Americanism

By LEONARD WOOD

The people never give up their liberties, but under some delusion. Edmund Burke's Speech, 1784.

THESE are the days of delusions, but happily comparatively few Americans are allowing themselves to be deluded. A spurious "idealism" is the mask for un-American propaganda. The true idealist is constructive in his thoughts and intentions. The mock idealist is a destructionist and it is the destructionist "ideal" which is being preached today by the native born anarchist of parlor and drawing room and by the foreign born anarchist of the soap box. Most of the native born preachers of isms other than Americanism, themselves are deluded, but most of the alien preachers are not in the least deluded. They resent restraint of any kind, rule, law and order. Their idea of perfect liberty is the unrestricted right to do anything which their passions may dictate. They are for no government and last of all are they for the American government.

It is certain that these preachers never can delude the American people to the point of inducing them to give up true liberty for a fiction, provided the people are on their guard and that those of them who think lightly should be made to think rightly.

The teachers of "Something better than is to be found here," know as well as Edmund Burke knew that the people will never give up their liberties but under some delusion. Therefore it is that these teachers seek to delude. They prey with argument upon the weaknesses, the cupidities and the passions of men. The unthinking are their quarry. They can do little harm if their efforts are met promptly. It is the high duty of Americans so to meet these preachers of "that state made perfect because it knows no law."

Burke knew the people. He was one of the champions in the British parliament of the American colonies and of their rights. It seems a superfluous thing to say that the people will not give up their liberties unless they are deluded. Liberty is the most precious possession which a man has and therefore it is inconceivable that he will willingly he would part with it. The strength of Burke's expression lies in the fact that he said it was only under delusion that the people would give up their liberties. When the people are so deluded that they will part with that which counts most in the human life they have reached that state of decadence which will make it forever impossible for their generation to recover that which has been lost.

Near East Relief and European Relief

It is not necessary to stress the need in Armenia and Europe. It is known to all that millions of persons, especially the children, will die of starvation unless America comes to their help. It is hoped to raise at least $250.00 in Antrim for these two funds. Will you respond to the call? The following will be glad to receive your gifts: W. C. Hills, Everett Davis, Mrs. G. W. Hunt, Mrs. Fred Colby, George Hastings, Leander Patterson, Mrs. M. P. McIlvin, Mrs. G. H. Caughey, Wm. J. B. Cannell, Chairman.

THE STATE GRANGE

Passes Resolutions at its Closing Session in Claremont

The Dec. 16th session of the State Grange concluded the year's work. It opened at 9 o'clock when several resolutions of importance were offered and adopted. They related to the Sunday law, agriculture and immigration.

At the previous evening's session 126 members were taken into the State Grange and the sixth degree, Flora, was exemplified. The Sullivan Grange of Newport exemplified the fourth degree and the Pomona Grange of Hillsboro County exemplified the fifth degree.

The resolution regarding Sunday observance follows:

"Whereas, there is a movement among certain of our people to change the law governing the Sabbath in ways that would legalize certain forms of pleasure, and whereas the grange has always maintained a strong position in its defense of a high standard of morality, we believe that the liberalizing of the Sabbath laws partakes of the nature of sacrificing to Baal and bodes only evil to our people and their interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the State Grange of New Hampshire earnestly contend against the proposed changes in our Sabbath day law."

By a unanimous vote the New Hampshire State Grange demands the reconvening of the Constitutional Convention for the purpose of re-submitting three amendments to the constitution.

The three amendments which the grange wish to have placed before the voters again are the income tax, the classification of inheritance tax, and reducing the size of the house of representatives.

New Officers Elected

The semi-annual election of officers of Waverley Lodge of Odd Fellows was held at their hall on Saturday evening last, with this result:

Noble Grand—Lawrence K. Black
Vice Grand—A. Wallace George
Recording Sec'y—H. W. Eldredge
Financial Sec'y—Wm. C. Hills
Treasurer—Fred I. Burnham
Trustees—Charles F. Butterfield, Allan A. Gerrard, J. Leon Brownell.

It is not known at this early date just when the installation of officers will take place but presumably it will be the second or third meeting in January. David E. Williams of the Peterboro Lodge, is district deputy grand master, and will be the installing officer.

At the semi-annual election of officers of Mt. Crooked Encampment, No. 39, I. O. O. F., held at Odd Fellows hall, on Monday evening of this week, the following officers were elected for the next six months:

Chief Patriarch—Wm. W. Brown
High Priest—George D. Dresser
Senior Warden—Ira P. Hutchinson
Junior Warden—Andrew Cuddihy
Trustee for three years—J. Leon Brownell

The Royal Purple degree was conferred on a class of three candidates. The installation of officers will probably be the first meeting in January, the 3d.

The Woman's Club

Children's Day was observed at the regular meeting of the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon, at the town hall. After a short business meeting about forty children marched in, and were given short talks on Thrift, by Mrs. Harriet Drew, Mrs. Maude Robinson, Mrs. Emma Goodell, and Mrs. Mattie Tenney. This was followed by an interesting and varied program by the children, after which they were served ice cream cones.

STRAY THOUGHTS

Picked Up and Put Together for Reporter Readers

An exchange says: If you don't know what to give for Christmas, why not give "three cheers" and let it go at that!

The almanac tells us that winter began yesterday and that the increase in length of days begins today and that it takes just one week for a one minute increase.

Final figures issued by the Adjutant General show that 663 New Hampshire men lost their lives in the World War, 280 being killed in action, 76 dying of wounds, 317 from disease, and 22 by accident. Five committed suicide, five were drowned, seven were lost at sea and one was murdered.

Automobilists who intend to use the New Hampshire highways during the first weeks of the new year are warned to secure their 1921 number plates from the State Department of Motor Vehicles before Jan. 1, runs information given out from the department. Hitherto it has been the policy of the authorities to allow the autoists a few days of grace in this respect, but this year the supply of number plates for the ensuing year has arrived in good season and the law as to registration will be enforced strictly.

It is hard work for a man to escape paying his taxes; real estate is good for the assessment, but when it comes to a poll tax some appear to think that after leaving town they are through with the tax. Here is what the Antrim collector did recently: a man owed him a poll tax, did not pay it before removing from town, although he was duly notified of his indebtedness to the town that had protected him and his family. It so happened that the collector was in the place where this man resides; he called at his home, also visited the place where he was employed, and was successful in collecting the amount due the town. The collector tells the Reporter man that he met with a warm reception and was told things that he never expected to hear and which he will probably remember long after he has ceased to be tax collector. There are a few things that go with an office of this kind besides the salary.

HAVE TO WAIT TO UNLOAD

Shipping Congestion at London Docks Said to Be of an Extraordinary Character.

A writer to the London Times describes the Victoria and Albert docks at Tilbury as being "crowded to their fullest capacity with big ships," many of which "look absolutely dead for the simple reason that they can not be unloaded because there is nowhere to put their cargoes." Of ships carrying Australian meat it is said to be "a common thing to wait anything up to a month for a berth and to lie another month tied up against the wharf, unloading and reloading." Inefficiency of labor is in a large degree responsible, for the average discharging output per shift of 13 men in a nine-hour day has been reduced from 100 to 83 tons. The cause is partly the loss of many good men in the war, partly loading on the job to make work for as many men as possible. Congestion of the ports is attributed to state control over essential imports, to state control over railroads, and to reduction of the hours of labor. By these means the carrying power of ships has been reduced at least 30 per cent below pre-war standards.

Youth's Many and Varied Reasons for Getting Out of Task of Polishing His Shoes.

"No, mother, it isn't that I'm lazy that I don't want to polish my shoes," said Young Nick, the boy Machiavelli, "I'm just tryin' to be economical and help you an' dad save money. If I wuz to polish my shoes it 'ud show up my ole stockings so's I'd hafta put on clean ones an' if I did that I'd hafta brush my clothes."

"An' you know, mother, I gatter lot of bad spots in my pants an' on my coat, and if I brushed 'em the spots would stand out so's you'd just hafta buy me a new suit."

"I been studyin' camouflage, mother, nice neutral tint that nobody scarcely notices—except you, mother, and you get too close. But just as I am, mother, I'm not hardly visible to the naked eye at all, and it's awful convenient."

"Besides, it saves money, you see, as I been tellin' you. No'm, I don't dust wash my face and hands too hard, because they'd be so bright an' shiny they'd call attention to my grease spots."

"Yes'm, I'll clean all up, if you say so, of course, but I don't think you oughter discourage me when I'm trying to help you save money. Besides, there's Bill callin' me now, an' if I wuz to clean up I'd go right out and get dirty again. Yes'm, I promise. When I come in I will. Awri, Bill, I'm comin'!"—Chicago News.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $38,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the desperate situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is planned, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $23,000,000 will be used for basic food and $10,000,000 for medical service.

For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously undernourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed, for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child saving fund. It will, with the inspecting forces of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no waste and no tendency toward pauperization.

"This is the largest co-operative benevolent organization ever attempted in the United States," Mr. Hoover says. "The organizations represented have come to the unanimous, though independently formed conclusion, that nothing but prompt and united action by the whole American people can avert incredible tragedy for the helpless children involved. The organizations forming the Council will organize their representatives in every town and community of the nation for the raising of the necessary funds."

Pleads for Europe's Helpless Children

"They are no more my children than yours," is Herbert Hoover's homely yet eloquent plea for 3,500,000 European children who face incredible tragedy this winter unless America comes to their rescue. The funds by which American aid has been feeding millions have run out, and that the work may not stop and thus precipitate what would amount to a massacre of the innocents seven other great American relief organizations have united with Mr. Hoover's organization under the name of the European Relief Council in a joint appeal for funds.

The collaborating agencies are the American Red Cross, the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

VIENNA DISTASTIC BECOMES APPALLING

Condition of Children Even More Harrowing, Declares Authority on City's Desperate Plight.

Five years of famine have resulted in greatly increased mortality and morbidity in Vienna which before the war was counted as one of the healthiest cities in Europe. Figures prepared by Dr. Gustave Bohn, head of the Vienna Health Department, show that in 1913 the death rate was 15.3 per thousand. In 1918 the rate was 22.5 per thousand, an increase of more than 47 per cent.

Professor Hans Spel of the University of Vienna, says that "even more terrible than the mortality statistics are those referring to the condition of children and their mothers. Owing to under-nourishment few mothers can nurse their babies, and the milk shortage affects not only infants, but all children in spite of it that has been done to help. At Professor Clemens Pirquet's clinic in the university some 54,849 children were examined in 1918. Only 4,637 of these or about one-thirteenth were passed as skin good, fat good; 23,600 were pale and thin, or very pale and very thin. "The health of these children shows most disquieting features. Skin disease, rickets and Barlow's disease are rife. "The chief medical officer of Vienna asks, 'What is going to happen to these under-fed children, in whose bodies the germ of tuberculosis is latent, when they reach the twenties, at which time it becomes active?'"

To combat these conditions the American Relief Administration of which Herbert Hoover is chairman fed last winter in the city of Vienna some 300,000 of the destitute and under-nourished children, supplying them with a substantial meal of American food, served in a number of large kitchens opened for that purpose.

The conditions in Vienna are more or less typical of those in Poland and other countries of Central and Eastern Europe. Last year the Relief Administration was able to reach some 3,500,000 under-nourished children and this winter the program calls for the feeding of a like number, but eight of the great charitable organizations of America have united under the name of the European Relief Council, of which Mr. Hoover is the chairman. The child feeding task will be carried on not only by the American Relief Administration but by the American Red Cross, the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. An appeal for $38,000,000 has been made and the organizations named have joined in raising the sum.

LAUGHTER OF CHILD SCARCE IN POLAND

"In all the time I was in Poland, I scarcely once saw a child laugh," declared Dr. Harry Plotz, discoverer of the typhus bacillus, in a report to the European Relief Council on medical conditions among the Jewish population of Poland, based on his recent investigations there for the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee.

"The most deplorable sight of all the miseries in Poland is the condition of the children," Dr. Plotz said. "Infant mortality is exceedingly high because of under-nourishment and the high percentage of contagious diseases. In large part mothers must resort to artificial feeding as they are unable to nurse their children. In many cities I saw underfed children, suffering with diseases, wandering about the streets with no place to go, begging for bread." Typhus, which killed thousands of Jews last winter in the worst epidemic Poland has ever seen will recur again, he said, as conditions are much worse among the Jews than ever before.

"Favus, a contagious skin disease, is now rapidly spreading from child to child," he continued. "In Vilna there are 11,000 cases among the Jewish children alone. Smallpox, too, is prevalent throughout Poland and the Ukraine and children, with widespread eruptions and temperature, have been seen running about the streets. There are thousands of cases every year, which vaccination would prevent, but there is no vaccine." Dr. Plotz told how in Lithuanian villages he found children, six and seven years old, unable to walk or talk, the result of malnutrition. In regions where whole towns had been destroyed during the war, he found families crowded in miserable dug-outs.

The Greatest Gift.

POLAND-NOW RIVALS PLIGHT OF BELGIUM

Children Chief Sufferers in Land Stripped of Necessities, Says Relief Worker.

Poland is in the destitute state for want of food and clothing among the poor that Belgium would have been during the war, had there been no commission for relief in that country, according to Dr. Vernon Kellogg, American Relief Administration official, who recently returned from Warsaw.

Dr. Kellogg was a member of Mr. Hoover's staff in Belgium, and at the conclusion of hostilities, entered Poland as the Hoover emissary in charge of food relief. He first entered Poland in 1915, a few months after the German occupation. His report of starvation, disease and suffering that existed at that time is one of the most harrowing documents in the records of American relief work overseas.

Dr. Kellogg made the following statement regarding the work after the armistice: "With Warsaw as our headquarters, we began operations in Poland in January, 1919, and within a few weeks there was established a steady importation of food into that country. Tons and tons of it came from overseas through the Port of Danzig.

"It was impossible to do all that the administration wanted to do, because the need of Poland was too great, but it was agreed that enough food should be sent to Poland to care for the four million people until the great agricultural districts could again provide for them.

"But in addition to these four million people who so pressingly needed relief, there was another call for relief from a source that could not be resisted: the children of the land. Many of these were orphans, hungry, emaciated, destitute and diseased. So the American Relief Administration added to its work by instituting a system of feeding these children. In a few months a million and a quarter Polish children were getting a free meal every day of special food prepared to counteract the effects of their previous undernourishment."

GRAY SAMARITANS RESCUING CHILDREN

The Young Women's Christian Associations of the United States are keenly interested in the movement for the relief of the 3,500,000 starving children of Europe because a group of their members, the Polish Gray Samaritans, have been in charge of distributing food to children in Poland. They have been serving under the American Relief Administration and have conducted food kitchens and distributing stations in all parts of Poland outside Warsaw.

In all the relief work being done in Europe, that of the Polish Gray has been unique because all the girls, though sent from America, were either born in Poland or are of Polish parentage. When the need for social service in their country became acute many girls of Polish descent answered the call of the Young Women's Christian Association for overseas service and enlisted in the preliminary training course that was given in several cities of the United States. From this group thirty girls were chosen and sent to Poland where, since 1918, they have been caring for the children of the country. The distribution of clothing has taken them into all parts of Poland.

They are now spending their entire time in arranging for the feeding of children this winter. Groups of them travel to strategic centers in outlying districts where they set up distributing stations, receive supplies, prepare meals, arrange for impartial distribution and train helpers to continue the work when they are sent on to the next town.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS AID CHILD APPEAL

James A. Flaherty, of Philadelphia, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, declared that the K. of C. in response to an appeal from Herbert Hoover, chairman of the European Relief Council, had decided to take an exception in their policy of refraining from any national campaign for funds for relief or charitable work.

"The need of the starving and sick children of Europe is so urgent," Mr. Flaherty said, "that the Knights of Columbus feel in duty bound to devote themselves to the common task of raising funds for the relief of these children. An organization it is our intention to conduct no distinct K. of C. drive for funds, although members of the organization are frequent contributors to all charitable drives. But in this case we feel that the emergency calls for the united efforts of all Americans and we consider it a privilege to have partnership in this great work of mercy."

Bradford of Derry, serving a life sentence at the state prison, was presented at the meeting but was not acted upon.

SPORTSMEN HOLD BIG CONFERENCE

All Sections of State Well Represented—Other States Send Commissioners

Unanimous indorsement of a six-inch brook trout law; support of a measure to change the open season on deer to the month of December in the southern part of the state; approval of a proposition to do bigger things for the salmon industry; agitation of granting a one-dollar license to the New England Fox Hunting association to hunt foxes in the state for six days during its annual meet; a recommendation to shorten the open brook trout season one month in both the upper and lower parts of the state; limiting the number of deer per person in seven counties to one; a presentation of the financial condition and needs of the fish and game department of the state; speeches by the commissioners of fish and game of Maine, Vermont and Connecticut, and a general discussion of the subjects likely to appear before the incoming legislature were the outstanding features of a state-wide conference of New Hampshire sportsmen held in Concord.

First consideration was given to brook trout. A proposition to close all trout brooks in the state to fishing for a period of two years met with decided opposition. A recommendation of the commissioner favoring raising the legal length from five inches to six was endorsed unanimously. Commissioner Bartlett told the meeting that chief opposition to the change had previously come from the North country.

Taking up the deer question, Magoon of Lempster said he did not favor hunting deer on bare ground. He advocated a law which would allow a buck only to be killed in the open season. Bob cats kill more deer than any one thinks. He would like to see a larger bounty on these animals.

Winthrop Parker brought up the matter of salmon. He believed that no state in the union was better fitted to propagate salmon than the state of New Hampshire and every effort should be made to bring salmon back.

Dr. J. H. Gleason of Manchester expressed appreciation of what the fish and game department had done for brook trout, but if New Hampshire was to be put upon the map as a sportsman state it must be through salmon fishing.

Commissioner Bartlett told of the plans already underway for lifting the salmon industry of another year.

Continue Civil Case Against Osborne. The civil action brought by Julia Mufson Duffy, who claims to be the first wife of Chief Yeoman William J. Duffy, U. S. N., against Lt. Com. Counsel for both sides agreed to continue the case when lawyers for both sides filed appearances.

The first Mrs. Duffy seeks $25,000 damages from Osborne, alleging that he had influenced Duffy to leave her.

Adopt Important Resolutions. At the 4th annual convention of the State Grange held at Claremont, a number of important resolutions were adopted.

The resolution pertaining to agricultural interests, asking Congress to give more protection to these interests, was adopted with several others, among them one against the Sunday law, stating that they did not believe in commercializing Sunday for entertainment or labor. Another pertained to restricted immigration laws, in which it was agreed that immigrants should not be allowed to enter this country until they had been strongly impressed with the necessity of obedience to the laws.

Gets $100 From Chum's Mother. One of the meanest of thieves was brought to the bar of justice in Portsmouth when Thurman A. Pope, a sailor attached to the Eagle boat, 46, at Portsmouth navy yard, was held in $500 for the grand jury on a charge of larceny of $102.

Thurman was so friendly with a shipmate Frank Margona that he obtained his mother's address. After stealing letters and a pass of his friend from the latter's ditty box, he wired Mrs. Margona asking money for $100, using her son's name. The money was forthcoming by wire promptly. This was on Nov. 24. Later a second request for $50 to Mrs. Margona brought a wire in reply asking what trouble her son had gotten into that he needed so much money. The surprised son immediately answered that he had not asked for money and then the investigation began.

JITNEY TO OUST RICKSHAW. March of Progress in Japan Means End of Vehicle So Near to Heart of Tourist.

That familiar ancient relic, rickshaw, a slender carriage drawn by man-power, seems now on way to its deathbed, to the great wall of curious tourists. The existing narrow and bad roads alone are keeping up its life. Whether for good or for ill, the growing severity of the world-wide struggle for existence has been compelling the reluctant Nipponese to forsake many of the antiquated things and institutions that had long been dear to their hearts. Esthetically disposed men like Lafcadio Hearn would have Japan remain forever "picturesque" and curse the skyscrapers and factory chimneys; but a nation, like an individual, must live, and live decently too. Present age is no doubt an age of machinery; and no man-power can cope with the general tide of the world, and hence the mechanization of almost everything. Neither can man-power pretend to rival with mechanical force—it must give way to a roller, an automobile, and a cinema. And rickshaw now must give way to jitney. It had its day. But the rickshaw men do not think so. They have the love and respect of their trade. When lately the city of Yokohama granted a license to a big jitney bus company, the rickshaw men attempted a desperate effort to smother the project at the outset, but it proved in vain. And numerous baby-motor cars, allowing two passengers, will soon be speedily carrying people around at the rate of 25 sen per mile.—East and West News.

FEISAL HAS CAUSTIC TONGUE

Arabian Potentate's Comments on European Men and Measures Interesting in the Extreme.

The oriental tact and personal charm of Emir Feisal did much to win friends for the Arabian cause in Paris. No one ever came away from him in an angry mood. The Emir was very witty and many stories are told of his clever retorts to acquaintances in Paris. On one occasion a correspondent asked him to give his opinion of modern statesmen as a result of his acquaintance with them at the peace conference. He replied, "They are like modern paintings. They should be hung in a gallery and be viewed from a distance." Another time at a meeting of the council of ten, M. Poincaré referred to the claims of France in Syria, which he said were based on the Crusades. Emir Feisal turned toward him and inquired mildly, "I am not a great student of history, but would you kindly tell me which one of us won the Crusades?"

Mr. Balfour once tried to find out what Emir Feisal thought of the British government. He succeeded. "It reminds me of a caravan in the desert. You see an impressive string of dromedaries in the distance trekking single file across the shifting sands. When you first overtake them, you observe that the last camel is tied to the tail of the next in line. When you reach the head of the column, you find that a little donkey is leading the whole string."—Asia Magazine.

It was very gratifying to the members of Antrim Grange to learn that at a meeting of the State Grange held in Claremont last week, the State Lecturer announced this grange as a winner of two prizes, in competition with the ten granges in this district. For excellency of degree work the prize was a mahogany master's gavel, ornamented with an engraved gold band. The literary prize was not ready for distribution.

The State Grange awards these two prizes each year to the best in each district. In the past four years out of a possible eight Antrim Grange has won six prizes.

At the next meeting, Jan. 5, the new officers will be installed by State Master Fred Rogers, from Meredith.
