GREYSTONE LODGE OPENED!

Antrim's New Hotel Formally Thrown Open to the Public

The opening day of Greystone Lodge, Antrim's new, fine and commodious hotel, was set for Monday, June 16, just ninety days from the date the first stone was laid; and really it appeared like a difficult thing to do, yet it was done and in a most satisfactory manner. Birch Farms Company, the proprietors, whose president is Alford R. Hazzard and treasurer is James McGee, Jr., both residents of Antrim, is certainly a live corporation whose officers are thorough business men of great push and much ability; the successful completion of this hotel in ninety days proves this conclusively, and with their enterprise it seems a safe prediction that they will make a grand success of their hotel venture, as well as the development of their 200-acre farm which they have already begun to operate along scientific lines.

This new house is located on Goodell mountain, overlooking the towns of Antrim, Hancock and Bennington, and commanding a view which probably cannot be equalled anywhere in this section, and excelled by no other place in New England. The house contains thirty-two rooms, well lighted and airy, and in every way fitted and furnished for the accommodation of summer guests; here one will be well cared for, have the best of everything, and a healthy, restful place at which to spend a season, be that season a week, month or even longer. Already we are informed that rooms are fast being engaged and soon will be taxed to its capacity. The very large reception rooms, dining hall, and spacious verandas, lend a peculiar charm to the place which is most pleasing to everyone.

Near the hotel is the power house where their own electricity is generated, furnishing light all over the house inside and around it. There yet remains some little work to be done in finishing up, and in grading. The new road up the hill is practically completed and is a good one, wide and nicely graded.

About two hundred were present for the opening dinner, the first table being served at a little past six o'clock; at eight the serving was nearly completed. Appleton's orchestra furnished music during the dinner. The large company present were in the best of humor, everyone was made to feel at home, and the management had taken great pains to arrange things in a manner pleasing to all.

In the evening a goodly number remained for the dance, some forty couples participating; music for this occasion being furnished by the Alinette Trio of Boston. About midnight the festivities had come to a close.

Not only the general public who had availed themselves of the opportunity of attending the exercises connected with the formal opening of Greystone Lodge expressed themselves well pleased with the treatment and service accorded them, but the management expressed much satisfaction with the way the people rallied to assist them in these exercises.

I. O. O. F. MEMORIAL SUNDAY

The Annual Occasion Fittingly Observed by Waverley Lodge and Kindred Societies

An observance which has become annual and which is looked upon by all Odd Fellows, including Rebekahs and members of the Encampment, as one of the most beautiful ceremonies of the living can render to the memory of the dead, is the Memorial Sunday service; this has been in vogue for many years and is annually observed by Waverley Lodge of Antrim, assisted by Mt. Crooked Encampment and the sisters of Hand in Hand Rebekah Lodge. This year it was observed on Sunday afternoon last, in Odd Fellows hall, attended by a goodly number of the Order. Delegations of brothers had previously visited the cemeteries in this and adjoining villages, placing wreaths and markers upon deceased brothers' and sisters' graves.

The exercises at the hall consisted of reading of brief eulogies on departed brothers and sisters, music by a mixed quartet, and an address by Rev. William Weston of Greenfield, a member of Waverley Lodge.

The speaker took for his text words found in the twelfth chapter of Exodus and the last clause of twenty-sixth verse: "What mean ye by this service?" He made a most acceptable address, of much interest to all present, and his dwelling upon the principles of the Order—Friendship, Love and Truth—was real pleasing. He held the close attention of his hearers and his very instructive remarks were highly commendable.

ANTRIM HIGH

Graduated a Class of 4 on Friday Last

The 19th annual commencement of the Antrim High school was held in town hall on Friday afternoon last, at 2.30 o'clock. It was fine weather and a large company attended the exercises. The program as given appears herewith:

Orchestra
Invocation, Rev. G. B. VanBuskirk
Salutatory and Essay, Grace A. Taylor
The Development of the English Drama
Essay, Jessie H. Tenney
Michael Angelow Buonarroti
Orchestra
Oration, A. Wallace George
The Battle for the Child
Valedictory and Essay, Mae L. Harris
The Progress of the Argentine Republic
Orchestra
Presentation of Diplomas
Supt. Kendall
Orchestra

To go into detail, describing individual work by each graduate in the presentation of their different subjects, is not necessary; it should be said however that the parts were well taken and the subjects clearly thought out and presented in a pleasing and admirable manner.

The names of the graduates, officers of the class, motto and colors were:

Alonzo Wallace George
Mary Leona Harris
Jessie Hazel Tenney
Grace Addie Taylor
President, A. Wallace George
Vice President, Mae L. Harris
Secretary-Treasurer, Jessie H. Tenney
Class Motto, "Deeds, Not Words"
Colors, Green and Gold
Marshal, Sheldon Burnham
Pianist, Paul W. Prentiss

The reception, by the class, was given the same evening and was well attended. The graduates were assisted in receiving by the faculty, Mr. Howe, Miss Wilbur and Miss Locke. Appleton's orchestra furnished music. A season of promenading was enjoyed.

The decorations in the hall deserve special mention, the class colors predominating; the effect was very pleasing and showed a lot of time had been put into its preparation.

Rev. J. H. Robbins of the Anti-Saloon League

Spent a full day in Antrim on Sunday last, bringing his message to our people and delivering it in a plain and concise manner.

In the morning he occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church and at the Sunday school hour he addressed an audience of some sixty men at the Presbyterian church. Dr. Robbins spoke at North Branch in the afternoon.

At a union service in the Methodist church, Sunday evening, the speaker told somewhat of his work as superintendent of the league, and his talk was mostly on the drink habit and the liquor traffic. He is an entertaining speaker and had much to say of interest to his large audience, who listened attentively. Some special music was furnished by the choir.

Miss Evelyn Ashford was in Peterboro the first of this week.

ANTRIM ALWAYS AHEAD!

Defeats Henniker 8 to 3 in the Second League Game

Last Saturday on the home grounds the Antrim team made the Hennikers go down to defeat, and won the second game of the league schedule by the score of 8 to 3. At the end of the 7th the score was 4 to 3 favoring Antrim, but in the 8th the visiting team went up in smoke, and before peace and quiet was restored the home boys had made their total 8. The features of the game were furnished by Antrim players, Jim Cuddihy making a home run with the bases empty, and Whitney making a 3 bagger and scoring one runner. Mulhall's catch of a foul fly hit by the last man at bat is also worthy of mention.

In the 1st, Matt Cuddihy made a good catch of a fly hit by Daniels and fielded it to Lynch, making a pretty double. In the 2d and 3d, the Hennikers were also retired 1-2-3. Another double in the 6th was pulled off when Lynch caught a fly by Callahan and threw the ball to Crampton on second. In five of the nine innings only three men of the visiting team were at bat in each inning! Whitney did fine work very best, and work mighty hard for the victory. A good crowd should be present to see the contest. Henniker defeated Hillsboro in the first league game, Antrim defeated Henniker in the second game—what will be the result next Saturday? Antrim is playing a bona fide home team, and the victories acquired are more to be cherished on this account. That the hired out-town players are not the most clever was amply demonstrated Saturday!

The standing of the league teams is as follows:

Team	W	L	PC
ANTRIM	2	0	1.000
Henniker	1	1	.500
Hillsboro	1	1	.500
North Weare	0	2	.000

The figure 3 figured prominently in last Saturday's game, and we present the following to REPORTER readers:

3 bagger by Whitney in 3d inning, put-outs by Hanson, A. Cuddihy, assists by Crampton, errors by Mulhall, hits by Lynch, Hanson, strike-outs by Buzzell, 2-base hits by the Antrims, runs by Henniker, Hennikers batting 1st 3 innings.

The score:

ROAD BUILDING

Done Scientifically is the Only Proper Way

The following article has been sent us from the office of Public Roads at Washington, D. C., and as it has a large amount of reasonable advice for the care of many of our roads, we give it space in our columns, hoping that it will do good, as in many cases just such advice is very much needed:

If you look at the ordinary country road after a shower you will see small puddles along the wheel ruts and sometimes larger pools. This water stays on the road surface because it cannot drain away into the side ditches. If you look closely you will see side ditches which have grown up with bushes and weeds in many cases, and which are so far from the traveled part of the road that the rain water does not drain into them. That part of the roadway where the wagons travel is called the traveled way. To prevent water from standing on the traveled way the road should be raised in the center and should slope gently into broad shallow ditches. It is then said to have a crown. If it is 10 feet from the center of the road to the side ditch, the surface at the side ditch should be at least 19 inches lower than at the center where the horses travel. The road then has a 19-inch crown. The rain that falls on a road properly crowned will quickly run to the sides and will not soak into the surface or form pools. The side ditches for surface water should run parallel to the right of way, and should be open at every low point so that the water can run out of them into neighboring brooks and streams. If the ditches merely collect the water from the road surface and it cannot run away, large pools will be formed along the roadside, which will gradually soak into the soil beneath the road and make it so soft that the wheels of wagons will cut through the road surface and soon destroy it.

Sometimes water runs from land along the road into the road and forms a little stream down the wheel tracks or in the middle where the horses travel. When driveways into farm yards are built across the side ditches they frequently form channels for water from the farm yard to run into the road. The pipes under driveways become filled up with leaves or rubbish and the water can no longer run away. If the driveways that stop the ditch water were rebuilt so that no pipes were necessary and the ditch could be left open, much trouble from surface water would be stopped.

Sometimes a road runs across low ground or through a swamp where the road can not be drained by side ditches alone. If the road were built higher like a railroad embankment across such low land and made with a crown, it would be dry and hard. Sometimes a road passes through what is called a cut. This is a place where the earth has been dug out so that the road can go over a hill without being too steep. The water which always runs quietly under the ground on hill sides is known as ground water. In road cuts such water sometimes makes the road very muddy, and the road then needs what road builders call underdrainage. A good kind of underdrainage is a trench to go along under the side drain and about three feet deep, and a foot and a half wide. In this trench a pipe is laid near the bottom and covered with loose stones no bigger than an egg. When the trench is completely filled with loose stones the ground water, instead of soaking into the roadway, will stop along the stones and flow down the hill through the pipe.

To keep a road smooth and crowned the best method is to drag it with a road drag. A road drag is made easily with two halves of a log which has been split. The log should be about 6 or 8 inches in thickness and about 4 or 5 feet long. The two halves of the log are set 4 feet apart with the smooth faces toward and upright. They are then fastened together with braces set in holes bored through the log. A pair of horses may be used to drag the road and are hitched to a chain fastened to the front half of the log. The road drag should move forward so that it slants across the road in such a way that a small amount of earth will slide past the smooth face of the log toward the center of the road, thus forming the crown. The edges of the logs will smooth out the ruts. The best way to drag is to begin at the side ditch and go up one side of the road, and then down on the other. In the next trip the drag should be started a little nearer the center of the road and the last trip over the drag may work close to the center itself. Small ridges of earth will be thrown into the horse track and smeared by the round side of the log smoothly over the road. The smearing of the earth by the drag is called "puddling" and tends to make the surface of the road smooth and water tight after sun comes out. The road is always dragged after a rain and not when dry. A good, strong pair of horses with a well-built drag can drag about 3 or 4 miles of road in one day, and it is the best way to maintain good roads. In each county some farmer along each 4 miles of road should own a drag and drag the road when it rains. He would always find the road in good condition when he goes to market.

It Happened in China.

An American commercial traveler who was in China soon after the downfall of the empire was approached one day by a Chinaman, who told him, in fairly good English, that he had a brick of pure silver, weighing 30 pounds, which had been looted from one of the government subtreasuries during a riot. The Chinaman explained that to only an American would he trust the secret, and said that he would sell the silver for a sum which amounted to $5 in our money. Not being one who would look such a gift horse in the mouth, the American promptly paid the $5 and took possession of the silver bar. Soon after, being in Hong Kong, and wishing to test the value of his purchase the American took the silver bar to a Chinese assayer and asked for its weight. The pig-tailed savant of the scales carefully tested the metal, weighed it and then remarked laconically: "He weigh lead."

Doctor Wilson's Lucky Thirteen.

Let the superstitious cultivate number 13 if they want real luck. At least President-elect Wilson finds it so, and any combination which by addition, subtraction, or multiplication will produce the lucky number, gives him the greatest delight. "Thirteens," he says, "have always been running through my life in connection with some fortune." His name—Woodrow Wilson—contains just 13 letters. It is said he dropped Thomas, his first name, in order to get down to lucky 13. For 13 years he was a professor in Princeton university, and then was elected its thirteenth president. He was nominated and elected president of the United States in 1912, which by the addition of its digits gives 13. The electoral college met on the 13th of January, and he will be the "28th president," a combination of figures totaling 13.

Glass-Eyed Cow Works Overtime.

A few months ago a dairy cow belonging to Blair Stanton, a Wyandotte county farmer, producing eight quarts of milk a day, lost an eye in the hedge brush. The cow refused to associate with others of the herd, gloomed alone and relapsed into a state of chronic melancholy. From eight quarts of milk per day her output dropped to four. A veterinarian was called. He found no ailment except melancholy, and he solved the problem by providing her with a glass eye. Next day the Jersey was found with the herd grazing in deep contentment. Best of all, she regained her milk and started in to make up for lost time. Now she is giving ten quarts of milk a day and is happy.—Kansas City Dispatch to the New York Herald.

One-Sided Justice.

Joseph H. Choate, at a dinner in New York, condemned those who would not arbitrate the Panama canal dispute lest the decision go against them. "Such people," Mr. Choate said, "remind me of an old lady whose son had been sued for abusing a horse. The old lady testified that her son had been kindness itself to the horse in question, and then the lawyer for the other side took her in hand for cross-examination. 'Ahem,' he began, 'and now, madam, I desire to ask you a few questions.' But the old lady, rising to leave the box, answered: 'Oh, no, you don't! I'll have no questions from you! You're not on our side!'"

Tapped and Done For.

Old Mike, who never drank water enough to warrant the disease, was reduced to such a state by drowsy that a consultation of physicians was held upon his case. They agreed that tapping was necessary. "Oh, Mike, Mike, never let 'em tap you!" cried his friend Dolan, when he heard the news. "Sure Jimmy, me by, 'twill do me good, and I'll live long in health." Dolan shook his head ominously. "No Mike, not yet won't. Niver wuz anythin' tapped in yere house that lasted more'n a week."

Something in It.

Simeon Ford, at a dinner in New York, said of the inauguration: "I am glad that the various inauguration banquets and dinners keep speech-making down to a minimum. There's too much speech-making here." "Friend," said one immigrant to another, this is a grand country to settle in. They don't hang you here for murder. "What do they do to you?" the other immigrant asked. "They kill you," was the reply, "with eloquence."

Martyr in Love.

The nerviest youth we ever heard of was the one who proposed ten times to the same girl, and came to be turned down the tenth time. "Dear boy," explained the girl patiently, "I like you, but I shall never marry a bachelor. I have always said that if I ever wed, it should be to a widower." "All right," came back our young friend, cheerfully. "I'll qualify if you'll tell me which of your girl friends you'd like to have me marry first!"

The Two Keys.

Representative Buckley of Ohio said the other day of a corrupt millionaire: "We have, thank goodness, few millionaires like him. And he is such a cynic, too. A senator once said to him: 'I'm sure you'll agree with me, sir, that the two keys to financial success are luck and pluck.' 'Yes,' he answered, with a cynical laugh—'yes, luck in finding some one to pluck.'"

His Day Off.

He was a new office boy. "How would you like to take a day off?" asked his employer. "Oh, fine!" said the lad, as visions of a day at leisure came before his eyes. "Well, then, take the Wednesday date off the calendar so Thursday will show, a day off, see?" And the new office boy hurried from the room with a plan to pass it on.—Indianapolis News

No Pleading Her.

Governor Sulzer, apropos of certain feeble defenses of certain Albany grafts, said to a group of reporters: "These defenses are all unsatisfactory. In their presence I am like Mrs. Oldes. 'That Mrs. Oldes is dreadfully hard to please,' said a woman. 'How so?' another woman asked. 'Why, I told her the other day that she carried her age well, and she didn't seem to like it at all, and she told her that she didn't carry it well, and she liked that less than ever.'"

The ankle-revealing breezes at the shore demand this daintiest of Regals, The Park Model.

Having in mind the short, narrow skirts which are decreed for summer costumes, we have rather outdone ourselves in producing this really beautiful model. Just a suggestion of that mannish effect in vogue today, but at the same time preserving the contour and lightness of a dress shoe. The last has a rather narrow, slightly raised toe. It is straight inside with a pretty, sweeping curve on the outside edge, allowing for perhaps a trifle more the room than you expect from its dainty proportions.

FOR THE BUSY READER

Fried to Take Short Cut—N. H. National Guard Tour—Falls Down Stairs—Sensation Promised.

Manchester.—Some three weeks ago a more than ordinarily good looking young lady came to this city and took rooms on Lake Avenue. At the same house was Peter Quento. It is not known how well acquainted Peter got with the young lady who gave her name as Ina Birch, but a short time ago he complained to the police that he had become separated from $25 and his gold watch, and he had suspicions that the missing property was in the possession of the fair Ina. She was accordingly placed under arrest, and as she was being taken to the station the officers detected the odor of chloroform, and noticed that she was holding her handkerchief to her face. They found it was saturated with the drug, and that she also had a bottle of carbolic acid concealed in her dress. She was much dejected over the arrest and said that she intended to commit suicide. It is alleged that she admitted taking the missing property, and said she had spent the money. She said her home was in Brattleboro, Vt., and that she ran away three weeks ago with a man.

Governor and Council Disagree.
Concord.—It is stated with some semblance of authority that the governor and council are at odds over the appointment of a purchasing agent, an office created at the late session. It is said that the governor favors Joseph S. Matthews, former attorney of the inheritance tax department, and a Republican, while the council contend that the place should go to a Democrat. It is expected that the matter will be settled at the meeting of the governor and council this week, and that the members of the Revenue commission will also be selected. A strong effort is being made to secure the appointment of Chris H. Little, former chairman of the board, and the governor is said to look upon the appointment with considerable favor.

Ended in a Blaze of Glory.
Rochester.—The tour of duty of the New Hampshire National Guard which has been in progress during the week, was brought to a close in this city Friday afternoon by a grand review and inspection by the governor and his staff. The affair took place upon the city grounds, and it is estimated that 15,000 people were in attendance. The occasion was made a holiday, and many places of business were closed. The troops have been favored with good weather, although a little cool the first of the week, and the tour of duty is pronounced a success. The only hitch was on Tuesday when a misunderstanding of orders of the governor of the county, the companies were so widely scattered that the maneuvers planned for the day could not take place.

Romance of Real Life.
Manchester.—On Saturday Elmer Carson, Chase of this city, and Mrs. Sarah Barker, President of Concord, were married after a separation of 16 years. They had been married 16 years when Carson, of some mis understanding of the law, separated from his wife, and went to Concord, where he had met and married Mrs. Barker. Both had married again, the first and of Mrs. Barker, and two years ago, after the marriage of Mr. Carson, did not move a happy one, and the couple parted. Mr. Carson and Mrs. Barker met at the house of a mutual friend and eventually married. The wedding was a private affair, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Holbrook, a pastor of the First Baptist church, who discovered being made that each loved the other and a wedding was the result.

Looks as if a Debt was Paid.
Concord.—Nathan R. Switzer, elected as a Republican to the house of representatives of 1913 from Ward 5, Laconia, but who voted for Henry F. Hollis, Democrat, for United States Senator, has been rewarded by Senator Hollis with an appointment as elevator conductor in the capital building at Washington and has gone there to take up his duties. He succeeds Luther J. Holt of Raymond, a doorkeeper in the state house of representatives, who did not like Washington life and threw up his job there.

Attempt to Fire Storehouse.
Keeler.—When one of the workmen of the L. J. Conroy cement company entered the storehouse Friday morning it was discovered that an attempt had been made to fire the building during the night. A pane of glass had been broken on the side next the railroad and oil soaked papers thrown in and set on fire. It appears there was not draft enough to set the building on fire, although a few chairs were badly scorched. The building is 130 feet long and 60 wide, and was filled with a stock of chairs belonging to the company.

Considerable Trouble Over a Horse.
Milford.—Herbert Spaulding of Hollis appeared in police court here Friday and was held in $400 bail for a future appearance in order that he might obtain counsel for abusing a horse that was unfit to work. Agents of both the Humane Society and the Animal Rescue League were present, and each was trying to handle the case. The agents of the Rescue League got a writ of replevin, but when they went to Hollis to serve it they found the animal had been shot.

The President's Summer Home.
Cornish.—It is expected that President Wilson and his family will reach the summer home here the first of July. Congress will probably take a recess from Wednesday before the fourth until the Monday following, and at that time it is expected the president will accompany his wife and daughters here. As soon as they are settled it is announced that the president will return to Washington, and he proposes to stay at the capital while Congress is in session.

That Cross-State Boulevard.
Raymond.—There was hearing here before the governor and council Thursday afternoon regarding the route of the cross-state boulevard from Portsmouth to Manchester. There was a large attendance of those interested, and arguments were made by several gentlemen in favor of the road passing through Candia, Raymond and Epping. The citizens served a supper at Free Mason's hall.

Shot Girl and Himself.
Portsmouth.—Robert White, aged 15, chief electrician at the local wireless station of the United States navy here, met his own death, walking home from a moving picture show Friday evening in company with two young men which so enraged him that he shot the girl and then ended his own life by shooting. The girl was Jennie Wade, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wade.

Saved Their Club House.
Bedford.—While destroying moth nests with a torch Saturday the club house of the O. C. C. Club at Severance pond in this town was set on fire, and not only that but several cottages were destroyed by the action of the fire. The fire was caused by a boy who for a half hour carried water in buckets and finally succeeded in subduing the flames.

Dropped Dead at a Sewing Circle.
Chapmunk.—Mrs. Edward McLanahan, 55 years of age, dropped dead at the meeting of the Chapmunk Sewing Circle Thursday afternoon. She went home in her usual health, but complained of feeling ill after her meal and suffered a shock. She died before assistance could be summoned. She is survived by a husband.

Descendent Shoots Himself.
Farmington.—The Rev. Washington Perkins, a farmer of some 60 years of age, shot himself with a shotgun on his farm last week. He was shot in the chest and died before assistance could be summoned.

Appealing to a man's reason is almost as productive of results as appealing to a woman's vanity.

Something of a Tumble.
Manchester.—Robert L. Thompson of Boston, who was a guest at the Hotel Milford Thursday, in some manner got a start down a flight of stairs during the afternoon and came down heels over head. When he reached the bottom his impetus was so great that he kept right on through a window taking out sash and glass, and landed another story farther down on the sidewalk. An ambulance was summoned and he was taken to a hospital where it was found that he was only suffering from a few bruises, no bones being broken, a cut on the head, and several cuts on his hands from the glass in the broken window.

A Wholesale Looting.
Nashua.—It was discovered about midnight Friday that 13 freight cars standing in the North yard at this station had been broken into and pillaged of a large amount of freight. Three men were arrested and held for a hearing, two more are being looked for, and several boys will have to explain their actions in the case in the juvenile court. Much of the plunder was recovered from the bushes near the Merrimack river comprising shoes in cases, whiskey in bottles, tobacco in boxes and many groceries. Small articles were recovered from the homes of some of the boys.

The man who can smile, and won't do it, cheats others and robs himself.

Perfect Chronometers.
The French watch-maker, notwithstanding years of trial, is not yet able to rival the Swiss, nor is he able to manufacture chronometers equal to those made in Geneva. The Chronometrical Observatory of Besancon has interesting records on this subject. This observatory subjected watches to severe tests under a great variety of conditions before formulating the rule that a watch to be perfect must meet with not less than three hundred requirements. Judging by this hard-and-fast rule, there are no perfect watches in the world; yet certain pocket chronometers have covered over 200 of the points laid down by the observatory.—Harper's Weekly

Protect Bullion in Shipment.
Making monthly shipments amounting to nearly $12,000,000, the South African gold mines take extreme care that their bullion shall reach the coast in safety. Since most of the shipments are sent from Pretoria by rail, many attempts have been made to hold up trains. To make successful robbery impossible the mine companies have built a car that is substantially a safe on wheels. It is equipped with lights that show every inch of space under, over, alongside, and on each end of the body, and it is bullet and bomb-proof. As further protection a guard is locked up in the car with every shipment, and cannot be released until the destination is reached.

Understanding.
Man is incapable of creating. He can only approach nature submissively, lovingly. Nothing will take the place of persevering study. To it alone the secret of life delivers itself. Live your life patiently, passionately to understanding life. What profit is there in coming indeed to understand? You will be in the circle of joy forever. To see, to understand—truly to see, would one need before the necessary of art, before the indispensable appreciation, however long and laborious, if he foresaw the happiness of understanding?—Rodin.

Hard Row.
Appropos of a very rich woman's marriage to a man much younger than herself, Mayer Thompson said at a dinner in Chattanooga: "Rich old women who marry handsome boys have a hard row to hoe. I know such an old woman. She said, tenderly, one day to her youthful spouse: 'What would you do, darling, if I should die and leave you?' The young man, yawning behind his gold-tipped cigarette, said languidly: 'Die and leave me how much?'"

Broke Records for Height.
It is reported that a sounding balloon sent up from the observatory of Parvia, the headquarters of upper air research in Italy, attained the unprecedented altitude of 234 miles. The previous record, 2015 miles, was made at the royal observatory of Belgium June 9, 1911. The American record, 1894 miles, was made at Huron, S. D., September, 1910.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury.

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. adv

Troop of Boy Scouts

Steps have been taken by the pastors of the various churches of the town in regard to organizing a troop of boy scouts. The plan is now well under way. The Methodist pastor has been agreed upon as scout master. The other pastors will assist. On Friday night, June 20, all the boys from 12 years old up through the teens who are interested are requested to meet at 7.30 o'clock in the Baptist church to finish the organizing. Parents of boys of this age are invited to attend and have the movement more fully explained, if they so desire. The invitation does not include only boys from the various churches and Sunday schools, but all who are interested.

A Severe Illness Leaves

The Kidneys Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swamp-Root upon the recommendation of a friend and found it was just what I needed. My blood became all right and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for that your great remedy did for me.

Yours very truly,

W. O. BLACKMON,
