FOUR AMENDMENTS

To be Submitted to the Voters March 8th

THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE
In the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-one

In the Convention of delegates, assembled at Concord on the twenty-eighth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, in pursuance to the resolution of adjournment adopted at the January session to the Convention to revise the constitution, 1920, which adjournment was made subject to the call of the president, or in case of his death or disability, at the call of the Governor of the state; and in pursuance to the call issued by the president of the convention to revise the constitution and the Governor of the State of New Hampshire, dated January 20, 1921.

I. Resolved: That the alterations and amendments proposed to the Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the state at the regular election to be held in the towns and wards on the Tuesday next following the first Monday in March, 1921, and at a special election to be called in the several wards of the cities which do not have regular election on that date, to be by said voters acted upon at said meetings.

II. Resolved: That the selectmen of the several towns, wards and places in the state be and are hereby directed to insert in their warrants calling the said meetings an article to the following effect: to take the sense of the qualified voters whether the alterations and amendments to the Constitution proposed by the Constitutional Convention shall be approved.

III. Resolved: That the sense of the qualified voters shall be taken by ballot upon each of the following questions submitted to them by the Convention.

1. Do you approve of empowering the legislature to impose and levy taxes on incomes, which taxes may be classified, graduated and progressive, with reasonable exemptions;
2. Do you approve of providing in terms that taxes on property when passing by will or inheritance may be classified, graduated and progressive, and with reasonable exemptions, as proposed in the amendments to the Constitution?
3. Do you approve of providing that the whole number of members in the House of Representatives shall not be less than three hundred nor more than three hundred and twenty-five; that representation shall be in proportion to the population; the legislature to make the apportionment of representatives at the session following each federal census; and of providing that there shall be required for each representative additional to the first three times the number of inhabitants required for one representative, with the proviso that a town or ward which has less than the number of inhabitants required to entitle it to a representative all of the time may send a representative a proportionate part of the time?
4. Do you approve of striking out the word male in Article 27 relating to the qualification for voting; and of providing that women may hold office?

IV. Resolved: That the Secretary of State be directed to procure to be printed one hundred and thirty thousand copies of such parts of the Constitution as are altered and amended by this Convention, together with the alterations and amendments, and the same number of copies of the questions to be proposed to the qualified voters, and the same number of these resolutions, and to cause such copies to be distributed immediately to the town clerks of the respective towns, wards and places in the State, for the use of the qualified voters in numbers proportionate as near as may be to the numbers of the legal voters in the said respective towns, wards and places; and it is made the duty of said clerks immediately to distribute such copies among said voters.

V. Resolved: That the Secretary of State be required to print said questions to be thus submitted upon a ballot for the towns and cities for said

VALENTINE PARTIES

Held at the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches

A very pretty valentine party was given in the vestry and social rooms of the Woodbury Memorial Methodist church on Monday evening, about sixty five being present. A literary program was first rendered and then games were introduced and all the young people present enjoyed this part of the program immensely. The rooms were prettily trimmed for the occasion, a large number of hearts of various sizes being used. The general committee in charge of the affair were Miss Margaret Scott and Miss Lena Woodward, who took great interest in having things go along nicely and on time; they succeeded finely. Refreshments of sandwiches and cocoa were served to all and a general good time was enjoyed. The different committees deserve much praise for the success of the affair.

The Unity Guild of the Presbyterian Church held a delightful Valentine Party in the vestry Monday evening of this week. The vestry was attractively decorated and hearts were much in evidence. There were present upwards of sixty, most of whom were young people, with a few older members, all of whom expressed themselves as delighted with the evening's program of new and interesting games and contests. All the committees carried out their parts admirably, but special mention should be made of the work of the entertainment committee, who provided a list of social stunts that required the use of alert minds to perceive and understand. Prizes were given to the winners in each contest and then the several winners were arranged to compete for a prize which afforded more merriment for the company than for the competitors. At the breaking up of the party at a seasonable hour, many expressions of "the best yet" were heard.

The Soldiers' Memorial

Editor Antrim Reporter:
We each have an idea what we would like for a memorial. A community house would be the ideal memorial if the town can afford the expense at this time. A tablet should be installed at once. The correct place for a tablet is on the Town Library; would suggest having the names put on two tablets and one placed on each side of the entrance. They would be better protected from the weather, dust and dirt than if placed on the town hall, and anyone interested in the tablets would rather walk a few feet extra to read them than to disturb the crowd that usually gathers about the bill board corner when the weather conditions are favorable. The cost of the two tablets would be about $300.

Called to N. Y. University

Many of our readers will be interested in the following bit of news. Professor Warner is a native of Antrim, and son of Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Warner, now of Peterboro, but for a number of years residents of Antrim: Stanley Warner has accepted a position as instructor of Biology at the New York University, New York City. Mr. Warner graduated from Brown last June, 1920, and in the Fall returned to Brown as professor of Biology. This new position which was offered him about the middle of January came without any solicitation on his part and is very pleasing news to his many friends that such an honor has been conferred upon him. He began his new duties Feb. 1. There are 15,000 pupils enrolled at the N. Y. University.

A FEW THOUGHTS

Suggested by What is Happening Around

It has been given out that 97 percent of taxes assessed by the Federal government goes for war.

In 1920 New Hampshire had 34,700 motor vehicle registrations, an increase of 9.7 percent over the previous year, and stood 44th state in rank.

With the price of bread per loaf coming down, sugar about normal, and lard very nearly normal, it is time for someone to explain why the price of doughnuts remains so high.

Easter comes on March 27. If you haven't already engaged your dressmaker and milliner, and also looked up the styles of low shoes and silk stockings, it is high time you were doing it.

The Town Clerk has received several hundred circulars relating to the proposed amendments to the Constitution which are to be submitted to the voters, at the annual town election March 8. These are sent to him that they may be circulated in some way among the voters, but as no appropriation is available for this purpose it is difficult to know how best to do it.

We were very much interested in reading in Saturday's Globe concerning the town manager system which is to be tried out in Middleboro, Mass. This is not a new plan, altho it may be for this town. A board of selectmen is elected who serve without pay and who hire a competent man for the position of running the town. This seems like a sensible plan. Now, take Antrim for instance; it is almost always hard to get a board of Selectmen, but if all that was wanted of them was to hire one man to run the town, it would not be so difficult to get them. Then don't you recall to mind at once a number of men, and women too, whom you have heard talk, who feel amply qualified to fill the position of town manager. We feel sure there are a large number of our readers who will agree with us.

As town meeting approaches our voters should be deciding just how to vote when the matter comes up to accept state aid for permanent road building. Our experience the past year has not been such as to impress us favorably toward a great deal of outside help. Now voters, don't get Federal aid mixed up with state aid when you form your decision. It must be remembered that good roads can be built for a very much less cost than the mile we were all summer building and then didn't finish. Our experience was costly, but it is not necessary to repeat it, yet state aid in many respects has been a help to us as a town in times past. We repeat here as we have stated many times in these columns, the road to Hillsboro line should be a good road, and we believe if properly constructed would not be such an exorbitant figure but a public benefit and enjoyed by everybody.

Be Sure and Vote on Every Amendment

A special election will take place March 8, at which time the voters will be given a chance to vote on certain Constitutional amendments, in compliance with the order of the Constitutional convention, which was in session Jan. 28. This will be held at the same hour as the regular town meeting, and every voter will be given the regular town ballot, also a separate ballot with the amendments printed thereon.

A lot of our voters didn't vote on these amendments in November and it is hoped that everyone will vote upon them at the coming March meeting. These amendments are printed in this issue of the Reporter in order that the voters may read them and be ready to act upon them intelligently. From our point of view we believe every one of these amendments should be voted "yes." Taxation ought to be more equal than it is now; and if these fail of a "yes" vote our taxes will be higher and more unequal than they have ever been.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

The following facts regarding the work of the constitutional convention are sent you in the hope that you will be glad to lay the information before your readers. Neither the state of N. H. nor any officer of the convention is responsible for the matter being sent you.

The Constitutional Convention had submitted to it by the committee on legislative affairs two amendments on the subject of an income tax. One was the amendment submitted to the voters last November, which received 49,018 votes in its favor, to 32,173 against, as follows:

"The General Court shall have full power and authority to impose and levy taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived; which taxes may be classified, graduated and progressive, with reasonable exemptions."

The other was the amendment limiting the tax to the income of intangibles, as follows:

"The General Court shall have full power and authority to impose and levy taxes on income derived from stocks, bonds and other money at interest, however evidenced, which taxes may be classified, with reasonable exemptions and without proportion to other taxes."

The convention voted, 230 to 27, to submit the first amendment, or that submitted last fall. This leaves it to the legislature to use any part of the authority conferred upon it by this amendment. That body may confine its tax to a tax on stocks, bonds and other money at interest. As the present legislature by fifty majority voted that it desired only authority to tax intangibles, the bill it passes will in all probability tax only the income of intangibles.

If a stock like that of the Boston & Maine pays no dividends, there will be no income to tax. If an income tax is levied, no other tax will be levied. An income tax would reach several hundred millions of corporate stocks owned by citizens of this state that cannot now be taxed, and a very moderate tax on these stocks alone would enable the legislature to materially reduce the state tax.

The second amendment is as follows:

"Taxes on property, when passing by will or inheritance, may be classified, graduated and progressive, and with reasonable exemptions."

This adds no new feature to the present constitution, but simply makes clear what the legislature may do under a provision of the constitution adopted by the people eighteen years ago, especially in regard to the granting of exemptions to the widow and minor children under a direct inheritance tax.

The third amendment provides for a permanent reduction of the House of Representatives about 100 members. The amendment is like the amendment submitted last fall, except that the basis of representation is population instead of votes cast. The house cannot be less than 300 nor exceed 325 members. Whatever the number of inhabitants the legislature shall determine is necessary to entitle a town to one representative, an addition of three times that number shall be essential to secure additional representatives. Towns having less than the number required for one representative shall be given representation such part of the time as may be equitable. A table was presented to the convention showing how the towns would be represented. This method of reduction preserves the town system; and it is to the advantage of the rural towns. It will save the state $30,000 in salaries and expenses of members.

The New Hampshire house of representatives is four times the size of the house of representatives of 29 states, three times the size of the house of 39 states, twice the size of the house in 45 of the 48 states of the Union, and our house has 150 more members than the house in the three remaining states.

The fourth amendment strikes the word "male" out of Article 27 of the constitution and provides that women may hold any office to which they may be elected or appointed, otherwise qualified.

The federal amendment granting suffrage to women is not in any provision in a state constitution to the contrary. It did not, however, enable them to hold office. We are already electing women to various offices. A case might arise in the future where a woman would be nominated and elected to an office to which she would not be eligible under our constitution. The party of the defeated candidate might raise the question of eligibility, and thus present a question to the Supreme Court in which partisan feeling would undoubtedly enter. It is to avoid such a contingency that the amendment is submitted.

Carpenters Strike On Memorial Bridge

Work on the new memorial bridge at Portsmouth, was completely tied up when all union and non-union carpenters employed by Hook, Cabot & Rollins of Boston, contractors for the piers and abutments of the bridge were called on strike by Local 56 of Boston, with which some of the men are affiliated. The contractors announced a cut in wages of from 90 cents an hour to 80 cents, and an increase in the working day of from eight to nine hours.

"Floating Fair" From Holland.

A company has been organized at The Hague for the purpose of sending a "floating fair" as it is called, but practically a ship loaded with sample products and commercial agents to sell them, to various parts of the world, particularly the United States. The concern is organized somewhat on a co-operative basis and proposes to send the Messageries Maritimes vessel, the Macedonia, of 6,100 tons burden, to the United States and Central and South America for the purpose of introducing Netherlands products and enabling Netherlands commercial houses to establish import and export connections in the countries visited. ### NEW HAMPSHIRE LEGISLATURE

There was a good attendance of members at the devotional exercises Tuesday morning, following which, censorship of movies was urged in petitions from citizens of Cornish and Claremont, which was read in the House of Representatives. The Claremont petition contained 329 names. Citizens of Cornish also petitioned advocating changes in the Sunday laws, while citizens of Laconia presented a petition against any change.

A bill to sever the homestead of Sylvanus B. Gilchrist for the Grasmere village precinct for school purposes was ordered to a third reading. A bill to make the day of which biennial elections are held a legal holiday for schools was ordered to a third reading and passed in the afternoon. A bill to provide pensions for Manchester teachers was recommended for further hearing, and two special orders relating to the city of Manchester were also recommended, in all the cases, it was stated, because proper notice had not been given. When all this had been done decently and in order, Representative Mary L. Farnum of Boacawen moved an adjournment. It was her first motion of the session, and unanimously carried.

The senate had a half dozen unimportant committee reports, and then took a recess.

In the house Wednesday morning there was a big bunch of committee reports. One of the first was an act providing for the election of selectmen for three years which was ordered to a third reading. The committee of fisheries and game had a batch of bills relating to fishing in various ponds and streams, and most of these were ordered to a third reading. House bill No. 124, an act to provide for a commissioner of law enforcement, came in with a divided report. The minority report was, in effect, an effort to get rid of the law enforcement officer, Rev. Jonathan S. Lewis. Representative Barrett of Dover urged the substitution of the minority report. He stated that there were laws enough to take care of the matter, and said the state should seize the opportunity to save $20,000 a year. He was followed in a vigorous and spirited debate in opposition, so spirited in fact that one member apologized to the house for his remarks. On a roll call the motion to substitute was lost by a vote of 81 to 264.

In the senate, the most important measure was a bill providing for the freeing of the Elliot toll bridge, and authorizing the highway department to maintain that part within this state.

Thursday was the busiest day of the session in the House, and reports were received on 45 bills and joint resolutions. Five new bills were introduced.

Twenty-five inexpedient reports were acted upon, and that number of bills went into the discard. One bill was recommended for further hearing, and 19 favorable reports acted upon. Among the bills killed was one forbidding stalls and enclosures in restaurants in cities.

A bill to make Laconia a city appeared through the judiciary committee. The same committee reported a bill for the naming of the Centra New Hampshire trunk highway in honor of Daniel Webster. It will probably be considered next week. Another new bill was to establish the city of Claremont. Bills to legalize the elections in more than a dozen towns were reported inexpedient, the subject matter being covered by a bill to include them all. The bill regulating the length of bed sheets was in evidence, and a hearing was requested on the measure.

Several bills extending aid to state highways were passed, but all these have to run the gauntlet of the committee on finance.

In the senate the bill providing that women may hold office was passed, and also the bill relating to exemption from taxation of veterans of the Civil war, their wives, and widows.

Although quite a grist of measures went through the hopper, a good many of them were not important, and both house and senate adjourned for the week at the close of the morning session.

The house committee on education has received from A. L. Mackie, Marion R. Fish and John Lake, committee on resolutions on the East Rockingham Pomona grange at East Kingston, the following resolution adopted yesterday:

"Whereas—It was reported that owing to a deficiency in the Educational Appropriation, it will become necessary to raise the rate to more than five (5) dollars on a thousand of town valuation in order to receive state aid. Therefore be it

"Resolved—That we, the East Rockingham Pomona Grange, in regular session assembled at East Kingston, N. H., Feb. 9, 1921, protest against such an amendment. And further be it

"Resolved—That we request the mayor of the State grange, as legislative committee, to oppose such an amendment, and we do hereby favor an amendment prohibiting towns of over 3000 inhabitants from receiving any state aid.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

Hillsborough, ss. Court of Probate.

To the heirs at law of the estate of Edward I. Dodge, late of Bennington, in said County, deceased, testate, and to all others interested therein:

Whereas Adalett M. Dodge, executrix of the last will and testament of said deceased, has filed in the Probate Office for said County the account of her administration of said estate:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Court of Probate to be holden at Peterborough in said County, on the 25th day of February next, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

Said executrix is ordered to serve this citation by causing the same to be published once each week for three successive weeks in the Antrim Reporter, a newspaper printed at Antrim in said County, the last publication to be at least seven days before said Court.

Given at Nashua in said County, this 31st day of January, A. D. 1921.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the FORDSON Tractor has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00, effective immediately.

"This price change has been made possible through lower costs of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor Plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

"We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefited through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standard of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

"There is No Change in the Present Ford Car and Truck Prices, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the Car, Truck or Tractor is out of the question; in fact, the big price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book "The Fordson at Work," which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, coal yard, or in any general hauling or power work you have to do and let us have your order for a Fordson.

Upon the said ballots containing said questions shall be printed the word "yes" at the left hand with a square near it, and at the right hand the word "no" with a square near it, and the voter desiring to vote "yes" upon any one of said questions shall make a cross in the square near the word "yes", and if he desires to vote "no" he shall make a cross in the square near the word "no", and he shall do this as to each question upon which he desires to vote. All ballots cast where no cross is made in a square beside any question shall not be counted as to such question.

The Secretary of State shall cause to be printed at the bottom of each ballot distributed to the town clerks a note in plain and conspicuous type as follows: "Every voter who wishes to vote 'yes' will make a cross in the square near the word 'yes'; if he wishes to vote 'no' he will make a cross in the square near the word 'no'. If he makes no cross in either square his ballot will not be counted."

VI. Resolved: That the town and ward clerks of the several towns and wards in the state shall make a true and certified copy of the record of the votes given in upon each of the said questions and shall forward the same in sealed packages to the Secretary of State within two days from the day of said election, and said clerks shall be subject to the same penalties as are by law prescribed for neglect to return the votes for Governor, and the returns shall be by the Secretary of State seasonably laid before the Governor and Council.

VII. Resolved: That the Secretary of State is hereby directed to furnish to the town clerks of the different towns, ward and places suitable blanks for the return of the votes on said questions.

VIII. Resolved: That the Governor and Council, upon receipt of the returns of the vote upon the said questions shall canvass said returns and make a record thereof, and the Governor shall forthwith issue his proclamation announcing the result of the vote on each of said questions submitted to the people.

IX. Resolved: That such of the proposed amendments as shall be approved by the requisite number of votes shall take effect and be in force when their adoption is proclaimed by the Governor.

X. Resolved: That these resolutions, signed by the President of this Convention and attested by the Secretary of the Convention, shall be published once in all the weekly newspapers of the state authorized to publish public laws, and in the daily newspapers, and that the original journal, together with all the files of the Convention, shall be deposited in the office of the Secretary of State.

Carlos J. Wheeler

For six or more years a resident of Antrim, passed away on Sunday morning, at the age of 71 years and 5 months, after an illness of a number of weeks, with a complication of diseases. He had not been in good health for some time and had suffered considerably with a form of Bright's disease. He leaves a widow, and several sons and daughters, besides a large number of grandchildren and other relatives to mourn their loss. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. J. B. Cannell officiating. Burial was in North Branch cemetery.

The Relief Corps

The W. R. C. held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, with a large attendance, the hall being very neatly decorated by the committee, reminding us that St. Valentine's day had just passed. There were two candidates initiated and an observance of Lincoln and Washington's birthdays with exercises suitable for the occasion, under the direction of Mrs. Sides, patriotic instructor. A social hour followed, with refreshments of punch and cake, and games. Mrs. Ashford, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Eldredge were hostesses.

REFUSE TO SURRENDER RELIC

Citizens of Little French Town of Alan Offer Lives in Defense of Stone Cow.

The famous stone cow of Alan, a little town in the Haute Garonne, France, is again the center of a fight between the peasants of the village and the Ministry des Beaux Arts in Paris. Twice the ministry has sold the cow, which dates back to the fifteenth century, and each time the villagers have fought with pitchforks and clubs all attempts to remove it from the front of the Episcopal palace.

After the war a Paris antique dealer, knowing the history of the stone cow, persuaded the Ministry des Beaux Arts to sell it to him. Once before they sold the cow, but all the goodnames that they could center on Alan failed to get the monument. The purchaser asserts that he will remove it and place it in front of a Parisian mansion. The peasants of Alan have again armed, and this time with modern weapons, for little of the old village is left from the shells of the Germans, and they intend to protect their relic. There is little left of the Episcopal palace, before which the cow stands, but not a shell hit the cow during the war.

Smoke Injures Galvanized Iron. Galvanized iron has been found by a German chemist to be unsuitable for roofing much exposed to smoke. Sulphur dioxide, though having little effect when dry, causes rapid deterioration in presence of moisture, and a mixture of sulphur and carbon dioxide is very corrosive, though moist carbon dioxide alone has slight action. The microscope shows in the corroded galvanized iron minute cavities and sulphate containing ferric oxide, due to galvanic action or actual solution of the zinc coating.

PRESIDENT GETS LETTER FROM HEAD OF ARMENIAN CHURCH

Washington.—Archbishop Khoren, whose archepiscopal see is Erivan, capital of the Armenian Republic, journeyed seven thousand miles to present President Wilson one of the quaintest and most touching documents in the archives of the State Department. It is illuminated by the monks of Etschmiadzin, the seat of the Armenian church since its separation from the Greek church, after the Council of Chalcedon in the year 451. The Encyclical Letter, which the Archbishop presented to the President, reads:

"GEORGE, Servant of Jesus Christ and by the Omnipotent Will of God, Arch-Priest and CATHOLICUS OF ALL THE ARMENIANS, Supreme Patriarch of the highest Armenian See of Ararat and of the Apostolic Mother Church at Etschmiadzin the Holy. To the NOBLE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. "AFFECTIONATE GREETINGS AND BLESSINGS from the CATHOLICUS OF ALL ARMENIANS, and Apostolic Chief of the Holy Church of Armenia. "With placid, profound feelings of devotion, we desire, through this En-

cylical Letter of Ours, to place before you and to make known to you the expression of Our deep gratitude for the liberal help which, inspired by a spirit of philanthropy, you have extended to Us both by individual personal donations and through the sustaining assistance and alleviating instrumentality of the Near East Relief Organization. Individually and Collectively, combined in one body as it were, you gave and you brought to Us the fruits of your offerings, to the salvation and protection of Our Flock during the most bitter days of their suffering—sufferings which We attribute to the rigours of the War of Liberation, and to the cruelty of Our implacable Oppressors.

"In expressing Our thanks for your generosity and for your evangelical commiseration, We, as the recognized Head of Our Spiritual Children, comprising the entire Armenian Nation, would be glad to view your acts of mercy as tokens of your continued assistance in the future, and that it is your purpose to continue to assist Us in Our regeneration and complete liberation, in the habilitation of a self-governing Nation. With these things in mind, We appeal to you all; to the Prelates of your Churches; to your devout Bishops, Our Brethren and beloved in Our Lord Jesus Christ; to men endowed with political and civil acumen; to those who have been called upon by the Lord in the Conduct of Public thought; and to every soul in which the spirit of Christian philanthropy glows. Come to our defense and to the cause of the Freedom of Our Flock. Come from the pulpits of your Churches; from the seats of your Council Chambers; from the platforms of Public Associations; from the sanctum of your Journals. Raise the mighty voices of your Nation and of your sympathetic people, as those of unfailing and unflinching friends. We need them for the salvation of Our Flock, tortured in body and soul through centuries of suffering. And Our people will forever stand in history as witness that a Great Nation, prolific of welfare, stretched its helping hand and mighty arm to raise them up.

"The Grace of Our Lord Jesus Christ, and Our thankful Blessings be with you all, evermore, Amen.

"Catholico and Supreme Patriarch of All Armenians."

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE NEWS

Frank W. Sargent was re-elected president of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company at the annual meeting in the company's home office, Hanover street, Manchester.

Governor Brown read a letter to a joint session of the House and Senate from Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States court, suggesting that the central boulevard of New Hampshire be named "Daniel Webster Highway."

Harry H. Blunt, '97, of Boston has been elected a trustee of Dartmouth College by the alumni to fill the unexpired term of Gov. Albert O. Brown, who was recently elected a life member of the board to take the place of the late Benjamin A. Kimball of Concord.

Braving death from exposure and ice-cold precipices while lost on Mount Monadnock, at night during a week-end outing, Karl H. Robinson, a Boston University freshman, carried Rupert Robinson, a fellow student to safety, after the latter had been rendered unconscious by a fall.

The submarine S-11 launched at the Portsmouth navy yard last week, was the 10th ship of the type built at this yard. The S-11 is the very latest thing in submarines and was launched practically ready for sea. All the ideas gained from the world war have been embodied in her construction.

The Concord Electric Railways of the Boston and Maine railroad was granted authority to increase its fare rate two cents in an order issued by the Public Service Commission, following a long hearing. The order gives the railway authority to increase its present fare of 6-cents in any city zone to 8 cents and to increase its minimum charge of 6 cents on the interurban lines to 8 cents.

An illiterate note or the work of a child led to the discovery of a portion of the dynamite stolen from the store house of Boynton and Ellis and, which has caused much uneasiness among Claremont officials and citizens, they believing the theft to be the work of "Reds." Letter Carrier Wayne Kayes picked up the note from a letter box on his forenoon collection and delivered it to the selectmen.

Manchester Board Orders Union Labor Only

The Joint Building Committee, representing the School Board and the Mayor and Aldermen, has voted that none but union labor shall be employed on the building of the proposed new schoolhouse in the Youngsville District.

State Employed Boys Meet on Feb. 25

G. C. Hubert, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Hartford, Conn., will be the principal speaker at the second state employed boys' conference, which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Mechanics St., Manchester, Feb. 25.

Jail Not Fit For Use

According to the report of the State Board of Charities and Correction which was distributed in the legislature, the Merrimack county jail in Concord is unfit to house prisoners and the county commissioners favor abolishment of the institution.

Assign Yard Repairs On Eight Sub-Marines

Senator G. H. Moses has notified Portsmouth interests that the Portsmouth navy yard had been assigned to complete repairs on eight of the O type of the submarines. The new work will take 45 days for each sub, it is expected. The first four will arrive about March 1.

American Woolen Co. Opens Mills at Dover

The Sawyer Woolen mills owned by the American Woolen company, are starting up after an eight months' shutdown.

A large order is said to have been received. The plant recently finished a line of samples.

Plan to Form State Market Organization

A meeting to create a state-wide marketing organization for New Hampshire, to the end that farm products grown in the state shall be consumed in the state and the losses to farmers and increased costs to urban dwellers of food shipments across the state boundary line and back again be eliminated, was held in Concord.

Near a hundred guests, including leaders in the progressive farm movement in New Hampshire and representative bankers and business men of the state were present.

Noyes Block at Nashua, 100 Years Old, is Sold

The largest real estate deal in the business section of Nashua for two generations took place recently when the Noyes Block was sold to Erb, Wilson & Langston. The block contains six stories and two floors of halls and business establishments.

The block, which had been in the Noyes family for nearly 100 years, occupies the old site of the Washington House, a hotel which entertained Presidents and in which later were made the first watches ever made in the world by machinery.

Dartmouth Medal Given to Pillsbury
Albert E. Pillsbury, former attorney-general of Massachusetts, has just been notified by the Dartmouth College Outing Club that he is the recipient this year of the prize medal annually awarded by that organization to the person who, in its judgment, has done most for forestry in New Hampshire during the preceding 12 months.

The club pays this tribute to Mr. Pillsbury in acknowledgment of his recent gift to the state of New Hampshire of 2000 acres of excellent timber land lying at the southern foot of Mount Sunapee, party in the town of Goshen, but largely in Washington, and giving control of a high valley at the source of the Ashuelot river, an important tributary of the Connecticut.

About 78 years ago the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of Manchester brought the tract into one ownership through the purchase of a number of local lots. After holding it for about 40 years the company disposed of the land to a lumber concern, which later sold it to Mr. Pillsbury. It is reported that with the exception of some cutting of pine and hemlocks in the late 90's the property, always good timber land, has changed little, and comes to the state in good condition.

City Marshall Manchester, of Franklin, has received word from City Marshall George A. Kimball of Concord that a model of the Leaning Tower of Pisa had been stolen from the New Hampshire Historical building. It is made of marble, yellowish brown and white in color, standing 15 inches tall.

Col. James O. Byford, chairman of the state bank commission, speaking at New Hampshire College, Durham, on the occasion of the biennial visit of the college committee of the state legislature to the college, declared that the State college is the "one institution of the state which has cordially co-operated with the governor in the matter of the proposed reduction of state expenses."

Dartmouth Closes Application List

With more than 1200 applications received, Dartmouth College has announced that it is compelled to close its list of applications for admission in 1921. As accommodations are available for only 500 men, the announcement is made out of fairness to the men who are considering entering the college next fall.

Shortage $9706 in Town Accounts

Elmer F. Wheeler, of Londonderry, missing town clerk and town treasurer, is short $9706 in his accounts the Selectmen announced after a report by the town auditors.

Wheeler disappeared several weeks ago with his wife and infant daughter, leaving a note that his accounts were impaired. The town is protected by bond to the extent of $5000.

Home Open to World War Veterans

At the annual meeting of the board of managers of the New Hampshire Soldiers' Home in Concord, it was voted to open the home at Tilton to veterans of the World War, so far as accommodations will permit, if the federal government does not provide hospital accommodations for such men. There is room for about more men at the institution.

N. H. Bee Keepers Association

The New Hampshire Bee Keepers Association met in an all day session, in Durham.

At the morning session, Professor J. R. Kepler gave an illustrated lecture on the keeping of bees, explaining in detail how they should be handled under numerous conditions.

At the afternoon session, George S. Beemuth, formerly of the United States Department of Agriculture, and at present the editor of the magazine entitled "Gleanings in Bee Culture," published at Medina, O., gave a talk on how to get a bigger honey crop. His suggestions seemed very practical and he stated that he was much impressed with the possibilities of the bee keeping industry in New Hampshire.

Cider and Home Brew Violate Prohibition Act, Says Federal Director

George H. Whitchee, Federal prohibition director, discussed cider manufacture by New Hampshire farmers in his review of the operation of the Volstead act up to Jan. 1.

"Three-hundred mills in this State," he said, "are capable of turning out 250,000 casks of cider, which produce booze equal to half a million casks of beer, or containing as much alcohol

Mrs. Leon Proctor, of Hillsboro, the C. E. Union Intermediate Superintendent, gave a very interesting talk to the C. E. Juniors on Saturday afternoon, telling them many helpful things to do. Mrs. Proctor has an unusually pleasing personality, and we all feel greatly helped and encouraged by her visit.

Mrs. Haskell and Mrs. Kingsley gave Miss Abbie Symonds a birthday surprise party on Saturday afternoon, it being her eighty third birthday. A few of the neighbors were invited to visit her. Dainty refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cocoa, cake and pineapple mousse were served. Little three year old Miss Haskell presented Miss Symonds with a lovely birthday cake, surrounded with lighted candles, the dates 1838-1921 being scrolled in colors over a white frosting. Miss Symonds received many gifts.

George Emery Messer, Jr., passed away on Feb. 7, at the home of his son, Ralph Messer, in this village. Mr. Messer was born in Lowell, Mass., April 15, 1846, coming to live here after losing his wife in Lynn about 30 years ago. The greater part of this time he has been engaged in the lumbering business. In 1861 he enlisted with the 8th N. H. Volunteers, serving three years, then reenlisted with the 8th N. H. Veterans and served through the Civil War. He has served his village as selectman, and at the time of his death was one of the supervisors of the check list. He is survived by two sons, Ralph and Leon Messer of this place, three daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Rogers and Mrs. Ethel Bailey, of Boston and Mrs. Rena Shattuck, of Nashua, and a granddaughter, Miss Mabel Bailey, of this town.

as 25,000 casks of whiskey. Prohibition cannot play favorites. Cider is an intoxicating beverage. Home made cider and home brew stand on the same footing. If one is right both are, and vice versa. As a matter of fact, both are wrong and violate the National Prohibition Act. There is one safe use for cider and that is to be made into vinegar, and this the law provides for.

Fine Salisbury Police For Part in Auto Race

M. J. Daley, Harrison Tyler and Wilfred Fowler, all members of the Salisbury, Mass., police department, paid a fine of $25 and costs, and were given a four months suspended jail sentence in Exeter police court, each pleading guilty to a charge of aiding and abetting an automobile race on Sept. 10, 1920, from Salisbury to Portsmouth, which resulted in the death of John Duffy, of Lawrence, Mass., whose one of the automobiles was wrecked on the Lafayette highway near Seabrook.

Americanism

By LEONARD WOOD

Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religion or politics.—Thomas Jefferson: First inaugural address.

An intending immigrant who has read these words finds in them sufficient impulse for his change of state. Perhaps nowhere can there be found a better description of the foundations of American political life than in these words of the third president. In them is to be found the essence of Americanism, as the fathers intended it to be.

Americanization, whether of the native born or the foreign born, includes within its scope an effort to make all citizens realize that freedom of thought and the right to express it are birthrights, provided of course that the freedom does not become license and the words are not counter to the spirit of Americanism itself.

For ages the right to think and to speak the thoughts of the heart were denied to men in many of the countries of the world. America was the first real refuge for those who were seeking a place where they could, with others, have a voice in their government and the right to pray to God after a manner dictated by their consciences. It was one among the few countries of the world one hundred years ago where the words "equal and exact justice to all men" meant what they said. The words are as true today of the United States as they were when Jefferson spoke and this is said in full knowledge of the fact that complaints of inequalities of justice frequently are heard. All things are comparative. Justice falls less frequently in the United States than elsewhere. It is within the power of people acting under American impulses, using their voices and their votes to the purpose to make all complaints groundless and to bring that perfection of procedure which shall insure to justice a permanent place in this country's life.

"Of whatever politics," Americanism pays no heed to the color of a man's politics. It is in the nature of things, that a man's political opinions are his own not to be interfered with nor their expression denied.

Americanization, and again let it be said whether of the native born or of the foreign born, does not concern itself with a man's political faith, but it should concern itself deeply with giving a man a proper understanding of the bases of the political faiths of the country of which he is a citizen. "Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state, persuasion, religion or politics." This is the foundation upon which the great American political faith is builded.

"Polite" Motor Horn.

The magazine Motor announces the arrival of the courteous motor horn. Up to now the motor horn has been decidedly cacophonous. It squawks unpleasantly; it bellows alarmingly; it utters noises disagreeably suggestive of nausea.

But the new horn, which is appearing on the market, has a tone that is at once polite and powerful. It warns, yet does not offend the sensitive ear. The tone-adjusting mechanism is so constructed and arranged that the horn is easily regulated for any degree of vociferousness, but it yet carries a warning to the pedestrian.

VARIETIES OF COURAGE

"KERSMITH is an awful coward," said the retired merchant. "He hasn't as much spunk as a chipmunk. This morning I saw a man half his size twist his nose, and he never offered to defend himself. He trembled all over and was covered with a cold sweat."

"And yet, under other circumstances Kersmith might show all kinds of courage," said the hotel-keeper. "It isn't safe to jump to conclusions about such things. A woman will climb a tree, and shriek for the police if she sees a mouse, and if a real perill comes along, she'll exhibit more courage in five minutes than the average man could dig up in a hundred years."

"There are scores of different kinds of courage in this world, and you can't expect one man to have them all. A man may tremble and cringe when threatened with physical violence, and yet stand up serene and magnificent when the assessor comes to the door, and there's nothing finer than that sort of moral courage."

"There used to be a blacksmith in this town who had a wide reputation as a fire eater. He wasn't afraid of anything, people said. If he heard of a promising bruiser anywhere in the countryside, he couldn't rest until he had mixed things with him. And he didn't ask for purses or other inducements. He engaged in combat just because he loved it, and was happiest when his nose was knocked to one side, and his eyes were bunged up so that he couldn't see whether he was going or coming. He acted the hero on several occasions, rescuing people from burning buildings, and saving girls who were drowning and his nerve became a byword."

"Well, in the fullness of time his teeth went wrong and his head swelled up until it looked like a squash. He bought about a million things at the drug store, and they wouldn't relieve the pain. The doctor told him he could have his sufferings ended in five minutes by going to the dentist's, but that idea turned him faint. At last he had to go, and the dentist told me he never saw such a doggone coward. That invincible blacksmith just had to be lifted into the operating chair, and as often as he could get his breath, he yelled."

"The dentist's chair takes the starch out of many a brave man. I used to have to frequent it a good deal before I bought these hand-made tortoiseshell teeth, and I saw some moving sights when I was seated in the waiting room. Women would come in there as calm and cool as though they had just stepped in for a dish of ice cream. I have seen a girl graduate sit chatting comfortably until her turn came, and then she'd step into the chamber of horrors without turning a hair; and then some big policeman, who'd think nothing of fighting a revolver duel in the dark with a burglar, would come into the waiting room as limp as a dishrag, sweating ice tea and groaning every time he drew a breath."

"A man might easily get a lot of false ideas about courage in the dentist's waiting room."

"That man Kersmith, who stood and permitted a smaller man to twist his nose, has a sort of courage I'd give a lot to own. I've always wished I could make public speeches. I've a lot of pent-up eloquence inside of me that ought to be turned loose for the edification and instruction of the people. But every time I'm called upon for a few timely remarks, I'm scared stiff, and can't say a blamed word. I just gurgle and splutter like a sunstruck lunatic, and hate myself for three weeks after it."

"But when Kersmith is called, he rises without a tremor, and smiles sweetly upon the audience, and goes ahead saying what he has to say as though in his own arm chair by his fireplace. I'd be willing to have my nose and ears twisted several times to have his courage."
