75TH BIRTHDAY

G. G. Whitney, Sr., Entertains Friends

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Whitney, Sr., of Fairview street, was the scene of a most enjoyable party when Mr. Whitney entertained the comrades of the G. A. R., and their wives, the occasion being in celebration of his 75th birthday.

Among the veterans of Ephraim Weston Post, who were present with their wives were George E. Hutchinson, Commander of the Post, and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Muzzey, Mr. and Mrs. Will Mudge, and Col. E. C. Paige and Squires Forsaith. There were also present several invited friends.

An elaborate collation was served to which ample justice was done by all. After the banquet a social time with music was enjoyed. In behalf of those present, Col. Paige presented Mr. Whitney with a sum of money; he was also the recipient of other gifts.

G. Granville Whitney was born in Windsor, this state, and came to Antrim with his parents when he was about three years of age. He is the son of the late Cyrus and Mary (Morrison) Whitney. He lived here until he attained his majority, when the Civil War was declared and Mr. Whitney was one of the first men to volunteer for service. He enlisted from Peterboro in Company G, 2d New Hampshire Volunteers, under Capt. Ephraim Weston.

Mr. Whitney saw much active service during the War and was in the battles of Bull Run, siege of Yorktown, Williamsburg, Seven Pines, Cold Harbor, Fredericksburg, the second battle of Bull Run, and the final conflict at Gettysburg.

After the War he was employed by a bridge and trestle construction company at Louisville, Ky. In October, 1872, he married Miss Elizabeth Bolles of Louisville, and they lived at Kentucky until 1884, when they removed to Antrim, where they have since resided.

Mr. Whitney was in the employ of the Goodell Company for about thirty years. He is identified with the Woodbury Memorial Methodist church and has been librarian of the Sunday school for many years.

When Ephraim Weston Post of the G. A. R. was organized here Mr. Whitney was one of the prominent members and has been very active in its history. He has attended many of the annual meetings of the veterans of New Hampshire and two years ago he enjoyed a trip to Gettysburg and attended the patriotic celebrations.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney have two children, Miss Mary Emma Whitney, and G. Granville Whitney, Jr., both of whom reside in Antrim.

Miss Nina Ramsey, from Concord, was the recent guest of Misses Olive and Florine Ashford.

Lincoln Party at the Methodist Church

On Friday evening of this week—the anniversary of Lincoln's birth—the people of the Methodist church will celebrate the observance by giving a Lincoln Party; members of the church and congregation, together with the G. A. R. veterans and their wives as special guests, will enjoy the evening.

The committees in charge have arranged a nice program and also some special appropriate features which will doubtless be very pleasing. The principal number on the program will be the box supper, under the supervision of an efficient committee; the older and the younger portion of the society will alike be looked after so as every one present can have the best time possible.

All connected with the party are putting themselves out to the limit, and every effort will be made for an unusually good and profitable evening. Everyone receiving a general invitation like this one will be sure and attend.

Check List at School Meeting

In accordance with a vote of the District and a petition since presented, a check list will be used at the coming school meeting on the 8th of March.

A legal voter of either sex must be twenty-one years of age, able to read and write, a resident of the town six months and also native born, naturalized or the wife of a naturalized citizen.

Every person male or female who desires to vote whose name is not already on the town check list must personally appear and make oath to the above qualifications.

For this purpose the school board will be in session at the town hall building from 2 till 5 p. m., on the following dates: Feb. 18th, 20th, 27th and March 6th, 1915.

Per order,

Two Kinds

There are two kinds of people on earth today; Just two kinds of people, no more, I say. Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood The good are half bad and the bad are half good.

Not the rich and the poor, for, to count a man's wealth, You must first know the state of his conscience and health; Not the humble and proud, for, in life's little span, Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.

Not the happy and sad, for the swift-flying years Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.

No, the two kinds of people on earth that I mean Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go you will find the world's masses Are always divided in just these two classes;

And, oddly enough, you will find too, I ween, There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.

In which class are you? Are you easing the load

Of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road? Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear Your portion of labor and worry and care?

Curious Weather

Occasionally some one has a bit to add to what some other person says concerning freaks the weather once in a while plays upon an unsuspecting public. Here is an item from an old newspaper that a subscriber passes us thinking that it might interest our readers, particularly those who closely follow the weather man's peculiarities:

In 1172 the temperature in England was so high that leaves came out on the trees in January, and birds hatched their broods in February. In 1289 the winter was also very mild, and maidens of Cologne wore wreaths of violets and corn-flowers at Christmas and Twelfth Day. In 1421 the trees flowered in the month of March, and the vines in the month of April. Cherries ripened in the same month, and grapes appeared in May. In 1572 the trees were covered with leaves in January, and birds hatched their young in February, as in 1172; and in 1585 the same thing was repeated, and it is added that the corn was in ear at Easter. There was in France neither snow nor frost throughout the winters of 1433, 1607, 1609, 1617 and 1659; finally, in 1662, even in the north of Germany, the streets were not lighted, and trees flowered in February. Coming to later dates, the winter of 1846-7, when it thundered at Paris on the 28th of January, and that of 1860, the year of the great inundation of the Seine, were very mild.

In this connection, a little poem on the weather will fit in handily:

When the frost is on the window and the kitchen pall is froze; When the little toy needles come with every breath that blows; When the chilblains make us groan aloud and cold feet give us pain, It's safe to bet that we all wish for summertime again. For while we sweat and stew around in breezy summer clothes, It's an easy thing to cool off and forget our earthly woes. But it's different in the winter when the world is full of ice, And the weather is as hard to beat as any loaded dice. We may boast about our climate and about our spring and fall, But the balmy days of summer are the best ones after all.

A German appeared in the naturalization bureau for his second papers, admitting him to citizenship yesterday. A comely woman came with him as his witness. The woman bridled and said: "I would have you know that I am a citizen; I was born in New Jersey." "But when you married a German you became a German yourself." "But I positively will not be a German," she declared, "and I defy anybody to force me to be one." "Well, well," said Mr. Hein soothingly, "you will be an American again as soon as your husband gets his papers." "And I want to tell you," said the woman, turning to her husband, "that you had better be quick about it. Why, that's the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of. It makes me feel like an orphan."—New York Times.

What's The Use?

What's the use of having a combination lock on your safe, or burglar alarm connection, and perhaps a night watchman, if your checks go unprotected to be raised by the first penman into whose hands they fall. Why pay for insurance on your property and sign your name to an unprotected check which represents exactly what you are protecting with fire insurance. Millions of dollars have been lost in the last year by the average business man all over the United States, who have taken the chance of sending out their checks unprotected. Report of Burn's International Detective Agency shows this. American banks and conservative business men use the

Why pay thirty or thirty-five dollars for other makes when you can buy the "SAFE-GUARD" for eighteen. The appearance of your check means a great deal to you. It pays to be up to date.

IMMORTAL GETTYSBURG SPEECH

FOURSCORE and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.—Speech of Abraham Lincoln at the dedication of Gettysburg Cemetery, November 19, 1863.

INSPIRATION IN PEN

Some Thoughts on the Gettysburg Oration, Well Described as Immortal.

THE FACT that President Wilson writes his messages in shorthand and then transcribes his notes on a typewriter has given rise to some speculation as to whether this contributes to the style of his state papers. The variety of methods used by authors makes it unsafe to dogmatize on the subject. But that the writing out of his messages by hand benefits the style cannot be doubted. While shorthand suggests speed, it does not necessarily imply it when the writer is committing his own thoughts to paper. He might linger as long over a paragraph as over an ordinary character. But the writer who uses a pen feels a certain inspiration in it, and as he writes various synonyms come trooping through his mind and he has the time to select the one that expresses his meaning with the greatest nicety.

A magazine writer, in discussing the president's method, suggests that when one operates a typewriter the cessation of the click of the machine interrupts the continuity of the thought. This disadvantage is not so obvious as that arising from the fact that the speed of the typewriter precludes careful selection of synonyms. But either method of writing is preferable to dictation, for dictation causes prolixity and the speed prevents fine discrimination in the use of words. It is also responsible for many extreme utterances. The famous letter General Egan wrote about General Miles affords an illustration. Much of its heat was generated in the process of dictation. Lincoln's Gettysburg address is esteemed a model of conciseness. It was the result of a lifelong habit of composition. As a boy Lincoln had neither slate nor scratchpad. He wrote on a shingle with a piece of charcoal. The only way he could erase his writing was by shaving the shingle. We have the testimony of one of the telegraphers in the war department that President Lincoln, when composing a telegram, whispered it over to himself before committing it to paper. The telegrapher knew nothing of the shingle, but we may trace the habits of the man to his childhood. Is it too much to argue that had Mr. Lincoln been accustomed to dictating to a stenographer we might have never had the Gettysburg classic? And is it not possible that the limited library of the Lincoln boy proved a blessing to him? It was composed of the very best books in our language and he read and reread them and then wrote the essence of them on his shingle and told them to his playmates in his own language. The self-education of Lincoln is one of the marvels of history.

GRAVE OF LINCOLN'S MOTHER

A Financial Theory.
"How do you account for psychological depression?"
"The question helps to account for it," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "There's too much wrong accounting and not enough actual business."

TAKE TIME TO SMILE

CURED HIM OF THE PICCOLO

Musician Decides to Dispose of Instrument After Listening to Phonographic Rendition.

During the demonstration of his new kinetophone, Mr. Edison said: "With this invention an actor may hear himself speak as well as see himself act. Let us hope he won't be disappointed—like the piccolo player in a music store who was urged to buy a phonograph. The dealer, as a last resort, got the man to make a phonographic record of 'The Last Rose of Summer' with his own piccolo. 'The dealer then ran the tune off while the player—a really wretched performer—listened with a strange air. At the end the dealer said: 'There! Isn't that wonderful?' 'H'm—well—yes,' said the piccolo player. 'And now,' said the dealer, briskly, 'are you going to buy the phonograph?' 'No,' the player answered. 'I'm going to sell the piccolo.'"

HER FIRST INQUIRY.

The Victim of the Accident (recovering consciousness)—Was my—my—new hat hurt?

Thrills on the Turf.

"They must have had a terrible time at the race track," said young Mrs. Perkins. "Charley came back very much depressed."
"What happened?" asked the woman who was calling.
"It sounds like wholesale slaughter, but I can't find anything about it in the paper. Charley says he went up against a number of long shots and nearly all the horses are dead ones."

The Real Thing.

"You should have heard Smith at the club lunch the other afternoon. He certainly is in love with his wife the way he kept talking about her perfection. By the way, I didn't notice Jones there."
"No, he was at home, putting down the carpet at their feet for fear his wife would have to do it herself."

Might Have Boosted Prices.

"I suppose it is annoying when a man goes out because you haven't something cheaper?"
"Yes," said the small merchant. "But what gives you heart disease is when a fellow goes out because you haven't something more expensive."

The Man and the Machine.

"How many votes did you get?"
"Not nearly as many as the other fellow," said the man who is always philosophical. "You see, I had to depend on my own efforts for my votes. His were machine-made."

Careful Explanations.

"What made you throw that bomb?" asked the policeman.
"My conscience," replied the suspicious character. "I got to thinking that no respectable guy would have a bomb with 'em, see." So I just tossed it from me."

The Estimate.

"That pretty girl's marriage was probably the best matter on her part."
"I understood it was a transaction on her face value."

IN NATION'S HEART

More Enduring Than Granite Memorial Is Inscribed Lincoln's Name.

WE have raised tall granite columns in memory of men whose deeds have won them glory and their lives heroic been; Memorials, lest we forget the kind of men they were, To keep alive the gratitude that thought of them should stir. We weave their names in story, song and eulogistic speech, While remembering the lessons that noble lives should teach. One needs no granite columns to perpetuate his fame— Deep graven on the human heart is Abraham Lincoln's name.

His youth spent 'midst the rugged scenes of western frontier life. When every day meant hours of toil and every hour meant strife; Where face to face with nature he her free-born spirit breathed, And was heir to sturdy manhood by fearless sires bequeathed. His mind was an inquiring one, books his companions were, Though the sources then of knowledge, compared with now, were rare; But inch by inch and step by step he forward pressed his way, Until he found himself the peer of leaders of his day.

As lawyer, legislator and as congressman he shone With grim originality and power all his own. And when the nation called him to the presidential chair They found in him a leader well equipped to do and dare. His memory is history; how well he did his part Is proven, for his name's inscribed upon the nation's heart, His life a benediction, falling like some "holy psalm." We know him now as they did then, as "Father Abraham."

The dear old flag he loved so well unsullied still remains. With not a single mark or spot of treason's cruel stains; O'er a united land it waves from mountain top to sea, An emblem is to all the world of justice, liberty. Fraternal bonds bind all the states in one united whole; What now exists was clearly seen by his prophetic soul. Though massive monuments we raise, thus honoring his name, Yet in the hearts of patriots shall live his truest fame. —Augustus Treadwell, in New York Times.

CATARRH OF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Peruna Saved Me

Mrs. D. W. Jones' address is given below her portrait as an ardent friend of Peruna. She says: "I am thankful to tell you that my old trouble has never troubled me any more. You need not my personal. Any one wishing to know the truth in my case, if they will write me I will be glad to answer. Your medicine has saved me, and gave me the best health. I frequently meet friends that know me when I was in poor health. They ask me what has made such a change in me. I always tell them that it was the nerve remedy, Peruna. I shall praise Peruna as long as I live."

Catarrh of the Internal Organs

Mr. James M. Powell, No. 1423 W. Walnut St., Rosedale, Kansas, writes: "About four years ago I contracted with a severe catarrh of the bladder, which caused continual pain and burning. I was miserable and could not stand up or walk for any length of time without extreme weakness and pain. I began taking Peruna and it greatly relieved me, and in eleven weeks I was completely cured and felt like a new man."

Those who object to liquid medicine can now procure Peruna in Tablet form.

Effect of Great Kidney Remedy is Soon Realized

I feel it my duty to let you know what Swamp-Root did for me. I was bothered with my back for over twenty years and at times I could hardly get out of bed. I read your advertisement and decided to try Swamp-Root. Used five bottles, and it has been five years since I used it, and I have never been bothered a day since I took the last bottle of it. I am thoroughly convinced that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root cured me and would recommend it to others suffering as I did. My husband was troubled with kidney and bladder troubles and he took your Swamp-Root and it cured him. This was about five years ago.

Suit Case for the Use of Bank Messengers.

Two Devices Which Do Away With the Necessity for Reaching Into the Pocket for Weapon When Threatened.

A newly patented satchel or suit case, loaded so that it would fire a pistol and ring a bell the instant it was snatched from the carrier's hand, was described a few weeks ago. Now comes Benjamin Goldstein of New York with a handle that can be attached to any bag or suit case, and that contains a revolver which can be fired at its bearer's will.

The accompanying diagrams are from Mr. Goldstein's patent papers. The handle looks like the ordinary handle of a suit case, only deeper in the middle. It contains a hollow chamber into which a hammerless revolver fits tightly, its muzzle being flush with the outer edge of a round hole at the forward end. On the side of the handle is a door, hinged and locked, through which the revolver is put in, taken out, cocked and uncocked. In the lower part of the door are two apertures through which the bearer can, without releasing his grip, insert his fingers to fire the pistol. The handle is intended especially for the use of bank messengers and clerks who have to carry large sums of money for pay rolls.

In another model, instead of the apertures through which to insert the fingers to fire the pistol, the trigger projects through a slot in the lower part of the handle and is held between the second and third fingers. It cannot be fired by any wrenching and jostling, but the man carrying it can shift his fingers and fire it at will.

The whole apparatus is so simple that it does not seem possible that it could get out of order.

Pauper Had $320 in Shoe.
Although she had been a public charge as an inmate of the Orange City home at Livingstone since last August, it was brought to light that since that time Mrs. Margaret Mulligan, seventy years old, had been carrying in her shoe $320 in bills.

A bill of $38.10 for her board since the admission to the home was promptly presented. She agreed to pay it and to reimburse St. Mary's hospital, Orange, for care and treatment received last summer. Then she made arrangements to be taken into the Home of Divine Providence at Ridgewood, where she will pay to be taken care of the remainder of her life.—Orange (N. J.) Dispatch to New York Times.

Foxboro Reporter on Tax Rate

Says the Foxboro Reporter:—The question as to the right of citizens who pay only a poll tax to vote upon appropriations, is being more and more discussed in this state (Mass.) and according to reports which come to us the law is considered in many places, far too elastic in this respect. Is it right for those who pay only a poll tax, and who in many towns constitute a majority of the voters, to be the means of saddling a debt upon a town which in the main must be paid by the real estate owners? There is no right or justice in it.

Let's keep taxes down to a figure for a few years, which will encourage people to come here and locate and do business. Let's not drive people out of town and prevent valuable citizens from allying themselves with us by a prohibitive tax. The town can't remain prosperous if we go to "soaking" the property owners with a high tax without it is absolutely necessary.

This has always been a mooted question, often spoken of if not dwelt upon at some length; yet nothing like an equitable adjustment of the matter has been proposed. Perhaps with many another reform of our modern day this question may receive its due consideration.

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I want to thank you a thousand times for the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very much from a female trouble. I had bearing down pains, was irregular and at times could hardly walk across the room. I was unable to do my housework or attend to my baby I was so weak. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me a world of good, and now I am strong and healthy, can do my work and tend my baby. I advise all suffering women to take it and get well as I did."—Mrs. FANNIE COOPER, R.F.D., Bridgeton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, fibrocystitis, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, answered by a woman and kept in strict confidence.

Resolutions

Adopted by Antrim Grange, No. 89, P. of H., upon the Death of the last of its Charter Members, Hon. D. H. Goodell

Whereas, our Heavenly Father has, in His infinite wisdom, removed from our Order, our brother, David H. Goodell, and whereas, our relations held with him in our Order makes it befitting that we record our appreciation of him therefore

Resolved, that in the death of our brother we have lost one of our older members, a man whose kind heart and pleasant manners won for him the confidence and esteem of all who knew him.

Resolved that the removal of such a life leaves a shadow deeply realized by his friends and neighbors in the community in which he lived.

Resolved, that recognizing the hand of Divine Providence in this event, we bow in submission to His Will, and tender to the family of the deceased our heart felt sympathy in their affliction.

Resolved, that Antrim Grange take due notice of this occasion, by placing on our records these resolutions as a slight token of our appreciation of our brother; that a copy of the same be sent to the bereaved wife, and that a like copy be published in the Antrim Reporter.

Respectfully submitted

Colds are often Most Serious

Stop possible complications. The disregard of a cold often has brought many a regret. The fact of sneezing, coughing or a fever should be warning enough that your system needs immediate attention. Certainly loss of sleep is most serious. It is a warning given by Nature. It is a man's duty to himself to assist by doing his part. IN ENGLISH CHURCH GREAT MAN'S DEATH

Bust of Great American Has Been Placed in Country of His Ancestors.

IN THE parish church of the village of Hingham, in Norfolk, England, near the old cathedral city of Norwich, lived many generations of Lincolns, ancestors of Abraham Lincoln. A bust of the great American, set up in that church by a committee of Americans, is shown with the church. A description of the church by Rev. Milo H. Gates, vicar of the Chapel of the Intercession and secretary of the memorial committee, is as follows:

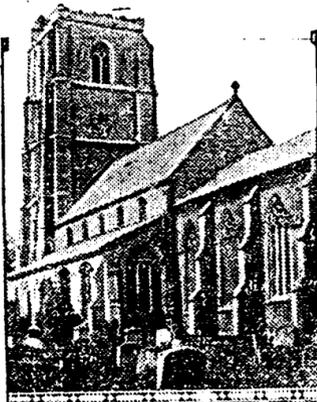

"The building, dedicated to St. Andrews, is constructed of rough flints with free-stone dressings. It consists of a spacious chancel, a nave with clerestory, north and south aisles, and a battlemented tower 120 feet high, containing a fine chime of eight bells cast originally in 1619, on one of which is inscribed: 'Omnis, sonus, laudet, Dominum.'

"The nave, one of the best examples of fourteenth-century architecture, has five clerestory windows on each side. It is separated from the aisles by pillars resting on quatrefoil columns. Formerly at the east ends of the two aisles were chapels, probably erected early in the fifteenth century. The east window of the south aisle is one of very great beauty, containing a mixture of geometrical and flowing tracery. The other windows to the north were probably once the same, but have since been replaced by perpendicular tracery. The chancel window, 36 feet high and 18 feet wide, is filled with ancient German glass dating back to about 1500. Apart from its historic interest the church is well worth a visit by anyone who is interested in church architecture. For the building is quite the best preserved of its style in England.—New York Evening Post.

Not Bitter in Defeat.

The emotions of defeat at the close of a struggle in which I felt more than a merely selfish interest, and to which the defeat the use of your name contributed largely, are fresh upon me; but even in this mood I cannot for a moment suspect you of anything dishonorable.—Letter from Lincoln to J. J. Crittenden, November 4, 1858.

Saw the Future Clearly.

I am glad I made the late race. It gave me a hearing of the great and durable question of the age, which I could have had in no other way; and though I now sink out of view and shall be forgotten, I believe I have made some marks which will tell for the cause of civil liberty long after I am gone.—Lincoln's letter to Dr. A. G. Henry, November 19, 1855.

Country He Served So Well Remembers Lincoln's Work With Gratitude.

AT TWENTY minutes past ten o'clock Friday evening, April 14, 1865, Abraham Lincoln was shot by John Wilkes Booth in the back of the head behind the left ear and mortally injured. At 22 minutes past seven o'clock the next morning, Saturday, April 15, 1865, he died.

There have been many and vast changes since that fateful day, and the prayer which Lincoln prayed that the country might be one again has been answered in a way that would have rejoiced his great heart. Not an anniversary of his birth and death has passed since his cruel taking off on which some tribute has not been paid to his memory, and so it will be to the end of time among generous Americans, wherever their residence or inherited sentiments; for, however he may have been misjudged in the confusion and stress of antagonistic opinion, there is none now who does not praise him for his courage and his faithfulness to his honest convictions.

He was born in Kentucky February 12, 1809, and died in Washington April 15, 1865, in his fifty-seventh year at the very zenith of his powers. The books are full of the story of his life and work, but there are still many interesting facts connected with him that have not yet been noted, notwithstanding the industry of those who have collected great masses of everything they could find in any way connected with his life and death.

Mr. Lincoln, as everyone knows, was shot by Booth while he was attending a theatrical performance at Ford's theater in Washington. "Our American Cousin" held the boards that night and Laura Keane was playing the part of Florence Trenchard for the last time. She had already performed the same part for a thousand nights. Five years before she had played the role at McVicker's theater in Chicago the night of the day on which Mr. Lincoln was nominated for president by the Republican convention, in May, 1860, and all unconscious of the terrible tragedy, she played with uncommon cleverness, and while yet the theater was ringing with laughter and applause, came the crack of the pistol shot from the president's box that plunged the country into mourning.

After Mr. Lincoln had been shot he was removed across the street from the theater to the residence of William Peterson, a highly respected merchant tailor, who lived directly opposite the playhouse, at 516 Tenth street. This house is still standing, as is also the old Ford theater, and both are now owned by the government. There have been few changes in the Peterson house.

For 40 years Osborn H. Oldroyd has been devoting himself to the assembling together of an invaluable collection, in which are included more than three thousand relics, which constitute, as Elizabeth Porter Gould has said, "one of the most interesting and valuable ever collected in behalf of a human being." The collection contains 250 funeral sermons, about seventy pieces of music, a thousand volumes relating to Lincoln, 200 portraits, busts and medals, photographs of death, pictures of the assassin, the family cradle in which the Lincoln children were reared, an original black locust rail split by the young man, then never dreaming of the place he was to fill in the history of the world; the family Bible from which Lincoln's mother read to him when he was a boy, and literally thousands of other things in some sort associated with the murdered president.

"The First American."

As Lowell said of him, Lincoln was the first American. Whitman calls him "the sweetest, wisest soul of all my days and lands." And today he, the leader in a great Civil war, is loved and revered by the South as by the North. Some of the noblest tributes ever paid to him have been those paid by the Southern States. He belongs to the whole nation, and he is the only man since Washington of whom that can be said.

Miss Molly George, aged about 70, died Sunday at the home of her sister in law, Mrs. Benj. E. George. Funeral services were held today, Rev. A. Gibson officiating. The bearers were Henry A. George, Lorenzo Smith, John Saunders and Henry Wilson. Interment at Nashua.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." At druggists, 50c. large box, or by mail, The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.
