If You Would Win

Make up your mind that you will win!
This key will open many doors;
Be sure that you aright begin,
If you would claim success as yours.

The soul o'ershadowed with dark fears,
And ever given o'er to doubt,
Will find, when he has toiled for years,
From the wrong port he started out.

He who is quite content to do
The work that others to him bring,
Nor seeks each day for something new
Seldom amounts to anything.

Be not forevermore content
With things as they have always been;
He who the new can plan, invent,
Will shine among his fellow men.

To purpose high and power that holds
Add strength of body and of brain;
Life's mystery then to you unfolds
And proves you have not lived in vain.

—Thomas F. Porter.

At the Board of Trade

Meeting held on Monday evening at the Selectmen's room in town hall block, it being the regular monthly meeting, a good attendance was present and much interest was manifest.

In addition to routine business, it was decided that at the next meeting of this organization a debate would be held and that the question "Is the summer boarder of more benefit to the town than additional manufacturing?" shall be discussed; the four disputants will be Richard C. Goodell, Benjamin Tenuey, affirmative; Fred C. Parmenter, D. W. Cooley, negative.

This meeting will be open to the public and the ladies especially will be invited, and it is hoped a large attendance will be present as it will be held in the town hall. This will be a questionably handled and one of great interest to every resident of our town; much can and will be said upon it, which discussion may prove beneficial in many ways. Let all show their interest in the Board of Trade and the question to be discussed by their presence.

Will Survey for Sewer

A. W. Dudley, civil engineer, with much experience and knowledge of water works and sewerage systems, is in town this week surveying for the prospective sewerage system. At the annual meeting of the South Antrim Village Fire Precinct last March, it was voted that the water commissioners have this survey made and make their report of the same at the next annual meeting. With considerable interest the report will be awaited by many of the people within the Precinct.

Auction Sale

By W. E. Cram, Auctioneer, Antrim.

A lot of thoroughbred poultry, 100 pullets and 25 cockerels, the property of O. E. Kendall, will be sold at public auction, at the Baptist Horse Sheds, in Antrim village, on Saturday, Nov. 25, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon; in addition a small lot of personal property. See posters.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

OUR CONCORD LETTER

Prepared for the Reporter Readers, Concerning Matters of General Interest

Concord, N. H., Nov. 20.—Governor Bass occupied today for the winter the residence, which he has leased, of the late E. B. Woodworth, on School Street, in this city, and he expects to spend a large part of his time for the next few months in the executive offices at the State House. His first official engagement here is to speak at the banquet on Thursday which will follow the formal exercises of dedication of the magnificent building which Edward Tuck of Paris and Exeter has given as a home to the New Hampshire Historical Society. This is one of the great events of the year in the capital city and the oration by Congressman Samuel W. McCall is expected to be a historic document of importance. This building is a great addition to Concord's famous "civic center" which includes, also, the State House, State Library, Federal Building, City Hall, Unitarian and Episcopal churches, opera house, Eagle Hotel, etc. And there is a persistent rumor that a wealthy citizen of Concord will still farther add to this array of fine structures a building to house our city public library.

On Saturday Governor Bass headed a delegation of two hundred people from Concord to the Dartmouth-Harvard football game in the Cambridge, Mass., stadium.

Harry A. Gregg was named as police commissioner of Nashua, to succeed James B. Crowley, and Burleigh Roberts was nominated as special justice of the Lancaster police court. Governor Bass again submitted to the council the nomination of William B. Rotch of Milford as insurance commissioner and it was rejected by the same three to two vote as at a previous meeting. Since then the sudden death of Insurance Commissioner Adams has altered the aspect of affairs.

The Governor has appointed Arthur W. Dudley and H. E. Slayton of Manchester, Harry C. Hill of Concord and R. W. Barrett of Cornish as delegates to the American Roads Congress to be held at Richmond, Va. Henry M. Baker and George L. Whitford have been appointed delegates to the Rivers and Harbors congress at Washington early next month.

The public service commission gave a number of hearings during the week, of which the most important, perhaps, certainly the one that drew the largest attendance, was that on a petition asking for the restoration of a train over the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad which for 67 years had given the people of Dover, Exeter and other places a chance to get into Boston at 8 in the morning. Attorney General Eastman of Exeter, former Speaker Scott and former Railroad Commissioner Whittemore of Dover, and other leaders of that section of the state, were heard in favor of the petition and the commission notified the railroad authorities that they would recommend the restoration of the train to the schedule.

A dozen fatal accident cases were investigated by the commission last week and orders issued granting the following petition:

Seabrook & Hampton Beach railway company, permission to discontinue the operation of a portion of its line east of Whittier's Siding until April 1, 1912.

Exeter & Hampton electric company permission to engage in business in the town of Kingston. Plaistow Electric Light and Power company permission to construct plant and necessary apparatus for the purpose of furnishing light and power in the town of Plaistow, and further permission to issue fifteen hundred dollars capital stock.

Keene Gas and Electric Company to acquire $70,000 of the common stock and $70,000 of the 5 per cent preferred stock of the Ashuelot Gas and Electric Company, approving the lease of the Ashuelot Gas and Electric Company to the Keene Gas and Electric Company and granting permission to said Ashuelot Company to engage in the business of supplying electricity to the public in the towns of Marlborough, Swanzey and Winchester.

H. C. Pearson.

The publishers of Old Farmer's Almanac, William Ware & Co., of Boston, have our thanks for a copy of "Robert B. Thomas" for 1912. It contains the usual amount of valuable information for the farmer and all others.

Horace B. Tuttle

Who has been in poor health for some time past and for several weeks very feeble, gradually failing, died on Thursday last at his home in the east part of the town where he had resided for a long term of years. He was born in Antrim, March 1, 1842, and always resided here; was one of the strong characters of the town and highly respected. Had served the town as one of her selectmen and was always interested in everything that was for its best welfare.

A lifelong attendant at the Presbyterian church, for many years an active member, he was an honored and revered member of the Session, among the remaining brothers of which he will be greatly missed.

Deceased was twice married, his first wife being Martha J. Shattuck and to whom was born one son, Otis H., a resident of Fall River, Mass.; his second marriage was to Emily M. Pike of Antrim, who survives him, as does also one son, Edson, who resides at home. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the afflicted family, for they have lost a kind and loving husband and father.

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Rev. Duncan Salmond officiating. Interment was in Maplewood cemetery.

Help Your Own Town

The way to build up a community is for every person in it, who can, to put some money into industries that give the people employment and push the industries to success. Industries that last all the year round are the best; but those that last part of the year are better than none. The most valuable power on earth is human power, but when it is not employed it is not only lost but it also consumes part of what others earn. Work creates wealth; work sets money in motion; work pays debts; work is the vital in prosperity; and that city, that community, and that nation whose people are idle, are poor, and poor in proportion to the number that work and the time they work. Heaven's greatest earthly blessing to any people is to give them honest, remunerative work.—Carroll County Pioneer.

This is most excellent logic; and how often in towns—not only our town—is this very thing noticed. Some young man or small business may need a little help, and if procured this same business might grow to such proportions that the results would surprise even the founder himself. To help build up business in a town is worth many times more than the five or six per cent interest one expects for the use of his money. In towns that are forging ahead and making themselves prosperous and influential, the secret oftentimes lies in this very channel.—building up small businesses and assisting the young men with limited means to do much more business than he otherwise could do.

The "Frisbee" idea of "Advertising Day" for New Hampshire is a good one, but instead of the date being Nov. 27, it should have been set forward at least three months; then necessary preparations could have been made, and much good might have resulted. However, about every newspaper makes each publication day "Advertising Day," and there is hardly a week passes but the "little weekly" has something nice to say of its respective town, and there is nothing or no one who booms the town more.

It is about time you started in on that holiday advertising. If it is to be a circular, let the REPORTER office have the copy early that you may get the job in good season, and if it is display or local newspaper advertising it is not wise to wait too long. Only four short weeks and Christmas with all its "hustle and bustle" will be with us.

Edson C. Eastman, Concord, N. H., publisher of Leavitt's Farmers Almanac, has favored us with a 1912 copy of this publication. Its friends will find it up to the regular issues and that it contains the usual features. Our thanks for same.

Hon. Franklin Worcester of Hollis is being mentioned among the gubernatorial candidates for 1912. He is said to be a pioneer progressive Republican, and above all a very able man.

A Fair Offer

Your Money Back if You're not Satisfied

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair for you?

A most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless, and tasteless; very pronounced, yet gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Antrim only at our store. 12 tablets 10 cents; 36 tablets 25 cents; 80 tablets 50 cents. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store.

"East Lynne" for Benefit of W. R. C.

One of the plays that always attracts is the emotional drama in five acts, "East Lynne," which is to be put upon the stage at town hall, Antrim, Nov. 24, for the benefit of Ephraim Weston Woman's Relief Corps, headed and managed by the professional actress Rose Ethel (Mrs. A. J. Lapoint) with a select cast of local talent. Much preparation has been put into this play and it will surely be given in a professional manner, probably surpassing any of the local dramas given here in a long time. The advanced sale of tickets will be large and to ensure good seats you should purchase your tickets early as they are now on sale at Antrim Pharmacy. For particulars read posters, also flyers which will be distributed later.

The sale will include many fancy articles suitable for Christmas gifts.

Public Reception

A public reception will be given by Rev. O. E. Kendall and Mrs. Kendall, by their people, Monday evening, Nov. 27, at 8 o'clock, in the parlors of the Baptist church. All are invited to attend.

"I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis," writes Mrs. L. B. White of Deaver, Colo. "We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief."

Sold by all druggists.

"I understand that young John has $1000 saved up."

"Maybe we could interest him in our scheme."

"I fear not. He is already interested in a scheme. He's going to be married."—Louisville Courier.

"I do not believe there is another medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Lewiston, City, Ore. This remedy is unsurpassed for colds and croup.

For sale by all druggists.

KEPT ABOVE GROUND.

Ingenious Way Major Hook Evaded the Terms of a Will. Among ingenious ways of evading a will the plan followed by Major Hook and recorded in "Ancient, Curious and Famous Wills" may be commended: A county newspaper some years ago recorded the death of a Major Hook and spoke of him as "a singular character." "He died," says the report, "on Monday senlught at his house, Ham street, Ham common. He was an officer in the East India company's service and reached the age of seventy-five. His house was remarkable for its dingy and dilapidated condition." His wife had become entitled to a life annuity, bequeathed to her in these ambiguous terms: "And the same shall be paid to her as long as she is above ground." When, therefore, the good lady died her husband very naturally objected to forfeit his income by putting her below ground and ingeniously devised a mode of keeping her in a room which he allotted "to her sole and separate use," placing a glass case over her remains. For thirty years he thus prolonged his enjoyment, if not of his wife's society, at least of her income.

Da Vinci's Writings. Although Leonardo da Vinci was a voluminous writer, he never published a single line during his lifetime. After the master's death in France his manuscripts were taken back to Italy. His heirs proved unworthy, and the precious writings were gradually dispersed. Loose pages were often detached and were either given away as relics or stolen. No attempt was made to publish any of his treatises, except that on painting, for more than 300 years after his death. This was partly owing to the great difficulty of deciphering his handwriting. Da Vinci was left handed and always wrote in oriental fashion, from right to left. Besides this, his orthography is peculiar to himself. He abbreviates some words and joins others together and employs neither stops nor accents.—London Chronicle.

Monkeys Are Fighters. "Most persons will guess lions or tigers are the most dangerous animals to train," said an animal trainer, "but they're wrong. Give a lion one good licking and he'll remember it. He hits back only when his man is down or has his back turned, but a monkey will fight against any odds, and you never can tell when he'll hit back. Even a medium small monkey can strike a blow that will reach through a coat, vest and two shirts, and he leaves a nasty wound. The most daring thing I ever did was to go into a monkey cage and take a baby from its mother. The ordinary house cat is the most stubborn animal under training, but the monk is the most dangerous if you work the larger kinds."—New York Sun.

Mildly Censuring Him. "My goodness," she says, with a pretty scowl, "I think a girl would feel dreadfully foolish if she proposed to a man." "I should think so, too," replies the droll man.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. CONSTIPATION yields quickly and gently under the soothing influence of JERICHO LEAVES

Nature's wonderful gift—a perfect laxative. The most remarkable of all natural phenomena is this Shrub Leaf from the Holy Land. Scientists of today, with the accumulated knowledge of 4,000 years to guide them, have not been able to manufacture a harmless laxative which relieves, stimulates and cures as Jericho Leaves do. More effective than drugs or manufactured nostrums, Jericho Leaves are palatable, pure and harmless as ripe fruit. They cleanse the system thoroughly and in the gentlest way possible. Instead of irritating the delicate intestinal membranes as drugs are apt to do, they soothe these delicate tissues and stimulate all the life-giving organs.

This wonderful nature remedy was introduced into the Holy Land by Arabian physicians more than a thousand years ago and is in universal use in that historic country today. To the use of these leaves as a laxative and regulator is due the extreme age of those ancient people. They grow only in the Holy Land adjacent to the River Jordan, on shrubs, are carefully gathered, sun dried and reach you in the natural, or purely vegetable state. Taste good. A good Plain cloth sack delivered on receipt of 30 cents coin, stamps or money-order. Money back if not satisfactory. Obtainable in the U.S. by mail only. Mention this paper and order now. Not Fair to Parties Concerned

The Sunday Post representative was in town on Wednesday last and after getting together some few facts in regard to our honored townsman, Ex Gov. D. H. Goodell and his most estimable wife, had published in his paper an article which for accuracy and facts was very far from the existing conditions as they are. We fail to see how even a stranger could put together an article which would convey such an impression upon the reading public as the article referred to. Enterprise is a thing to be admired but this kind is not the kind that helps an individual, his business or the town.

A Bald-Headed Woman

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Antrim, there are hundreds of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store.

Please have in mind the Senior class play which will be presented sometime next month.

If the present rate of "exams" continue, recitations will soon be as scarce as "exams" used to be.

The Junior class deserves great credit for choosing such a class play. The significant figures [13] are what "queer" it.

With this "three bells" arrangement, you can't tell whether you're coming or going, but it generally "gets you going."

Next week Wednesday night, the Milford high play the Antrim H. S. For the past two years Antrim has defeated Milford by rather close scores, and it is hoped they will continue the good work. It is hoped by the management that a good attendance be present and cheer for the A. H. S. It is this enthusiasm and interest that helps the players to do their best.

On last Friday night the High school five defeated the evening school five by the close score of 11 to 12. The sides were very evenly matched except perhaps that the High school had developed considerable better team work:

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement. Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

A Royalist Woman's Wiles Caused the Annihilation of the City and Saved Portsmouth, N. H., For Which Portland's Fate Had Been Planned.

One of the causes of the Revolutionary war, and quite as important a one as the stamp act, was the wanton destruction of the city of Portland, Me., then part of the town of Falmouth.

It was said that the patriots might have forgiven Lexington and Concord, but that the razing of this town, which had been peaceably inclined until then, incensed the colonies beyond measure. One prompt result was the immediate formation of a Maine regiment which was added to the meager forces of the Continental army.

Not so generally known, however, is the tradition that it was due to the fascinations of a beautiful woman that Portland was destroyed and another town preserved.

When the British commander, Captain Mowatt, on board his flagship, the Canceau, anchored with his fleet in Portland's inner harbor, he did not reveal to her citizens that the unscrupulous little god of love had been his pilot. Instead, on a bright October morning in 1775, he ran up the royal ensign on his fleet and at 9 o'clock began a bombardment that lasted uninterrupted until 6 o'clock at night. Portland was unprepared for such a visitation, and there was no attempt at defense, the inhabitants simply swarming the streets with their ox carts and horses and attempting to seek safety by flight to the open country back from the water front.

So close did the assailing vessels approach that under cover of the bombardment they landed sailors who pervaded the town, setting fire to such buildings as had escaped damage from hot shot and exploding bombs. Before Captain Mowatt had completed the sacrifice he desired to lay before love's shrine three-quarters of the town was totally destroyed, including the municipal buildings, churches, public library, fire engine houses, warehouses, wharfs and shipping.

All that he left was a handful of the poorer hovels, every residence of importance being bombarded or set on fire and 5,000 inhabitants left shelterless at the approach of winter. To make it practically certain that aid could not come to the seaport by water he destroyed all but one wharf and took with him on his departure all the vessels anchored in the harbor that had been spared from the torch.

Truly he had a glorious bonfire and in explanation he exhibited instructions which read: "Come opposite the town with all possible expedition, and there burn, sink and destroy," but the gossips of the time said that these orders originally related to Portsmouth, N. H., and that it was due to a woman that they were not carried out as written.

Captain Mowatt and his fleet had anchored off Portsmouth harbor some time previously to his assault upon Portland, and while there he had gone quietly on shore and secretly visited the family of the royalist or Tory, as the colonists called them, a daughter, a girl of eighteen, famed the country round for her beauty as her father was famed for his obnoxious loyalty to King George, and when the sailor captain saw her he proved an easy conquest like most sailors where pretty women are concerned, and he found it necessary to be rowed from his ship many times in order to spend the evenings with attractive Mary Sparhawk.

Her wit, beauty and brilliancy of conversation fascinated him, and through her influence, it is said, the intention of bombarding Portsmouth was abandoned, and Portland suffered in the stead of the town which had the charming little loyalist.

So what one historian termed "a wanton, indefensible assault upon an undefended and peaceful city" came about through a woman's smile, and every volley from the fifty guns of Mowatt's fleet doubtless carried his thoughts back to the lass who had won his heart. The smoldering wharfs and the flaming houses were his burnt offering to his ladylove.

The Sparhawk house, where the captain lost his heart still stands; but, alas, the romance ended as so many romances do, for after the Revolution was over the fair and fascinating belle married a physician and a patriot.—Detroit Free Press.

Diplomacy. Mrs. A.—That cook was awful, and I am glad she's gone. Mrs. B.—Did you discharge her? Mrs. A.—Oh, no; I wished to avoid a scene. What if I did was flatter her so about her cooking that she thought she was underpaid and left.—Boston Transcript.

STRIPPED THE LOUVRE.

Restitution of Works of Art After Napoleon's Downfall.

The Louvre has known a still blacker day than that on which "La Gioconda" was abstracted. This was Sept. 23, 1815, when formal restitution had to be made of the pictures looted during the conquests of Napoleon. Commissioners attended from fourteen different states. The lion's share was obtained, curiously enough, by the representative of Cassel, who recovered no fewer than 421 pictures. Austria recovered 323, Spain 284, Holland 210 and Prussia 119. Altogether 2,065 pictures were removed, together with a number of statues, bas-reliefs, bronzes, wood carvings, cameos and enamels.

Sir Walter Scott in his "Life of Napoleon" gives a graphic account of the removal of the masterpieces, which were being frantically copied by enthusiastic students until the last moment before their departure. Thanks to the exertions of Baron Denon, who was then director of the Louvre, a certain number of stolen pictures were retained, among these being the finest example of Paolo Veronese extant, "The Marriage at Cana." The gallery, however, was left with only 270 pictures and remained closed until the vacant spaces had been filled, mainly with the works of French artists.—Pall Mall Gazette.

TRESPASSING IN ENGLAND.

If No Damage Is Done Intruders Need Have No Fear.

Many timid pedestrians in rural England are frightened away from inviting fields by the notice "Trespassers Will Be Prosecuted." They need have no fear, says an English exchange.

As the law stands any trespasser who does the smallest damage—injures a fence, breaks a small branch, etc.—can be summoned before a magistrate and fined. But if he does no damage the landlord must bring an action at law and get an injunction. This costs a lot of money, and unless the trespasser is a man of means the landlord won't bring his action at law. All he can do otherwise is to ask you to get out. If you go peacefully you can return an hour later and repeat the visit as often as you wish. Nothing can be done beyond asking you to leave again. But if you resist then sufficient force can be used, and if you show fight you may be legally knocked down, your legs tied and your self bundled on to the road.

The landlord may, however, play some tricks on you. He can saw a bridge crossing a stream, so that you will get a ducking; he can dig a pit for you to fall into, and he can so fix the stile you are likely to cross that you will break it, and then he can have you up before the magistrate. If you don't commit any damage, however, you can trespass to your heart's content.

A Business Suggestion. Bobby had worn his mother's patience to the limit.

"You are a perfect little beathen!" she remarked, giving way at last.

"Do you mean it?" demanded Bobby.

"I do indeed," said his mother.

"Then, say, ma," said Bobby, "why can't I keep that 10 cents a week you give me for the Sunday school collection? I guess I'm as hard up as any of the rest of 'em."—Harper's Weekly.

Vicious Candy. A group of children were playing in a gutter. A passerby walked slowly, watching the active preparations of a "little mother" aged about seven, who was marshaling her charges into order, apparently in preparation for some urban excursion. Something had gone wrong, and one small kid was howling.

"Shut your noise, Tommy Higgins, and be good this minute!" admonished the mother, with a promissory smack. "If you don't stop like I tell you I'll leave you right here in the mud gutter. You can't go with us till you close your noise and be a good boy. Do you know where we're going? Well, we're going in the next block to the candy factory to smell the candies cooking. And do you yer know what they're making today? Well, it's chocolate cream and peppermint."—New York Press.

He Saw Them. "Did you see any sharks when you crossed the ocean, Mr Spirkins?" asked Miss Purling.

"Yes," replied Spirkins sadly; "I played cards with a couple."

The sting of a reproach is the truth of it.

Stock-holders Meeting

At the second annual meeting of the stock-holders of the Antrim Creamery Corporation, which was postponed to Saturday evening, Nov. 11, a good number of the stock-holders were present and considerable interest was manifested.

The treasurer's report showed a slight increase in the amount of butter made over the first year, all bills paid, and a balance of $132.00 in the treasury. Ways and means were discussed in regard to still further increasing the business. The corporation has a large and commodious building, well equipped for butter making and considerable room not needed for that purpose. This is an enterprise that every farmer and business man in this vicinity should be interested in, and only needs their co-operation and support to make it more of a success financially and otherwise. Ex-Gov. D. H. Goodell was appointed to investigate and find out the cost of installing machinery for canning corn, fruit, etc., and report at an early date. The following officers were elected for the coming year:

Frank E. Bass, Pres.
John E. Tenney, Vice Pres.
W. W. Merrill, Clerk and Treas.
Directors: George F. Perry, Frank E. Bass, Duane B. Dunham, John E. Tenney, Ira P. Hutchinsou, William E. Gibney, Warren W. Merrill, Richard C. Goodell.
