

gradually the vast estates of the landed and titled aristocracy of Great Britain are dissolving under the sun of increasing power and rights of democracy. The latest scion of nobility to dispose of portions of his land is the duke of Grafton, who has decided to dispose of all his estates, excepting that in Norfolk. The property includes thousands of acres in Northamptonshire, including the family seat of Wakefield lodge. The land is some of the most valuable in England, and has been in possession of the family hundreds of years. Another nobleman, who has decided to cut up his property, is the duke of Newcastle. Last week land of his was sold for $115,000.

Suspicious Confirmed.

Little Laura was so quiet out in the kitchen that her mother suspected the child of some mischief.

"What are you doing, dearie?" the mother called.

"Nuffin," Laura answered.

"But you must be doing something."

"No I isn't."

"Are you sure?"

"Well, I isn't doin' much."

"Tell me this instant what you are doing or mamma will have to come with the hair brush!"

After a moment's silence the little one replied:

"I'm just davin' hairpins into the soap-wif Marjorie's looking glass."—Youngstown Telegram.

What Worried Him.

A clergyman recently engaged a boy to attend to his pony and make himself generally useful.

One of his duties was to milk a cow, but the latter, not liking the lad's clumsy method, quickly upset him, with the pail of milk on top of him.

The minister appearing on the scene, and finding the boy in tears, said to him:

"Never mind, my boy, it's no use crying over spilt milk."

"Aa's not crying over your auld milk," the boy replied, "but just look at me clothes!"

Saving Money for Her.

Miss K. was visiting in a small village, and planned to leave on a certain day for her home in a nearby town. Wishing to postpone her departure, she wrote a message and gave it to Uncle Silas, a village celebrity, to send by telegraph and handed him 25 cents for costs. On his return he brought her 24 cents.

"Why, what is this?" she asked. "Waal," drawled Uncle Silas, "I read your message, 'n' that warn't no haste about it, so I put it on a post card. 'n' it only cost yer one cent 'stid er twenty-five."

System in the Home.

Obedient Youngster—Mother, may I speak?

Parent—You know that you must not talk at the table.

May I not say just one thing?

"No, my boy. When your father has read his paper you may speak."

Father rouses through his paper and says kindly:

"Now, William, what is it?"

"I only wanted to say that the water in the bathroom had burst."

Homebick Bride.

"What's the matter, dear? Won't you smile at me?"

"The only thing that's wrong is you."

Portable Lessons of Birds.

It is a well-known fact that birds can be taught to do many things. For instance, they can be taught to fly in a certain order, to perform tricks, and to do many other things. This is done by training them from a young age. The birds are usually kept in a cage, and the trainer speaks to them and shows them the things they are to do. The birds learn to do these things because they want to please their trainer. This is a very interesting thing to watch, and it shows that birds are very intelligent creatures.

Lightning Struck Women.

It is a well-known fact that lightning strikes women more often than it does men. This is because women are generally taller than men, and therefore they are more likely to be struck by lightning. This is a very dangerous thing, and it is important for women to be careful when they are outdoors during a lightning storm. They should avoid tall objects, and they should not touch anything that is grounded. This is a very important thing to remember, and it can save a woman's life.

About Advertising

It costs money to advertise in a paper of circulation and influence in the community. Every business man who seeks to enlarge his trade, recognizes the fact that advertising is a legitimate expense. It is not the cheapest advertising that pays the best. Sometimes it is the highest priced newspaper that brings the largest net profit to the advertiser.

An Autocrat

Downtown (visiting suburban friend)—Who was that man to whom you just took off your hat?

Subbubs—Him? He's the engineer of our village water works, you know. He has a great idea of himself, and if we don't act with proper humility in his presence he shuts off the pressure and we can't wash, much less sprinkle our lawns.—Puck.

In Paris.

Mrs. Newrocks—Dear me! We must leave Paris tomorrow, and we are only up to page 19 of the guidebook.

Mr. Newrocks—Mark the place, and we'll come back next year and begin at page 20.—Puck.

It was a street car conductor's duties in the church of which he was a member to take up the collections one day; and, as it happened, his first experience of such duties. He was a little nervous as he started down the center aisle, but that soon wore off, and he began to feel almost at home.

There were several children in the first pew. Each put in a penny. The people in the next pew also contributed something each.

A big, glum fellow sat alone in the third pew. The new collector passed him the plate, but the man shook his head and stuck his hands deep into his pockets.

Thereupon our friend the conductor stopped, put up his hand as if to jerk the bell cord, and said:

"Well, you'll have to get off."—National Monthly.

PLEASURE IN ONE'S LABOR

Real Contentment Best Found in Work, Very Exceptionally in an Idle Existence.

Should a man look upon his bread-earning as an unwelcome task, to be hurried and done with confusion and at the risk of his health, with the hope of reaching an early period of retirement when he may do what he will and really "enjoy life?"

But suppose a man can hope to retire at an early period and live thereafter without gainful work, is he justified in regarding whatever respectable occupation he has as a bore or as merely a method of earning enough money to retire on? And, if he so regards it, is he likely to enjoy his retirement?

He will make a very doubtful experiment. Whatever a man does during his active period, he ought to do with such orderliness and thoroughness as to get from his daily and monthly and yearly labor the pleasure that comes from doing his task well and the additional pleasure of so doing it that he performs a real service.

To do anything wholly for the money it brings is not to do it well enough. And those men who contract the habit of working wholly for the money are likely thereby to unfit themselves for the enjoyment of a period of retirement. For the right-minded man makes agreeable companionships in his daily work, he finds problems that call for all his brain and character—for endurance, for fair judgment, for just dealing, for doing as he would be done by; and all these are the very warp and woof of successful living.

The kind of man to retire from money earning labor with the hope of really enjoying life in the man who has really enjoyed life during his period of hardest work. And you will deceive yourself if you imagine that in idleness you will develop virtues or a capacity for sensible enjoyment that you did not have during your working days.—World's Work.

On the Face of it.

The information editor received this letter from a fresh youth:

"Kindly tell me why a girl always closes her eyes when a fellow kisses her?"

The editor replied:

"If you will send your photograph, we may be able to tell you the reason."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Make Your Hair More Beautiful

To give your hair that gloss and lustre and wavy silky softness, use Harmony Hair Beautifier. It takes away the dull dead look of the hair, and makes it bright, turns the stringiness into fluffiness, overcomes the oily odors and leaves a sweet, true-rose fragrance, makes the hair easier to put up neatly and easier to keep in place. It is just exactly what it is named, a hair beautifier, and whether your hair is ugly now or beautiful, it will improve its appearance. You'll be proud of and delighted with the results, or your money back. Very easy to apply, simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure, liquid shampoo is most convenient to use, because it gives an instantaneous rich, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness, just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back.

Sold in this community only at our store, The Rexall Store, one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.—E. M. Lane, Antrim, adv.

Croup and Cough Remedy

Croup is a terrible disease, it attacks children so suddenly that they are very apt to choke unless given the proper remedy at once. There is nothing better in the world than Dr. King's New Discovery. Lewis Chamberlain of Manchester, Ohio, writes about his children: "Sometimes in severe attacks we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is we have no fear. We rely on it for croup, coughs and colds." So can you. 50c and $1.00. A bottle should be in every home. At all druggists H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis.

We are ready to make you suggestions. Likely you are in doubt what to buy. Let us help you.
