O Time!

Backward, turn backward, O time, in your flight!
Give me conceit again, just for tonight;
Carry me back to the days when I wore Loud clothes and in fact, was a gay sophomore;
Smooth from my forehead all traces of care,
Cover my poll with a thatch of dark hair;
Put all the doubts that assail me to sleep.
Give back the self-love I neglected to keep.
Tired of the hollow, the base and untrue,
I long to be somewhere around 22,
With the boundless conceit that enlivened me then,
When I fancied I wielded a masterful pen;
When I thought that the things which I wrote were sublime,
And was sure that my fame must endure through all time—
When I proudly believed that my wisdom was deep,
And that genius was resting when I went to sleep.
Turn backward, O time, for tonight,
won't you please,
And let me be gladdened by youth's ecstasies?
Permit me to have the cocksureness of yore,
That I had when I strutted, a proud sophomore,
Believing I knew all a mortal might know,
And sure I was chosen to lead here below;
Oh, put all the doubts that perplex me
to sleep,
Give back the conceit I've neglected to keep.

—S. E. Kiser.

Funeral of Albert Clement

The last sad rites over the remains of Albert Clement were held on Thursday afternoon last at half past one o'clock from his late home on Main street; a large company was present of relatives and friends, and as the services were in charge of the Odd Fellows, sixty-five attended in a body and did escort duty from the house to Maplewood cemetery where their ritual service was read.

Rev. A. M. Markey of Bristol, a recent pastor of the Methodist church here, a close friend of the deceased and a Past Grand of Waverley Lodge of Odd Fellows, spoke words of consolation and comfort to the bereaved, and in a nice and fitting manner told of the many good qualities of the deceased. His remarks were appropriate and well received. The singing by a quartette of Odd Fellows was very nice and the selections befitting.

The remains rested in a beautiful purple casket, surrounded and covered by elegant and exquisite floral tributes, silently testifying to the esteem in which deceased was held by the people in this community.

The business places of the town showed respect by drawing their curtains during the hour of the funeral.

ALL THE GOOD QUALITIES of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is a wonderful remedy for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease.
Obstinate old cases have yielded in a few weeks. All druggists, 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

DEATH OF MORRIS CHRISTIE, M. D.

After a Lingerin Illness One of Antrim's Prominent Citizens Passes Peacefully Away

Dr. Morris Christie passed out from this life early Sunday morning after a lingering illness, having been in failing health for about two years; previous to which time he was one of the town's foremost citizens, and was considered a man of most excellent judgement and one whose advice was sought by many and whose business ability was the best. As a physician, he had an extensive practice, reaching into many of the adjoining towns, and had fairly won a leading position in his profession. In his earlier years he was influential and prominent in town affairs, and had filled several town offices with credit to himself and the town. He always took a prominent and active part in the Presbyterian church, was a liberal giver, and a worker in every good cause.

DR. MORRIS CHRISTIE

Dr. Christie was born August 29, 1832; was graduated in March, 1859, from the Medical Department of the University of New York, and was on the Medical and Surgical Staff of Charity Hospital, New York; he commenced practice in Antrim in May, 1860, and continued without interruption until ill health compelled him to retire.
He married Susan S. Hill of Johnson, Vt., July 22, 1863. They had one child, George W., born August, 1868, and died about 1888. The widow survives and has the sympathy of everyone in her affliction.

Funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from the Presbyterian church.

Road Hearing

A petition had been presented to the Board of Selectmen for a road to be laid out from the highway past the dam at the outlet of Gregg lake to the Thayer reservation, and on Saturday last a hearing to interested parties was given at the Selectmen's room.
Statements were made showing the need of and demand for the road, the number of different property owners to be accommodated thereby and the prospect of additional taxable property.
All who desired were heard in the matter, and after much discussion about the road, location, increased valuation, taxation, etc., by mutual consent the hearing was adjourned to Monday afternoon on the premises.

At about two o'clock a dozen men were on the spot, including members of the Clinton & South Village Water Company, members of the Board of Selectmen, owners of property desiring this accommodation, and a few others. The matter was gone over again with probably more intelligence—being on the ground—and everything pertaining to location and a few things that were not were talked about; after the interested ones had considered the matter to some extent, the hearing was adjourned.

The Selectmen have decided that for the benefit of the public and the accommodation of property owners there is need of this highway, and they will lay it out practically where the present old road now runs; the bridge necessarily will be widened and the lines straightened, and when completed a good and suitable highway will be the result.

GEORGE W. DODGE

Native of Antrim, Dies at Made- lia, Minn., His Home

Many of our older residents will remember this man when he lived in Antrim. We missed him when he left us years ago, and he will be missed in the town which has so long been his home.
George grew up among our granite hills and received his education in our schools of fifty years ago; and his life is a good example of what a young man can make of himself, when he tries in the right way. He was one of our boys who made a success of life and one whom we are proud to say was raised in Antrim. P.

The following death notice is taken from the Madelia, Minnesota, Times, of recent date, and is given place herewith. Mrs.
Delia Flanders of Antrim is a sister of the deceased; she had passed the winter with him and returned to her home here but a short time before his death:

The sudden death of George Washington Dodge last Tuesday afternoon came as a shock to the entire community for, although he had not left the house that day, owing to a touch of pneumonia, he had been well and attending to his business affairs until Monday night, in fact he had given directions to his men as late as 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

At about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning Mr. Dodge awoke and complained of a severe pain in his lungs and a physician was immediately called, and did what he could to relieve the pain. The doctor made another call later in the forenoon, and found that pleurisy had set in and that the lungs were rapidly becoming congested. He advised that the relatives be notified as the case was a serious one and the chances were that the end was not far off, although no one seemed to have any idea that death was so near at hand. In the afternoon, between 3:30 and 4 o'clock, an employe called at the house to inquire about the conduct of certain business matters and Mr. Dodge gave directions as usual. His mind was clear and his judgement sound; but a few minutes later he complained of more

GEORGE W. DODGE

severe pain and said that it was hard for him to breathe. He asked for another pillow under his head, then gave a gasp, and closed his eyes in death.

Deceased was one of the pioneers of this country, having lived in this vicinity for the past forty-five years. He was born at Antrim, New Hampshire, Nov.
17, 1845. In 1866 he came to Minnesota and took up a homestead in Antrim township, where on May 14th, 1868, he was married to Perilla A. Bradley, and six children were born to this union, all of whom, with their mother, survive, to mourn the loss of a fond father and devoted husband. The children are: John C. Dodge, Linzie A. Dodge, Edie May Morris, Ethel Edna Batcheller, Mabel Buckman and Hercules Dodge. Two sisters, Mrs. Proctor of Albany, N. Y.,

Junior Entertainment

The members of the Junior class of the Antrim High School gave a pleasing entertainment at the town hall on Friday evening of last week to a good sized audience. The program:

Piano—Miss Mae Harris.
Tableau, Reveries of a Bachelor.
Piano Duet—Miss Hazel Burnham and Miss Vera McClure.
Reading, Class Rush—Miss Waterman.
Kentucky Babe—Mixed Quartette.
Drill, Looking Backward.
Tableau, Bed-time.
Piano Duet—Miss Eleanor Stearns and Miss Miriam Perkins.
Dwarf's Dance.
Tableau, Washington Crossing the Delaware.
Drill, Good Night

Music was furnished by Appleton's orchestra; and at the close of the entertainment promenading was enjoyed.

All the numbers on the program were very well delivered and received and encores were numerous. The treasury of the junior class was increased as a result by the sum of about forty dollars.

William W. Boutelle

Of Rochester, N. Y., died Monday of this week at his home in that city, at the age of 63 years. He was well known in Antrim, having spent many years here, later going to Rochester where he was a successful manufacturer of apple parers. He had much interest in the old town of Antrim and not long since gave the sum of $500 to the James A. Tuttle library to be expended for books treating on electricity. He leaves a widow and two children, besides brothers and sisters, and relatives residing in Antrim.

Pay Off Some Town Debt

The common question during the past week: "Have you got your tax bill, and does it suit you?" Well, we think yes most everybody has received a tax bill; some express themselves freely and positively on the subject, while others say but little. The old saying is quite true that there are two things in this life that a man is sure—absolutely sure—of,
and they are death and taxes. It is hoped that all will wait until comparison of values can be made before the assessors are too severely criticised.

Posts For Sale

I have for sale a good lot of second growth hemlock and oak posts, all cut ready for use; and more may be cut if necessary. Oak cut 6 ft., Hemlock 7 ft. Price 15c each delivered.
Apply to Willard Manning, Antrim.

and Mrs. Flanders of Hillsboro, N. H., also survive him.

Mr. Dodge moved to Madelia in 1890, and has since that time been actively engaged in the live stock business, at which he has made a great success.

He had been a member of the Baptist church a good many years, and done a good deal for its support. The flowers were many, and beautiful, from friends far and near.

The funeral services at the Baptist church and the remains were laid to rest in the Riverside cemetery. As a mark of respect the shades on all business houses were drawn during the passage of the funeral procession. The sincere sympathy of the entire community goes on to the bereaved wife and children in th their hour of sorrow.

STANDARD MEASURES.

The Old Bucket and the Half Bushel Basket Were Alike.

Farmer Giles had heard rumors of the short weight scandal; but, as for himself, he was honest in thought, word and deed. He was naturally incensed when an apple buyer from the city objected to his half bushel measure.

"I've used that red bucket five years," he said, "and I know it's correct."

"A dozen years' use wouldn't affect its correctness," was the reply. "Have you any other reason for thinking it is correct?"

The farmer controlled his anger and after a moment's thought led his critic to the corner and showed him a basket woven from hickory splits. "That measure twice full fills this," he said. "And this holds exactly a bushel."

"How do you know it does?" "Because Bill Sullivan made it, as he makes baskets for everybody, and he said it was a bushel."

Still the man was not satisfied. They went to interview Bill.

"Why, of course," said the basket maker, "I weave every one of them of an exact size. I make only one pattern basket to hold a bushel."

"But how do you know the pattern holds a bushel?"

"How do I know? I'm sure of it. I made it originally to hold two of this half bushel basket."

"And this half bushel basket?" Bill frowned and pulled his hair in an effort to remember. Then his face brightened.

"Why, yes," he said, "I'm sure of it. I tried it one time. Giles, by that old red bucket measure of yours!" — Youth's Companion

The Way to Bake Beans.

To make baked beans soak one and one-half pints small white beans overnight in soft water. In the morning drain and parboil, but not enough to crush the beans. Place in the bottom of a bean pot several slices of bacon (salt or fresh pork), then put in about half the beans, over which sprinkle salt, a heaping spoonful of brown sugar or New Orleans molasses, then more slices of the bacon. Over this place the rest of the beans, with the salt, sugar or molasses and bacon on top. Cover with soft water and bake at least eight hours, though they are better if baked all day. Add soft water as needed.

The High Hatbox.

If you keep your hatbox on a high shelf in a closet you may find the following suggestion worth trying: Slit open the two upright edges of one side of the hatbox, so that when the cover is raised this side will drop down as if on hinges. This will allow you to remove or replace the hat without taking the box from the shelf. — Harper's.

His Sincerity.

"I wasn't. I happened to be present when he and his business partner shook dice to see which member of the firm should join." — Indianapolis Journal.

"He is building an immense artificial mountain on his country estate."

A Great Relief.

"Gee, ain't it a great relief when you've been suffering from a toothache to summon up your courage and go to a dentist and have it over with?"

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily!"

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case." A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill. Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills are different from others. Many kinds of liver pills are "impossible" after one trial on account of their harshness. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills do not act by sheer force but in an easy, natural way, without griping or undue irritation. They are not habit forming.

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Merston, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and rundown. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble it's supreme. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Antrim Pharmacy.

A man puts in his will those he wants to get his property, and maybe the lawyers let them, if there is no help for it.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HANCOCK

Memorial Day was observed by the ceremony of decorating the graves of the soldiers, led by Hancock cornet band, Geo. F. Peavey director.

The veterans present were Chas. M. Sheldon, Heber Davis, John Cronin, Charles Lee, Geo. W. Wilson.

The interior of the church was finely decorated, noticeable among the flowers was a large calla lily loaned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred M. Davis, members of the committee of arrangements.

Rev. F. Pearson, president of the day. Recitations, Master Simon Sheldon and Grace French.

The Pine and the Palm, Mason T. Whitaker, soloist; Mrs. Belle Cheney, soprano; Mrs. Emma Weston, alto; Arthur Pollard, bass.

The "soldiers" in the pageant were Mildred Pearson, Maude Ware, Lauretta Russell, Doris Hayward, Mary Coughlin, Ida Brunell, Edith Pearson color girl, Alma Cote, Eunice Loveren, Mildred Wheeler, Edna Chamberlain, Ethel Woodward, Alice Chamberlain. Simon Sheldon, grandson of Chas. M. Sheldon, who served throughout the war, unfurling a flag bearing the symbolic U. S. All carried flags and were led by Miss May Powers.

In the speaking exercise Bernard Davis represented Uncle Sam; Mary Manning, Columbia; Laura Harrington, The North; Hazel Davis, The South; Hayden Pearson, the Boy in Blue; Vernon Brunelle, Boy in Gray; James Carr, Tennessee Mountaineer; Marion Davis, Ethiopian. The dedication was well read by Mrs. Geo. Davis and the Eulogy of the Flag was most beautifully presented by Miss Mae Ware and drew tears to the eyes of many of the audience, indeed their silence and rapt attention was the best possible tribute to the whole exercise, which was original and prepared especially for the occasion.

The work of the committee was ably seconded by Nancy Weston, church organist, who is a grand-niece of Capt. Ephraim Weston and Capt. George Weston, a descendant of Geo. Holmes and Henry Gates who were at Bunker Hill and related to Gen. John F. Weston and Gen. Nelson G. Wiles of the Regular Army and who is a true-blue soldier herself.

The Oration by Rev. William Weston was worthy of the name and without flaw, except that he gave the impression that it was not the best element of society that filled the Union Army. This is strictly true, there were criminals there as in all walks of life, but the convict who gave his life for the Country stands today, equal to the best and greatest.

Rare, so Rare

This is the way they treat newspapers out in Kansas: Appreciating Editor Griffith's efforts to give them a good newspaper, the live merchants of Brinkman quietly got together, donated a lot, moved a building onto it and turned it over to him free of all incumbrance. It is seldom, indeed, that a country editor is rewarded in this substantial manner, but Brinkman merchants are wide awake, and their foresight in this matter will be repaid many fold.

It very likely is best that this is not done everywhere, for it might possibly disturb the newspaper's sense of independence.

GOLD FOR JEWELERS.

Most of the Raw Material is Bought From the Government.

Jewelers derive their gold supply from various sources, such as old jewelry, banks and refineries, but the greater part of the raw gold used by the manufacturer comes from the government.

From the refiner the gold comes to the factory in the form of buttons or granules. The refineries employ the waste of the jewelry shops and by burning off the material portions and subjecting the result to certain processes recover much gold that otherwise would be lost to the trade.

For many years there was a steady drain on the gold coin in circulation, caused by the use of the coin by jewelers in search of raw material. The fact that our government turned out a coin that after passing through the assay office was of twenty-two carat fineness, only two grains below the pure gold standard, and had also been worked over, the silver and copper forming the alloy having been mixed thoroughly in the gold before the coin was minted, made the gold coin particularly attractive to the jeweler. The manufacturer experienced no trouble when the gold coin was used, inasmuch as the alloy always had been combined with the metal, and all that was necessary for the commercial utilization of the coin was to alloy it sufficiently to bring the gold down to the point required; also, from the jeweler's viewpoint, a lot of time and difficulty was saved, inasmuch as this scheme did away with much bookkeeping and rendered unnecessary the trying up of considerable amounts of money in the purchase of raw material to be held as stock. Later, however, the government made up the pure gold in brick or bar form, and it is in that shape the greater bulk of the supply is now derived.

Thousands of dollars pass between the banks and the manufacturing jewelers every year in the forms of bars of gold, the banks handling these for the benefit of their clients. The bricks vary in value according to weight from $200 to $500 and come with the government assay office stamp as a guarantee of purity and fineness.—New York Press.

Prosaic.

They began their honeymoon trip in the day coach. "Darling," he murmured, "I can see the coils of love in your eyes." "They ain't coils, Jonathan," she said; "they're cinders."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

WOMEN HELPED

Disorders of women are the result of general bodily weakness. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a strength builder and for women it has proved of great value. Thousands testify to this. A sick woman almost always has kidney trouble, which causes pain in the back, headache, nervousness and other distressing symptoms. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helps the Kidneys and Liver to act properly, purifies the blood and gently moves the bowels, striking at the cause of Kidney, Liver, Blood and Bladder troubles. For over 35 years it has enjoyed steady and merited success, for it is a honest remedy and has stood the test of time. Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. Y. for a free sample bottle and valuable medical booklet. Large bottle $1.00 at all druggists.

[Special Correspondence]

The United States is almost to that postal Utopia, a one-cent sealed letter rate. For the first time in thirty years the post-office department is not only self-supporting, but is bringing a large revenue to the government. When we remember that only two years ago there was a deficit of more than seventeen millions of dollars and that there is now a surplus of three millions, involving a change of twenty millions, we can have some appreciation of what Postmaster General Hitchcock has accomplished. He can do much more if Congress will but second his efforts, and by the establishment of a parcels post 99 per cent of the people of the United States will be benefited and the federal government will turn what has heretofore been a losing business into one of great national profit. At the present time there is besides the three million dollars turned back to the Treasury, a full million in the national postoffice and unless the expenses during this month should prove extraordinary, the surplus will be still greater for the fiscal year. Let it not be forgotten that the present administration inherited a deficit of more than $17,500,000 dollars, the largest in the history of the postal service. This deficit was soon changed after Postmaster General Hitchcock took charge. In the past it always has been the custom for the government to set aside at least ten millions to meet the deficit of the general postoffice, but Mr. Hitchcock found that he would not have to use any part of the amount and sent it back to the Treasury. An accounting plan was adopted about a year ago, which insures the prompt deposit in the Treasury of postal funds not required for disbursement at postoffices, and to this reform in the financial system of the postoffice department the present much desired condition is in part indebted.

To be able to send a sealed letter for one cent will mean something to almost every man, woman and child in the country. To large business organizations which spend thousands of dollars yearly for postage stamps, it will mean a great saving, but it is not at all improbable that the government will make more through the one cent postage and its effect in largely increasing correspondence than under the old system. Now, let us have the parcels post. Of course there will be a swarm of lobbyists opposing it, headed by the Express companies and all who have stock in them, but 99 per cent of the people of the United States, while they may not now know it or foresee it, will be greatly benefited by the parcels post.

The Attorney General has stated that the Department of Justice in its effort to control all unlawful combinations in interstate trade, would bring criminal charges under the Sherman law against responsible persons. The Attorney General gave this information in his testimony before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice. He then declared that as a result of the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases decisions, juries will now be disposed to convict and judges to impose sentences under the penal provisions of the law. Representative Beall of Texas has asked the Attorney General why there had been so few criminal convictions under the Sherman anti-trust law. The Attorney General answered that in the past juries had shown a reluctance to convict and the courts to impose prison sentences. He attributed this to the uncertainty as to the import of the law, now made clear by the Supreme Court decisions.

The TROWBRIDGE CASE

A Lesson as to Circumstantial Evidence

By EDITH V. ROSS

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

The case of the state against Edith Trowbridge, a girl of twenty-two, had been tried before Judge Griffiths, and the evidence had proved her guilty beyond a doubt. The charge was grand larceny, though it was afterward changed to receiving stolen property. Some goods had been missed from a store. A woman was seen to take them and had been followed. She was tracked to an apartment house, where she was lost. Among others the apartments in which Miss Trowbridge lived was searched, and the articles—some lingerie—were found between the mattresses of her bed.

Miss Trowbridge had captured both judge and jury by her innocent and modest appearance, but the evidence was so strong against her that it was impossible for the twelve jurymen to acquit her. The judge gave her the lightest sentence the law would allow—two years in the penitentiary. But even so light a sentence was a horror to one who had been carefully reared and well educated. After it had been pronounced the prisoner, having been embraced by her mother, turned to George Whitcomb, to whom she was engaged to be married and on whose face were written horror and indignation.

"Cheer up, George!" she said. "You and I know that I am innocent. Two years will soon pass, and then we will be reunited."

"It's horrible!" was his only reply.

When Judge Griffiths left the courtroom at the end of a day's work he thrust from his mind, as was his custom, the scenes of the day. A happier scene to come took their place. In a few days would occur a birthday to his daughter, a girl just emerging from her teens, and her father was thinking of giving her a present of some article of jewelry. On his way home he stopped at Benkard's, the principal jeweler of the town. There he looked over various articles until his fancy was caught by a bracelet, a golden serpent with two ruby eyes. He asked the price, but found it to be greater than what he had laid out for his purpose. The salesman showed him others, which he examined approvingly, but always returned to the snake with the ruby eyes.

"I wish it," he said. "For my daughter, whose twentieth birthday comes around in a few days. But I'll not decide today. Perhaps I'll come in tomorrow."

When after Judge Griffiths' departure the clerk put away a dozen or more articles that he had been showing the judge he missed the bracelet. Frightened, he looked over every article on and in the case, thinking that he might have overlooked it, then on the floor to see if it had been dropped. The bracelet was not to be found.

One thing was certain—the bracelet had been taken. The salesman reported that while showing goods to an eminently respectable appearing gentleman a bracelet had been lost. A member of the firm questioned him closely, but got no further information than has been given here. The salesman had recently been given a position on trial. He was very anxious to make sales, and both he and his employer considered that his anxiety in this respect had momentarily diverted his attention from what every salesman must constantly be on the watch for—theft.

A week passed and nothing had been heard from the missing bracelet. Then one day an anonymous note in an evidently disguised hand was received at Benkard's. It was as follows:

"On Wednesday, the 7th of June last, I was in your store looking at some jewelry. I stood near a case at which a gentleman was examining different articles. I saw a lady standing at the same case. She picked up several articles, looked at them, examined the tags attached to them and put them down. While the salesman was intent on his customer she took up a bracelet, held it in both hands and examined it closely. She wore loose flowing sleeves, and while the salesman was examining the tag on a brooch for the purpose of learning its price she dropped the bracelet into one of her sleeves."

"The young lady was evidently not a common thief. At any rate, she was handsomely dressed. Curiosity led me to discover whom she was and what her object might be in stealing the bracelet. She went directly from the store, hurrying as soon as she reached the door. I followed her and saw her get on a trolley car. I boarded the car myself and left it when the thief left it. Passing off the main street, she turned into a residential avenue, stopped at a stone front dwelling and entered with a latchkey.

"The adventure interested me, and I took pains to investigate as to who lived in the house. I learned that it was the residence of a prominent citizen. Describing the girl thief to those who were familiar with the family, I was told that I had described his only daughter.

"I found myself in an unpleasant position. To accuse a young lady, the daughter of a respectable and influential man, of theft without corroborative evidence would be out of the question. To permit a theft without reporting it would be a violation of the duties of citizenship. After much thought I hit upon the following plan: I gave the facts to a detective agency and asked that it endeavor to put a man in the house with a view to making a search for the stolen property. It gave one of its best men the job, and by watching the house for some time he finally found the premises left in the care of a servant. Entering surreptitiously, he searched a room which he had taken pains to learn was the bedroom of the young lady I had seen at your store. He found the bracelet between the mattresses of her bed.

"Feeling that I have done even more than my duty, I leave the matter in your hands. If you will get out a warrant and search the second story back bedroom of 32 Warren street you will find your bracelet. At any rate, the detective saw it there less than an hour ago."

While Judge Griffiths was sitting on the bench—he had just pronounced sentence on a criminal—a burly call came over the telephone for him to come home at once. He immediately adjourned the court and, calling a cab, drove to his residence. Hastily entering, he found his family in a most distressing situation. The house was in the hands of officers of the law, who had in their possession the identical ruby eyed bracelet he had thought of buying for his daughter's birthday present. It had been found between the mattresses of her bed.

That some of the constables recognized a judge of the criminal court did not absolve them from doing their duty. Miss Griffiths was taken by them in a carriage to court, her father accompanying her, where a charge of larceny was made against her. Her father gave bail for her appearance for trial, and she returned with him to their home.

A mystery loomed up before Judge Griffiths. Not for a moment did he suspect that his daughter was guilty of theft. What puzzled him was that he had examined this very bracelet with a view to buying it. He was sure that he could not have taken it from the store by mistake. And if he had done so how could it have come between the mattresses of his daughter's bed? But the mystery was nothing to the terror with which the incident inspired the judge. Without an explanation his daughter must be tried, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary. On just such evidence he had sentenced hundreds of criminals.

He went at once to Benkard's and was closeted with the head of the firm.

On hearing the judge's errand, Mr. Benkard told him of the anonymous letter he had received and showed him another that had just come in apparently from a different person, authorizing him to say to Judge Griffiths that it would be to his advantage to recommend to the governor of the state that a pardon be granted to Edith Trowbridge, whom he had sentenced to serve two years in state prison. This was all the information received on the subject, except that Benkard had recovered his lost property by acting on the advice of his first correspondent.

For the first time the judge recalled the Trowbridge case. It was plain that some one interested in that case had planned an ingenious method of placing his daughter in the same position as that occupied by the girl he had sentenced. Furthermore, he saw at once that the scheme had been so adroitly managed that there was little hope of exposing the perpetrators.

Whether the scheme had been worked in the interest of an innocent or guilty person the judge did not know. He had no evidence to prove that a scheme had been worked at all that could be satisfactorily presented to a court. He went at once to the governor of the state and laid the case before him. The governor yielded to his solicitations and issued a pardon for Edith Trowbridge.

As soon as Miss Trowbridge was free Judge Griffiths received word that the person who had worked up the case against his daughter would explain on a promise of immunity. The judge, glad to remove the obliquity that rested upon his child, acceded to the terms and soon after received a visit from George Whitcomb, who said to him:

"You convicted an innocent girl on circumstantial evidence. After the trial I saw you walk up the street and enter a jewelry store. I went in after you, stood beside you at the counter, saw you look at the bracelet and heard all you said. When the clerk's back was turned and you were intent upon another article I saw an opportunity to steal the bracelet. To do so and make a plan for laying the theft at your door occurred to me. At the risk of you or some other criminal judge sending me where you sent Miss Trowbridge I slipped the bracelet into my sleeve.

"My object thus far was revenge upon you for sending an innocent girl, the girl I loved, to state prison. Then it occurred to me that my case would be stronger and my revenge greater if I could fix it on your daughter. A third idea was to show you the fallibility of circumstantial evidence, and, lastly, I saw an opportunity to compel you to use your influence to secure the release of the girl you had wrongfully sent to prison.

"I wrote the note to Benkard & Co. and employed a detective to steal into your house and place the bracelet between the mattresses of your daughter's bed."

When the marriage between George Whitcomb and Edith Trowbridge took place a handsome wedding present was received from Judge Griffiths.

FEES FOR ITS FLASHES.

San Salvador Uses a Live Volcano as a Lighthouse.

The republic of San Salvador is the only government on earth that collects lighthouse fees on account of a volcano that it owns and without the slightest cost of upkeep.

The volcanic beacon is about eight miles inland from the port of Acajutla, and its pillar of cloud by day and its fire sky by night are visible for many miles out at sea. It bursts forth every seven minutes and is just as accurate as any revolving light that warns mariners of danger in any part of the world.

This volcano has been keeping up this seven minute series of eruptions even since any one can remember. It is a favorite amusement of visitors to sit by the hour during the lazy afternoons and, watch in hand, to time the eruptions till they tire of the occupation and fall asleep. No one has ever caught the volcano napping, however.

Every vessel that puts in at Acajutla has to pay its lighthouse fee. There is no other lighthouse than the volcano, but that is a sufficient excuse for the government of Salvador to make a charge for its services. The explosions that accompany the eruptions sound like detonations of heavy charge of dynamite, but fortunately they are not sufficient to shake the ground perceptibly more than about a mile or two from the summit of the crater.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Fountain at the Corner.

Beranger is best known for his bacchanalian songs. One night he was at supper with Dumas the elder. The younger Dumas, who was present, was passing through his college course and at that period was exhibiting those characteristics which unfortunately developed in later life. Noticing that Beranger had drunk only water, he somewhat indiscreetly asked, "Where do you obtain, M. Beranger, all the wine which we find in your songs?"

The poet's reply was, "From the fountain at the corner, my boy, and you would do well to make that the source of your inspiration."

The name FLORENCE on an Oil Stove means BEST

The above is the only perfect Oil Stove there is made. It has no wicks, no valves, and is odorless. Not having any valves it is perfectly safe for anyone to run, as it is impossible to have an accident. It is perfectly safe to have where children are as they cannot by any chance cause any flaming up from the burners.

We would be pleased to have you write us for prices and further information. We would be glad to send you one with the privilege of using it for a week and if you are not more than satisfied, you can return it at our expense and we will refund the money.
