Americanism

By LEONARD WOOD

Fear God and take your own part.—Theodore Roosevelt.

THIS is one of the strongest and most frequently quoted of Theodore Roosevelt's utterances. The seven words might stand for his autobiography. He feared God and took his own part—as an American citizen. There is a double significance in the word "take" as Roosevelt used it. It has its self-defensive significance and it has the meaning also of playing your own part for the good of your country. Roosevelt preached the strenuous life. He did not believe in soft living. His contempt for the idle American was almost beyond the reach of the words of his vocabulary. He could not conceive any sight more pitiful than that of a man willing to accept the benefits of good government and yet unwilling to bear his share of the burden of the work of securing it. Roosevelt's words "Fear God and take your own part," were addressed to every man and woman in this land. Roosevelt was God-fearing and he knew that a God-fearing nation was a nation which would survive. He knew also that the God-fearing man is the man who, if he interprets aright his duty to God, is the man who is willing to take his own part and play his own part in the world.

There are civic duties which every American should do his utmost to fulfill. There are duties which admit of no timidity or inaction. The timid have no place in a government of the people. The timid cannot be depended upon properly to guard their treasure of liberty, a treasure which came down to them as a heritage from fearless forefathers.

There have been times when people of this country seemingly have been afraid to take their own part, let alone to play it. It was more in seeming than in reality. It takes a whole people a long time to make up its mind just what is right. When the nation's mind finally was made up, however, that the national conscience demanded action, action always has followed.

But even in times of stress there have been those timid souls who would hold back, pleading this or pleading that in order to justify a hesitating policy. It was to all the people that Roosevelt appealed when he said "Fear God and take your own part," but it was his desire to strengthen particularly the hearts of the timid ones and to clear their vision so that they could see straight the path of American duty.

Americans should take their own part not only in matters directly affecting the government, but in all the matters of every day life which make for wholesome conditions in the communities. Civic duties begin at home. If every American household trains its children along the lines of Americanism the whole body of people gets its training and our institutions are secure.

PORTIA CHAPTER

Of Hillsboro Has Pleasant Social Gathering

A number of the members of Portia Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, from this place, attended the special meeting in Hillsboro on Monday evening. It was the twenty-eighth anniversary and visitation, and at the same time the degree was conferred and refreshments were served.

This meeting deserves more than a passing notice, for it was an important event in the career of Portia Chapter. Nearly two hundred and fifty were present, members of three other chapters being in attendance: Theta Chapter, of Peterboro, Atlantic Chapter of Franconstown, and Martha Washington Chapter of Goffstown; these all were invited guests, and expressed themselves as delighted to be present and assist in the most pleasing anniversary exercises.

From the Grand Chapter of New Hampshire there was present the Grand Matron, who made her official visitation at this time, and she was accompanied by four of her official family, Mrs. Maude Proctor, Worthy Matron of Portia Chapter, being one of them. Other past grand officers were present.

The degree staff of the home Chapter conferred the work on a class of candidates in a most commendable manner, the same receiving the highest praise from the visiting grand of-

A FEW THOUGHTS

Suggested by What Is Happening Around

How true is what the New York World says: Americans invest first and investigate afterward.

Prohibition may not prohibit, but we have a law against stealing, and look at the big prices on everything.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat very truthfully says: If people are the right kind of people, any form of government can be made to work.

All things have an ending—the good as well as the bad. The period following the Civil War was not unlike the period through which we are now passing and that period had its ending.

Wild geese are said to be making their way south; they always go at this season of the year, and it is hoped that their departure will have no influence whatever on our remarkably mild weather.

For the first time the voters—both male and female—are listening to the women on the stump, talking for their favorite candidates and policies. The general opinion of the press is that they are doing well.

An exchange says: "After all, is there any cleaner or manlier sport than outdoor baseball, with all its evils made by the wickedly inclined?" How about the game of politics; isn't that about as harmless a game as is played?

The most glorious fall that we have been having has kept many of the summer guests in the country very much longer than usual, and in addition has had an effect upon them that will cause them to want to come again.

Less than two weeks to election and there hasn't been such a great lot doing up to this time, but in the few short days left there is ample opportunity to say all that is needed; and judging from the list of speakers of both of the great parties there will be something said in the next two weeks.

It is said that within a few days now the time of all clocks whether in New Hampshire or Massachusetts will be alike. Then it will not be possible to lose a train while one is figuring out the difference in time and wondering just what time a certain train is running on anyway or at what hour some train that is running on time will reach a certain station.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

Antrim Town Hall on Thursday Evening, the 21st

Everybody will want to hear Senator George H. Moses at the town hall on Thursday evening of this week; also Congressman Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, will speak. It is seldom Antrim is favored with such able orators as are these two public men and they will have things to say to our people that will be of great interest at this time. The local committee feels that it has been greatly favored by the State committee in sending here these prominent speakers. Let the seating capacity of the hall be taxed to the utmost on this occasion.

Others who accepted the privilege of adding complimentary words. In addition to these verbal bouquets, a few bouquets of real flowers were presented to a number of the officers, and a more substantial gift was passed to the Grand Matron. The vocal selections by Sam Downing during the conferring of the degree were beautifully rendered and his selections were of the right sort—he received a share of the good things said in favor of the work.

This was one of the most pleasing occasions that it has been the privilege of Portia Chapter to plan and carry out; it was splendidly done, and to the several committees is due a large amount of credit for its grand success.

EAST ANTRIM

G. P. Loveland, of Rumney, spent the week end at G. F. Trask's.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. White and son, Carrol, were business visitors in Manchester one day this week.

What pleasure people find in breaking out window glass we cannot see, and it means a lot to the owners of the property.

Miss Bertha Myers has returned to her duties at Elliot Hospital, Manchester, after two weeks spent with her sister, Mrs. C. D. White.

Mrs. Mary Coombs returned from Notre Dame Hospital, Manchester, last Saturday, and is critically ill. Mrs. Will Smith, of Hillsboro, is assisting in her care.

HAS SUPERB WATER POWER

That of British Columbia is Said to Equal Five Niagaras in its Possibilities.

The potential water power of British Columbia, experts declare, is equal to that of five Niagaras. Pouring down from the mountains comes enough water to develop 8,000,000 horse-power. Niagara falls, when all the water that is available on the Canadian side has been harnessed will produce only 650,000 horse power.

Only 123,000 electric horse power is now developed by the plants supplying Vancouver, New Westminster and the towns in the vicinity. This power turns the wheels of mills and factories, propels the street cars of these cities and provides lights for the streets and homes. If the entire wealth of British Columbia in water power were harnessed it would be sufficient to provide power, light and heat for 40 cities the size of Vancouver and New Brunswick combined. With this cheap power available, economists predict that some day the province will become one of the greatest manufacturing centers of Canada.

Fine Tune Will Live.

Probably the majority of churchgoers will agree with the vicar of Wellborough in his refusal to allow the church bells to ring out "Tipperary" in honor of the great peace, for in these matters one must of course draw the line somewhere.

Yet, when the vicar asks: "If Tipperary, why not Tommy, Make Room for Uncle?" the analogy is not very apt. Both songs, it is true, are not well, classical music. But the glorious associations of "Tipperary" have raised it far above such criticism; and though the famous tune may never reach the height of a church bell, it is, nevertheless, likely to go down to posterity as the immortal "Marseillaise" of the Old Contemptibles.—London Chronicle.

JAFFA GATE IN JERUSALEM

Passageway Through Which General Allenby Entered is the Real Article, Writer Says.

Jerusalem has seven gates and a transportation problem handled at present, as of old, along purely Eastern lines. There are donkeys, horses, camels—even carriages and the ubiquitous flivver and all that traffic concentrates naturally at the gates, just as, to increase its force, water used to be made to flow through a small opening in the old-fashioned tide mills at home. As for telephones, who that can shout from roof to roof and down the echoing street should trouble himself to whisper into a funnel?

My windows are well placed, for I can watch the crowd thronging in and out of the Jaffa gate, writes William D. McCracken in Asia. This is the widest opening the city has, since William II of Prussia had it enlarged to permit his spectacular entry—a symbolical pageant that he staged to represent his taking possession of the holy city by agreement with the sultan in Constantinople. But wide is the gate which leadeth unto destruction. The real Jaffa gate is a narrow one at the side of the wide passageway; and this was the one used by Gen. Allenby when he entered Jerusalem after its capture, modestly, on foot, carrying the cane that the British officer affects as his only scepter of power. This gate is now closed with heavy iron bars and will not be reopened until the exact political status of Jerusalem has been determined.

MAYOR NOT LIGHTLY CHOSEN

Chief Executive of City of London is Called Upon to Fulfill Many Requirements.

Sir William Treloar, in his recently published book, "A Lord Mayor's Diary," points out that the chief magistrate of the city of London is chosen in quite a different manner from that adopted by any other municipality in the kingdom, remarks London Answers.

Instead of being elected by the members of the corporation or council, who may, and often do, for political party reasons, choose someone who has never done suit or services to the town, London's lord mayor can be chosen only from those who have served an apprenticeship of some years to the corporation.

He must first be elected an alderman by the ratepayers of his ward, and accepted and sworn in by the court of aldermen; then he must have served the office of sheriff, to which position he has to be elected by the liverymen, and afterward approved by the sovereign.

Then, and not till then, is he eligible to ask the liverymen to elect him as lord mayor; the court of aldermen afterward again having the power to refuse him, the approval of the sovereign being also again necessary before he can take office.

New Idea for Pictures.

It is not often that an entirely new method of producing pictures is discovered, and an Oregon artist is attracting considerable attention with a process as pleasing as it is original. Instead of using fluid pigments of any kind, bits of colored cloth, painstakingly cut to particular shape and size of each detail of the work, are pasted upon the canvas background, which is stretched over thin board. Some of the almost infinitesimal particles of fabric are shredded out to mere threads to get the desired effect, while the bulkier objects of the scene are built up in relief, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A sharp-pointed stick serves as a brush for this curious art. The finished pictures exemplify the remarkable results attained when patience and the artistic sense are coordinated.

Industrial Fatigue.

An investigation of the subject of industrial fatigue conducted in the government shops by the English government resulted in obtaining a great deal of valuable information. It has been the means in many cases of a great increase of the output, and these investigations are about to be extended generally to all British industrial establishments by a recently established industrial fatigue research board, under the department of scientific and industrial research and the medical research committee. The duties of the board will be to initiate, organize and promote, by research, grants, or otherwise, investigations in different industries with the view of finding the most favorable hours of labor, spells of work, rest pauses, etc.

Policewomen Now Established.

Policewomen have become an established factor of municipal law enforcement in recent years, but motorcyclic policewomen still are a novelty. London now has a squad of them, however, and they are doing very effective work, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The women have been members of the police force for some time, but have only recently acquired their machines.

His Choice.

The ex-gob, now the father of triplets, proudly displayed his offspring to his bashful buddy. "What do you think of them?" he chorled. "Well," replied his buddy doubtfully, "if I was you I think I'd keep that one there."—The American Legion Weekly.

PUBLIC OPPOSES GOV'T OPERATION

Canvass of 5,154 Editors Shows 4,466 Communities Against Socialistic Experiment.

OPPOSITION GROWING

Eighty-seven Per Cent in 1920 as Against 83 Per Cent in 1919 Think Public is Opposed to Radicalism.

The American public is more intensely opposed to Government operation than it was a year ago, according to the newspaper editors of the country. Out of 5,154 editors replying to a questionnaire sent out by the Press Service Company of New York, 4,466, or 86 per cent, gave it as their judgment that the people of their communities were overwhelmingly against the Government competing in business with its own citizens.

In 1919 the Press Service Company conducted a similar canvass of editors on the government operation of railroads. That questionnaire showed that 83 per cent of the editors considered their communities against Government operation of public utilities.

Apparently, then, if editors estimate public opinion accurately, that opinion in a year, considered by communities, has swung 8 per cent farther away from socialistic experiments.

Eleven Million Circulation. The combined circulation of the papers whose editors replied is 11,422,817, which means, according to the usual estimated ratio between circulation and readers, a constituency of at least 44,000,000. And this constituency is pretty evenly scattered throughout the country, no considerable section of any state being unrepresented. The estimate of opinion based on this thoroughly diffused 44 per cent of the country's population may, therefore, be considered a fair representation of the people as a whole.

Another feature of the result is its evident lack of partisan bias. The major political affiliations of the papers represented are fairly evenly divided, being 1,857 Republican and 1,850 Democratic. There are also 1,485 independent and 462 miscellaneous, including labor organs, etc.

How little the results are affected by the politics of the papers is shown in an analysis by sections. In the Southern section, for instance, where replies came from 65 Republican papers and 889 Democratic, the percentage against Government operation was 88; in the Great Lake section, with conditions reversed, 478 Republican and 155 Democratic, the opposition was 87 per cent.

Replies from the West, Middle West and Southwest show that it is a mistake to consider those sections vastly more favorable to radical Government experiments than the East. The radicals can get little comfort out of the 89 per cent of thumbs down—2 per cent above the average—in the Southwest, including Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Texas, once supposed to be much given to Government regulation experiments, returned 92 per cent of unfavorable replies. Out of the 244 editors replying from that state only three edited Republican papers. The 82 per cent opposition of the Northwest, including Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming, and the 88 per cent veto of the Far West group, including Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado, Utah and Washington, are significant of the prevailing conservative sentiment on this question even in the more radical sections.

Judgment Apparently Unbiased. The questionnaire closes with a request for the editor's personal opinion on certain concrete cases as follows:

"Do you personally believe that the Federal Government should own and operate competitive industries to provide: (a) Fertilizer? (b) Clothing? (c) Automobiles? (d) Farm implements? (e) Foodstuffs?"

Substantially all the editors who gave estimates of their readers' opinions also expressed their own by replying to this last question. Proof of considerable effort to avoid personal bias is found in the fact that in many cases the editor differed from the opinion he credited to his community. The percentage of "no" ran: (a) 76; (b) 83; (c) 88; (d) 82; (e) 79.

While the questions were based on general principles involved in the Government participating in competitive business, the so-called Muscle Shoals Bill now before Congress was used as a concrete example of a Government operation scheme. Under this bill a Government-owned corporation would be given broad powers to operate and develop Government plants and properties. It would produce at Muscle Shoals various fertilizer products and sell them in competition with producers and merchants in the fertilizer business.

The strength of the opposition to Government operation is indicated by the replies from Alabama, where the Muscle Shoals war plant is and where, of course, there is intense interest and local pride in getting its expected peace-time operation under way at the earliest possible date. Fifty editors from that state replied, of whom 88 were opposed to Government operation, 8 in favor and 4 doubtful.

WATCHES
that go down through generations

WE are frankly proud of this store's reputation as Headquarters for time-pieces.

We have literally timed the community. Our watches are ticking merrily away in homes everywhere. And what is more important still, these watches have kept correct time. They have been something more than looks.

It is just as well to keep in mind that the purchase of a watch should be made with the greatest possible care. It is not a cheap article, and it is not for many. A time-piece should be handed down from generation to generation—from father to son—indefinitely. And a good watch will give this service uncompromisingly.

We have in stock all standard makes and all in all types and designs, from the highly specialized railroad time-piece to the delicate mechanism of the wrist watch for my lady of fashion.

We take more than ordinary care in showing you these watches. We, too, realize that a watch is an investment for the future.

Rings are very much the same—they must last. If gems fall from gem-set rings the investment can scarcely be called a wise one. We therefore call to your attention the remarkably fine time-piece line from the W.W.W. While the W.W.W. and Wares of Buffalo. They have a reputation that years of honest and handling has built up.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE NEWS

Louis B. Jones, of Augusta, Me., chief engineer of the Maine highway commission, was killed by an elevator at the Rockingham Hotel, Portsmouth.

Mrs. Martha E. Roberts of Claremont was chosen president of the 24th annual meeting of the New Hampshire at the 24th annual meeting in Manchester.

The New Hampshire State Sunday school convention held a three days session at the Congregational church Claremont. Many delegates were present.

The Morley Button Co. of Portsmouth which has been one of the busiest industrial plants in that section has been forced to go on a three-day week schedule, because of the great amount of stock which has been piled up with no market.

The recent series of special meetings of the State Grange held in all parts of the state in co-operation with Pomona granges, to confer the higher degrees upon those desiring to receive the seventh degree at Boston, Nov. 13, at the time of the meeting of the National Grange, was, according to reports, a very gratifying success.

The annual meeting of the Golden Rule Farm Homes association in Franklin, brought together many child welfare workers from different parts of the state. It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the association and the officers who have worked so energetically to place the organization on a substantial basis are now full of hope for important developments in the future.

Ernest C. Dudley, of Concord, was elected grand master at the annual session of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire Odd Fellows at its annual session, in Manchester. Frank L. Way of Manchester, was re-elected grand secretary. The grand lodge voted to erect a new Odd Fellows home on the site of the present home on the Franklin Pierce estate in Concord, and a fund will be raised by assessments on each member for five years.

Dr. Phillips Will Be Bee Speaker. Dr. E. F. Phillips, chief agriculturist of the United States department of agriculture will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the New to be held in Exeter, Oct. 27.

Office at Manchester. Rev. E. S. Jenks, secretary of the New Hampshire Baptist convention has removed his office from Franklin to Manchester where rooms have been engaged in the new Bell building, 922 Elm st.

Lecture is Given For 5,912th Time. The lecture, "Acres of Diamonds," given at the town house, Peterborough, by Russell H. Conwell was well attended. This was the 5,912th time this lecture had been delivered, and it was just 59 years ago that Mr. Conwell spoke in Peterborough before.

Chosen Head of Dartmouth Council. Henry O. Holland, Jr., of Buffalo, has been elected president of the Occum council, an auxiliary body to Palaeoptus, the student governing body of Dartmouth college. James T. Taylor of Johnston, Pa., was chosen vice-president and Sumner D. Kilmar of New York City, secretary.

Boy up Tree Hit by Hunter. An East Northfield man alleged to have been hunting squirrels, sees something moving in a tree, and supposing it to be some sort of a wild animal takes quick aim and fires only to learn that he shot 9-year old Clinton Whitchee, who was picking butternuts from a tree on the land of his grandfather.

Prepare Annual Horticultural 26th Exhibition. Extensive preparations are now being made for the 26th annual exhibition of the New Hampshire Horticultural society on Oct. 27, 28 and 29. The exhibit will be held in the own hall, Exeter, meetings in the Congregational church, and the banquet in Unity hall.

New York leads in the representation of students at the Phillips Exeter academy, there being 133 from that state, Massachusetts being second with 128, and New Hampshire third with 48. The Empire state has taken the lead from Massachusetts which headed the list last year. New Hampshire's representation has dropped off one student from the last year count, when it stood at 49.

Potato Crop is Very Important. The importance of potatoes as a cash crop in Coos county is emphasized in a summary of 34 farm account records for the past year, drawn up by A. B. Conung of the State College Extension Service. Mr. Conung points out that the 10 most profitable farms in the county had an average sale of cash crops amounting to $982, while the average for the whole number amounted to only $471. The outstanding cash crop of these farms was potatoes; hay and seed grain were also sold.

Tenants Remain As House is Re-moved

Joseph Ouillette and family of Manchester, lived in a house that was being moved off its foundation to another location, a block away. Ouillette could not obtain another flat as he has children, so he was forced to occupy his tenement while it was being taken up the street.

Grand Jury Returns Seven Indictments

Seven indictments were returned by the grand jury for the October term of superior court, Keene, as follows: William Kennedy and William Grieve of Massachusetts, larceny of an automobile; Leon P. Redfield of Keene, fraud; Samuel Stowell of Jaffrey, statutory offense, two counts; Mary Hill of Fiskeville, conversion of property of another to her own use; Charles J. Malloy of Boston, arson.

Trout Hatchery is Looked Over

Gov. John H. Bartlett, of Portsmouth, and four of the five members of his executive council, paid their first official visit to the brook trout hatchery and game farm at New Hampton. The property was purchased one year ago of Charles E. Dickerman for $25,000. In the opinion of far-seeing sportsmen it is worth many times this sum to the future fish and game interest of New Hampshire. For its purchase and development much credit is due Gen. John H. Brown, who represents the governor and council as supervisor of the state fish and game department. There are 174 acres in the tract.

Would Save $25,000.

Hon. James O. Lyford, speaking on the "Proposed Amendments to the State Constitution" at the North Congregational church, Concord, laid particular stress on the income tax amendment and the amendment upon the reduction of the House of Representatives. In discussing the latter Mr. Lyford gave some interesting comparative figures of the legislatures of other states, and explained that if the New Hampshire house was reduced to 300 members it would still be twice as large as the house of representatives in 43 states. Mr. Lyford explained the contest that has prevailed in every Constitutional Convention for 70 years between the advocates of district system and the town system.

Pioneer Work by Dartmouth

In adding two new courses to the curriculum, Dartmouth college is entering upon an experiment that is attracting the attention of the prominent educators of the country. The establishment of the courses in citizenship and evolution, both single semester courses that are compulsory for members of the freshman class, opens a new field for college study and their success at Dartmouth means the adoption of an entirely new branch of academic study in the leading universities of the country. Each course is a general introduction to the whole field of science with which it is connected. The courses are required of the men of the entering class in order to give freshmen an idea of the work their college course covers.

Concord's Housing Plan.

Detailed plans of the Housing committee of the Concord chamber of commerce have been announced by Burns P. Hodgman, chairman of the committee. The manufacturers, merchants, banks, and homeseekers of Concord will be asked to buy $100,000 in a housing corporation to finance the erection of enough houses to enable Concord to keep on growing as it should.

The houses will be of five, six, or seven room size, with all modern improvements, and located within the city at desirable places. The terms of payment will probably be 10 per cent down and a little under 1 per cent per month, the house being fully paid within twelve years' time. If it is possible the corporation may also remodel large, vacant houses into apartments.

State Chamber to be Created

A board of 45 directors, state-wide in its personnel representing large and important interests of capital and labor, was nominated in Manchester, as the first definite step toward the permanent organization of a state chamber of commerce in New Hampshire.

On Nov. 16 this board with several special committees, will report on organization at a big state meeting to be held at Concord, to which will be invited officials of such state-wide bodies as the New Hampshire Manufacturers' association, the association of bankers and hotelmen, the Federation of Labor, and the State grange presidents of local chambers of commerce and boards of trade and others. At this meeting the organization of the state chamber of commerce will be completed.

Prizes at Exeter.

A few years ago Gifford Pinchot, former United States Forester, and a member of the class of '84, established prizes at Exeter Academy for proficiency in wood craft and forestry, but from the lack of means of instruction, they have never been awarded.

REVERE MEMORY OF MACEO

Negro Patriot Said to Hold the Chief Place in the Hearts of Cuban Masses.

Graves in the cemetery of Santiago de Cuba are family affairs, built of cement and six or eight "stories" deep, so that the coffins are set one above the other, as their time comes, in perfect chronological order, writes Harry A. Frank in the Century.

Over the top, commonly a bare three or four feet above the grass, is laid a huge stone slab, preferably of marble, with immense brass or nickel rings at each corner by which to lift it, and space on its top for a poetic epitaph to each succeeding occupant. As in all Spanish countries, the tombs of all but the wealthiest inmates are rented for a term of years, at the end of which time, if the descendants fail to renew the contract, the bodies are tossed into a common graveyard, to make room for those of greener memory.

Marti, the Cuban "Father of Liberty," is buried here, and Estrada Palma, promoted from humble pedagogue in an American school to first president of Cuba. But neither holds the chief place in the heart of the Cuban masses. That is reserved for Maceo, the negro general killed just before the dawn of independence during a foolhardy scouting expedition in the woods of Cachaal, in company with a bare half-dozen soldiers.

Cuban "Memorial Day" is observed throughout the island with much spouting of poetry, and laying on of flowers, on December 7, the anniversary of Maceo's death at the hands of the Spaniards.

Wouldn't Have Dered to Say-It.

A recent bride received many telegrams of congratulation on the eventful day, but there was one in particular which was out of the ordinary. Her sister lives in New York and came on to Brockton for the wedding. In the evening the following telegram was received from her sister's "hubby" in New York:

"Congratulations on having taken my wife from me if only for a day. If you keep her there, will consider the marriage a great success. Heartiest condolences to F— in having joined the — family. He doesn't know what he is up against and my great consolation is that I have a fellow sufferer who can sympathize with me regularly."

At first Mrs. M— was angry, but finally consented to have it read.— Brockton Enterprise.

Japan's Trade With North America.

Japan's trade with North America for the first quarter of this year amounted to 201,824,000 yen in exports and 278,984,000 yen in imports, the balance being 75,110,000 yen. Compared with the corresponding period of last year, the figures show an increase of 114,348,000 yen in exports and of 102,744,000 yen in imports. The principal article for export was raw silk, while principal imports comprised raw cotton and iron.— East and West News.

New Insulating Material.

A new insulating material is being made from a kind of kelp which is found in the Australian waters. The moist precipitate is subjected to pressure, after which it is hardened by a treatment with formalin and then it is shaped in a lathe. The material takes the place of slate and marble, which is largely in use for this purpose, and is much less expensive.— Exchange.

A quartet sang "Over There" and "God Will Take Care of You." The abundant flowers were particularly beautiful. Following this the Ladies' Auxiliary service was read. Mrs. Lawrence was the first president of the Auxiliary and was twice again elected to that office. It was largely due to her efforts that we have a soldiers' monument. She has always been a loyal member, and she was also an active church worker as long as her health permitted.
