TWO OLD RIVALS Play Ball, and Antrim Scores a Decided Victory

Last Saturday the Antrim A. A. played its first home game of the season before a large crowd, crossing bats with the American Legion Team of Hillsboro, and piled up eleven runs against Hillsboro's two, without half trying. The Hillsboro aggregation failed to give their imported pitcher good support and gave a pretty fair exhibition, generally, of baseball as it shouldn't be played. Antrim did some quick playing in the first half of the first inning, only three balls being pitched to get three men out. Newhall, who covered left field, made some rather good catches, which helped materially to put a crimp in Hills-boro's spirits. It was a good game to watch, but lacked the pep which comes from a close and hard earned score.

Mrs. Jacob S. Smith

Mrs. Sarah T. Smith, wife of Jacob S. Smith, living on a farm near the Alabama Farm, died on Wednesday last, at the age of 78 years, 8 months, 20 days, of carcinoma of uterus. She had lived in town about fifteen years, coming here with her husband from Woburn, Mass., to which place the body was taken on Friday, after brief services from her late home, conducted by Rev. W. J. B. Cannel. She was born in New Brunswick. Deceased will be greatly missed by the husband, who has given her every thought and attention. One son and six daughters are left to mourn the loss of a loving mother; Mrs. Fred Miles, of Bennington is a daughter, the others residing at distant points. The sympathy of all who know them goes out to Mr. Smith and Mrs. Miles in their great bereavement.

THE CLASS OF 1920 Graduates From the Antrim High School

The graduating exercises of the Antrim High School were held on Friday last, at town hall, the exercises beginning at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. A large attendance of relatives and friends of the graduates had gathered at the hour of opening, and the first number on the program was a selection by Wahnetah orchestra, this being followed by prayer by Rev. J. D. Cameron, D. D., and a vocal selection by Miss Marion E. Mulhall. "Our National Heroes," with Salutatory was given by Miss Alice Mary Mulhall, and the balance of the program was given in this order: History of the Class of 1920, Miss Arleen Paige; Selection, orchestra; "One Phase of the Chemistry of the War," Miss Eunice Viola Kidder; Song, Miss Mulhall; Class Prophecy, Miss Katherine Elizabeth Barker; "Honor Awaits at Labor's Gate," with Valedictory, Miss Angie Edith Craig. The diplomas were given by Amasa A. Holden, superintendent of schools. Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Cameron. A selection by the orchestra closed the exercises.

Each member of the class did remarkably well in the preparation of their respective papers and all delivered their parts in a very creditable manner, showing good school work and training of the right sort.

Little Miss Marion Nylander acted as flower girl and after her duties had been performed, she was much surprised and pleased to receive from the hands of a graduate a handsome bouquet of carnations.

A very pleasing and surprising feature was the one that Supt. Holden sprung on the school and everyone present when he announced that a prize of $25 had been placed in his hands to be given to the pupil in the public schools who had done the best work and made the greatest advancement in his studies during the year just closing. The one who was entitled to it had not only earned it but had made creditable advancement for its own sake. Clifton W. Gibson, an undergraduate of the high school, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gibson, was called to the platform and given the prize by Supt. Holden, accompanied by very fitting remarks.

The reception was held in the evening and was an invitation affair and naturally was not as largely attended as it otherwise would have been. This was followed by a dance. Music for the evening was furnished by Vigneault's Singing Orchestra, of Keene.

The decorations in the hall were very neat, the streamers of black and white crepe paper being very neatly arranged, from the center of the hall as well as about the windows. The stage was elaborately trimmed with green; at the rear in the center there was an entrance onto the stage, and above, in white, were the letters "Class of 1920." The fence in front with the open gate was nice and effective. Much work had been put into this part of the day's program and great credit was due the decorators.

NOTICE!

Telephone Service

It is necessary to move the Antrim Central Telephone Office. All work is completed except moving the switchboard. To cause as little annoyance to the subscribers as possible, the switchboard will be moved June 27, and service will necessarily be interrupted a short time that morning.

I will ask that all calls be given by number, to help the new operators, and also to secure prompt service to subscribers.

G. W. Lincoln, Contoocook Valley Telephone Co.

A Two-Sided Story

We have read what the Congressmen who voted against the Soldiers' Bonus Bill have to say for themselves, yet of course they don't expect every one to agree with them. It is extremely difficult for them to feel as do the ex-service men in this matter, and in fact the very ones who are most concerned in the matter may yet be heard from as time goes on.

UP TO JULY FIRST Lapsed Insurance May be Put In Its Proper Place

Treasury Department Bureau of War Risk Insurance State House Concord, N. H., June 10, 1920 To Commanders of American Legion Posts, New England Section: IF THIS IS NOT OF IMPORTANCE TO YOU, IT IS TO MEMBERS OF YOUR POST

The Zero Hour for reinstatement of lapsed insurance by men who have not paid premiums prior to January 1, 1919, is fast approaching. All men who have lapsed their insurance, no matter how long the lapse has occurred, have up to July 1, 1920, in which to reinstate by a payment of only two premiums and the filing of a health statement. After that date the reinstatement privilege only extends to those who reinstate within eighteen months after discharge or eighteen months after the payment of their last premium.

Some of your men will lose the privilege of reinstating unless quick action is had. Won't you take some means to get before your men the utmost importance of reinstating now before it is too late?

It is suggested that you take measures to have your local paper carry an article at once with regard to the reinstatement of lapsed insurance.

Very truly yours, Herbert H. Rouse, New Hampshire Representative

Grange Notes

The Francestown Grange has extended an invitation to the Hillsboro County Pomona Grange to meet with them on Thursday evening of this week for the purpose of conferring the 5th degree. All Patrons who have not received this degree can get it at this time.

Hillsboro County Pomona Grange was to hold a meeting in Temple on Wednesday, June 30. Owing to an epidemic of mumps, measles and scarlet fever, this meeting has necessarily been postponed to some time in the fall.

Ralph Proctor, a student at N. H. College, has been given the Antrim Grange scholarship for the coming year; he was given this same honor a year ago.

That Morning Lameness

If you are lame every morning and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on this testimony.

Frank E. Currier, Machinist, 128 S. Main St., Franklin, N. H., gave the following statement on September 7, 1908: "I had backaches all the time and the trouble was caused by too much stooping while at work. Mornings my back was so lame and sore I could hardly get out of bed. When I tried to lift anything, sharp pains seized me and I could hardly straighten up. Nothing seemed to do me any good until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes removed all the backache, lameness and soreness. My kidneys now act regularly and give me no more annoyance."

RELIES ON DOAN'S

Over seven years later Mr. Currier said: "I can heartily back up my past recommendation of Doan's Kidney Pills. I use them occasionally as a preventive."

LABOR REFUSES TO AID RUSSIA

A. F. of L. Will Not Assist the Soviet Government "as at Present Constituted."

WON'T ASK U. S. TO LIFT BAN

Secretary of State Colby Wires Foreign Rule That Doesn't Represent the People Can't Be Recognized by the United States.

Montreal, Canada.—A move to call on the United States to recognize the Soviet government or lift blockades against Soviet Russia was blocked in the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor after a heated debate.

James A. Duncan, of the Seattle Central Labor Council, led the fight in behalf of the Soviet with the aid of representatives of the Ladies' Garment Workers, but the convention adopted by an overwhelming vote, the report of the Resolutions Committee opposing any action.

The committee report declared the federation would not be justified in taking any action that might be construed as an assistance to, or approval of, the Soviet government, so long as it is based on authority which has not been vested in it by a popular national representative assembly of the Russian people, or so long as it endeavors to create revolutions in well-established civilized nations of the world, or so long as it advocates and applies militarization to labor and prevents the organizing and functioning of trades unions and maintenance of free speech, free press and free public assemblies.

John Frey, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, said it had ascertained on the "highest authority" that the Soviet government is an "autocratic, militaristic government that does not believe in democracy" and is ruling by the "iron hand of the dictatorship."

Extracts from Lenin's speech, which he read, showed, Mr. Frey declared, that Lenin believed in making "trades unions subservient to the Soviet government and labor compulsory."

Opposition to the report, he said, "might indicate that the Bolsheviks had infested the ranks of organized labor in America with its propaganda."

James Duncan, of Washington, first vice president of the federation, answered in defense of the committee report. He read a telegram from Secretary of State Colby, which said the ex-government did not "represent the will or consent of any considerable proportion of the Russian people."

David Grange, a New York delegate, said the greatest trouble in America was the Bolshevik plotters who are trying to disrupt organized labor.

The telegram from Secretary of State Colby said:

"There is no licensed or regular trading between the United States and Russia. There have been, as you may know, several conferences on the subject of the removal of restrictions against trading with Russia. These conferences have been held in Europe and their course has been carefully observed by this government. They have so far been void of result."

"The Soviet government is insistent upon political recognition as a condition precedent to a renewal of any commercial contact."

"While this government has no desire to interfere with the internal affairs of the Russian people or to suggest the kind of government that they should have, the existing regime in Russia does not represent the will or consent of any considerable proportion of the Russian people."

"It repudiates every principle of harmonious and trustful relations, whether of national or of individual, and is based on the negation of honor and good faith and every usage and convention underlying the structure of international law."

The federation adopted a resolution demanding repeal of the compulsory arbitration sections of the Esch-Cummings Transportation act of 1920. The executive council was instructed to take steps to bring about this action.

LIQUOR PROSECUTORS OUT.

Special Aids Discharged in Chicago Office; No Funds.

Chicago.—Receipt of orders from Attorney-General Palmer to discharge all special assistants employed to prosecute liquor cases was announced by District Attorney Clynne. Failure of Congress to appropriate $300,000 for the work was given as the cause of the dismissals.

About 1,000 cases are pending here and at least ten prosecutors are needed, according to Mr. Clynne.

ILLINOIS PRIMARY INVALID.

State Supreme Court Decision Disallows Mayor's Faction in Chicago.

Springfield, Ill.—The State Supreme Court held the Illinois primary law unconstitutional.

The validity of the primary election law, which was passed by the State Legislature in 1919, was attacked by attorneys for William Fox, convicted in Chicago of fraudulent voting in the primary election held April 13, 1920. The case was brought to the Supreme Court on a writ of error.

MRS. S. GREENFIELD

Volunteer Worker in the Zionist Organization.

Mrs. Caroline Greenfield, just back from eight months in the Holy Land, where she went as a volunteer worker in the Zionist organization of America, has made some interesting statements about the housing situation in that country. "New Yorkers who think it difficult to find a place to dwell, should go to Palestine and see what real housing problems are like," says Mrs. Greenfield. She suggests large apartment houses and hotels in Jerusalem, Jaffa and Haifa.

200,000 GERMAN ARMY MUST BE HALVED SOON

French War Minister Reports That in Reduction of Formations Treaty is Not Carried Out.

Paris.—According to Andre Lefevre, French Minister of War, the German Army has been reduced to 200,000 men. His figure is still a long way short of 100,000, to which, according to the treaty terms and the subsequent agreement, it must be reduced by July 10. The reduction has also not included the reduction of formations and M. Lefevre states that in many matters the Germans are still showing bad will.

Some conditions of disarmament have been carried out, but others have been repeatedly delayed. What has been done, Lefevre says, is this: The Germans have suppressed all but four of the military schools and have reduced the ammunition supplies to the required amount. They have also in fulfillment of Article 150 of the Peace Treaty disarmed the occupied areas and to fifty kilometers to the east of the Rhine.

In the work of destroying and handing over artillery the peace conditions have not been so fully fulfilled. Seventeen thousand five hundred cannon, 20,000 machine guns and 108,000 small arms have been handed over to the Allies and the Germans claim to have destroyed 10,000 cannon, 4,200 machine guns and 68,000 small arms. But M. Lefevre states that there is no doubt that large quantities of arms still remain hidden in the country.

It is in the non-execution of Article 211, which demands the modification of German military laws in conformity with the treaty terms, that the French see German bad will and bad faith. These laws have been in no way modified, and before the Spa meeting the French are seeking to obtain a united front on the part of the Allies for the demand that this important clause shall be fulfilled.

WORLD NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

CHICAGO.—The American party or the People's party will be named represented by the committee of forty-eight as the designation of the proposed third party, it was announced. The committee of forty-eight will meet at Chicago July 10 to nominate a Presidential candidate.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—The campaign expense account of the Leonard Wood League of Western Pennsylvania filed at the State Bureau of Elections by Malcolm McGriffin, treasurer, shows receipts of $44,022.34 and expenditures of $43,203.05, with $2,088.25 remaining unpaid.

PORTLAND, Ore.—The woman "drummer" is not wanted in the Travelers' Protective Association, according to a vote of the organization in annual convention here. Efforts to change the constitution so as to permit the admission of women traveling salesmen failed after a somewhat lengthy discussion.

ALLIES CONTROL TURKISH STRAITS

Treaty Clothes International Commission With Powers Governing Port of Constantinople.

WATERS MUST BE FREE.

Sovereignty Over a Strip of Turkey Larger Than Some of the States of Europe—Straits Not Subject to Blockade.

Washington.—Limited internationalization of the port of Constantinople and its inclusion within the "zone of the straits" is provided for in the provisional terms of the Turkish treaty. This is disclosed by an official summary received here of the jurisdiction provided for the Inter-Allied Commission of Control.

Granted its own flag, budget, and separate organization, the commission, by the lines of the boundaries, fixed for the "zone of straits," will have authority over a territory considerably greater than some of the smaller nations of Europe.

Made almost sovereign in itself, the commission is to be practically independent of the League of Nations, as stipulation is expressly made that should it find liberty of passage of the straits interfered with, it shall take such measures as may be deemed necessary to preserve the freedom of the straits.

The zone includes not only the Bosphorus, Sea of Marmora and Dardanelles, but also three miles of shore from the mouth of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus and the Aegean Islands of Samothrace, Imbros, Lemnos, Tenedos and Lesbos. A land zone also is provided extending from ten to seventeen miles northwest of the Sea of Marmora and eight-twenty-eighths of a mile southeast of it. Its northwestern limit is partly common with the new Greek frontier, fifty-two miles west of the Bosphorus on the Black Sea; its eastern limit is forty miles east of the mouth of Bosphorus and its southwestern limit is partly common with the district of Smyrna, fifty-five miles southeast of the entrance to the Dardanelles. The zone also includes an area on the western side of the Gallipoli Peninsula, which Turkey cedes to England, France and Italy for war memorials and cemeteries.

Regulations laid down for enforcement by the Inter-Allied Commission provide that:

No belligerent warships may remain within ports of the zone longer than twenty-four hours, or take on food, stores or recruits.

The Dardanelles, Sea of Marmora, and the Bosphorus are to be open in peace and war to every vessel of commerce and war.

The straits are not subject to blockade.

No belligerent right to be exercised and no act of hostility committed within the zone, except upon special authorization of the League of Nations.

All military works and fortifications to be demolished and no roads or railroads to be constructed within the zone for movement of mobile batteries.

These regulations are to be enforced, chiefly with naval forces and a force of special police, recruited within the zone and commanded by foreign officers, as well as such military and naval air forces and guard ships of their own as Great Britain, France and Italy may deem necessary.

In addition to the general laws pertaining to the administration of the straits, the commission is further charged with execution of any works considered necessary for the improvement of the channels and the approaches to harbors, the lighting and buoying of channels, controls of pilotage, towage, anchorage and all matters relating to wrecks, salvage and litterage.

Maintenance of the ports of Constantinople and Haifa as ports of international concern, where the citizens' goods and flags of all countries belonging to the League of Nations shall enjoy complete freedom is also placed within the control of the commission, which shall provide at the two ports free zones for the erection and use of warehouses.

EIGHT NOW DEAD IN GANG WAR.

"Paddy the Bear" Ryan is Killed by Five Chicago Gunmen.

Chicago.—Chicago's gang war was renewed with the killing of "Paddy the Bear" Ryan by five gunmen, who fled in an automobile. "Paddy the Bear" owned a saloon in which a policeman was recently killed by a gunman, and was also one of those held in connection with the recent murder of Edward Coleman, labor leader.

Police believe the shooting was the outcome of the Coleman murder.

$600,000 FIRE IN MAINE.

Fourteen Buildings and 200 Motor Cars Destroyed at Rockland.

Rockland, Me.—Fire in the business district of this place destroyed fourteen buildings, including a garage that contained 200 automobiles, causing a total loss of about $600,000. Among the larger structures destroyed were the Willoughby Building, Central Garage, Berry Block and Clover Block. The loss on the automobiles, tourists' cars that had been stored overnight, is $250,000.

WESLEY FROST

Wesley Frost, who has been appointed foreign trade adviser under the state department, succeeding Julius G. Law, resigned. During the war Mr. Frost was American consul at Queens-town.

U. S. TO INDICT COAL GOUGERS

Palmer Orders Federal Attorneys to Act Against Many Bituminous Operators.

Washington.—Attorney General Palmer has ordered a sweeping crusade looking to the trial and conviction of bituminous operators who have used the excuse of car shortage and export demand to boost prices and take unreasonable profits. Instructions were sent to every United States attorney in the country to obtain the indictment of any operator or dealer whose investigation shows unreasonable profits.

The Department of Justice has received many complaints that the prices of bituminous coal at the mines ranged from $7 to $11 a ton, with a further increase imminent. Writers of the letters say the operators are attributing the advance prices to car shortage and export demand, emphasis being placed upon the latter.

Governors of the New England states were in conference with members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Shipping Board on the New England coal situation. They declared industries were on the verge of closing down, with little prospect of getting in next winter's supply. They ask that New England coal be shipped by boat from Norfolk and the Shipping Board was asked for vessels.

"Production cost figures gathered by the Federal Trade Commission from 1,589 bituminous coal operators in the principal production regions, mining roughly about 60 per cent of the annual output, show that during January, 1920, their costs averaged $2.32 a ton at the mines. Since then there has been an increase of 27 per cent in the cost of labor, enhancing the production cost to $2.79 a ton. The accuracy of these figures is borne out by information in letters coming to the department from purchasers of coal, from which it appears that prices in May did not greatly exceed those furnished to the Federal Trade Commission for January."

"This situation demands the prompt attention of all United States attorneys. Please give special attention to the matter and seek indictments where investigation discloses that an unreasonable profit has been taken, advising the department of the action taken."

LATEST EVENTS AT WASHINGTON

Half of the members of President Wilson's Cabinet will attend the Democratic Convention at San Francisco. These are Secretaries Colby, Daniels and Meredith, Attorney-General Palmer, who is an aspirant for the Democratic Presidential nomination, and Postmaster-General Burleson.

Governmental expenditures from July 1, 1919, to May 31, 1920, amounted to $20,775,535,858, according to a statement of the Treasury. Expenditures were heaviest during September, when $4,478,737,701 was spent, and lightest in November, when $611,301,764 left the Treasury.

Activities of the National Woman's party at the Democratic National Convention as outlined in a statement from the party's headquarters do not include picketing of the convention hall as conducted during the recent Republican convention in Chicago.

Details of the much-heralded uprisings in the Mohammedan world against British rule and in favor of the Turkish Nationalists and Bolsheviks were received at Washington. Senator Johnson left for California without expressing any opinion about the Chicago convention.

After a discussion of seeking membership in the American Federation, it was agreed that the Massachusetts Federation must return to its old basis of membership in vogue before the anti-dial bill went into effect.

Hillsborough County Fair association held its annual meeting at Maplehurst Inn, Antrim, to elect officers and arrange for the fair to be held at Greenfield, Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 25 and 26.

According to census figures now available, Massachusetts will have a population when returns are completed of approximately 4,000,000, an increase of nearly 600,000 since 1910. This shows an increase for the state as a whole of more than 17 per cent, or 1 per cent more than the increase for the country.

Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of the Massachusetts highway commission, in letters recently sent to chiefs of police throughout the state says that, acting under the provision of section 8 of the motor vehicle law, he has made a new requirement that every person operating a truck must have a chauffeur's license.

George H. Ellis, proprietor of Wauwinet farm in Newton and president of the Boston City Club, spoken of by his friends as the leading gentleman farmer of New England, is going out of business as a milk producer. His famous herd of dairy cattle, reputed to be the largest in New England is to be sold.

George F. Bond and Mrs. S. Jennie Eager were married at the parsonage of the First Congregational Church, Malden, Mass. Before leaving on the honeymoon, Mr. Bond went to his market and passed eight of his employes an envelope, saying it contained the orders for the week. The clerks found $100 in each envelope.

Gov. Coolidge directed Secretary Long to send a copy of his veto of the 2.75 per cent, beer bill to Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee, as answer to a telegram from Mr. Hinshaw inquiring what Gov. Coolidge's position is as to increasing the percentage of alcohol in beverages above one half of one per cent.

A contract for 20,000 tons of white granite to cost $2,000,000 was awarded to the Woodbury Granite company of Hardwick by the American Telephone and Telegraph company for use in its new building at Broadway and Fulton st., New York. This contract is said to be the second largest of its kind ever awarded in New England.

Newell W. Banks of Detroit, American checker champion and challenger for the world title, has arrived in Boston and will boost for the national tournament in August at Cedar Point, O. He is consulting with his New England friends in regard to the world championship match which he will play with Robert Stewart of Scotland.

William J. Schoonmaker of Paterson, N. J. who is alleged to have held up automobiles and searched them for liquor, pleaded guilty in the North Adams, Mass., district court to a charge of impersonating a federal officer. He was held for the United States authorities in default of $1000 bail. He said a desire for drink caused him to act as he had.

Robert F. K. Lock of Hawaii was awarded the manufacturers' medal, presented by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers at the New England state textile school graduation in New Bedford, Mass. Mr. Lock gets the prize for winning highest honors in the general cotton manufacturers, course at this school. Mr. Lock is a full-blooded Chinese.

With impressive ceremonies, the remains of James G. Blaine, Maine's most noted statesman, and of his wife, Harriet Stanwood Blaine, were placed side by side in Forest Grove cemetery, Augusta. The committal service was performed by the Rev. Dr. James H. Eob, pastor of the South Parish Congregational Church, who 50 years ago was Mr. Blaine's minister.

Engraved tablets dedicated to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt and Robert Bacon have been erected by the class of 1880 at Harvard near the gate they gave to the university. The gate is located at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Harvard street, and is one of the entrances to the college yard. Roosevelt and Bacon were members of the class.

A New Bedford man who was almost a king, and who lived like a monarch with an enormous following of retainers, is dead. He is Dr. Benjamin T. Wilson, and his nephew, Harold K. Wilson of New Bedford, received word recently of the death of the doctor at his estate on the island of Onjonan, one of the Comoro group, on the east coast of Africa. Dr. Wilson was 82 years old.

The New England Dairy and Food Council, incorporated to push the sales of New England products, particularly milk at the outset of its activities, effected its permanent organization, with the election of Glenn C. Seavey of Springfield, editor of the New England Homestead, as president, and Frank S. Adams of Bowdoinham, Me., deputy commissioner of agriculture of Maine, vice-president.

The tendency of wages for farm labor is downward, according to a statement from the employment bureau of the state department of agriculture. This coincides with slowing down of employment in city industries. As establishments are running shorter time, or employing less help, the number of men laid off is increasing. In the opinion of the state officials farmers will do better to offer steady employment the year round to steady married men, than to depend on transient help for the summer.

Back Giving Out?

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in constant dull, throbbing backache, or sharp twinges when stooping or lifting. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired feeling and irregular kidney action. It is usually easy to correct these early troubles, and avoid the more serious ailments by giving prompt help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands the world over. Ask your neighbor!

A Maine Case

Mrs. A. T. Cote, 671 Crescent Ave., Rumford, Me., says: "I suffered from a dull ache across my kidneys. When I straightened up quickly sharp pains hurt me terribly. I got awfully dizzy and little specks floated before my eyes. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used three boxes. Today my back is as strong as ever and I am free from kidney complaint."

TIME MAKES LITTLE CHANGE

Booth Tarkington Relates Anecdote to Show How Characteristics Prevail to the End.

Novelist Booth Tarkington was talking about the cowardly attack that a gang of Germans had made on a solitary French officer in the restaurant of the Hotel Adlon in Berlin.

"The Germans," he said, "were unspeakable in the beginning, and they will be unspeakable to the end."

He shook his head thoughtfully.

"People can't change," he said.

"Henry Labouchere was born a fearless wit, and a fearless wit he died. A few hours before his death, you know, Labouchere's nephew upset a tiny spirit lamp that was burning by the bedside. The dying man awoke out of a fitful doze and saw the miniature conflagration.

"Flames?" he said. "Not yet, I think."

"And he laughed quizzically and dozed again."

The Terrible Future.

"What's the matter?"

"I'm terribly worried about the future."

"Why fret about the future?"

"It's this way: I'm not making very much money. I'm just going along the ordinary way without piling up anything that looks like a fortune."

"Well, why worry? You're happy, aren't you?"

"Yes, I'm happy enough now, but twenty or thirty years from now, when the record of this age is written, what shall I say to my children when they ask me what I was doing when everybody else was getting rich?"

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Freezone is magic! Corns lift off with fingers without pain

Hurt? No, not one bit! Just drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly it stops aching, then you lift that bothersome corn right off. Yes, magic! Costs only a few cents.

Try Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the mysterious ether discovery of a Cincinnati genius.—Adv.

"This sword is very old," said the curio dealer. "In fact, it is over a hundred years old."

"Indeed!" said the customer.

"Aye. It came from the battle of Waterloo—that was in the year 1815, sir—and there's an anecdote goes with it."

The customer listened patiently while the old man recounted the story. Then, at the conclusion, he returned the sword to its owner.

"Thank you! That was very interesting, and I quite enjoyed it," he replied kindly. "But, unfortunately, I bought that same anecdote once before with an old musket!"

Taking After Mother.

Bert just came home from college and he had a "shadow" on his upper lip. He stopped to say "Hello" to his grandfather.

His grandfather looked him over and said, "Why, son, you look more like your mother every day."

"What makes you think so?" asked Bert.

"Why because your father had a mustache that come down to his chin. Just look at that one of yours; you must take after your mother."

Had Many Sleeping Places.

The average man probably sleeps in 100 beds or so during a long lifetime. A veteran commercial traveler whose home is in New York, can afford to smile at this record, for he says, "I calculate that I have slept in at least 8,000 beds during my fortyodd years on the road, and I have slept well in them all."

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE ARABIAN NIGHTS

By the PRINCESS SHEHERAZADE

Condensation by Alfred S. Clark

The marvellous tales that Sheherazade told to King Shahriar, stories of love and adventure and mad magic cannot be attributed to any one author for the very good reason that there never was an author. They are popular stories that, perhaps about the year 1450, were put into the present form by a professional story-teller, presumably a Persian.

In primitive communities where few of the people can read, and where books are difficult to get, these professional readers are in great demand. They pick up here and there tales that appeal to all and bind them into a long narrative. Some people have thought that Homer's long poems originated in this way.

Everywhere in the near east the traveler finds these story-tellers today. An eager audience collects to hear them, each paying a small fee for the privilege of listening. The entertainer declines as he walks to and fro and always stops his narrative just before an exciting climax, so that he will be assured of listeners on the morrow. His audience follows his recital with breathless interest, especially when he illustrates thrilling episodes with lively pantomime.

Year after year these groups of listeners gathered centuries ago. The story-teller discarded the tales that did not hold the attention of his listeners. Gradually the process of elimination went on until only the best were handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation. Then some unknown bard of mankind had them written down and connected them with the framework of Sheherazade and Shahriar. And these are the Arabian Nights that have delighted children and grown men and women for decades.

SHEHERAZADE was a vizier's daughter and when she besought her father to wed her to King Shahriar it was cause for grief to the vizier. For each day was his Shahriar's wont to put to death his bride of the day before. It befell, however, that Sheherazade had her will. As she had hoped, the king was wakeful and to beguile him she began a story of magic. Dawn broke before she had finished and so eager was Shahriar to hear it all that he gave no order for her execution.

For a thousand and one nights did this befall while Sheherazade told tales of love, war and sorcery, of kings, beggars and rogues, of lands where diamonds were more plentiful than pebbles and bigger than eggs, of intrigues in the lanes and bazaars of Oriental cities. In towns and deserts and far islands did necromancers work their wills. Horses flew; dogs talked; mermaids and creatures greater than whales peopled the deeps; ogres and enormous apes crept out of forests; birds so great that their wings darkened the day swooped from the skies. Here, too, were lovers in palaces and hovels, bold and cowardly, yet all so enamored that they swooned at the very thought of the beloved. Underlying all was the colorful Orient, with barbers and porters jostling calliphs and princesses in the thronged and picturesque lanes of three cities whose very names conjure up romance—Bagdad, Cairo and Damascus.

Now these are the best liked of Sheherazade's tales:

The Story of Aladdin's Lamp.

Of Aladdin, son of a poor tailor in China, a prankish scamp. An African magician guided him to a subterranean cave where he found the lamp that summoned the genie. Out of nothingness did this genie spread banquets for Aladdin and robe him in rich raiment. He provided him retinues of slaves, bearing basins heaped high with precious stones, who carried to the king Aladdin's suppliance for the hand of the beautiful Princess Badroulboudour. In a night did the genie raise a palace of glowing wonders, of shining marble and gold and silver, with windows incrustured with diamonds, emeralds and rubies, with fragrant gardens and open courts. So Aladdin married the princess and they knew great joy. But the magician returned, stole the lamp and in a trice transported the princess and the princess to Africa. Then was Aladdin woe, but by magic he found his beloved, poisoned the magician, seized the lamp and came to China, where he and Badroulboudour lived happily ever afterward.

The Story of Sinbad.

Of Sinbad the sailor and his marvellous voyages. Wherein it is related that Sinbad landed upon what seemed an island but which was a great fish that sank into the sea. And of other voyages and greater wonders, of which one marvels most at the adventure with the roc, the bird so huge that it feeds its young with elephants. Sinbad had fastened himself to the roc's leg and it bore him to an impenetrable valley strewn with precious stones from which he escaped by binding himself to a sheep's carcass and was borne away by a vulture. And of the giant who roasted men and whom Sinbad blinded with a red-hot iron. And of the terrible Old Man of the Sea who sat upon Sinbad's shoulders and could not be shaken off until he was intoxicated with wine and Sinbad slew him.

The Story of the Forty Thieves.

Of All Baba and his discovery of the stone that swung wide when a voice cried "Open, Sesame!" In the cave was the booty of forty thieves and All Baba took home sacks bulging with gold and silver. The robbers traced him and in the guise of a merchant the captain lodged with him. In the yard were stored great jars, one filled with oil and the others concealing the thieves. Ill would it have fared with All Baba had not Morgiana, a cunning slave, detected the trick and with boiling oil scalded to death the wicked miscreants. The captain escaped, but returned in a new disguise and again did Morgiana save her master by stabling his enemy. So All Baba married her to his son and he lived joyously upon treasures from the cave.

Many Other Fascinating Stories.

Of the Magic Horse of ebony and ivory, so fashioned that its rider, by pressing divers buttons, could fly whither he willed. It bore a Persian prince to a great palace in a metropolis girt about with greenery. There he looked into the eyes of a princess and they were enraptured. It befell that they rode away on the Magic Horse, but before they were wed an evil man abducted the princess. The disconsolate prince wandered far and at last he found her whom he loved and again they journeyed through the air to his home, where they were married with exceeding pomp and lived happily.

Of a poor fisherman who drew his net from the sea and found therein but a brass bottle. He cut open the top and there streamed forth a cloud of smoke. It collected and, behold! it was a genie, so huge that his head was in the clouds. He would have killed his rescuer had not the wily fisherman insisted that never could he have come from the bottle. The silly genie squeezed himself inside, whereupon the fisherman clapped on the top, nor would he remove it until the genie swore to serve him faithfully. This oath it was that led to the finding of the ensorcelled prince with legs turned to stone and the lake wherein swam fish of four colors that had once been men. After marvelous happenings the prince was made as other men and the fisherman was so rewarded that he was the wealthiest man of his time.

Of Prince Camaralzaman and the Princess Badoura, beautiful beyond compare, and of how each saw the other in sleep and was smitten with great love. But when they awakened they saw not one another for they had been brought together by a genie who had carried Badoura out of China to the confines of Persia. Grief so afflicted both that they sickened and were insane from sorrow. Then a messenger from Badoura journeyed far over land and sea until he found Camaralzaman and returned with him to China, where the lovers were wedded. But while they were traveling to Camaralzaman's land he wandered away. Badoura dressed herself in his raiment and passed herself for a man. It befell that she found favor in the eyes of a king and was married to a princess. And Camaralzaman too came to this land and knew not his wife, who heaped honors upon him. At last she revealed herself and was known as a woman and Camaralzaman took also to wife the princess whom Badoura had married and they were happy together.

Of a merchant who, awaiting death at the hands of a cruel genie, was joined by three old men, one leading a gazelle, another two black hounds, and the third a mule. Now it is related that the gazelle and the mule had been wicked wives transformed by magic and likewise had the hounds been evil brothers. When the genie was told these stories of enchantment, he was so diverted that he spared the merchant's life.

About Harun-al-Rashid.

And of many tales concerning the Caliph Harun-al-Rashid and his going disguised into the lanes and bazaars of Bagdad, where he chanced upon strange people who told him strange stories of magic. Once he supped with three ladies of dazzling beauty and with him were a porter dazed with the magnificence he saw and three mendicants, sons of kings, all blind in the left eye. Not knowing the Caliph they told of their fantastic adventures and sufferings and he rewarded them. And again he encountered a beggar who implored him to strike him, a youth who spurred cruelly a mare upon which he rode and a rope-maker who had risen suddenly from poverty to affluence. Their tales too did he hear and them too did he reward. Nor should Abu-Hassan, the wag, be forgotten, whose trickery in pretending that he and his wife were dead won so much gold and so many laughs from the Caliph. And of like import is the mad tale of the humpback who seemed dead and of the talkative barber who restored him to life, of all those who had believed themselves murderers of the humpback and of the amazing tales that they related.

So it came to pass that by the end of the thousand and one nights Shahriar was so delighted in the cleverness of Sheherazade that he wedded her again with regal pomp and they lived happily ever after.

Why Not Now?

By REV. W. W. KETCHUM Director of the Evening Classes, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT.—Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.—II Cor. 6:2

You expect to become a Christian some day, well then, why not now?

Do you delay because you feel that there is time enough? Do not be deceived by this suggestion of Satan, who would have all people put off their decision to become Christians until it is too late.

When I was a boy in grammar school, we used to have a principal who every day or so would enter the schoolroom, and slowly passing through it, say in measured tones, "Pro-cras-ti-nation—is—the-thief-of-time." Then quietly, without another word, he would pass out. His purpose was to impress upon his boys and girls that they should not put off till tomorrow, or from day to day, that which should be done at once. It seems to me that in our text God is in effect saying the same thing, when he tells us, "Now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation."

"No Promise of Tomorrow." One time while being driven in the country to minister at the funeral of a man who had died very suddenly, I was surprised at the wisdom shown by the wayward young man who was conveying me. There was a lull in the conversation. Then suddenly he broke forth with this startling fact: "You know, we have no promise of a tomorrow." What truth there is in that statement—"No promise of a tomorrow." And yet, how heedless we are of the fact it so succinctly sets forth. We go on neglecting to do that which is of such moment to us, actually gambling with time and with our souls as the stake. No promise of a tomorrow is what God is saying in the words of our text.

Again, are you putting off your decision to become a Christian, because you feel that you want first to have a good time? What a specious argument that is, and how Satan does use it, especially to deceive young people. He would try to make them believe that they say good-by to all the good times when they become Christians; but that is not so, for there is nothing "good" that a person has to give up to become a Christian. To be sure, there are things that are bad and harmful that must be given up, and these the Devil camouflages to make them look good to people. He succeeds surprisingly well, for folks are easily fooled by the enemy of human souls and often they do not awaken to the fact that they have been deceived until it is too late.

What we need to do is to estimate the real value of things. Who that is wise would buy glass jewels for diamonds, or accept fools' gold for the genuine? If we scrape beneath the tinsel with which Satan covers things that are bad, to make them look good, and if we carefully weigh everything he offers us in the balances of eternity, we shall discover their worthlessness; everything he offers, though it give pleasure for a season, "at last," as Solomon said of the wine cup, "it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

Good Times for the Christian. Christ on the other hand offers all that is good and worthwhile in this life and the life to come. The really good times are for the Christian, and if any one on earth can enjoy himself, it is the person whose life has been enlarged by the coming into it of Christ. He it is who not only gives life, but gives it abundantly. This is true in this life, because Christ enlarges a person's capacity for enjoyment.

We frankly admit that there are restrictions and limitations for the Christian; but he who says that there are restrictions and limitations of real life is false. The things that must be cut off are those that make for death. The surgeon's knife cuts out a cancer, but a cancer makes for death; and so do those things that the person who would be a Christian, must cut out of his life. The very cutting out of these things sets a person free for the real pleasure of life.

Is it not a mean thing to choose the pleasures of sin for a season, and then, when the candle of life has almost burned itself out, fling ourselves upon God's mercy? To such who so choose, expecting to become Christians when they are about to die, that they may thereby escape hell and gain heaven, God holds out no promise of salvation. That people are saved at the last moment of life, as was the thief on the cross, we know, but who dare say that the one who chooses to refuse the salvation God offers now shall ever have another proffer of mercy?

There is a time, we know not when; a place, we know not where; That seals the destiny of man For glory or despair. "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation."

Harlan C. Pearson, editor of the Granite Monthly, and newspaper correspondent, from Concord, was a caller at the Reporter Office on Monday of this week.

The Chataque committee have met and organized and settled on the dates for the entertainments soon to come to Antrim. The dates are August 12, 19 and 20. Particulars later.

Born, in Northampton, Mass., June 21, a son (Arnold Franklin) to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bailey. Mrs. Bailey was formerly Miss Mae Hulett of Antrim. Congratulations.

Mrs. George W. Hodges attended the graduation of her son, Burt Hodges, from Dennison College, at Granville, Ohio, last week, and is now guest of relatives in Stamford, Conn.

The members of the local Woman's Relief Corps, to the number of twenty eight, attended a picnic last Saturday at the Eaton cottage, at Gregg lake. A most enjoyable occasion was the result.

Mt. Crotched Encampment will go to Peterboro this Wednesday evening as invited guests of the Encampment of that place; they will work the Royal Purple degree on a class of candidates for Union Encampment.

Kasimir Fluri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fluri, of Antrim, was married June 14, at Little Falls, N. Y., to Miss Esther Paddock, of that town. Mr. and Mrs. Fluri are spending their honeymoon at his old home here.

Of course everybody is going to Hillsboro the Fourth to attend the big celebration and see the local boys and Hillsboro play two games of base ball. The lovers of a good game hope to witness some nice ball playing.

The Republican Candidates

For president and vice president have had first place on first page of all the large as well as small newspapers of these United States, till almost everyone is acquainted with them by now. Yet from this time forth there will be something said of them each week by very many of these same papers. Here is a little something we want to give our readers at just this time:

Senator Harding is a big man and teamed with Governor Coolidge will win next November. We believe the public has had all it wants of democratic mismanagement and that the country is ripe for a change and is bound to have it.

Senator Harding is a big, wholesome man and his opponents are able to find few holes in his record. The country will rally to the support of the Harding-Coolidge ticket just the same as it did to the McKinley ticket. Ohio is famous for producing big men and Senator Harding sizes up with the biggest of them.

New Law Working Well

A Keene correspondent in the Boston Globe says very much the same thing as did The Reporter a couple weeks ago regarding the new law of taxing automobiles:

The new law requiring the payment of taxes on automobiles before registration is working out well and the city has already received more money from automobile taxes this year than during any year previously. More than 1025 cars have been registered from Keene, and Tax Collector Wardwell has received more than $8000 while during the entire term of 1919 between $6000 and $7000 was received. Some of this may be due to the increase in the number of machines, but the greater part is due to the fact that the city receives taxes on machines which have been purchased since April 1, while formerly the owner of a machine did not have to pay any tax on it unless it was in his possession April 1. For that reason many would defer purchasing a machine until after April 1. In 1919 the city received taxes on less than 700 machines.

Too Heavy Loads

An unusually large truck from Boston, loaded with furniture, was passing through this village on Friday afternoon about 5.30 o'clock enroute for Windsor via Hillsboro Lower Village. While making the detour and a little beyond the Goodell homestead it got stuck, owing to the very wet roads after a rain lasting three days, and had to stay there over night. It was with much difficulty that it was pulled out on Saturday morning about nine o'clock, with the aid of four horses, and it then proceeded on its way. Country roads, culverts and small bridges were not made for five ton trucks, and when they pass over them and do the damage to the road that this one did, it surely is not the fault of the town. It took several men and teams a number of hours to repair this road on Saturday to put it in anywhere near the condition it was before.

Hon. Albert O. Brown for Governor

As the time approaches when the voter must make up his (and possibly her) mind just who is the best fitted for the high and honorable position of governor of New Hampshire, one is casting around and weighing the qualifications of the several candidates who are desirous of representing the people in this capacity. At this time perhaps more than at any other in recent years a man of sound judgement, large business experience and unusual ability is needed; combined with these qualifications a man of experience in financial affairs is an absolute necessity. The state press appears very favorable to the candidacy of Hon. Albert O. Brown, of Manchester, yet they have good words to say of other candidates, for they are well fitted in many ways for the position. As a lawyer, banker and state tax commissioner, Mr. Brown has been very generally known and respected.

What the Reporter desires just now to state is that the candidacy of Mr. Brown is receiving very much attention throughout the state and being favorably received. He is well known all over the state as a man of large business experience, good judgement and much ability, has been most successful in all his undertakings, knows men and will be able to pick the right sort for positions of trust; and it would seem that should the Republican voters nominate him for their governor, there is not a shadow of doubt about his election. In Mr. Brown New Hampshire would have a Governor who will be an honor to the office and one for whom all the people will have great respect. His host of friends feel sure he will be nominated and elected by one of the largest votes the state ever gave a governor.

Crown Dating From 1000 A. D.

The rumor, current in the European press some months ago, when the Bela Kun administration ruled in Hungary, that the Hungarian crown was to be sold, seems to have disappeared, and the later government apparently means to keep it. It was an odd circumstance, says a writer commenting on that rumor and its disappearance, that, with so much talk of discarded insignia of royalty, the one crown actually mentioned as being for sale should have been the most ancient one, with a single exception, in Europe. For whereas the German crown, for example, is comparatively modern, and was made no longer ago than 1871 for the former kaiser's grandfather, this crown of Hungary traces back, at least in legend, to the year 1000, and the sum of 100,000 Swiss marks, about $19,000, which, last summer, was circumstantially reported as the price for which it was to be sold, does not seem particularly exorbitant.

Depressing "Flying Dream."

In the flying dream, you suddenly leap off your feet and undergo the experience of rising to great heights and skimming over innumerable objects. If the dream only embraces this and nothing more, it may be taken to augur some kind of a surprise, usually of a more or less pleasant nature; but if, as so often happens, one imagines one flies to escape some peculiarly evil presence, then the dream may be regarded as a warning against some sinister person or plot. Flying dreams generally occur to people with marked psychic tendencies.

Painter's Fame Came Slowly.

August Renoir, seventy-eight years old, the famous French impressionist, died recently at Cagnes, France, on the day that his picture of the Pont Neuf fetched 100,000 francs at an art sale. "I feel I am just beginning to know my trade," he said when he was well over seventy.

When Paint Causes Wood to Warp.
Coatings of equal moisture resistance should be applied to all surfaces of a wood product which would give dissatisfaction if it were to warp in service. Tests at the forest products laboratory, Madison, have shown that even when wood is properly kiln dried, no coating entirely prevents it from picking up or giving off moisture and, consequently, from swelling and shrinking under the influence of varying atmospheric conditions.

Varnish, shellac, and other moisture-resistant finishes merely decrease the rate at which the moisture changes in wood occur. The higher the grade and the more coats applied, the slower will be the moisture changes. Unequal coatings on opposite surfaces of a wooden article cause unequal rates of change in moisture content and hence unequal shrinkage on the two sides of the piece. The result is that the wood tends to cup or twist out of shape.

Dog Saves Feline Chum.

Duce, an Irish terrier, proved at a fire in the pet shop at 270 Livingston street, Brooklyn, that the term "cat and dog life" sometimes means the opposite of hate, combat and commotion. Duce had been living in amity with seven blooded cats in the shop for several weeks. When the fire started he saved himself, and then watched the firemen rescue the cats. Apparently he counted them, for when the men stopped rescue work after bringing out the sixth he dashed into the burning shop and came out carrying the seventh by the scruff of its neck. Duce had to open a cage to do it. When he released the cat on the sidewalk, the latter purred and rubbed against his legs, until the shop owner gathered up both animals and took them away.

PROBLEMS FACING STRICKEN WORLD

Shall Chaos or Reconstruction in Europe Follow the Great World War?

BOLSHEVIKS FETTER LIBERTY

Theories Leaders of the Movement Lay Down and Put Into Practice, Fly in the Face of All Human Experience.

Article XXIII.

By FRANK COMERFORD.

All the world except the bolshevik rulers of Russia is old-fashioned—behind the times. We still cling to the old superstition that the people should be the sovereigns, that public officials are public servants, that the safest plan of government is that form of government which is nearest to the people. In the United States each citizen has one vote. He has a vote for the men who make the local laws, the city or village ordinances; a vote for the man who enforces the ordinances, the mayor; a vote for the representatives in the state legislature, where the laws are made; for the governor, who enforces the state laws; a vote for the congressmen and senators who enact the national laws and formulate the national policies; a vote for the president, who carries out the supreme law of the land. While it is true that in the case of the president, we vote for electors who elect the president, there has not been a single case wherein an elector has voted other than he was instructed by the people. We come together in political parties, present platforms, and every citizen has a chance to register his opinion of men and measures. The citizen has a right to vote at primary elections and register his choice for the party candidates and for the delegates to the conventions which formulate the party platforms.

Bolshevik Argument Unsound.

The bolsheviks point out that political parties do not live up to their platforms; that candidates for office default in their promises after they are elected; that representative democracy is frequently not representative of and responsive to the people. We know that there is some truth in this criticism, but we know that it is our fault. We have the power to express our wants, to record our will. We also have the power to punish our betrayal. We can recall from office recreant public servants; we can add to our legislation and take over the power to initiate laws, and compel the reference of legislation back to the people before it can become operative as law. Our public officials are only our agents; we hire them, we pay them; we can fire them, disgrace them and punish them if they fail to obey our instructions. Such is our power. If we do not use the power intelligently and effectively it is our fault. If we are indifferent to the rights we possess and fail to use them, the fault is with us. Therefore, we do not condemn a system of representative government because some of the individuals who make up the government are unfit and unworthy of the rights they enjoy.

The bolsheviks appear to favor a change in the method of governing the people. The plan they have adopted is based on the theory that the people must not be trusted, but that the officeholders can. Bolshevism is government from the top down, rather than from the bottom up. They seem to go on the theory that power delegated through many hands will lose its corruption just as running water does. This political theory flies in the face of all human experience.

Bolshevik "Joker."

In our numbers we have a figure which for many years has enjoyed a peculiar reputation; it is the "jester" of numbers. It is the number "23." It is known in American slang as "skiddoo." The bolsheviks inserted in the constitution a joker, and oddly enough they gave it the "skiddoo" number, "23." It is found in Article 2 of the constitution:

"Being guided by the interest of the working class as a whole, the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic deprives all individuals and groups of all rights which could be utilized by them to the detriment of the socialist revolution."

Here is the big beware sign in the constitution. What does it mean; what fears must come into the minds of men and women in Russia when they read this paragraph? The constitution deprives every one, individually and collectively, of exercising any rights he or they may have which are opposed to bolshevism. Did tyranny ever impose a more arbitrary, autocratic ukase? The paragraph concedes that individuals and groups have rights, and then commands the people not to dare use those rights, if their exercise might be detrimental to the Lenin-Trotsky government. The right to voice thoughts is sentenced to silence. Freedom of opinion is crushed. Who is to determine what rights, if exercised, might be detrimental to a socialist revolution? The meaning is as plain as the command is stern. Fall in line with bolshevism or perish, is the order. If you disagree with our plans and methods, "be seen but not heard."

I wonder what our good friends, the militant soap boxers, who shout about freedom of speech, would think and say if in these days of unrest the congress of the United States and the president should make such a pronouncement. America, radical and conservative, would rise in protest against any such law. We live, grow and progress as a people because of our freedom of thought, speech and action. Of course, we silence the man who criminally advocates lawlessness, and we do it for the same reason that we arrest the man who spits on the sidewalk. It is to conserve the public welfare, the common good of the great majority who do not believe in violence and disorder. What would happen to our "Red" agitators if they were in Russia today instead of in the United States, and ventured a single disagreement with the bolshevik program, either in policy or methods? This constitutional provision is not a muffer on free speech, it is a gag.

What freedom can there be in a country in which opinion is shackled? How can a nation make progress except by the conflict and friction of opinion? In the United States, experience has taught us that the majority is generally right, that the many can be trusted. We have put into practice the idea that many heads are better than one. The bolshevik constitution launches the policy that wisdom can only come from a few minds—the fewer, the better. This is the method they adopted to socialize freedom of thought, freedom of speech. It means a communism of ideas, but a very limited communism. In fact, limited to the "Holy Seventeen," and the orator-dictator. The people are outside the circumference of this communism. In their zone communism commands obedience and silence. The human race has fought many a fine fight to take the fetters from the minds of men, and no fight was ever made for a more essential liberty. When the mind of man is not free, what freedom can there be? The jailing of the body, serious as it is, is only a small interference with man's liberty compared with the imprisonment of his mind.

This constitutional clamp muzzles the press. Notwithstanding all the criticism which may be justly made against the press, the fact remains that the newspapers of the world have been a great force for good, a great power in securing freedom. We see the world through the eyes of the newspapers; it is our source of information; we depend upon it for the facts upon which we base our opinions. Notwithstanding the bitter partisan character of the press, few papers know party lines or party prejudice when the public interest is menaced. The press has thrown the searchlight of terrible publicity on the ratholes and driven out the political rats. The freedom of the press is indispensable to free government.

Lenine's Change of Heart.

Lenine, before he came into power, was the loudest voice in Russia, crying for free speech. His pen had been most bitter against interference with the freedom of the press. In his pamphlet, "Lessons of Revolution," he wrote:

"The printing establishments of the labor press are raided. The bolsheviks are arrested, not infrequently without accusation, or on the pretext of charges which are simply calumnious."

"It may be argued that the prosecution of the bolsheviks is by no means a violation of free speech, since only certain persons on specific charges are thus prosecuted. But such arguments bear the earmarks of premeditated untruth. For why should printing offices be raided, newspapers suppressed, for the crimes of individuals, even if these crimes are proven and sustained by law? It would be altogether different if the government declared criminal the entire bolshevik party, its ideas and views. But everyone knows that the government of free Russia never could, and indeed never attempted to do anything of the kind."

Lenine coming into power, wrote into the constitution a new crime. He declared all opposition to the bolshevik program a crime. On this high moral ground he struck down freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of opinion and freedom of the press.

In the language of a great radical, the time will come when the silence of the people of Russia will be more powerful than the voices throttled by the bolshevik gag today. (Copyright, 1928, Western Newspaper Union)

Message for Today.

By far the greater part of the suffering and crime which exist at this moment in civilized Europe arises simply from people not understanding this truism—not knowing that produce or wealth is eternally connected by the laws of heaven and earth with resolute labor; but hoping in some way to cheat or abrogate this everlasting law of life, and to feed where they have not furrowed, and be warm where they have not woven. I repeat, nearly all our misery and crime result from this one misapprehension.—Ruskin.

French to Pay More for Bread.

Joseph J. B. E. Moulens, French minister of provisions, announced to the credit committee of the chamber of deputies that the government would advance the price of wheat to millers from 43 to 75 francs a metric hundred-weight and of flour to 91 francs, the government ceasing to absorb the difference in price. This will raise the price of a two-pound loaf of bread in Paris from 55 to 90 centimes and in the provinces from 60 centimes to 95 centimes.

POULTRY

MITES ARE MOST INJURIOUS

Little Insects Suck Blood of Hen and Seriously Affect Her Ability to Lay Eggs.

If the best results are to be expected from the poultry flock, the buildings must not be allowed to become overrun with mites. Mites are more troublesome and more harmful than lice. They do not live upon the birds like the lice, but during the day hide in the cracks and crevices of the roosts and walls of the house, and at night they come out and get upon the fowls. They suck the hen's blood, and if allowed to become plentiful—as they certainly will if not destroyed—will seriously affect her health and consequently her ability to lay eggs.

Mites may be eradicated by a few thorough applications of kerosene or some of the coal-tar products which are sold for this purpose, or crude petroleum, to the interior of the poultry house.

The commercial coal-tar products are more expensive but retain their killing power longer, and they may be cheapened by reducing with an equal part of kerosene. Crude petroleum will spray better if thinned with one part of kerosene to four parts of the crude oil, according to poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture. Both the crude petroleum and the coal-tar products often contain foreign particles, so should be strained before attempting to spray. One must be sure that the spray reaches all of the cracks and crevices, giving special attention to the roosts, dropping-boards, and nests, and the treatment should be repeated two or three times at intervals of a week or 10 days.

GUINEA FOWLS ARE FAVORED

Hardest of All Domestic Poultry and Great Hustlers—They Keep Away Marauders.

There is no good reason why more guineas should not be kept on the farm. They are just about the hardest of all domestic fowls, and perhaps also the greatest hustlers, yet they seldom do their hustling to the injury of the garden or lawn. While quite domestic in their habits if treated gently, their wild nature leads them to remote parts of the homestead, where they pick up a large part of their living that would be overlooked by any other kind of fowl.

On farms infested with hawks, guineas are very valuable, their vigorous protests against every approach of the foe actually frighten them away. And no strange cat or dog can come on the place without their emphatic protest.

GOOD SHELTER FOR TURKEYS

Plain, Substantial House of Shed-Roof Type, Dry and Ventilated Is Recommended.

A plain, substantial house of the shed-roof type, dry, amply lighted and well ventilated, is the better way for providing shelter for turkeys.

Such a house simplifies the keeping of turkeys, and has many commendable features, for the successful turkey farmer, besides making easy the care and attention necessary at certain seasons of the year.

TURNING EGGS FOR HATCHING

Not Necessary, According to Professor Kaupp, Expert of North Carolina Station.

Turning eggs while saving them for hatching, although generally recommended and practiced by poultry keepers, is believed to be unnecessary. Rather thorough tests conducted by Prof. B. F. Kaupp of North Carolina station show no gain in hatch ability of eggs turned every day over similar lots which were kept undisturbed until placed in the incubator.

FOWLS GET LAZY IN SUMMER

Some Hens Are So Inactive That They Do Not Earn Their Feed During Hot Weather.

As a rule hens do not show great activity during hot weather, but there are some which become so lazy that they are not worth their feeding. These are the hens that cut down their egg yield. Hot weather is worse for hens than cold weather, for during the winter months a hen with any life in her will busy herself to keep warm.

Is your Kitchen Cool and Comfortable?

You can't have a cool, comfortable kitchen if you keep a fire burning all day.

The New Perfection Oil Cook Stove gives you controlled heat when you want it—a high, blue flame with white tips (the hottest flame for fast cooking) or a low, even flame for simmering. Just turn the handle—that's all.

Then, too, all the drudgery that goes with coal hods, ashes and soot is abolished from the cooler, cleaner kitchens where the New Perfection is used.

The New Perfection Oil Cook Stove comes in 1, 2, 3 and 4-burner sizes. 3,000,000 users like it because it means a sure fuel saving.

Woman's Precious Gift

The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE NEWS

The annual convention of the New Hampshire State Letter Carriers' association will be held at Recreation Park, Manchester.

Charles Smith, a Portuguese, was sentenced to from two to four years in State Prison by Judge Charles M. Marble in the Superior Court Nashua, having pleaded guilty to second-degree manslaughter of Samuel Norman, Feb. 17.

One of the handsomest specimens of land-locked salmon seen in Franklin for a long time was caught at Winnisquam lake by Assessor Gilbert G. Fellows. It measured 29 inches in length and was uncommonly round and chunky.

The town of Deerfield celebrated one of the most pretentious golden weddings in its history recently. It was the 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Button Chase and was attended by 250 townspeople and out-of-town guests.

Ernest Delletier of New Boston, was brought before the Commissioner Burns P. Hodgman in the United States District court, Concord, charged with operating a still and selling 45 gallons of whiskey. He pleaded guilty and was held in the sum of $1000 for the grand jury.

Octave Demers, aged 64, a Dover grocer, well known in racing circles as the owner and driver of fast horses, died in a Boston hospital following an operation. He was born in Canada and was in business in Somersworth many years before going to Dover in 1905.

At the general meeting of the Society of the Cincinnati, holding its Triennial in Portsmouth, Hon. Winslow Warren of the Society of the Cincinnati in the state of Massachusetts was re-elected President General, having served in this capacity for many years.

Fifty men are working on the big island in the Merrimack river blasting, drilling and crushing stone for the new Amoskeag company's concrete dam, Manchester. Just as soon as water in the river drops to normal summer height construction work on the big enterprise will go on with a much larger force.

Attachment on the real estate of Peter E. Hogan, selectman of East Jaffrey and Joseph Lamere, a police officer of Jaffrey has been made at the Keene register of deeds by writs filed by Dr. Frederick C. Sweeney, a practicing physician of Jaffrey. The amount of the suits total $35,000. Both suits may be returnable at the October term of court.

Gov. John H. Bartlett will deliver the address at the exercises to be held at St. Anne's church, Manchester, Monday, July 5, in conjunction with the unveiling of the parish's memorial tablet to its members who served in the army, navy or marine corps in the war. Noted speakers from other places will speak and Rt. Rev. George Albert Guertin will bless the monument and deliver an address.

Launch Submarine at Portsmouth, N. H.

The S-9, the ninth submarine built at the Portsmouth navy yard, slipped from the ways of the Franklin shiphouse in the presence of several hundred spectators. The sponsor was Mrs. Anna K. Palmer, wife of Comdr. J. E. Palmer, retired, of Atlantic City, N. J.

State Undertakers Gather in Claremont.

The New Hampshire Licensed Embalmers and Undertakers' association will celebrate their 21st anniversary at Claremont, June 29 and 30, with lectures, demonstrations, election of officers and a banquet. Arrangements have been made for a good time for the ladies. The examining board will conduct examinations the last day.

Manchester Wins Clean-Up Prize

Unclean conditions in the Back Bay and the South end, Boston, according to an inspection report made to the three men who were judges of the clean-up and paint-up campaign, prevented the city of Boston from getting a high mark. The judges, Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, Frank W. Whitcomb, president of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, and R. H. Spaulding, former Governor of New Hampshire, awarded the clean-up trophy, a silver loving cup, to Manchester, N. H., as the city which conducted the best campaign.

Maiden received second prize and Westfield was given honorable mention along with Brighton and Dorchester districts.

Auto Poker Pot Won by Police

The new gambling game, "Auto Poker," was stopped by the Claremont police and the offenders cautioned to discontinue the game on the public streets. The game consists of several young men selecting an approaching automobile, the number may be 1232, which would mean a pair of deuces. The next man's car might have 1666, which would mean three of a kind, and possibly the next car along might have 1414, which would mean two pair and so on, the highest man getting the pot, which was being played at a dime each.

STATE FARMERS HIT BY DECLINE

High Cost of Feed and Help Makes Sheep Industry Unprofitable

The continual decline of the hide and wool market is proving a severe blow to the farmers of the state. Cow, steer and bull hides, and calf skins are being quoted lower nearly every week until the farmers are asking when the limit will be reached. With advancing prices for grain and other staples purchased by the farmers, it is growing harder to make both ends meet when returns are so low on some of the commodities they offer for sale.

The market for wool is even more unsettled than the hide market. Only a few companies are purchasing wool at present and these are offering the growers very low prices compared with last season's returns. One of the largest wool buying companies in New Hampshire, with agents in all sections of the state, is not attempting to buy any wool until the market is in a more stabilized condition, while a large number of the Boston buyers who usually handle local wool advise the State Bureau of Markets that they are not anxious to purchase any at the present time. The same condition seems to prevail throughout the country and large Western wool growers are feeling very blue over the present market outlook for this season's clip. With a poor lambing season reported by some growers, and the failure of the wool market, it does not argue well for increased sheep production in our state.

The cause of this serious condition are attributed by the dealers and manufacturers mainly to the financial situation, cancellation of orders, transportation difficulties, and a general fear that the reduction in retail prices mean a still further break in the market.

Six Naval Prisoners Receive Clemency

The navy clemency board, which held a week's session in Portsmouth last month, announced that six petitions for clemency had been granted out of 40 made by inmates of the naval prison.

The appeals were made before the retirement of Lt-Comdr. Thomas Mott Osborne as commandant of the prison, and were approved by him. Commodore A. V. Wadhams (retired), the present commandant, referred them to the clemency board.

No pardons were granted and the reductions in sentence were said to be in cases of men committed for minor offences.

Faces Second Engagement Suit

Mrs. Emma Chase of Antrim has brought suit for $30,000 for alleged breach of promise against John D. Hart of Derry. She alleges that she was engaged to marry Hart, at that time being in Derry, when he was sued by Mrs. Phoebe Ballew of Derry for breach of promise. Mrs. Chase alleges Hart induced her to return to her home in Antrim, promising her that when he got the Ballew breach of promise suit settled he would marry her. Mrs. Chase's friends wrote her that Hart and Mrs. Ballew settled the first breach of promise suit by getting married at Epping, May 26. Mrs. Chase then returned and after investigations began the second suit against Hart for breach of promise. All the parties are of middle age.

Vigorous Drive Against Moths

The moth suppression department of the United States bureau of entomology is making a vigorous drive at present against the spread of the gypsy moth pest. Several big motor trucks with spraying machines have been sent from the repair station in Franklin to different locations in New England extending from Maine to Long Island Sound.

In the fall and winter scouts have scoured the outside limits of the infested territory, and where moth eggs have been found they have been destroyed with crescote. Scouts have located gypsy moths as far north as Berlin, and in Maine, but Vermont has escaped being infested thus far. The claim that the intense cold of last winter destroyed the eggs in exposed places is said to have been somewhat overdrawn, for there are plenty of the gypsy caterpillars now crawling around on leaves of trees in all the infested country, and much damage to trees is looked for where they are not suppressed. U. S. spraying machines are at work in towns in this vicinity at present.

The department is somewhat embarrassed this year on account of lack of enough money to carry out the proper kind of a campaign against the pest. The recent Congress in the course of its extensive pruning, chopped $50,000 from the customary $300,000 allowed this department. However the gypsy moth suppression crew is making a strenuous fight against the spread of the pest into new territory and in the infested territory is doing some very effective work toward eliminating it.

State Shows Real Thrift Stamp Gain

A partial report of the sales of War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps in New Hampshire cities and towns during the past four weeks shows conclusively that a large number of residents believe thoroughly in these securities as a desirable form for saving. According to the reports received by the savings division, first federal reserve district, the sales are particularly interesting when compared with the population figures.

The Savings Stamps have a maturity value of $5.00 and the Thrift Stamps cost 25 cents each.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. • Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

BREAK IN TRAIN'S SCHEDULE

Fair Driver of Auto Had a Hunch, and the Sequel Proved She Was Correct.

Let me recommend a ride in a new car with a woman driver as the best prescription for a thrill that will last a lifetime, writes a correspondent. Mine came when, after reluctantly accepting an invitation to ride from a friend who had just received her new machine, we mounted the incline to a grade crossing in a suburb and started across the tracks. In the exact middle the engine stopped and nothing we could do had the slightest effect on it. While working we were approached by an excited flagman.

"A limited is due here in two minutes," he said, "and it never has stopped at this station."
"It will today," calmly replied my friend. And it did, but not before it had been flagged and the train crew heaped boost up from the rails.

A Boulevard Deputy-Sheriff.

The other day we dropped into our favorite garage for a few minor repairs, which the bus needed. The proprietor was even a little prouder than usual, we thought.

"What's happened to the boss," said we to Fat.

"Haven't you heard?" he asked.
"No. What is it?"
"He's a deputy sheriff now. Hey, boss, come on over here an' show your badge."

A garage proprietor and a deputy sheriff all at once! If anybody can beat that for arrogance and pomp and lordly authority and a supreme sense of superiority outside of Prussia, we'd like to hear about it.

The Usual Thing.

"But," we asked, "what have you done about it?"

"Done? Heavens above! Haven't I just said I denounced it?"—Kansas City Star.

He'd Heard That Before.

My husband and I were in New York last fall. One day while he went to attend to some business I thought I would take a ride in one of the motor busses. A man sat next to me and, glancing down at his shoes, I absent-mindedly put my hand on his knee and said: "Sweetheart, your shoes need shining." He smiled and said: "Yes, my wife said so this morning."—Exchange.

FRECKLES

Color to Show Denominations.
The treasury department at Washington is now working on a proposition to mark bills of various denominations with a standardized colored seal, so that anyone can recognize notes of different denominations at a glance. The plan, suggested by a Philadelphia druggist, is to have a colored seal in one corner of the bill, for instance, a green seal for a one, a pink seal for a two, a blue seal for a five, and so on. Treasury officials, however, dislike the idea of using different dyes.

PRaise FROM SENATOR LODGE

Very Strong in His Support of Senator George H. Moses

SERVICES OF GREAT VALUE

Failure of New Hampshire to Return Him Would Be a Severe Loss to Both State and Nation

One of the strongest endorsements ever given a public servant by a colleague is that tendered United States Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire by United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts in a letter sent a few weeks ago to Judge Fred A. Jones of Lebanon.

Senator Lodge determines the relations of the two men in public life as of the most friendly and intimate character and he established the value of Senator Moses' services to the State and nation as of the greatest importance.

"The failure of New Hampshire to return him (Senator Moses) to the position he has honored would be a severe loss not only to his own State, but to New England, to the country and to the Senate itself," writes Senator Lodge.

The letter, which explains itself, is as follows:

My Dear Mr. Jones: May 24, 1920

I have received your letter of May 20th in which you tell me that Senator Moses will probably be opposed for renomination and that one of the arguments which his opponents are beginning to use is that he deserted my leadership in the course of the contest over the peace treaty. You ask me if there is any foundation for such a statement. I am very glad to answer the question.

Senator Moses has been one of my most loyal and helpful friends throughout all the long contest which we have had concerning the League of Nations. I have trusted him, confided in him, and he never failed me when I have called on him for assistance. Senator Moses was one of those who had a very deep and settled conviction that the defeat of the treaty was the only sure way to protect the interests, the welfare and the sovereignty of the United States.

Senator Moses Helped

My view was that we could safely join the League if the reservations were made which would protect the independence and the rights of the United States. Senator Moses helped me in every possible way in securing the reservations which I considered necessary.

No one could have helped me more. When it came to the final vote on ratifying the treaty with reservations, he, in obedience to his convictions, which were well known to me, voted against ratification with the reservations, while I voted for ratification with the reservations.

I never expected him to sacrifice his convictions to me on that last point. I should not have respected him if he had done so and he could not have respected himself.

I regretted that we differed on that single point, but there was never a moment when I was not well aware that on the final question of ratification he could not vote with me.

I respected his convictions as he respected mine, and nothing could be more untrue than to say that he ever deserted my leadership.

Great Value on Foreign Relations I think that I ought to add that Senator Moses has been of unusual value in all work of the Foreign Relations Committee. By his diplomatic service he was peculiarly fitted for a position on that great committee, which was recognized by all members of the Senate, and in all matters apart from the League, as on the League itself, he has been of the greatest possible help to me and to the committee and to the public.

In a remarkably short time he has made a distinguished place for himself in the Senate, and although I have no right to interfere in the politics of another State I think I am justified in saying, in view of the argument which you tell me is being used against him, that he is one of the most valuable Senators we have and that the failure of New Hampshire to return him to the position which he has honored would be a severe loss not only to his own State but to New England, to the country, and to the Senate itself. I am,

Very truly yours,

The Atwood family have moved to Stoddard.

Mr. Scully is the new janitor at the town hall.

Mrs. Albert Lawrence is in very poor health.

Mrs. Ella Weston is at her Lake George summer home.

The State Prohibition Officer made a visit here on Tuesday of last week.

We were mistaken about Brad Brown's horse. It was only a borrowed one.

Several from here attended the graduation exercises at Antrim Friday afternoon.

Miss Ruth Knowles and Miss Thelma Weston are home for a couple weeks' vacation from Keene Normal.

Mrs. Jessie Keezer May is visiting her aged mother and other relatives, coming from Coronado, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Starrett and son, of Lynn, Mass., visited at Mr. Joslin's over the week end.

Several of the motorcycle gypsy tour party, from Boston en route to the Weirs, passed through here Sunday.

Lewis Knight has been confined to the house for three weeks; a peculiar kind of numbness in his limbs makes getting about rather difficult, but his courage is good.

There has been a new clock registering system installed at the Goodell Shop here. It registers a fraction of a minute. The men are also given five minutes leeway in ringing in or out.

The grammar school exercises in the town hall on Friday evening were well attended, in spite of the weather. The class motto "Perseverance Wins" was hung high up on the stage in front, and when lighted the transparent effect was very pretty, and the arrangement of the flowers was most pleasing. Of course the class looked its best, and so did the teachers. The discipline and order were quite noticeable, showing a commendable method on Miss Towle's part. While all the pupils did well, Phyllis Dunclee, Athleah Edwards, Mabel Bailey and Harold Eaton showed careful work. Both the vocal and instrumental music was above the average of such occasions. Mr. Prior, in a few well chosen words, presented the diplomas. There was an exhibition of the handwork, which was very interesting, and worthy praise is due both teacher and pupils.
