BASE BALL

Antrim Loses to Bennington

Bennington defeated Antrim at Bennington on Saturday last by the score of 7 to 6 in somewhat of an uninteresting game. Having an umpire with relatives on the opposing team proved to be quite unsatisfactory to the Antrim boys. Kepple and Curtis both pitched good ball, and the playing of Lynch at 1st base for Antrim was all that could be desired; Capt. Whitney's two-bagger was all to the good.

When Kepple's 3-bagger was called a foul.

The score:

Antrim	AB	R	BH	A	E
W Crampton, rf	6	0	2	0	0
Thornton, ss	6	1	0	1	3
Whitney, 2b	5	0	3	1	1
C Crampton, 3b	5	0	2	2	1

Death of J. L. Reed

J. Langdon Reed passed away at his home on Maple avenue Tuesday morning; his age was 73 years. He had been in failing health for quite a long time, yet able to be around and not long since was upon our streets. A week ago or better he suffered a shock of paralysis, from which time he failed more rapidly, and the end of his sufferings has been reached.

Deceased was a veteran of the Civil war, and had been a long-time member of Ephraim Weston Post. One of our honored veterans has passed on to his reward, and from among his associates he will be greatly missed.

Funeral services will be held on Friday, at 1.30 o'clock, from the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Fred Shoalts is in Boston for a few days.

The Charm of a Clam

A clam, with only mouth in sight,
Was buried near the strand.
I offered him a stick to bite,
And drew him forth to land.

I do not know what change time wrought,
Or if he lies there yet.
I only know he forced a thought
Which I cannot forget.

When humans speak to me some blame
In custom or in law,
Let me not run and spread the shame,—
Give me a clammy jaw!

Nicely Improved Property

The family of Robert W. Jameson are comfortably situated in their new home on Hancock road—the Tenney farm. The house has been rebuilt and modernized, nicely finished and painted, with broad piazzas. A new house has been erected nearby for the foreman of the farm; this is large and roomy. The farm buildings have been put in first class condition and additions to them have been made. This is one of the most pleasant homes in this section—in Hancock, yet so near to Antrim as to be almost a part of us. We congratulate Mr. Jameson and his family on owning such a comfortable home, for summer occupancy primarily, but hope to see them eventually all-the-year-around residents.

Preached to the Masons

A special service was held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon for the members of Harmony lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Hillsboro. All Masons in this vicinity were invited guests and there were about sixty members from this and adjoining towns in attendance.

Rev. F. Albert Arbuckle, pastor, delivered the address. His topic was "The Impartial Instrument." There was vocal and instrumental music of an appropriate nature to the occasion.

Mrs. Nelson St. Sauveur

After an illness of thirty years, the last five years of which she had been helpless, Mrs. Lizzie G. St. Sauveur passed away at her home on Wednesday, June 24, at the age of 55 years. Deceased was married in Windsor to Nelson St. Sauveur. She had for a long time been a member of the Presbyterian church. Her daughter, Mrs. Joel O. Smart, of Beverley, Mass., her husband, and brother, Walter Atwood, are the survivors.

The funeral services were held on Friday from the Presbyterian church. Interment was in the North Branch cemetery.

Last Sad Rites

The funeral services of Mrs. Charles W. Prentiss were held from her late home on Fairview street, Thursday afternoon. Rev. F. Albert Arbuckle, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiated. Rev. Charles Jones, pastor of the Congregational church, of which Mrs. Prentiss was a member, gave the invocation. Singing was by a ladies' quartet composed of Mrs. Hattie Goodwin, Miss Charlotte E. Balch, Miss Vera McClure and Miss Florence L. Brown. Interment was in the family lot at North Branch cemetery.

Whittle-Boyden

On Saturday, June 27th, Grace Isabel Whittle of Antrim, and Charles Lewis Boyden of Norwood, Mass., were united in marriage at the Jameson homestead.

The ceremony was very simple and quiet, only relatives and immediate friends being present. Rev. F. Albert Arbuckle officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyden left during the afternoon for a few weeks' trip in northern New Hampshire, after which they will be at home in Boston.

New Officers

At the regular Saturday evening meeting of Waverley lodge, I. O. O. F., the following officers were elected for the next six months:

N. G.—Geo. W. Goodhue
V. G.—John Thornton
Rec. Sec'y—H. W. Eldredge
Fin. Sec'y—M. E. Nay
Treas.—F. I. Burnham
Elmer Merrill was elected delegate to the Grand Lodge.

The installation of officers will be held July 11.

Selectmen's Notice

The Selectmen will hold their regular meeting this week on Friday afternoon instead of Saturday, that day being the Fourth. All business relating to town matters will be attended to at this time.

Per order,
Selectmen of Antrim

A Card

We wish to acknowledge our appreciation for all the words of comfort, or deeds manifested at the sudden death and burial of our dear mother; to the singers, the Relief Corps, and for the many beautiful flowers.

LITTLE ODE ON THE DAY OF DAYS

Dedicated to the More or Less Solemn Occasion on Which the Birthday of Great Nation is Fittingly Celebrated.

I
THIS is the day of days;
This is the solemn occasion
On which we raise
Our voices in highest praise
Of those from whom our birthright has descended;
Without considering political persuasion,
Forgetting all the bruises and the smart
Of bitter enmity,
From rancor free,
With thankful hearts,
With every grievance for the moment
Mended,
And with the ever-sacred, ever-splendid
Emblem of freedom waving high,
We turn while from thoughts of gain,
We cast aside the heavy strain,
We cease a little while to sigh
For all the dollars that remain;
We run the starry banner up
And, glad of heart, go in
The special tournament to win
A seven-dollar silver cup.

II
This is the day we celebrate
With undiminished elation
The birth of our glorious nation;
The high and the great,
The high and the humble,
Cease for awhile to grumble
At the whims of fate;
In a strictly safe and sane manner
We hang out our burning and proceed to raise the banner
That knows no brother;
Forgetting the grievances that sometimes set
Us against one another,
We proudly proceed to let
The eagle scream
A perfectly polite little scream or two,
And then we stream
Forth from our habitations to renew
Our efforts to exceed
The limits which apply to speed
And add new glory to the glorious day
By running over slow, plain people who impede
Our flight by lingering in the way.

III
This is our nation's natal day;
You know, of course, what natal means;
This is the glorious day when they
Who cling to rural scenes
Take off their jeans,
Don Sunday clothes and, claiming proud
elation,
Perceive what time
The sublime
And ever-thrilling Declaration
Is murdered by some local orator.
This is the day when we
Have gracious pity for
Those lockless ones across the sea
Who never have learned the pride of being free.
So let us hasten forth—
East, west and south and north—
Nor cease
To riot in the freedom we possess.
Nor pause for anything, unless
It may be the police.

—G. H. Kiser.

One—The man of the day saying a man
more money than brains! Quite ridiculous!

Jack—That's so.

One—Of course. Why, I haven't got a cent.

Jack—Well?

OLD AGE AND YOUTH IN FREEDOM'S FIGHT

Signers of the Declaration of Independence Represented All Classes of the People and Were of All Ages.

THE men who gathered together early in July, 1776, to consider the question of independence, represented many professions and ages. Of the 56 men who constituted all of the signers of the Declaration, 24 were lawyers, 14 agriculturists, four physicians, one a minister, one manufacturer, nine merchants, and three who had been educated for the ministry, but who later followed other professions. Although at the time of signing the Declaration the majority of the men were between forty and sixty years of age, several were in their early thirties, and two forty-seven. The youngest signer was Edward Rutledge of North Carolina, who was not twenty-seven until about four months after the signing. The oldest was Thomas Lynch, Jr., who celebrated his twenty-seventh birthday three days after the signing. Mr. Lynch was drowned at sea before he was thirty. On the other hand, Benjamin Franklin was seventy at the time of signing. Equally interesting are the ages of the men when they died. Three lived to be over ninety, 14 over sixty, 11 over fifty, and the remainder, with the exception of Lynch, lived to be over forty-four.

John Adams

"Don't think your father feels very kindly toward me," said Mr. Staylate. "You misjudge him. The morning after you called on me he seemed quite worried for fear I had not treated you with proper courtesy."
"Indeed! What did he say?"
"He asked me how I could be so rude as to let you go away without your breakfast."

SOME WRINKLES OF RAM'S HORN BROWN

Philosopher Delivers Himself of a Few Gems of Thought and Humor Engendered by the Nation's Natal Day.

WHAT the country will be after a while will depend upon what we are teaching the children.

The nation that forgets its past will never have much of a future.

The Puritan came to this country more than a hundred years ahead of the mule and did all the kicking until the mule arrived.

Without the dreamers of yesterday the world would not have been as wide awake as it is today.

If there is a day in the year when we have a God-given right to swell up and brag on ourselves it is the Fourth of July.

The man who is not proud that he is an American when he hears the rockets sizz and sees the pinwheels is a disgrace to his sex.

Without castles in the air there would never have been any palaces on the ground.

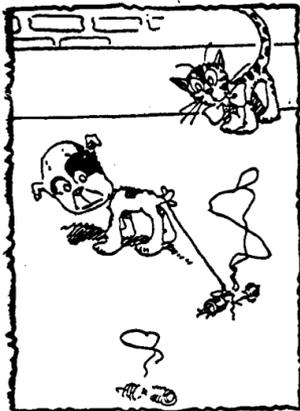

Let us not forget the Puritan motto. They not only endured all that the Pilgrim fathers endured, but also endured the Pilgrim fathers.

What we would put into the life of the nation we must first put into the mind of the child.

Every boy should be taught that he must sign his own declaration of independence, and fight his own revolutionary war.

We are what we are today because of what we did unto our neighbor what he wanted to do unto us—and did it.

A BOSTON DOG

The Dog—No; only irritated.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Though contented we roam all the rest of the year

Amid palaces over the foam,
On the Indian river, the land of the free
Is everywhere keeping the day.

From the walls of the mansion and cottage alike
In the breezes of summertime fly
The star-studded folds of the red, white and blue.

On Fourth of July.

We know from the pines on the Kennebec's banks
To the live oaks, in mantles of gray,
On the Indian river, the land of the free
Is everywhere keeping the day.

From the walls of the mansion and cottage alike
In the breezes of summertime fly
The star-studded folds of the red, white and blue.

On Fourth of July.

No let cannons and cracks and pistols and drums
And pinwheels and rockets that soar
With booming and bursting and rattle and bang

And sputter and whiz and uproar.
Proclaim we are glad we were born in a land

The best that is under the sky
And are proud of that truly American day.

The Fourth of July.

—Minna Irving in Leslie's Weekly.

Electrical Fourth.

The proposed substitution of electrical illuminations on the Fourth of July in place of the old fashion of fireworks is an excellent one, asserts the New York World. It will be not only safer and safer but more largely enjoyable by the greater part of the population. Moreover, it has wonderful possibilities. Even in the distorted freaks of electrical designs used in advertising we can perceive the chances of developing a really new art out of the light that electricity has put at our disposal.

There is no limit to the variety of colors, shades and tints that can be produced. Consequently if skill and taste and a fairly liberal allowance of money be at the command of the committee having charge of the celebration it would be quite practicable to produce in different parts of the city a series of illuminations that would be something more than a mere novelty. Moreover, a scheme of this kind once well begun will advance and improve with the years. By and by New York's Fourth of July illuminations might become as world-famous as once were those of St. Peter's at Rome on Easter night.

METHODS TO AVOID LOCKJAW

Mothers Will Do Well to Keep These Instructions in Their Memory.

Surgeon General Wyman issued the following instructions for the prevention of tetanus (lockjaw) following injuries from Fourth of July blank cartridges, pistols, toy cannon, firecrackers, etc.:

In addition to giving a preventive dose of tetanus antitoxin, it should be an invariable procedure to lay open all Fourth of July wounds. All foreign matter, dead or badly injured flesh, should be removed, an anaesthetic being used to prevent pain and proper measures taken to limit bleeding.

After the wound has been thoroughly cleaned it should be swabbed out with strong carbolic acid of at least 25 per cent, followed by a washing with 95 per cent alcohol to prevent further action of the acid.

After the wound has been cauterized in this way it should be thoroughly washed out with a bichloride of mercury solution, packed with gauze, and dressed every day.

As results of the celebrations of Independence day in this country during the last five years there have been 768 cases of lockjaw, with 721 deaths. Of these deaths, 693 were traceable to blank cartridges. But the number of deaths from this direct cause has decrease from 363 in 1903 to 52 in 1907.

THEY SAY OF THE FOURTH

The Army—Just as dry as any other day.

The Gaffer—I've got to let up for one day.

Up in Sing Sing—And they call this liberty!

The Southerner—I don't care if I do, suh.

The Statesman—Why not whoop for me a few times?

The Peanut Man—Bless Liberty, and who wants the next bag?

The Middle West—Good enough day, but we need rain for corn.

The Far Westerner—I'm no patriot if I don't pop some one today!

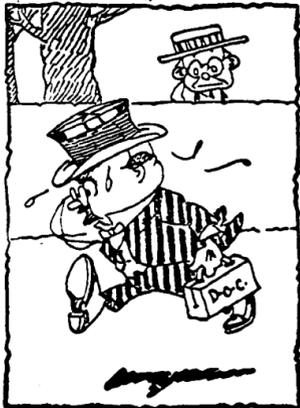

The Average Boy—My stingy old dad wouldn't gimme but five cents!

The New England Farmer—I guess there's some of that hard cider left.

The Family Cook—Darn them old patriots! Who is to pay for this extra work?

The Easterner—Yes, we know, but it is no longer fashionable to say so much about it.

The Little German Band—We go toot! toot! toot! and then she vhas some bad eggs!

Friend—Oh! Doc, how's Willie?
Doc (testily)—Which Willie, man? Don't you know every Willie within two miles is blown up?

EQUALITY.

"All men may be born free, but it's absolutely foolish to say that they are born equal."

"Sure, they're born equal. I'll bet everyone that's born is equal to somebody."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Far in the east where morning gleams
And spreads its glorious light in streams
The early birds unite in song,
And echoes glad their notes prolong.

I hear the carols glad and sweet;
From mount to mount echoes repeat
And roll out to the western sea,
Liberty, sweet Liberty.

The answering tones of bells roll on—
Lexington, Concord and Lexington.
And Charlestown bells all listeners thrill
With Bunker Hill! Bunker Hill!
From Harlem and Yorktown come reply—
Fourth of July! Fourth of July!

Ring bells! Ring bells! With joyous swells,
Peace and good will your music tells,
While o'er the land booms forth with roar—
One country, one flag, forevermore.

God grant our country may retain
Her high position without stain.
In peace and virtue's triumphs may she learn
The greatest prize of victory to earn.
—John Livingston Hunt in Boston Herald.

TOOK STAR FROM VAUDEVILLE

Motion Picture People Did Well When They Secured the Services of Charles W. Hitchcock.

Charles W. Hitchcock, now one of the most popular of all the motion picture stars, started out nineteen years ago with Katy Emmett, playing the same parts formerly played by Chauncey Olcott and Andrew Mack. He then went into vaudeville and naturally drifted into comedy sketches, afterward emerging into a single act stunt. In this particular line Mr. Hitchcock became quite a favorite and was often seen on the Sullivan and Conedine programs as a headline attraction.

WOMEN WHO HELPED TO FREE COUNTRY

Numerous Instances Where the Wives and Daughters of Patriots Showed Themselves Worthy a Share of the Glory.

WOMEN gave their services in manifold ways during the Revolutionary war. Elizabeth Zane, at the siege of Fort Mifflin—later Fort Henry—on the present site of Wheeling, W. Va., crossed a zone of fire swept by the rifles of 500 savages carrying an apronful of powder from an auxiliary blockhouse to the main works, the fresh supply of ammunition saving the garrison from the necessity of surrender.

Catherine Schuyler, wife of the famous general, set fire to a vast acreage of wheat fields on the Schuyler estate to prevent them from falling into the hands of Burgoyne upon his advance from Fort Edward to Saratoga.

Mrs. Esther Reed of Philadelphia defied the British, who were at that time in possession of her home city, by clothing and raising funds for the American army at Valley Forge. Upon her death the work was continued by Mrs. Sarah Bacha, daughter of Benjamin Franklin. Hundreds of other Philadelphia women secretly co-operated.

The wives of most of the commanding generals—notably Martha Washington and Mrs. Nathaniel Greene—accompanied their husbands in every campaign, and did everything in their power to alleviate the hardships of the soldiery. Mrs. Washington even went through the cruel winter at Valley Forge, where her ministrations are said to have saved many lives. Still other women went into British prisons and prison ships to save the sick and wounded American prisoners.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, mother of Andrew Jackson, in fact, died from prison fever contracted while engaged in this work of mercy among the American captives at Charleston.

Mary Draper invented the pewter bullet, which came into use after the supply of lead was exhausted, and thousands of patriotic women the country over surrendered their prize pewter utensils to be melted up for ammunition.

Mrs. Rebecca Motta, whose splendid mansion between Charleston and Camden, S. C., was turned into a fort by the British, instructed the besieging Americans to set the structure afire by shooting blazing arrows on to the roof. The result was that the British were smoked out, though the mansion itself was reduced to ashes.

But the most bizarre service of all was rendered by Handy Betty Hager, known also as Betty the Blacksmith, who refitted guns and artillery for the patriotic armies. Betty was a natural mechanic, whose latent abilities were developed in the employ of Samuel Leverett, a blacksmith-farmer living near Boston.

Prior to the battle of Concord, the patriots of the surrounding country had been preparing themselves for the conflict for months. Guns of all types—matchlocks, flintlocks, smoothbores, blunderbusses and what not, some of which had not seen service for three or four generations—came piling into the Leverett shop, and while Leverett himself could be observed by any passing tory to be busily engaged in shoeing horses, his unsuspected assistant was working in a secret chamber making the neighbors' antiquated old firearms serviceable once more.

Betty kept up this volunteer work throughout the whole course of the war, never accepting a single copper for her labor. To Betty and her employer, likewise, belongs the credit of putting the first captured British cannon into action. On the retreat from Concord the British left six brass cannon behind them, thoughtfully spiking the touchholes so that they could not be discharged.

Betty and Leverett, however, patiently drilled out the spikes at the rate of one a week, and in no long time the British found the beleaguering Americans driving them out of Boston at the mouths of their own cannon.

NATION OWES MUCH TO ROBERT MORRIS

"Banker of the Revolution" Furnished Large Funds With Which to Carry On The Struggle for Freedom.

ROBERT MORRIS, although an Englishman by birth, might be called the "banker of the revolution," for it was he who on several occasions was called upon to find money for the army. When congress fled from Philadelphia to Baltimore, Mr. Morris was one of the committee that stayed behind. Washington had been forced to retreat before the enemy, and was camped on the opposite shores of the Delaware. The British were able to obtain accurate information as to his position, but he could not do likewise with regard to theirs through lack of funds. So he wrote Robert Morris, asking for money, and the letter was brought him by a confidential messenger, reaching him after practically all the inhabitants had left Philadelphia for some safer place. Depressed, he did not know what to do, until he casually met an acquaintance, a friend, who asked for the news.

Mr. Morris told him of needing money, and added: "Your security is to be my note and my honor." "Robert, thou shalt have it," replied the man, and the money was secured and sent General Washington. In 1780 Robert Morris instituted a bank in Philadelphia, with others, the object of which was to establish credit by means of which congress could be furnished with means for relieving the army. He headed the list of subscriptions with $10,000, to which others added sufficient to total $350,000. By this means 3,000,000 rations of provisions and 300 hogheads of rum were procured and forwarded to the needy army. Upon still another occasion Washington wrote him that the military stores were woefully depleted and asked for aid. There was no ammunition but that in the men's boxes, which was wet. All the lead possible had been secured, even the spouts of the houses.

Under such circumstances it was but natural that Mr. Morris should be hard put to it to find a way to supply the lead. However, he was a guest at an entertainment given by the Spanish minister, and upon being pressed by his host for the cause of his apparent worry, showed him the letter from Washington. His host then told him that one of his ships had just arrived at the wharf with 90 tons of lead, which she brought as ballast. "You can have my half of this fortunate supply," he said, "and there are the owners of the other half." He secured the lead, set one hundred men to work that same night, and before morning had sent a supply of bullets to the depleted army.

NOT THE SECOND OF JULY

John Adams Wrong in His Idea of When Nation's Birth Should Be Celebrated.

Said John Adams to his wife Abigail in a letter written a hundred and thirty years ago: "The second of July will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

Time and circumstance have confirmed the spirit of the Adams prophecy, but for another day. It is the glorious Fourth instead of the fateful Second that we celebrate. Richard Henry Lee's resolution "that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states," was passed July 2, 1776. The elaborate Declaration of Independence, wherein Thomas Jefferson drafted the why and wherefore of it all, was accepted two days later.

Among the instruments of celebration recommended by Mr. Adams in the letter already cited were "shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations." Orators are not in the list. In the old-fashioned Fourth they were started next to the cannon which awoke patriotic echoes at midnight of July 3 and to the "fantastics" whose midday parade appealed to the elated spirit of Yankee humor. This decline in occasional oratory is to be regretted.

The modern Fourth of July, it is painful to believe, involves more of infantile delight in a tremendous noise than of serious reflection as to what the day stands for. It is an occasion, too, of greater annual slaughter than of Bunker Hill or many another Revolutionary battle. In 1903 the day's dead were 466, the injured 3,983. In 1904 the number of dead fell to 183, but the wounded were 3,984.

TO TREAT INJURIES INCIDENT TO DAY

Wounds Should Be Washed Thoroughly While Waiting for Doctor to Come and Inject the Antitoxin That Can Save.

WHILE the children amass their noisy tokens of patriotism and wheedle their fathers into the purchase of deadly fire spitting devices, mothers set their teeth to endure long hours of torture for the safety of their little ones, writes Dr. L. K. Hirschberg in Farm and Fireside. Little by little the delights of the safe and sane Fourth are being recognized, but in the meantime, while the crackers bang and blaze, it is a comfort to know that doctors have learned to deal so effectually with one of the dangers attendant upon the Fourth of July—lockjaw—that there is no need for the disease to result in death. Through lack of information, more than a thousand people in the United States die from it each year, most of them farmers and country-bred youngsters.

The reason lockjaw is so often associated with Fourth of July accidents lies in the fact that wounds made by firecrackers, skyrocket and blank cartridges are commonly ragged and confused, and so afford a favorable soil for the germs. It is known also that wounds where free air and oxygen cannot enter, as is the case with those made by rusty nails or those accompanied by deep tearing and those in which dirt has been ground into the flesh, gunshot and powder burns, are most likely to be followed by the disease. The first symptoms of lockjaw usually appear from three days to three weeks after the injury. Home remedies and slabs of bacon hasten it. The earlier they appear, the more serious the attack.

Fortunately, it is always possible to prevent lockjaw, provided no delay follows the injury. The method is to have a doctor inject antitoxin—poison antidote—into the patient's flesh. This kills the poisons as fast as they are given off by the lockjaw germs, which are a veritable mine of poisons at the site of the sore. If treatment is delayed until lockjaw symptoms appear there is little hope of cure. It is then too late.

In the interval which may elapse before a doctor can arrive it is advisable to wash the wound thoroughly with soap and water, and to flood it before binding it up with common peroxide of hydrogen. After this has been done the wound should be covered, but on no account use a handkerchief or an old rag, but get a strip of antiseptic bandage. A package of antiseptic bandage should always be in readiness in every household. A clean, open wound which bleeds freely is little likely to harbor the germs of lockjaw.

The light and air and oxygen striking into it kill them, and the flowing blood washes them out. In all such cases, unless the flow of blood is excessive, it is well to make no effort to stop it. It will cease of itself in a few moments.

The use of such homely remedies as bacon and spider webs to stop the flow is foolhardy and frequently fatal. The average spider web, particularly if it comes from a cellar or a stable, is alive with germs. But no matter how small the wound may be it is well to have a doctor dress it. He alone is capable of washing it as it should be washed and of estimating the likelihood of infection. His fee is money well invested. It may buy only insurance against a long and terrible illness, but then again it may buy insurance against death.

St. Louisans Well-Known in Game.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat recently devoted a page to motion picture players who are natives of that city. In the list are Naomi Childers, Edith Sterling, "Broncho Billy" Anderson, Anne Shaefer, King Baggot, Edwin August and Rosemary Theby.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. — "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere. It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

JUST HUMOR

Must Be Simple.
 In a registration booth in San Francisco an old negro woman had just finished registering for the first time.

"Ah you shore," she asked the clerk, "dat ise done all I has to do?"

"Quite sure," replied the clerk, "you see, it's very simple."

"I'd ought to knowed it," said the old woman. "If those fool men folks been doing it all dese years, I might a-knowed it was a powerful simple process."—Life.

Waste of Time.
 "Are you still taking a cold plunge every morning?"

"No, I quit doing that to save time."

"Why, a cold plunge doesn't take more than a minute or two."

"I know, but I used to spend three-quarters of an hour curled up in bed hesitating."

Promised a Reward.
 "So your constituents objected to your absence from Washington?"

"Yes," explained the representative. "Didn't you tell them that your vote was paired?"

"Yes; and they said that they would see to it that it was paired still more when I came up for re-election."

Fortunate.
 "How fortunate!"

"What's the matter now?"

"The Brownsons are here."

"Well, what of it?"

"They live out our way and own a car and undoubtedly they'll ask us to ride home with them."

Play for Ethel Barrymore.
 As soon as she concludes her engagement in "A Scrap of Paper" Ethel Barrymore will appear before the camera in a six-part picture play which is being specially written for her by Augustus Thomas.

"Bliggins' boy doesn't say as many bright things as he used to."

"No. Bliggins has taken to tango dancing, and hasn't time to think 'em up."

To the Bitter End.
 Redd—What do you think of the new baseball league?
 Greene—It means war in the baseball world.

"Sure; it will be diamond cut diamond."

HER LINE IS COMEDY WORK

Margaret Joslin Todd Said By Many to Be the Best in the Photoplay Business.

Surely if there be a best comedy woman in the business, it is Margaret Joslin Todd. The fact that her appearance in the pictures is the result of a happy accident, rather than any consuming desire on her part, makes her success all the more interesting. Known to all her friends as Mrs. Todd, she declares that her husband got her into the business and she has no reason to think harshly of him for it. She has been playing comedy parts with inimitable humor for about three years, all that time playing along with her husband, Harry Todd, whose work is so familiar in the western dramas and comedies. Mrs. Todd is nothing if not thoroughly domesticated and she is deeply attached to the pretty home down in Niles, where her time is fully occupied looking after the wants and happiness of her husband and daughter, and donning those quaint make-ups that are a fit accompaniment to her comedy work in the pictures.

HAVE A FIRM HOLD
 Moving Pictures Continue More in Demand Than Ever.

Some Interesting Figures Forwarded by American Consuls in Europe—Tastes of Peoples Are Shown to Vary Widely.

American consuls in European and other foreign countries have recently been sending reports to Washington on the motion picture industry, these reports showing that east and west, north and south, the "movies" now hold sway and are playing a star role in the amusements of the nations.

From many places comes the consular declaration that the attractions at the film play theaters are not merely one of the chief amusements, but the chief amusement. From Nuremberg, Germany, for instance, Consul George Nicolas Ift writes that the moving picture "has advanced to first place among the people of Bavaria." In Munich there are 32 theaters, with a total seating capacity of 4,650, and a yearly sale of 3,000,000 tickets, while in Nuremberg there are 14 theaters, with a seating capacity of 3,400. The other large Bavarian cities all have numerous theaters.

In regard to comparison with other amusements, Consul George N. Ift writes that in the city of Hof the total attendance at places of public amusement for one year was 209,551. Of this total, 138,610 was attendance at film shows. Attendances at other amusements were: Theaters, 38,000; concerts, 8,500; public dances, 4,000; circuses, 7,000. In the city of Fuerth in one month the attendance at the "movies" was 14,000, while for that month and the two preceding months the attendance at all other public places of amusement, including ordinary theaters, was but 12,600.

From Great Britain come reports that, while the motion-picture theaters are constantly increasing their hold on the public, American films of cowboy life—well received not long ago—are beginning to lose popularity.

HIS ROLE IS COMEDY LEAD
 Few of the Photoplay Stars Are More Popular Than Clever Mr. Eddie Redway.

Eddie Redway, who is now playing leading comedy roles, was for a year connected with Arthur Roberts at the Lyric theater, London, England, where he played in "The Modern Don Quixote" and later under the management of Mr. George Edward, in the famous comedy "The Messenger Boy."

Mr. Redway is well known in Scotland, Ireland and Wales. It was during a visit to Chicago that Mr. Redway was engaged to play leading roles and much is expected of him, too, and much he is going to give us and the photoplay public—the laughing kind—that you will be pleased to see.

Specialist on Railroad Photoplays.
 J. P. McGowan, the producer, has become known as a specialist on railroad photoplays. He has produced and is still producing them from every angle, and the members of his company are almost as well versed in railroad lore as he is himself. Helen Holmes, his leading woman, declares she almost lives on, in, around, or under trains.

To Produce "Fantasma."
 An eastern company has acquired the filming rights to the Hanlon brothers' extravaganza, "Fantasma." The fantastic effects and the trick scenes are said to lend themselves to perfect photographic reproduction.

Farmers and Horsemen
ATTENTION!

Don Hercules!
 For Service.

Here is a chance to breed to one of the Best Percheron Stallions in New England.

Don Hercules, No. 71845, is 4 years old, sound, good disposition, handsome as a picture, weighs 1600 lbs., is bred way up in the purple; 8 red crosses on Sire's side and 11 red crosses on Dam's side. Register papers and pedigree can be seen at stable.

We have been very careful in selecting this Stallion to get one of the best that could be bought, regardless of cost. Breed your good Mares and raise some horses that will sell from three to five hundred dollars each; the country is short of this kind of horses and there is always a market for them.

The regular service fee for this kind of Stallion is $25, but to advertise Don Hercules and make it an object for every farmer to raise a nice pair of horses, we will make the fee $15 to warrant, $5 payable at time of service, balance when Mare proves in foal. All Mares disposed of are considered in foal, and fee is payable at once. All Mares bred at owner's risk; Colts holden for fee. Stable board $2 per week. Visitors welcome.

Also have a French Coach Stallion for service.

Call us on the 'phone to make arrangements for breeding, as it might save waiting.
