The Foundation Of Town Hall All Right in Every Particular

This is the report of an expert, Charles S. Piper, of Concord, a builder of large experience, who was here Tuesday to look the building over with the Selectmen; this was done in accord with the vote passed at the last annual meeting.

The expert stated that the foundation he found to be in perfect condition, and the repairs necessary to put the roof and other places in proper shape to be comparatively small. His report in detail will be submitted to the Selectmen later, when they will issue it as a part of their annual report to the citizens of the town.

A Nice Thing

"Sail From Boston—But First See New England" is the title of a very attractive folder just issued by the New England Lines for the purpose of making better known to the people of New England, the middle west and the Provinces the advantages of Boston as a port of departure for trans Atlantic travelers.

The folder tells why you should sail from Boston; why Boston is the logical as well as the most delightful port of departure for those who are planning to go abroad.

It also sets forth the wonderful fascination of a journey across New England to Boston. It pictures the loveliness of New England lakes, mountains, countryside and sea coast as you see them from the car window on the way to Boston.

It is full of information about the Boston steamship lines. It gives the sailing schedules of these lines and contains an excellent map in colors of the routes.

Much stress is laid on the fact that time is saved by sailing from or to Boston, that Boston is 190 miles nearer Europe than other great American cities. Thus the traveler saves nearly 12 hours time. That means a good deal if you are in a hurry to get to Europe or don't like the sea.

Copies of this folder may be obtained by addressing Room 574, South Station, Boston, Mass.

W. R. C. Notes

Mrs. Lizzie Elkins of Exeter, past Department President, will install our officers at the next regular meeting, Friday, Jan. 17. The G. A. R. is invited to meet with us.

At our last meeting, although it was a bad night, there was a large attendance and a good time enjoyed. At the close of the meeting past president Hattie McClure in her usual pleasing manner presented two young members, who have changed their names during the past year, with pieces of china and silver. Refreshments were served.

Fannie Hutchinson, P. C.

A Card

I desire to thank all my friends for their expressed sympathy since my recent accident; and especially for the post card shower of Christmas day when the weather was so quiet. I received a lot of well-wishers. Andrew Coffey.

THE POULTRY SHOW

Of Last Week Best Exhibition Antrim Has Ever Held

Not as large an exhibition, regarding numbers, as in previous years, but very much better in quality. This is proven from the fact that in this latter exhibition of about three hundred birds, there were only three disqualified, while in the first exhibition held of upwards of five hundred birds there was a very large number disqualified. This goes to prove what a great benefit these annual exhibitions have been to the poultry breeders and raisers in Antrim and vicinity; if a benefit to the exhibitors, it is therefore a benefit indirectly to those who do not exhibit and all who keep even a small flock of hens for family use.

This leads us to state that in view of the benefits derived, a much greater interest should be manifest both in becoming members of the association and in the attendance during the exhibition. Necessarily the work of carrying on a poultry association and exhibition devolves upon a few, and consequently it would seem that more ought to help than what do, thereby making so worthy a cause an annual event and certain to bring to our town lasting benefits.

Herewith is given the list of cup winners and awards as made up at the show, after the returns were made by the judges, Charles S. Flanders of Concord and J. Fred Watson of Nashua:

GOV. SAMUEL D. FELKER

Made Such by the Legislature Last Thursday Evening

For many years there has not been as much speculation in what the Legislature would do in its organization and election of Governor as this year, probably because all members had an idea they would do exactly as they thought best when the time arrived, regardless of whatever influences might be brought to bear upon them. It is true the result is somewhat different than we had thought it would be, yet when it is considered that the man selected Governor received the largest number of votes at the November election, and in addition the people voted in favor of the plurality amendment, it appears somewhat different, and possibly these representatives in the Legislature did exactly as the majority of the people would have them do.

The first business of importance was in the organization of the House, when after many ballots and no choice the first day's work came to a close; the second day opened with the same work in hand and after balloting, William J. Britton, a Progressive, of Wolfboro, was elected. Late the same day, Samuel D. Felker of Rochester, Democrat, was elected Governor and took his oath of office at 10 o'clock that evening. Other business was the electing of members of the Council and Senators, where there was no choice by vote, with the result that Democrats were seated, and Enos K. Sawyer, Democrat, of Franklin, was elected President of the Senate. This is the first time in thirty-eight years that the Granite State has been so absolutely in control of the Democratic party.

While there was said to have been a trade, the Progressives flatly deny any such accusation; they admit an arrangement with the Democrats in organizing the House, but regarding the election of a Governor there was nothing like a trade and every man voted as he desired.

There yet remains some important matters to be attended to, including the election of United States Senator, voting upon which will begin on January 15. The Republicans secured clerkships, and sergeant-at-arms, with a possibility of other officers a bit later, in the completion of the necessary organization and state officer. After these matters are all disposed of the regular work of the session will be pushed forward with about the usual speed, and fair progress is looked for.

All of the forty defendants, except two, were found guilty by the "dynamite" jury at Indianapolis. All those adjudged guilty were found guilty on all the counts as charged in the indictments. Seiffert and Buckley were discharged from custody. The jury was discharged and these sentences were imposed: Seven years for Ryan, and the 37 others range from six years downward. All pleas for an appeal were overruled, and the accused will serve their time in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas.

It is now thought by some "higher up" that the outcome of the workings of the Parcel Post system will not only reduce the express rates but quietly and constantly step by step these public servants will be taken over and controlled by government authority. It is true that many have not yet come to believe this, but so many things of importance are happening continually that even the present generation may live to see all public utilities as well as the mines being controlled by authority of the federal government.

ed a small indebtedness which was provided for at once. Vote was then taken to have another exhibition next season, and these new officers elected:

President—A. N. Nay
Vice Presidents—F. A. Arbuckle, E. E. Cummings, H. W. Elliott, E. V. Goodwin
Secretary—Frank R. Weeks
Treasurer—Morris Cutter
Directors—E. V. Goodwin, J. M. Cutter, Leonard Sawyer, H. W. Elliott, E. H. Woodward, C. F. Butterfield, Arbuckle

THE UNERRING SUN

It Is Uncle Sam's Most Reliable Lighthouse Keeper.

NEVER FALTERS IN ITS WORK.

By the Aid of the Wonderful Sun Valve
It Lights the Acetylene Beacons as It Sets at Night and Extinguishes Them as It Rises in the Morning.

The sun is the most trustworthy of lighthouse keepers. The sun or the heat from it lights many hundreds of beacons along our coasts and waterways evening after evening and extinguishes them punctually every morning. They are guides on land and sea that are never touched by human hands from one month's end to another. The way in which the United States government, through its lighthouse board, has utilized the services of the sun and made that great lamp of heaven a faithful and unerring servant is most interesting.

The discovery of acetylene gas was the first step toward retiring the lonely keepers of the little lights in faroff places. Modern magic was not slow in recognizing the fact that by the application of certain well known scientific principles the lighting of the great chains of beacons that girdle the coasts of the two seas and the gulf and cover the great lakes and every navigable stream in our huge country could be much simplified.

The United States did not become interested in the acetylene light and its automatically generating gas buoy until about the year 1906 and did not adopt it until 1908. Then the engineers of the lighthouse board devised some wonderful improvements, among them the utilization of the sun.

The self lighting and self extinguishing acetylene beacon is a very simple thing, but it depends almost entirely on the "sun valve," which is one of the most wonderful but least complex of the achievements of modern science.

In the first place, the source of light for these lone beacons is dissolved acetylene, which is stored under pressure in steel cylinders. One of these cylinders can be charged with enough gas to last a small beacon three years. Usually, however, in the case of floating buoys, a six months' supply is all that is necessary, as such buoys are overhauled and painted twice a year. Knowing the size of the flame and its hourly consumption of gas, it is very easy to calculate how long a cylindrical unit will last and how often it will need to be visited. That is all the care the light will need. The sun valve does the rest.

The scientific principle upon which the sun valve depends is that light waves become transformed in different degrees, according to the nature of the intercepting body. Sunlight upon dark surfaces is converted into heat, and heat produces expansion. This expansion is especially perceptible in certain metals.

In a carefully sealed and substantially mounted glass jar nearly a foot high and about one-fourth that in diameter a thick black rod is placed perpendicularly through the center. It is supported by three slender rods of highly polished copper. The big black rod is of copper also and is coated with lampblack to make it absorb light to the greatest possible degree. The supporting rods reflect light without absorbing it and do not expand or contract to the same extent as the largest rod.

The thick black piece of copper in the center of the jar is extremely sensitive to light and heat. As the sun appears and the atmosphere grows warmer in the morning this rod lengthens. It pushes down into the metal chamber in which the glass jar rests and touches the end of a lever. It presses down on this lever, which is controlled by a spring and cuts off the flow of the gas to the lamp.

When the sun disappears from view in the evening and the temperature of the air falls the process is reversed. The rod contracts and releases its pressure on the lever, allowing the gas to flow upward to the lamp. The gas is ignited by a little pilot flame that is never extinguished. Thus the beacon is lighted at the proper time and is put out when it is no longer needed, although along desolate coasts it may never gladden the human eye for months at a time.

The engineers of the lighthouse board say that the precision of this device is almost incredible. It can be used with equal certainty in equatorial heat and in polar cold, for it responds with the utmost accuracy to small variations in temperature. It is used on lonely islands in the Pacific. There are nearly a hundred of these sun valve beacons in Alaska. In summer they are aids to navigation, and in winter they guide the travelers on dog sledges over the frozen wastes.—Harper's Weekly.

FREEZING TO DEATH.

Sensations That Come With Exposure to Extreme Cold.

In the course of a series of experiments with extreme cold carried on at Berlin, Raoul Pictet, an investigator, inserted his bare arm beyond the elbow in a chamber refrigerated to a temperature of 157 degrees below zero F. and kept it there for several minutes. He suffered no permanent damage, but experienced a number of peculiar and painful sensations. The chief of these and the most trying was a feeling of pain in the bones of the hand and arm.

The pain increased steadily. It was located chiefly in the interior parts of the arm and was far less severe in the portions near or at the surface. The skin was purple when the member was withdrawn. In about ten minutes a violent reaction set in with violent burning sensation of the skin wherever it had been exposed.

Investigations carried on with dogs indicated that the process of freezing to death is not necessarily an unpleasant one. Placed in a temperature of -125 to -150 the animals displayed quickened breathing and heart beats, with a decided rise above normal in the blood temperature. These signs pointed to a sudden and violent automatic effort of the heart to preserve the bodily temperature. In spite of energetic heart action the temperature of the blood fell gradually to 71 degrees. At this point the heart action ceased very suddenly.

The sensations of bodily warmth and languor mentioned in descriptions of death by violent cold can easily be understood in view of the above experiments.—New York Sun.

An Ancient English Workhouse.

In the records of St. Thomas' hospital, London, is an entry of the year 1370 to the effect that "in consideration of the hote tyme of the yere" the poor be allowed "every one a day three pynnts of Bere for two months," a quart at dinner and a pint at supper, and at the end of two months return to "there olde ordinary allowance, which is one quarte." The food at this ancient workhouse was to be dealt with as liberally as the drink. The almoner and steward were to "bye no bylle but of the best, without bones and in speciall without the marybon, and none other to be bowght."

Figure It Out.

A man had sixty ducks for sale and divided them into two lots of thirty each. One lot was to be disposed of at three for $1 and the other at two for $1. In his absence his clerk sold the sixty ducks at five for $2, realizing the sum of $24. If sold according to instructions one purchaser would have got thirty ducks for $15 and the other thirty for $10, making $25 for the lot. What became of the missing dollar?

Husband and Wife Both Saved From Suffering

I wish to tell you the good results myself and husband received from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. About eleven years ago I had a severe attack of La Grippe and was confined to my bed about eight weeks under the doctor's care. He pronounced my case kidney trouble and rheumatism and not receiving the results from the doctor's treatment I should have received, I decided to try Swamp-Root. After taking several bottles of Swamp-Root I was able to get up and attend to my work. About a year later my husband was affected with a severe attack of kidney trouble and doctored for some time with the doctors and received no benefit. Knowing of the good I had received, he decided to try Swamp-Root. His condition was such that he was confined to his bed and words cannot tell how he suffered, but after taking Swamp-Root he was relieved so he could go on with his work without pain. I wish to heartily recommend Swamp-Root to all persons afflicted with kidney and bladder troubles and you may publish this letter if you wish.

What the Freight Rate Investigation Brought Out

Different newspapers which have had anything whatever to say of the Boston & Maine, and the Grand Trunk railways have been criticized whichever stand they chanced to take. But probably very few have taken their stand simply to please someone, but rather presented their views to the public as they saw the situation. The matter of handling freight has been quite thoroughly gone over of late before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and here is what Commissioner Prouty had to say of the New Haven system, and doubtless will have a good effect:

"The loss or straying of four packages out of every hundred is not reasonable," said Commissioner Prouty in the course of his remarks. "There must be some explanation, and it is up to you gentlemen to discover it, trace it out, and then correct the conditions. Make changes in your methods. If your men are inefficient get new men; if the heads of the yards are not well fitted, pay a little more and get men who are. The chief obligation on you, as I see it, is to give your shippers a more reliable service."

Commenting upon this "curtain lecture" as the Boston Transcript calls it, this paper goes on to say:

It is not only useless to tell the people of New England that they are getting as good service today as the people of any other section of the country: it is stupid. Ours is not an unreasonable public, nor is it an untraveled public. Bostonians who have visited in Philadelphia know that the suburban service of that community is better in many respects than that which prevails here. New Englanders who have traveled over the Pennsylvania Railroad, for example, know that the service on that line is better than that which the New Haven system is now giving the public.

What particularly irritates the New England people today is the reflection on their intelligence involved in denial after denial that their railroad service is not up to the standard. If Mr. Mellin and his associates will devote the first six months of the new year to a determined effort to improve their service, freight and passenger, all along the line and at the end of that time can show the public results, they will have fewer things to explain and they will find the public far less cynical with respect to their plans for future development.

Mr. Prouty has performed a valuable service in reminding the officials of the New Haven system of their daily obligations to the public. Development is needed, extensions must come, but in the meantime the public must travel with reasonable safety, comfort and speed, and shippers must be given a more reliable service. Mr. Prouty's curtain lecture goes to the very root of the matter, and the New Haven officials will make a grievous mistake if they fail to heed his warning words. Let them differentiate between the sensational attacks by politicians and the complaints of a long-suffering public with respect to the present inadequacies of service. The exaggerations of the former do not warrant the ignoring of the latter.

MANLIKE MANATEES.

These Queer Creatures Are Linked With the Mermaid Myth.

In semitropical waters of America there disports a member of that family of aquatic mammals to which has been ascribed the mermaid myth. Related to the dugong and the now extinct rhytina, we still have the manatee. This name is preferred by some to manati, under the impression that the latter is the plural of the Latin "manatus" (furnished with hands), though the name is probably of Mandingo origin.

The manatee is a herbivorous mammal inhabiting the shallows about the coasts of Florida, Mexico, central America and the West Indies. It is not known to attempt the open sea and does not possess the ability to come ashore. This animal is somewhat whalelike in shape, with a horizontal tail fin. It is from eight to twelve feet in length, the body being scantily covered with hair. The only limbs are the fore flippers, low on the side of the body. This flipper has no fingers. It does possess, though, three flat nails and has a free motion in all directions from the shoulder. The elbow and wrist approximate the human anatomy in movement. With this crude resemblance to an arm the manatee has been said to carry its young. While the statement is not authentic, it is quite believable, its possibility being vouched for by all observers of the arm in motion.

The head of the manatee is divided from the body by a slight indication of neck. The upper lip is extraordinarily flexible—so much so that each side can protrude independently of the other, and, thus separated into two lobes, the upper lip can perform the complete operation of grasping food and conveying it into the mouth. In each jaw are twenty pairs of two ridged teeth. With this formidable equipment the manatee is not, however, ferocious, but browses tranquilly on the water plants of its habitat. In some views the head is surprisingly manlike, though far from beautiful, and no specimen has ever sat on the rocks and combed its golden hair.—Harper's.

Thermometer and Gulf Stream.

Investigators have observed that the thermometer is not necessarily a sure indication of the gulf stream; that the strongest current does not necessarily coincide with the highest temperature. The warmth of the water only indicates its tropical origin, and it may or may not be accompanied by a current. Thus the warmest water off Cape Hatteras is the result of a very gentle flow coming from the trade wind region outside the West Indies. The gulf stream itself is between this warmer water and the 100 fathom curve.—Shipping Illustrated.

Against Speculation.

The head of a big trust said at a dinner in Boston:

"I have always been against speculation. To try to get rich by stock fluctuations instead of by honest work for the common good is to be an undesirable citizen."

"Besides, these fluctuating investments are very risky and uncertain. It's a wise stock, you see, that knows its own par."—Exchange.

A BIG GOLD BRICK

The Trap That Jernegan Baited
 With Salt Sea Water.

SCHEME OF A CLEVER ROGUE.

The Smooth Swindler and His Accomplice Showed How Easily They Could Extract Gold From the Ocean—Fleeced
 Their Dupes and Then Decamped.

Various inventors have been working for years on the theory that there is plenty of gold in sea water if only some process of extraction could be developed.

Some years ago the Rev. Prescott J.
 Jernegan was the salt water wizard of the hour. From the day his bubble burst and he left for Europe nobody seems to know what has become of him. Jernegan, who posed as a clergyman, and C. E. Fisher, once a door-walker in a New York department store and before that a diver, got together in the fall of 1896 and for a whole year carefully considered the problem of extracting gold from salt water. It is true, their whole field of thought compassed the use of salt water as an accessory only, the real material from which the gold was to be extracted being the American people.

Very artistically Jernegan, to whom was left the matter of publicity, permitted some vague rumors to leak out.
 "A leading clergyman had a marvelous money making device. The world was soon to be stunned by a fact that would make the possessor of the original secret so rich that all the multi-millionaires would be paupers in comparison." When they had stirred up public curiosity Jernegan and Fisher went to New England and there set up some mysterious machinery.

On Narragansett bay was an old half dismantled wharf, and at the sea end of this the two erected a cheap frame shanty about 8 by 10 in size, with a square hole cut through the floor and looking directly down into about fifteen feet of water. An electric wire from a small battery was run along the piling of the wharf and attached to a mysterious box, with heavy iron clamps and holes all through to permit of free passage of the water back and forth.

Finally the great secret was divulged.
 These two men had discovered a way of taking all the gold they wanted from the salt water at a cost so trifling that it was ridiculous to mention it.
 Two wealthy persons, one a Providence jeweler and the other a New York florist, were approached by Jer-negan with what seemed to be such a trustful and childlike proposal that they both embraced it eagerly. It was that, all his apparatus being ready for experiment, they would come to the shanty on the wharf prepared to go through a night's vigil and witness the result, accompanied by any scientific friends they cared to bring along.

The idea, as outlined by Jernegan, was to send a current into a pan of mercury held within the box, the receptacle then being sent to the bottom of the sea and drawn up after several hours, when it would be found that the mercury had absorbed gold from the ocean.

When the night of the experiment came the box was prepared in the shanty, two chemists, friends of the capitalists, bringing their own mercury with them. The box was lowered to the bottom, and then the party of five began their wait. Soon after daylight Jernegan announced that it was time to draw the box up again. This was done, and the whole party eagerly set to work to find out whether any gold had been received. When the chemists announced that gold to the value of $14 was found mixed with the quick-silver all were stunned by the discovery and realized at once the vast possibilities in more extensive operations, the original experiment having been practically made with a toy apparatus.

The story spread like wildfire, and the modest Jernegan was prevailed upon to organize a company. Stock was sold, and after getting possession of thousands of dollars the promoter sailed away to Europe. The success of the great experiment was explained afterward. Fisher, the diver, had gone out from the shore in his diving suit, opened the box and, taking out the mercury that had been brought by the chemists, substituted a vial of his own that had been strongly impregnated with gold.

Both before and since the Jernegan fraud many attempts have been made to extract gold from salt water, some of them fraudulent, some genuine and based on scientific grounds that have from time to time appealed even to deep students. But all so far have failed dismally. Though traces of gold are to be found in salt water, commercial application is practically impossible.—New York Press.

You have an extremely long corset which is made perfectly comfortable by wide gores of Lastikops Cloth at the back, extending far below the ends of the back steels. These gores expand when you sit down, giving plenty of room; the corset-edge can't show through; the corset can't "ride up."

Two models—No. 322, with low bust, $3.00 and No. 324, with medium bust.

REMEMBER "Lastikops Cloth" and "Lastikops Webbing," two Nemo patented inventions, are the only elastic fabrics in existence that will not lose their elasticity—will outwear the corset.

APPROVES RULES FOR PARCEL POST

Postmaster General Issues Regulations Governing System.

WHAT MAY BE SENT BY MAIL

Gives American People Opportunity to Send Farm and Factory Products by Mail From and to Any Point in United States.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has just approved the regulations which cover in detail the articles which may or may not be sent by parcel post. These regulations are now being turned off at the government printing office on a "rush order" and they will be distributed as rapidly as possible.

The rules as to what can be sent and what cannot be sent and the instructions for the preparation of mailable articles with other "official advice" are given here as they have just been prepared by the postoffice department in Washington.

The minimum rate will be five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound to any point not exceeding fifty miles from the office of mailing; the local rate, which is five cents for the first pound and one cent for additional pound, applies to all parcels the delivery of which does not involve their transportation on railway lines. The rates increase for each successive one of the eight zones, the maximum rate being twelve cents a pound, which will carry a parcel across the continent or to any of our possessions. Parcels will be limited to eleven pounds in weight and six feet in length and girth combined.

Mailable Perishable Articles.
Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, fresh meats, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits, berries and articles of a similar nature that decay quickly, when so packed or wrapped as to prevent damage to other mail matter, will be accepted for local delivery either at the office of mailing or on any rural route starting therefrom. When inclosed in an inner cover and a strong outer cover of wood, metal, heavy corrugated pasteboard or other suitable material and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package, they will be accepted for mailing to any offices within the first zone or within a radius of 50 miles. Butter, lard, or any greasy or oily substance intended for delivery at offices beyond the first zone must be suitably packed. Vegetables and fruit that do not decay quickly will be accepted for mailing to any zone if packed so as to prevent damage to other mail matter. Eggs will be accepted for local delivery when securely packed in a basket or other container. Eggs will be accepted for mailing regardless of distance when each egg is wrapped separately and packed in a container.

There is no restriction on salted, dried, smoked or cured meats and other meat products, but fresh meat in any form will be transported only within the first zone.

Parcels containing perishable articles must be marked "PERISHABLE," and articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing.

Manufactured Articles.
Manufacturers or dealers intending to transmit articles in considerable quantities are asked to submit to the postmaster for approval a specimen parcel showing the manner of packing.

When sharp pointed instruments are offered for mailing, the points must be capped or encased. Blades must be bound so that they will remain attached to each other or within their handles or sockets.

In powders, pepper, snuff, or other similar powders not explosive, or any similar pulverized dry substance, not poisonous, may be sent when inclosed in cases made of metal, wood or other material to render impossible the escape of any of the contents. Flour of all kinds must be put up in such manner as to prevent the package breaking or the flour being scattered in the mails.

Queen Bees and Nursery Stock.
Queen bees, live insects, and dried reptiles may be mailed in accordance with the regulations that now apply to other classes of mail.

Seeds of fruit, nursery stock, and all other plant products for preparation may be mailed under the same conditions.

Confectionery and Soap.
Candies, confectionery, yeast cakes, soap in hard cakes, etc., must be inclosed in boxes and so wrapped as to prevent injury to other mail matter.

Sealed original packages of proprietary articles, such as soaps, tobacco, pills, tablets, etc., put up in fixed quantities by the manufacturer and not in themselves unmailable, will be accepted for mailing when properly wrapped.

Millinery.
Fragile articles, such as millinery, toys, musical instruments, etc., and articles consisting wholly or in part of glass, or contained in glass, must be securely packed and the parcel stamped or labeled "FRAGILE."

Unmailable Matter.
The following matter is declared unmailable by law:

Matter manifestly obscene, lewd, or lascivious; articles intended for preventing conception; articles intended for indecent or immoral purposes; all matter otherwise mailable by law, the outside cover or wrapper of which bears and delineation or language of a libelous, scurrilous, defamatory, or threatening character. All such matter, when deposited in a post office or found in the mails, shall be withdrawn and sent to the divisions of dead letters.

Intoxicants, Poisons and Inflammable Materials.

Spirituuous, vinous, malted, fermented, or other intoxicating liquors of any kind; poisons of every kind, and articles and compositions containing poison, poisonous animals, insects and reptiles; explosives of every kind; inflammable materials (which are held to include matches, kerosene oil, gasoline, naphtha, benzine, turpentine, denatured alcohol, etc.), infernal machines, and mechanical, chemical or other devices or compositions which may ignite or explode; disease germs or scabs, and other natural or artificial articles, compositions or materials of whatever kind which may kill, or in any wise injure another or damage the mail or other property.

Pistols, Animals and Birds.
Pistols or revolvers, whether in detached parts or otherwise; live or dead (and not stuffed) animals, birds, or poultry, except as elsewhere provided; raw hides or pelts, guano, or any article having a bad odor will not be admitted to the mails.

Treatment of Undeliverable Parcels.
Perishable matter will be delivered as promptly as possible, but if such matter cannot be delivered and becomes offensive and injurious to health, postmasters may destroy it, or the injurious or offensive portions thereof.

Undeliverable perishable matter which in its nature does not become offensive or injurious to health may be delivered by postmasters to the proper local municipal authority to be distributed to hospitals, asylums or other charitable or reformatory institutions. If there is no such municipal authority, the matter may be delivered to any charitable institution or organization making application therefor. If no application is made, the matter will be destroyed at the expiration of two weeks.

Parcels Improperly Packed.
Postmasters will refuse to receive for mailing parcels not properly inclosed or packed for safe shipment.

When parcels on which the postage is wholly unpaid or insufficiently prepaid is deposited for local delivery and the sender is unknown, notice of detention need not be sent but such matter will be delivered and the deficient postage collected from the addressee by the carrier. If the addressee refuses to pay the postage the matter will be sent to the Division of Dead Letters.

Insurance on Parcels.
A mailable parcel on which the postage is fully prepaid may be insured against loss in an amount equivalent to its actual value, but not to exceed $50, on payment of a fee of ten cents in parcel post stamps, such stamps to be affixed.

When a parcel is insured, the sender will be given a receipt showing the office and date of mailing and number of the parcel.

When a return receipt is desired by the sender of an insured parcel the postmaster at the mailing office will note the request on the margin of the insurance tag, and the postmaster at the office of address will obtain from the addressee a receipt and mail it to the sender.

The liability for indemnity shall cease when delivery has been effected.

Forwarding of Parcels.

Parcels may be remailed or forwarded on the payment of additional postage at the rate which would be chargeable if they were originally mailed at the forwarding office, in which case the necessary stamps will be affixed by the forwarding postmaster. Payment must be made every time the parcel is forwarded.

Preparation for Mailing.
Parcels must be prepared for mailing in such manner that the contents can be easily examined. A parcel will not be accepted for mailing unless it bears the name and address of the sender preceded by the word "From."

In addition to the name and address of the sender, which is required, it will be permissible to write or print on the covering of a parcel, or on a tag or label attached to it, the occupation of the sender, and to indicate in a small space by means of marks, letters, numbers, names or other brief description, the character of the contents, but ample space must be left on the address side for the full address in legible characters and for the necessary postage stamps. Inscriptions such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With best wishes," and the like, may be placed on the covering of the parcel in such manner as not to interfere with the address.

Distinctive Stamps.
The law requires that the postage on all matter must be prepaid by distinctive parcel post stamps affixed. Postmasters cannot receive for mailing parcels that do not bear such stamps.

Parcel post stamps are not valid for the payment of postage on matter of the first, second, and third classes, and when used for that purpose, the matter to which they are affixed shall be treated as "Held for postage."

Maps and Guides.
Parcel post maps, with accompanying guides, are to be sold to the public at their cost, 75 cents, through the chief clerk of the post office department. In ordering maps care should be taken to specify the post office from which the postage rates are to be determined.

HIGHLY GROTESQUE SPORT

The curiously childish language of the Holi festival, which is celebrated annually by the maharaja of Patiala, is described by Mrs. Charles Berran in "A Magician in Many Lands." The author made the acquaintance of the famous Hindu ruler during a tour of India and was invited to remain over for the festival.

Early in the morning I went to the club, where I found many of the guests, who were taking part in the ceremony for the first time. We were provided with a complete new suit of Hindu garments, and our dressing was superintended by the maharaja's servants. We had camels, elephants and victorias provided for us. I was on an elephant in a kind of box, and we drove in procession to the palace in the native city.

We were received with great acclaim by the natives, and I was led to believe that it was to be a dignified occasion. But I was woefully mistaken. The fun had not begun. Certain formalities had to be gone through before the signal was given.

We took our seats in the courtyard of the palace at a long table that was loaded with large gilt dishes filled with different colored balls as large as oranges and filled with Holi powder. At a signal the brother of the maharaja came to the front of the table and saluted the prince, who took one of the balls and threw it gently across the table, striking the officer on the breast.

The ball broke and scattered the powder over his costume. Then there was a general scramble, and in less time than it takes to write hundreds of balls were flying about, their many colored contents scattered broadcast on the crowd. Next baskets of loose powder were thrown upon us in handfuls. It was no use to expostulate. The moment you opened your mouth somebody filled it with powder. The battle grew fast and furious, when suddenly an enormous stream of water from a fire engine drenched everybody. The colored powders became wet and, mingling together, dyed us all in brilliantly variegated hues.

After this sort of thing had gone on for half an hour it ceased by mutual consent, and we returned to the private gardens of the maharaja, where we were most unceremoniously pitched into a tank of running water. I was dyed a deep scarlet all over my body, and it was fully a month before the color entirely disappeared from my face and hands.

Wise Provision.
"Bliggins says he has the smartest youngster in the world."
"Of course," answered Mr. Growcher. "Every parent feels that way, and it's a wise provision of nature. In every human being's life there ought to be a time when somebody thinks he is smart."—Washington Star.

His Tints.
"When I last saw him Jabbs was green with envy, yellow with jealousy, white with fear and red with rage."
"What a highly colored life his must be!"—Baltimore American.

Changed.

"And now?"
"Now that they're grown up and in society I've begun wondering what they're going to make of me."—Detroit Free Press.

AN IRON WILLED MONARCH.

One Man Rule as Exemplified in Frederick the Great.

Frederick was an intensely active, highly capable, strong willed and self-reliant commander. He concentrated all power in his own hands, reducing his ministers to clerical work and his generals to the duties of personal lieutenants. Below him the Prussian administration was a thing of stiff and mechanical obedience, lacking in initiative and individuality.

Several of Frederick's military losses were due to the fact that he gave his generals such minute orders and was so severe in case of disregard of instructions that they did not dare to use their own judgment when unforeseen conditions presented themselves. He personally foresaw and planned for everything, and he inspected frequently and thoroughly. His discipline was severe, his organization good, his calculation accurate and his judgment what was possible. His army, which were skillfully drilled, was rapid.

So superior was Frederick to his opponents in strategy that they were obliged for safety to keep their troops in so concentrated a form that there was not sufficient space for effective maneuvers. He was more successful in marching and maneuver than in battle, more capable in battle than in siege.

His great defect as a commander lay in the fact that he overestimated the growth of those below him and expected no talented corps to bear the political and military burdens of the state when he should be obliged to lay them down. He apparently could do things only through himself, having a supreme contempt for the capabilities of most mortals, he had no need to make experiments which might have changed his opinions. Although he knew for many years that a successor was to be a man without ability, he had led him to him, a successor who required a Frederick. We may say that he brilliantly administered a system which was badly organized.—Edward D. Jones in Engineering Magazine.

FLUNG FROM A WINDOW.

Horrors of a Death Sentence in the Middle Ages in Bohemia.

How many people know what reformation means? Yet it was once a popular method of executing criminals and was the mode of capital punishment used in Bohemia in the middle ages and later. Defecation means "throwing from a window," but that did not always include all the arrangements made for the doomed man's exit from the world.

In Prague in 1419 the count chamber of the hands that were used as the place of execution. Then, in the presence of the assembled nobles, their invited guests and the dignitaries of the city, the unhappy wretches were cast from a window eighty feet to the courtyard below.

If his crime was an ordinary offense the prisoner was merely dropped on the stones and allowed to lie there bruised and broken until death put an end to his sufferings, suzer being forbidden.

But if he was guilty of treason or any act of violence against a noble he fell on the sharp spears of a squad of soldiers or dropped to the tender mercies of a pack of fierce dogs specially trained for the purpose, or he might be hung to wild boars previously enraged by being pricked with spears.

The last time defecation was practiced was just before the Thirty Years' war, when the imperial commissioners brought an unwelcome message to Prague and were promptly thrown from the window. This precipitated the war and abolished the custom.—New York Press.

Executioner Sets a Fashion.

In England fashions have been killed at executions, but in France over a century ago fashion in men's attire was set by Sanson, the public executioner. Sanson, who had high ideas of the dignity of his office, was famous for the richness of his attire when climbing on the scaffold. Just before the revolution he was forbidden to wear blue, the nobleman's color, and by way of protest he made himself even more gorgeous. He took to green, and that color, as well as the powder out of his clothes, was adopted by many of the young dandies of the court.

Deadly.
"I understand that a number of women have learned to smoke cigars," said the frivolous observer.
"I don't believe it," replied Mr. Meekton. "The kind of cigars that women buy nobody could smoke."—Washington Star.

Sarcastic.
Softly—I'd have you to understand, sir, that I'm not such a fool as I look. Sarcast—Well, then, you have much to be thankful for.

Riches are like sea water, the more you drink the thirstier you become.—Schopenhauer.

Don't Cut That Corn

An Easier, Less Painful, More Effective Method guaranteed by Lane & Weeks

That painful misfortune—a corn—is liable to become a far greater misfortune if you cut it. Aside from the danger of blood poisoning, which is always to be reckoned with in cutting a corn, the least slip of the instrument is likely to leave a gash that will make the corn many times more painful. Cutting through the corn into the flesh makes the corn grow deeper and more irregularly, making its cure more difficult.

We guarantee Rexall Corn Solvent as a prompt and permanent relief in all cases of hard and soft corns, bunions, warts and moles, and any other calloused condition of the skin caused by undue pressure or friction. When we say guarantee, we mean it in all that the word implies. If Rexall Corn Solvent does not remove the corn or other callous, we will cheerfully hand you back your money the instant you tell us. Price 25 cents. Sold in this community only at our store.

A Hero in a Lighthouse

For years J. S. Donahue, So. Haven, a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so called cures for years without benefit, and they also improved my sight. At seventy, now, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they are without equal. Try them. Only 50c at adv. Antrim Pharmacy.
