushed forward. Each line when filled numbered eighty, and then the spelling began. The first five minutes did the business for twenty.

In a quarter of an hour there were only ten spellers on their feet. Five minutes later Eunice and Burt alone were left. They stood facing each other, though not looking into each other's eyes. Burt looked obstinate, and the girl had her chin in the air. It was called the greatest contest of the decade. For twenty minutes the teacher hunted out the hard words, but could trap neither. Then Burt was caught and went down, and the victory was awarded the girl amid cheers. Five minutes later the crowd broke up, and Eunice was hunting for her wraps when a hand was laid on her arm and a voice whispered:

"Euny, how do you spell 'flirt'—'forgive' and 'love'?"

"The simplest way," she replied as she turned to Burt.

"Then ride home with me. I brought my buggy on purpose."

"Of course it worked," said Mrs. Halliday that night to herself after making a cackling noise in her throat. "If it had been left to Eunice, now—but it wasn't. When a smart young man thinks he's smarter than an old married woman it's time he was spelled down a few and made to take a back seat."

This Wednesday Evening.

This fellow trusts that you have made every preparation to have the final smile with him to night, and as a representative of Local Minstrelsy he bid you Welcome, and may the Smile taken on to night last you for many days to help brighten some of the cloudy ones. The program prepared for to night is of varied doings and something catchy will be going on all the time. Come early, so you can hear the Opening Chorus, which is snappy and a good opening of the evening's programme, which has been generously distributed throughout the town.

Notice!—Be sure that the usher hands you a programme; if he does not, ask for it. We smile at 8 o'clock sharp.

Changes of Train Service in B. & M. Service.

The annual change of time of the passenger service on the B. & M. road will take place on Monday, June 10, and although the schedule has not been published, sufficient is known to state that the contemplated changes will be practically the same as in other years, which includes the train from Hillsboro Bridge. It is understood that on Sundays following the above change, that a passenger train will run independent of the milk train from Hillsboro Bridge, leaving that point about fifteen minutes later, following it to Nashua, where connection is made with the regular train for Boston. Returning it leaves Boston some later and follows the milk train to Hillsboro Bridge. The change in the time table will be published as soon as received.

This much we have learned in regard to the new departure of trains from Antrim station: 6 23, 7 34, 8 03, 10 39, 11 26 a. m.; 2 08, 3 35, 4 48, 6 42 p. m.

Winston Churchill has announced that he will not again be a candidate for governor of New Hampshire. In doing this he does well. If he really desires to make things better in the state he will have more influence now than he had in the last campaign. The people want to see things done because they ought to be done and not to boost some one man into power or prominence. — Franklin Journal-Transcript.

We have received a copy of the first edition of New England Telephone Topics. It is published by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, but the responsibility of editing it is entirely in the hands of employees who represent almost every department.

Rev. J. S. Robbins.

Evangelistic missionary to the Philippine islands, spoke to the people of Antrim on Sunday last at the Baptist church, morning and evening. At both of these services he was very interesting and held the closest attention of his hearers. The speaker talked much of his work in the islands and related many incidents which were instructive and had not before been spoken of in this section by one fresh from the field and knew what he was talking about.

At the union service in the evening he spoke of the customs of native people of the islands, their ability for self government, the great work the U. S. government has accomplished in the six years of its control of these possessions, the resources, and many other phases of the situation which had presented themselves to him in every day life in that far away land.

Facts which the speaker mentioned, such as the expending of millions of dollars in the city of Manila in improved conditions, both in her harbor and on land; building of telegraph, telephone and railway lines, cables, and other very important improvements; and to know from him that the islands are self supporting,—not costing "Uncle Sam" a red cent, was indeed glad news to our people. How much different such news sounds coming from one who has been there than certain reports from those who go up and down our land at certain seasons crying down the administration simply because someone has said that expansion is wrong and must be dealt with. The speaker took special pains to eulogize the late President McKinley in his action in regard to the Philippine islands, and of the most excellent work which has been done there by Secretary Taft and the corps of American officials. His addresses were really unusual treats and for a young man Mr. Robbins is a most excellent speaker and in his chosen line of activity is certainly doing remarkable work.

Jacob P. Symes.

Jacob Symes died in Boston, Mass., May 28, 1907. Mr. Symes was born in Theford, Vt., 75 years ago. The greater part of his life was spent in Boston. He was an expert mechanic, and a genius at his trade. His work-fellows said that he had the "gift to see through any intricate combination" in machinery. His skill and inventive ability was acknowledged by all. The funeral was in Boston on Sunday, May 26, amid a profusion of flowers. The services were conducted by a clergyman of his faith (Universalist). The Beulah Lodge of Odd Fellows, of which he was a member, performed a tender service over their dead brother's remains. He was buried in Boston.

Mr. Symes lived at Antrim Centre a number of years. He was a kind man, a genial companion. Together with his mourning friends we send our sincerest sympathy to his son and daughter who reside in Boston.

"Then mourn not, friends, when you may lay

The Parent Earth above my ashes.

Think what a rest awaits my clay

And smooth the mound with tearless lashes

(Glad that the resting from within

Has done at last with care and sin.

Think that with me the strife is o'er

Life's stormy, struggling battle ended

Rejoice! that I have gained the shore

To which though, weak my footsteps tended

Breathe the blest hope above the sod

And leave me to my rest with God.

A Card

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all the kind friends, who so happily surprised us, and for the beautiful present given us, which will be very highly appreciated by us. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor.

A Surprise Reception.

A party of nearly one hundred gathered in the social hall of Woodbury Memorial church Monday evening and gave to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, recently married, a reception which proved to be a genuine surprise. Those present were mostly people from the Methodist society, but there were many from other societies who were shop mates of Mr. Taylor. In behalf of friends, Rev. Mr. Markey in a few well chosen words presented the couple with a nice mantle clock to which Mr. Taylor feelingly replied. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, and with music, filled a very pleasant evening.

July New Idea.

What a few prominent philanthropists and some public institutions and charities in our big cities are doing to lower the rate of infant mortality during the tropical summer is told about in an article on "Saving the Babies from the Cities' Heat" by Elizabeth Howard Westwood in the July number of the New Idea Woman's Magazine. There are many valuable photographs which will give the reader a good idea of some of the difficulties which have to be overcome, and their effective remedies.

The magazine also contains a series of photographs of the new Colony Club of New York which since its recent opening, has attracted widespread attention all over the civilized world. This club is the first of its kind in that it is designed to give to New York society women all the comforts of a man's clubhouse.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Thousands Never Suspect That They Have It.

It is now generally admitted that diseases of the kidneys and bladder constitute the greatest source of disease. Cure these and we remove the cause of nearly all ailments of the Liver, Blood, Stomach and Bowels. But the approach of Kidney disease is so slow and gradual that the first symptoms may not be noticed. Here are some of the most common symptoms of this dangerous disease:

- Discolored or dark urine, sometimes excessive and of pale color.
- Unusual desire to urinate, especially at night.
- "Back Pain" deposits, sometimes containing albumen and blood.
- Swelling around eyes, ankles and abdomen.
- Drowsiness and a constant tired feeling.
- Pain, hot and dry skin.
- Pain in the back, headache, cramps in the legs.
- Bowels constipated, digestion impaired.
- Rheumatic pains in the joints and muscles.

If you have any of the above symptoms your kidneys need immediate attention, and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy should be taken at once. Do you know what will happen if you neglect these symptoms? Bright's Disease, most terrible, is nearly always the outcome. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has cured thousands of kidney disease, and we have the positive proof. It will cure you. Send to Dr. David Kennedy's Sons, Rondout, N. Y., for a free sample bottle and medical booklet. Large bottles $1.00, at all druggists.

He Could Walk.
All are not soldiers who wear a uniform, as General Lew Wallace found out at Fort Donelson. He saw four soldiers carrying a fifth, who seemed to be wounded.

"Can't that man walk without assistance?" asked Wallace.

"Oh, no!" said the men. "He is dying."

Just then a shell exploded near by, and the four men dropped their burden and fled. The man who was supposed to be wounded leaped to his feet and ran even faster than the others.

He Liked the Family.
"Dick proposed to me last night." "What did you tell him?" "I said he had better ask mamma. And what do you think the wretch said?" "Goodness knows." "He said he had asked her already, and she wouldn't have him."

A Settler.
Friend—Didn't your husband rave when you showed him the dressmaker's bill? Wife—Rather. Friend—And how did you quiet him? Wife—I showed him the milliner's next, and then he became absolutely speechless.

MEMORIAL DAY
As Observed by the Antrim People.

They have ceased but their glory shall never cease, Nor their light be quenched in the light of peace.

Like one of the fixtures of the town, Memorial Day is observed each year and Thursday last was one of usual observance, and about the same interest was taken in the exercises of the day. In the morning at 8 o'clock, members of Ephraim Weston Post, 87, G. A. R., went to North Branch, and under direction of John A. Bryer, marshal, marched to the cemetery and decorated graves of departed comrades. Return was then made to the Centre cemetery for the usual service, and then to the G. A. R. hall in the village, where dinner was served.

Soldiers' graves in Meeting House Hill and East Cemeteries were decorated by special details from the Post.

AFTERNOON SERVICES.
The column was formed at 1 o'clock, in front of G. A. R. hall for a short parade on Main street. Services in the Town hall at 1.30 o'clock as follows:

Music by Band.
President of the Day, E. C. Paige.
Reading of General Orders.
Adj. George D. Dresser.
Prayer.
Vocal Music, by Quartet.
Oration, by Perley D. Smith of Lawrence, Mass.
Vocal Music, by Vera McClure Song, "America" by everybody.

At the close of the services in the hall the column was formed with right resting opposite the Presbyterian church in the following order:

Band, Ephraim Weston Post, No. 87, G. A. R., George H. Chandler Camp, No. 11, S. of V., Citizens in columns of twos, carriages containing Woman's Relief Corps, Orator of the day, Clergymen and Disabled Soldiers, Citizens.

The route was thru Main, Elm and Concord streets to Maplewood Cemetery, where the following exercises took place:

Prayer.
Dirge by Band.
Decoration of Soldiers' Graves at sound of the bugle.
Column reformed and marched via Concord street to Soldiers' Monument where these services were held:

Remarks, by Hon. N. C. Jameson of Antrim.
Music by Band.
Return was made to Grand Army hall where the column was dismissed.

A band concert of nearly an hour took place on the band stand immediately after the parade was dismissed.

July Designer.
One cannot truthfully say that patriotism is dying when the magazines, which are merely reflectors, show the national holidays as faithfully as they do. The Designer is up-to-date in this as in other respects in its July number. To the wood-architect, or any man fond of making his house of rough-hewn trees, the article entitled "Building with Trees" will appeal strongly.

The little girls will find one of the prettiest flower plays they ever took part in, called "Fairy Godmothers' Botany Lesson."

As for the fashions in the July Designer, the addition of two successful and clever artists of the day to the staff of fashion illustrations help in the making of the dress. The dressmakers' article gives full directions for the construction of a dainty summer costume. The traveling girl also will find directions for a practical and inexpensive outfit for boat and train use.

A MANCHURIAN INN.
Chinese Food and Beds—High Walls to Protect Against Thieves.

The inn at Tieling, which was similar to the inns all over northern Manchuria, had a big compound surrounded by a high mud wall with gates. The long distance carts going down the country with beans and bringing back goods are driven inside these compounds for safety from robbers each night, says the South China Post, and during the great hauling season in winter these inns are crowded.

The walls of the inns are of mud plastered on a center wall made by weaving reeds together. The windows are mostly of oiled paper, with possibly one small pane of glass in the center. The rafters are rounded timbers on which are spread reeds, then a layer of coarse matting and then packed mud. In the cities the better inns have brick walls and tiled roofs, but are otherwise about the same.

It was necessary to sleep on the "kangs" and eat Chinese food. In these inns the first place entered is the kitchen, a square space with mud floors and raised mud ovens with clay and iron pots. From this one passes through a cloth hung doorway into the inn proper. At Tieling this was twenty to sixty feet, down the middle of which was an eight foot aisle with packed mud floor.

On each side were ranged the "kangs," raised mud embankments, brick faced, some thirty inches high and six feet wide. On these are spread matting, and here all guests roll themselves in their own blankets and sleep side by side, with their feet to the wall and their heads to the center aisle. A fire underneath runs the length of each "kang," and a fire at one end furnishes the hot air, which passes through and out at a mud chimney and warms the sleepers.

The meals are served on these "kangs" on little tables about a foot high. At these inns a teapot is always kept warm over a fire in a raised mud embankment in the middle of the main aisle.

IN WRECKS AT SEA.
The Way Men Act When They Lose Their Heads and Nerve.

What has most struck me in my many experiences of shipwrecks has been the strangely diverse ways in which the passengers acquit themselves under intense excitement and panic, said a lifeboat man to the writer.

Women cry, faint and cling to each other, but are least trouble. Men often act very strangely. I remember one man throwing into the lifeboat a heavy trunk which he wanted to save, but which we promptly heaved overboard.

Some men become quite panic stricken. I've seen strong men, probably brave enough in other cases, fighting fiercely for the life buoys and thrusting the women and children aside in frantic endeavors to leap into the boat first; yet, strangely enough, one man who thus disgraced himself has since obtained the Royal Humane society's medal for saving life at sea, thrice volunteering with a scratch crew in aid of a distressed vessel.

I've known others who became so stupefied with fright as to resist all attempts at rescuing them, begging to be left to die and having to be forcibly thrown into the lifeboat. Some persons frequently become half demented, and I've known several cases where they have in a frenzy committed suicide by positively jumping headlong into the sea and drowning themselves, and one man to insure his sinking filled his pockets with coal.

I've known another passenger, hearing the ship had struck, went and drowned himself in the bathroom, anticipating his fate, as it were.

I remember another case where a passenger hanged himself in his cabin just as the lifeboat arrived.—London Tit-Bits.

Looked Into the Wall.
A rather peculiar case of absent-mindedness was that related of Peter Burrowes, an Irish lawyer. A friend who called on Burrowes at an early hour one morning found him shaving with his face held close to an empty wall. "What on earth are you assuming that attitude for?" he asked.

"To look in the glass," was the reply.

"But there's no glass there," laughed the acquaintance.

"Bless you! I didn't notice that before," said Burrowes, and then calling his servant he asked him what had become of the mirror.

"Why, sir," said the man, "it was broken six weeks ago."

A French Joke.
Here is a French joke that is rather English in character: The Marquis de Favieres, notorious for his impunctuality, called on a man of means named Barnard and said:

"Monsieur, I am going to astonish you. I am the Marquis de Favieres. I do not know you, and I come to borrow 500 louis."

"Monsieur," Barnard replied, "I am going to astonish you much more. I know you, and I am going to lend them."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle Home of Swamp-Root, by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

State and County News

The centennial of the completion of the old Amoskeag canal which was constructed by Samuel Blodgett, a pioneer resident of New Hampshire, was observed at City hall, Manchester, Wednesday night.

The New Hampshire Gazette, the oldest paper in America, will celebrate its 150th anniversary June 20 at Portsmouth, and the New Hampshire Press association is to be the guest of E. W. Hartford, the publisher.

The law relating to peddlers was amended by the last legislature so that foreign fruit, meaning bananas, oranges and the like, cannot be peddled without a license; also that a soldier's widow, so long as she remains unmarried, can have a license free of cost.

The 2000 employees of the three mills of the Great Falls Manufacturing company in Somersworth were advised by notices posted Tuesday of a readjustment of wages on a basis of 5 per cent. advance, to take effect June 3. On the same date the working time for a week was changed from 60 to 58 hours, to conform to the law passed by the last legislature. The advance will be the second made this year.

Notices were posted in all the mills of the Amoskeag Manufacturing company in Manchester Tuesday that an increase in the wages of the employees would be made next Monday. The announcement came as a welcome surprise to the 15,000 operatives who will be benefited by the increase. Agent Horman F. Straw of the Amoskeag company said that the company in deciding to grant the increase is following the policy of leading mills in other sections of New England and that it is entirely unsolicited by the employees. The Amoskeag company made an increase of five per cent in the wages of employees the first of the year.

"John," said Mrs. Spenders, "I've got lots of things I want to talk to you about."

"Glad to hear it," snapped her husband. "Usually you want to talk to me about lots of things that you haven't got."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Three sessions were held in Laconia last week, at the 98th annual meeting of the general association of the Congregational churches of New Hampshire. There were many delegates present. The visitors were entertained by the church members, and the sessions were held in the stone church. Wednesday morning worship was conducted by the Rev. C. H. Percival. A report was made by the statistical secretary, Joseph Benton. The afternoon session was given over to reports, including that of W. P. Fiske, secretary of the ministers' and widows' charitable fund, and Rev. Dr. Cyrus Richardson of Nashua of the American Board of Missions. The 103d anniversary of the New Hampshire Female Cent Institution and Home Missionary Union, Mrs. James Minot of Concord, presiding, was celebrated Wednesday afternoon. Wednesday evening was the 100th anniversary of the New Hampshire Home Missionary with reports of the treasurer, Alvin B. Cross of Concord, and that of the trustees. Addresses were given by the Rev. George E. Hill and others.

The closing session of the three days' meeting was held Thursday. The closing address was by the Rev. Clinton W. Wilson. It was decided to hold the next annual session at Lebanon. The following officers were elected: Moderator, Rev. C. L. Merriam of Derry; vice moderator, A. P. Hillman of Pembroke; secretary, Rev. D. P. Hatch of Franklin; preacher, Rev. W. A. Hadley of Keene; alternate, Rev. Richard L. Swain of Laconia; delegate to Andover Theological seminary, Rev. Edward D. Disbrow of Farmington; delegates to the national council, Rev. L. H. Thayer, Rev. W. H. Bolster, D. D., of Nashua, and Charles Page of Concord; alternates, Rev. E. N. Bishop, Rev. John E. and George N. Brown of Manchester; auditor, Joseph L. Clough of Manchester.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nerve and three boxes of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicines cured me. It relieved me from the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it." JOHN H. SHERMAN, Belding, Mich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, causes nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Weather Proverbs--Thunder and Lightning.

If the birds be silent, expect thunder.
If the cattle run around and collect together, expect thunder.

The first thunder of the year awakes the frogs and snakes from their winter sleep.

The distant thunder speaks of coming rain.

If there be thunder in the evening, there will be much rain and showery weather.

Morning thunder is followed by rain the same day.

With a north wind it seldom thunders. Thunder in the north indicates cold weather, and rain from the west.

If an east wind blows against a dark heavy sky from the northwest, the wind decreasing in force as the clouds approach, expect thunder and lightning.

Much thunder in July injures wheat and barley.

Thunder from the south or southeast indicates foul weather, from the north or northwest fair weather.

Thunder in the fall indicates a mild open winter.

Lightning brings heat.

If there be lightning without thunder after a clear day, there will be a continuance of fair weather.

Forked lightning at night,
The next day clear and bright.

Lightning in the north will be followed by rain within twenty-four hours.

Lightning in the north in summer is a sign of heat.

Lightning in spring indicates a good fruit year.

When the flashes of lightning appear very pale, it argues the air to be full of waterish meteors, and if red and fiery, inclining to winds and tempests.

Lightning in summer indicates good healthy weather.

If there be sheet lightning with a clear sky on spring, summer, and autumn evenings expect heavy rains.

Thunder and lightning early in winter or late in fall indicates warm weather.

A winter's thunder is a summer's wonder.

It's too bad to see people who go from day to day suffering from physical weakness when Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea would make them well. The greatest tonic known. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets.

Astronomers say that Mars is nearer the Earth this summer than for fifteen years. The opportunities for exploration there are a little remote even yet since if the journey were undertaken when the planet is nearest and if a speed of one thousand miles a day were attained, the round trip would consume 72,000 days, not allowing for stop overs.

DO THE RIGHT THING if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the catarrh powders and snuffs, for they contain cocaine. HARRY DEACON, Antrim, N. H.

Letter to G. G. Newell, Antrim, N. H.

Dear Sir: We should like to set your boys and girls at work on this question in arithmetic and casuistry.

A farmer is fattening three hogs in three small pens; they have equal room and straw and care, and are fed in these three ways: first hog, on a certain proportion of milk and cooked cornmeal; second hog, on the same, half water; third hog, on the same, half water and sawdust. How long will it take, how much will they weigh, how much will they cost, and what'll the profit be on the three?

And similar question in pigmentry. That same farmer is going to paint three barns same size; and he says to three painters: "what'll you take to paint that barn?"

First painter scratches his head a few minutes and says: "I'll do it for $50."

Second painter: "$75."

Third painter: "$97.48."

Will they each get a barn to paint, or one get two, or one all three, or nobody any; and what'll they make on the job?

That's about how painting goes sometimes.

But there is a way to reckon: $5 a gallon. The difficulty is in knowing how many gallons to buy. There's a way out of that.

Buy the least-gallon paint, Devoe. No matter how much one buys; he returns what's left: costs nothing.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & Co.

Let me mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Address me, Dr. Shoop, Pacific, Wis. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means stomach weakness all ways. And the Heart and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its name. No other remedy ever claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write for my free Book now. GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Colburn celebrated their golden wedding Tuesday of this week by a family dinner and reunion at their pleasant home and in the evening a general reception in the town hall. The program was a musical one and given mostly by the grandchildren; an original poem was written and read by Prof. Cowell of Cushing Academy, Ashburham, Mass., who with his wife were special guests on this occasion.

Mr. Colburn was born in New Boston in 1835; learned his trade as carpenter of his father and at the early age of 19 years was doing business for himself. Many houses and buildings in this and adjoining towns has he erected. He has lived in this town since his marriage, coming here a few months after. Mrs. Colburn was born Elizabeth Roper and has always resided in town. They each have a brother and sister living; also six children and nineteen grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Colburn are among our most honored residents, enjoy good health and their host of friends wish them continued prosperity, and many more years of health and happiness.

A DISAPPOINTED SHAH.

Queer Story of a Prizefight in an English Royal Garden.

In his book of memories Major General Sir Owen Tudor Burns tells a story of the first visit of a shah to Great Britain.

The shah wanted to see a prizefight with blood. After much anxious thought and consultation with Lord Queensberry an innocent glove fight was arranged in the Buckingham palace stables, to take place quietly half an hour before the shah was to receive Lord Shaftesbury and the archbishops and bishops with a memorial asking him to protect the interests of the Christians in Persia.

But the shah slept late. The prizefighters overlapped the prelates. A footman made a mistake in opening the door. Archbishops and bishops following the shah in a moment found themselves more or less in a ring round the two prizefighters. The bishops hustled back to the reception room, the fight was stopped, the shah was angry and disappointed, and Lord Shaftesbury was heard shouting: "A prizefight in the garden of the queen's palace forsooth! I will denounce you all over the kingdom!" Mutual explanations followed, the matter was set right, we sent special messages to the reporters to keep it out of the press, and I was later on privileged to explain it all to the queen, who took the matter much more calmly than her lord chamberlain. Once back, however, inside Buckingham palace, we all smoothed our ruffled feathers and listened to a most gloomy oration from Lord Shaftesbury.

The shah, angry at the interruption of his prizefight, turned round to Sir Henry Rawlinson and growled in Persian: "Hang the Christians in Persia! Tell them they're all right!" Rawlinson translated that into a long, eloquent and beautiful reply to the deputation, while doubtless the disappointed boxers were having a consolation scrap in the stables. Lord Shaftesbury did not denounce them, though the shah's bear leaders lived in terror for some days.

The lord chamberlain blamed me. I blamed the shah, the shah blamed the equerry, the equerry blamed the footman, the footman blamed every one all round, and we gave the prizefighters 45 apiece, with a resolution written in blood that never would any of us again arrange a prizefight, even for a shah of shahs, in a royal palace garden.

BEYOND THE GRAVE.

Victor Hugo's Views on the Question of a Future Life.

Victor Hugo's opinion on the question of life beyond the grave was a remarkable one. The great Frenchman was firmly convinced that he would meet all his friends in a future world. He was equally sure that he had always existed from the antediluvian times, when the Creator placed him on earth. He believed that he would exist forever, inasmuch as he felt in his soul thousands of hymns, dramas and poems that had never found expression.

When the atheists would say to him, "The proof that you will not exist in the future is that you did not exist in the past," Hugo would answer:

"Who told you I did not exist in the past centuries? You will say that is the legend of the ages. The poet has written, 'Life is a fairy tale twice written.' He might have said a thousand times written. You do not believe in the doctrine of surviving personalities for the reason that you do not recollect your anterior existence. But how can the recollection of vanished ages remain imprinted on your memory when you do not remember a thousand and one scenes and events of your present life? Since 1802 there have been ten Victor Hugos in me. Do you think that I can recall all their actions and all their thoughts?"

"The tomb is dark, and when I shall have passed the tomb to emerge into light once more all these Victor Hugos will be almost wholly strangers to me, but it will always be the same soul."—Scrap Book.

Upheaved by Earthquakes.

After a great earthquake the surface of the earth sometimes sinks, and at other times there is a rise. A rise was manifested after the "quake" of last August at Valparaiso. Professor H. D. Curtis reports that the harbor of Valparaiso was found to be ten feet shallower after the earthquake. Recently published facts concerning the great earthquake of 1899 in Alaska show that it was accompanied by an uplift for more than 100 miles along the Yakutat coast. The maximum rise at Disenchantment bay was more than forty-seven feet. In many places the uplift varied between seven and twenty feet, but at a few points there was a slight subsidence.

MISS JULIE FLORENCE WALSH

WOMEN SUFFER

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? The cause may be easily traced to some feminine derangement which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, dragging sensations, flatulency, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded, a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The best remedy for all these symptoms is made from native roots and herbs. No other medicine in the country has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Miss J. F. Walsh, of 328 W. 36th St., New York City, writes:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been of inestimable value in restoring my health. I suffered from female illness which caused dreadful headaches, dizziness, and dull pains in my back, but your medicine soon brought about a change in my general condition, built me up and made me perfectly well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and organic diseases. It is invaluable in preparing for child-birth and during the Change of Life. It cures Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, and invigorates the whole system.

Mrs Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

Herr Hagenbeck of Stellingen, is sending the contents of a zoological garden to Peking for the Chinese government. He has chartered a ship for the purpose, which, when freighted, will be to all intents and purposes a second Noah's ark. The beasts, which will be in pairs, will be packed in strong cages large enough to afford them room for exercise. The case in which an ostrich is packed is fitted with a sort of trap-door through which it can stretch its neck when so inclined. A number of trained keepers are accompanying the ark who will instruct the Chinese in the treatment of the wild animals.—Berlin Cor. London Chronicle.

Endowing Two Chairs.

The college president who figures in the following incident doubtless suffered a cruel shock at first, but when he found that his benefactor was acting in good faith and was thoroughly in earnest, amusement over the situation must have made some light amendment for his disappointment.

He was on a trip to secure an endowment for his institution when he received this letter from Lone Tree:

President—Can you preach at Lone Tree church next Sunday and then go home with me to dinner? Mother and me wants to endow two chairs in your college. Very truly,
JONAS SMITH.

He joyfully accepted the situation after discovering that Jonas Smith was a very wealthy farmer, to whom the endowment of two chairs would work no hardship. After the dinner which followed the sermon the conversation came to the important subject in hand, and the farmer said: "Now, I know you can buy a good, strong, stout chair for 50 cents, but we want to do more than that for the college, and mother and me have decided that we are willing to give 75 cents each to endow two chairs, one for mother and one for me."

The Manatee Is Increasing.

A few years ago the manatee was thought to be near extinction. Now it is often seen and is increasing. I am personally acquainted with about fifty specimens, a fair proportion of which are calves. Their shyness protects them from the rifle of the tourist. A heavy penalty for the wanted destruction of the manatee defers some and just a germ of public sentiment on the coast restrains others from seeking to kill them.—A. W. Dimock in Century.

Knight, the construction of which was begun in 1901. The Knight, or western reservoir, has a capacity of 480,000,000 gallons and a water area of fifty-one and a half acres, and the Bessborough, or eastern reservoir, has a capacity of 718,000,000 gallons and a water area of seventy-four acres. With the completion of these reservoirs London possesses sixty subsiding and storage reservoirs for unfiltered water, having a total area of 1,435 acres, with a capacity of 8,934,000,000 gallons. This storage would be sufficient to provide a supply equivalent to about forty days of average consumption for a population of 6,750,000 without drawing on the Thames or any other source of supply.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Stamps as Detectives.

The new series of postage stamps to be issued by the United States this year will be a great departure from the stamps to which letter writers are accustomed. Hitherto similar stamps have been used all over the country, and there has been no means of determining from what office they have been sold to consumers. All this will be changed under the new system, and every postoffice of the land will receive due credit for the amount of postage stamps which it sells, which furnishes the only basis upon which the business of the office can be estimated. The new postage stamps of 1907 will bear on their face the name of the city and state in which they are sold, and it will make no difference in what part of the country they are used, the city of their origin will have the credit for their sale. Postage stamps in the past have proved to be exceptionally negotiable plunder for the light fingered gentry. The Chicago postoffice a little while ago was robbed of nearly $100,000 worth of stamps of small denominations, and no trace of the perpetrators was ever discovered. With each gummed piece of paper an inanimate detective by means of the name of its city of origin it is scarcely possible that a thief could so completely cover his tracks in disposing of his booty.—St. Louis Republic.

He Died With Her.

It would be hard to find, even in the noblest fiction, a story more tragic or more touching than that of the death of M. Berthelot, the great French chemist. A few months ago Mme. Berthelot became ill, and it was discovered that she had a form of heart disease from which recovery was impossible. M. Berthelot gave up all his studies and all his other interests and took his place by his wife's bedside. From that time on he scarcely left it. Not only did he sit there by day, but each sleep as he got he secured in the same chair. When the end came he had been seventy-two hours without sleep. Mme. Berthelot, rousing herself as death touched her, recognized her husband holding her hand. "My dear, how good you are," she murmured. Although the accounts of the closing scene differ, they all agree that when he knew that his wife was dead he expired almost instantly. In their deaths they were separated by a few moments only.—Youth's Companion.

Cemetery Watchhouses.

Some workmen were tearing down a little stone hut in the corner of the cemetery.

"This is one of the few of the cemetery watchhouses," said the superintendent, "left in America. With its disappearance only the Vermont ones will remain."

"Cemetery watchhouses were built to prevent body snatching. Body snatching in the past, you know, was a very common crime. The watchers in the watchhouses caught many a body snatcher crouched in a grave, feverishly hacking open a coffin by his lantern's yellow light."

"Nowadays physicians get their cadavers legally, and body snatching is an obsolete crime. But here and there in cemetery corners stands a ruined watchhouse, a reminder of the days when no corpse was safe."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

BENNINGTON

Miss Bernice Emery was the guest of Miss Grace Wilson last Friday.

Mrs. Ned Duncklee of Salem, Mass., has been visiting Mrs. Geo. Duncklee of late.

Mrs. Josephine Woods and Mrs. Amelia Dinsmore of Laconia are spending a few weeks with their sister, Mrs. Francis Walker, of Philadelphia.

Among the Memorial Day guests in town were noticed Mr. and Mrs. Scott Williams of Gardner, Mass., Harvey Balch of Clifflandsford, Mass., Frank Fleming of Tewksbury, Mass., and Gale Savage of Keene, at Chas. Balch's.

Miss Edith Sawyer has returned from Concord, where she has been for several months. She is going to stay in the family of James Favor for the present. Her many friends will be glad to know she is much improved in general health.

The Village Improvement Society's Box supper proved very successful. The boxes brought prices ranging from ten cents to a dollar and sixty. The pop corn and candy tables were very prettily arranged and well patronized. Much credit is due the executive committee who had charge of the affair. Music was furnished by Bennington orchestra.

Mrs. Heather and Mrs. Brown of New York, Mrs. Whitney from New Ipswich, registered at the Crystal Spring house Saturday, en route for Birch Camp; C. S. Brown took them up, Mrs. A. A. Martin accompanied them. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knight were also guests over Sunday, making twelve in number.

Among the old residents who were guests of friends in town Memorial Day we noticed: A. W. Gray of Boston, Mrs. Lucinda Dodge of Milford, Mrs. Taylor, son and daughter of Holyoke; Mrs. N. C. Jameson and Miss Mary Butler of Antrim were among those who were welcomed by the president of the day. Rev. G. H. Dunlap, the speaker, was very interesting and held the interest of the audience till the close. He was preceded by exercises of the children, which were very pleasing. The singing and speaking was especially good.

The Bennington Improvement Society cleared $32.78 from the Benefit Supper held Friday evening, May 31st. The committee wish to extend their thanks to the orchestra and all who in any way added to the success and enjoyment of the occasion.

BASE BALL.

Antrim-Bennington, 1 Each.

Antrim played two games with Bennington at Antrim on Memorial Day and split even, both games being considerably one sided—in the morning for Bennington and in the afternoon for Antrim. Sawyer pitched fine ball in the morning and having good support won the game by the score of 9 to 2. "Dick" Cuddihy did fine work in box in the afternoon and with good support won the game by score of 19 to 4. Brooks, Whittle and Carpenter got in another of their double plays. J. Cuddihy did excellent "stick work," having five hits out of six chances.

One for Antrim at Henniker.

Antrim defeated Henniker in a well played game on the Henniker grounds Saturday, the score being 7 to 3. While Henniker succeeded in getting several men on bases, Cuddihy held them at these critical times. Chase's home run in the second which gave Henniker her first score, was foul by "see it" but the umpire couldn't
