THE ANTRIM HIGH

Graduated a Class of Five on Friday Last

The 27th annual Commencement of the Antrim High School took place in the town hall on Friday evening of last week. We think this was the second time in the history of the school that any class combined their exercises with the reception and held both in the evening. It seemed to be a good thing and worked out all right. It so happened that the orchestra did not arrive till late and was not used during the rendering of the several parts by the graduates, thereby reducing the time allowed for this part of the program to a bit more than one hour.

Following this was the reception, and dancing closed the exercises of the evening.

The program as given appears herewith:

Prayer by Rev. George Davies
The Yellow Menace (with Salutatory), Clifton William Gibson.

Physical Education, B. Pauline Whitney.

Class Prophecy, Austin Paige

Prison Reform, Hazel Belle Locke.

Our Rural School Problem (with Valedictory), Fredrica Vose Nay.

Conferring of Diplomas, A. A. Holden, Supt. of Schools.

Benediction, Rev. Mr. Davies

Academic Course, Fredrica V. Nay;

Domestic Arts Course, Hazel B. Locke, B. Pauline Whitney; Agricultural Course, Austin Paige, Clifton W. Gibson.

The graduates did well in the preparation of their respective parts, and rendered them in a very pleasing manner, showing thought and care on the part of pupils and teachers.

Dun's Report of Last Saturday Said This

"The repression of business activities is not unnaturally accentuated in various quarters as the half year nears its ending. Preparations for inventorying and other accounting begin to occupy attention and approaching holidays and vacations also have a quieting influence. These are factors which are always present at this season, but which have a more conspicuous effect during periods of commercial reaction.

"More than a year of readjustment, with steadily falling prices, has brought certain trades to the point where some revival along conservative lines has been possible, but the period for general recovery is still deferred.

"While the recent large attendance of buyers in some markets has been encouraging, operations have been mainly confined to immediate or near-by requirements and have not been of sufficient magnitude to prevent a further increase of idle machinery in some industries."

Sweeping Reduction in Prices

National Biscuit Company has announced a sweeping reduction on its entire line, both packages and bulk, which plus previous reductions generally cuts away from 65 to 70 percent of the advance during the war period.

Several other reductions were made by the Company this year, its policy being to pass along automatically declines in the raw materials. In this case, however, it has gone so far that it expects the new prices will stand for many months, feeling that with price stability assured, the trade and public will buy with confidence, a state of mind that, of course, makes for better business everywhere.

Lawn Party

A lawn party, under the auspices of the Mission Circle of the Presbyterian church, will be held on the church lawn Saturday afternoon, July 2. A series of booths will be arranged, in which will be offered for sale children's and ladies' clothing, fancy articles, home made candy, food of all descriptions, and ice cream. The sale will begin at 8 o'clock.

A FEW THOUGHTS

Suggested by What Is Happening Around

There still exists the brand of parents who take pleasure in punishing a child for the things they have done.

According to the Almanac, yesterday was the beginning of Summer; now we shall expect warm weather. Also today: have you noticed that the length of the day has decreased one minute? It remains this way for six days.

"Business in State of Convalescence," says a headline in the New York World, Democratic organ. That's the condition business always is in under a Republican national administration right after a Democratic national administration, says an exchange.

There were a large number of our people who were not at the school exercises, and if it were said they had lost their interest in the High school we presume they would deny it at once. However, in the absence of a better reason or excuse we must judge that their interest is waning. Naturally interest is more keen when our children are in school, but let us always show an interest in the High school by attending these exercises.

The New Hampshire Committee on Public Safety, appointed by Gov. Henry W. Keyes in January, 1917, held its final meeting at the State House last Friday afternoon, Chairman John B. Jameson presiding.

Its financial report showed total expenditures of $100,000 and a balance on hand of $500, which will be devoted to publishing a report of the committee's work. Its records have been placed in the archives of the New Hampshire Historical Society for preservation.

John G. Emery, the new national commander of the American Legion, hailed from Grand Rapids, Mich. He was born on the Fourth of July forty years ago. His election, which was by acclamation of the National Executive Committee, took place at the National Headquarters at Indianapolis. At the same time Thomas J. Bannigan, of Hartford, Conn., was elected vice commander, succeeding Mr. Emery, who now fills the vacancy caused by the death of the lamented F. W. Galbraith, Jr.

Some very fast driving by autoists is indulged in at times on our Main street,—not a whole lot of it, but some. It may be the drivers are misjudging the knowledge of some who see them do this trick, but unless this thing is passed out in very small doses notice will have to be taken of it in a way that will mean something. The authorities don't like to do this, but the laws in this respect must be enforced, if occasion demands, to ensure the safety of pedestrians. And one other thing we don't understand is: why drivers will persist in keeping their lights off till real dark on the streets.

Zion City, Ill., is said to have entered the reform procession and a new ordinance imposes a fine up to $200, or from five days to six months in the city bastille for appearing in public in "peekaboo" or mosquito net stockings, in sleeves that do not come down to the middle of the forearm, or in blouses that "expose or partially expose the neck and shoulders a greater distance than a third part from the neck to the tip of the shoulders."

The wearing of such attire is deemed "immodest, vulgar, indecent and suggestive of low and vicious morals, tending to debauch innocence and purity and degrade the best interests of society."

But the lengths of the skirts are not mentioned.

Election of Officers

At the semi annual election of Mt. Crochard Encampment on Monday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Chief Patriarch—Ira P. Hutchinson
High Priest—George D. Dresser
Senior Warden—Andrew Cuddihy
Junior Warden—Freeman H. Clark

PHILLIPS-COLBY

Antrim Young Lady Weds Winchester Man

A pretty home wedding took place last Saturday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Colby, on Depot street, when their elder daughter, Gladys Isabelle, was united in marriage to Carl Franklin Phillips, of Winchester. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. S. Barker, of Rindge, assisted by Rev. George Davies, pastor of the Methodist church of this town, and only the immediate families were present. The bride was gown in light brown taffeta and was attended by her sister, Miss Muriel Colby, who wore blue taffeta. The best man was Donald Phillips, of Winchester, a brother of the groom. The bride party entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. C. H. Muzzey, and the ceremony was performed in the midst of profuse decorations of roses and laurel.

Mrs. Phillips is a graduate of Antrim High and Keene Normal Schools and has taught for the past two years in the public schools in Winchester. Mr. Phillips is a graduate of Springfield Business College.

Many handsome gifts were received as evidence of the good wishes of their many friends. After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Winchester.

Antrim Red Cross

The annual meeting of the Antrim Branch of the American Red Cross was held last Wednesday evening, in the Selectmen's room, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Chairman—Chas. S. Abbott
V. Chairman—Mrs. Emma Goodell
Treas.—Mrs. Amy G. Wheeler
Sec'y—Beatrice C. Boyd

Executive Committee—Mrs. G. W. Hunt, chairman, Mrs. F. H. Colby, Mrs. H. A. Hurlin, Mrs. J. Lillian Larrabee, Mrs. B. F. Tenney, Mrs. F. I. Burnham, A. W. Proctor, Mrs. E. E. Smith.

Emergency Food Committee—Mrs. A. W. Proctor, Mrs. Morris Burnham, Mrs. F. I. Burnham, Mrs. M. P. McIlvin, Mrs. H. W. Harvey, Mrs. J. Leon Brownell.

District Nursing Committee—Rev. W. J. B. Cannell, chairman, Mrs. Harry Richardson, Mrs. G. D. Tibbets, R. C. Goodell, Lawrence Mahoney, Mrs. George Sawyer, Mrs. Warren Wheeler.

Demobilize Service Flag

The demobilizing exercises appropriate to the occasion for the service flag at the Methodist church will be held on Sunday morning next at the regular hour of worship. Invitations have been extended every boy and girl who is represented by a star on the flag—sixteen in all—and in addition it is hoped a good number will avail themselves of the privilege of being present at this service. One gold star adorns this flag, in memory of William M. Myers, who was killed in action in France and for whom the local American Legion post was named. It would be nice to see the ex-service boys at these exercises, as it would prove inspiring to those having the exercises in charge.

A Word of Warning!

It is reported that in some cities and towns men are appearing before taxpayers and representing themselves to be deputy collectors of Internal Revenue, and stating that regulations have been changed and that taxes must be paid to them in cash.

Taxpayers are advised that no changes have been made in the manner of making payments of federal taxes, and unless the person making demand is known to you, you should require him to exhibit his commission and make payment only by money order or cheque.

If any attempt is made by a person not authorized to collect money, you will please communicate with me by telephone at my expense.

Seth W. Jones, Collector

TENANT FINDS BURIED MONEY

And Now a Court Must Pick the Owner of Treasure Discovered Hidden in Jars.

Rumors of the finding of a great treasure in the old Holland house here have been confirmed by the filing of suit in the Fayette county circuit court by the administrators of the Holland estate against a dozen defendants alleged to have shared in the division of the treasure, which amounted to $21,000, says a dispatch from Nuttallburg, W. Va., to the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Attachments were served on 50 banks in the surrounding section, where the money is believed to have been deposited.

The story of the treasure reads like romance. In the sixties William Holland, veteran of the Crimean war, came to this country from England and settled in the Pennsylvania coal fields. In 1872 he came to Kenney's creek and began the development of a kiln. He built a home here in 1885, where he resided until his death in 1913.

He was an eccentric character, and none of his family knew of his habit of hiding money. He died suddenly of heart failure. After Holland's death the home passed into the hands of William Nelson, superintendent of the coal company, who began repairs and reconstruction. The gold was found in different jars at different times.

Shuts Out Sound.

Persons who wish to concentrate their attention upon studies, business matters or what not, often find themselves most annoyingly distracted by noises of one kind or another. Street traffic may be disturbing; the crying of a baby may irritate, or perhaps the yowling of cats on a back fence or the persistent tooting of a cornet in the neighborhood may induce exasperation.

To obviate this sort of trouble, Gabino Janregui of Bridgeport, Conn., has devised what he calls the "ear silencer."

It is a frame of light construction which may be fixed upon the head in such a way that two screws carrying soft rubber plugs on their ends are inserted into the ears.

When this adjustment has been made exactly right the two screws that carry the rubber plugs enter the wearer's ears horizontally and have only to be tightened sufficiently in order to fit snugly and exclude all troublesome sounds.

Opossum a Pest in Australia.

New Zealand has a native species of opossum which wears a very beautiful fur. It is not at all like the opossum that we know in this country.

Many years ago it was introduced into Australia, and, finding there none of the natural enemies that preyed upon it in its own land, it has since increased in numbers until it has become a serious pest. It is a robber of fruit trees.

However, the value of the animal for its fur is so great as to outweigh the damage it does in the fruit-growing sections, and in view of this fact, the Australians are encouraging the increase of opossums in forest districts. Their skins are becoming a considerable item of export, and already many of them are made up into fashionable garments for women in the United States.—Philadelphia Ledger.

PHRENOLOGY CALLED A FAKE

Neither "Bumps" Nor Features, It Is Now Asserted, Can Indicate
Character of Man.

There has recently been a marked revival of the "phrenology" humbug, and charlatans are coining money by examining people's "bumps" and drawing therefrom analytical conclusions in regard to their talents and traits of character, remarks a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger.

The cleverest fakers in this line specialize in the alleged study of physiognomy as indicative of psychic traits, etc. This sort of thing "goes" wonderfully well, inasmuch as the average person is most interested in his own face and in what it may be supposed to express.

Physical anthropologists, however, are firm in asserting that there is nothing whatever in the idea. There is an essential relation between the features of a human individual and his character—beyond, of course, the fact that disposition and temperament may and commonly do so modify the muscular structure, especially about the mouth, as to render the expression indicative. Thus, for example, a sour temper or a crafty habit of mind will show itself in a person's face more and more as he grows older.

A prominent chin does not necessarily signify firmness of character; nor when exaggerated, does it mean brutality. Story writers nowadays teach us that eyes set "too close together" indicate slyness and meanness. There is no more truth in that idea than in the notion that a big nose suggests generosity.

Where beauty of feature is concerned one might say that it depends fundamentally upon the shape of the skull mask. A woman's skull is more lightly constructed than that of a man, and even the texture of its bones is more delicate.

LEGEND IN NEW CLOTHING

Story of Samson and Delilah as it Might Have Been, but Undoubtedly Was Not.

"Now, Sammy," began Delilah, coaxingly, as she advanced toward him with her hands behind her holding a pair of scissors. "Just look up that tree—see the little birdie?" And she coquettishly displayed the gold fillings in her five front teeth. Samson could never refuse Delilah anything when she flashed all that gold on him.

Delilah gently took hold of a lock of Samson's hair with her left hand, but before she could snip it off with her right, there was a thunderous knock on the door.

"Twas a man on horseback.
"Away! Away!" cried this ancient Paul Revere. "The flood is coming down Mount Dingus. Flee these benches!"

"Oh, Sammy!" wailed Delilah, dropping the scissors. "And I just paid off the mortgage on the house this very week. Now all that money is wasted. Oh, Sammy!"

Samson thought, hard for a moment. Then Delilah flashed her teeth once more.

"Up! Go up in the attic!" commanded Samson. Then he planted a kiss on Delilah's eyebrow and she flew.

Samson dashed out the door and lifted up the house in both hands and tied the doghouse around his neck. And thus stood he, with Delilah high and dry, while the flood rushed down Mount Dingus and by.

"Goah!" said Delilah to herself, after it was all over. "I'm glad I didn't cut his hair off before the flood!"—Detroit Free Press.

Lebanon Court Adds Insult to Injury

Peter P. Evans of Claremont was before Judge R. B. Jacobs in Lebanon municipal court and fined $100 with costs of $20.80 for reckless driving of his automobile. He paid the fine and costs. During the "reckless driving" the gasoline tank exploded and the car burned up, and Evans was badly injured by being burned on the arms and hip.

John B. Nash Dead

John B. Nash, naval officer of port of Boston since 1908, prominent democrat, delegate to many conventions held by his party, and a score of years ago one of the most forceful and versatile stump speech makers in the state, died at his home in Intervale after a very brief illness, aged 63. Colonel Nash had come up from Boston a few days previous and had complained of not feeling well.

Breaks Game Law, Springfield Man Gets H. of C. Award

Herman Bedell, giving his residence as Springfield, Mass., was fined $70, and costs of $9.50 for catching short-pickers. Bedell had fourteen of the fish for which he was charged $5 each. His fishing ground was in Auburn, and in addition to the short fish, he was fishing on a resident license. In default of payment he was committed to the house of correction at Brentwood.

Police Find Juvenile Bike Shop at Nashua

Police inspectors went to a farm on the South Dunstable road, Nashua, and arrested a 15-year-old boy on the charge of larceny of a bicycle. A complete shop was found by the officers where, it is alleged, stolen bicycles were hidden, taken apart and rebuilt and then sold. The officers went there on a tip that the boy had stolen a bicycle. They stated the boy admitted stealing one bicycle. It is claimed the place was headquarters for a gang of boy bicycle thieves and that they have stolen many in that vicinity.

Offer is Made to Furnish Road Markers

Judge Aldrich who is greatly interested in markers for the Daniel Webster highway, has turned over to the governor and council papers and correspondence, which contain an offer from The John Swanson Granite company to furnish two granite markers for the highway, made of selected Concord stone, to be placed wherever the highway commission may suggest, the delivery to be made on or before July 10. They also offer to fit the bronze tablets into place. Judge Aldrich has also placed all papers in the case in the hands of Highway Commissioner Everett.

Two Wise Beavers Go Eight Miles

How did two beavers, who disappeared from near Lost River camp, know of Elbow pond, eight miles away, and how did they get over the mountain and through forests to reach that place?

Beavers have disappeared from that section long ago and last year two were imported from the West and located in Beaver Meadow, near the Lost River camp, where they built a dam. This spring they had disappeared but after a while they were found some eight miles away at Elbow pond, where they have built a dam and taken up a permanent location which evidently suits them better.

Driest Period For Years in Prospect

Anxiety exists in the farming communities of New Hampshire on account of the present drought. The Southern section of the state is now upon its fourth week of extreme dry weather. During this period but two hundredths of an inch of rain has fallen, scarcely enough to allay the dust.

During the past 42 years the average rainfall for June has been 2.87 inches. It would not be surprising if the present month joined the list of drier Junes when there was a marked deficiency of rain in Manchester.

Six different Junes are recalled when less than one inch of rain fell. The lowest record was in June, 1913. The amount that year was .26 of an inch. June, 1894, brought .41 of an inch; 1912, .59; 1908, .61; 1888, .71; 1896, .52 of an inch.

Other Junes of recent years have contributed heavy rainfalls. So far as local records go, June, 1903, leads in the amount of rain measured. There fell that year 9.31 inches. In 1917, the amount for the month was 7.58; 1916, 6.37; 1906, 6.32; 1905, 5.65.

Wife Faints as Husband is Jailed

A three to four years' sentence was imposed on Harry P. Brown, former president of the Berlin Guarantee Trust Company and the Conway National Bank, found guilty of the larceny of $6000 in bonds from Steven E. Burbank of Glen. Brown's wife fainted when sentence was pronounced.

It was alleged Burbank deposited the bonds in the Conway National Bank and left instructions for Brown to clip the coupons. Brown appropriated them for his own use.

America in Race For Luxury

That the people of America today are not engaged in a struggle for existence, but rather in one for luxury, was the declaration of Bishop C. Henry Brent of the western New York diocese, speaking at the commencement exercises of St. Paul's school, Concord as baccalaureate orator.

"The world is passing through an era of materialism and there is a constant reaching out by the people for more," he said. "The material things command attention and the ideals fall by the wayside. The eight-hour day, which is almost universal in the country, should apply not only to the working men and women in the factories, but to the rich as well. Recreation is the sacred right of everyone and not the privilege of a chosen class."

White Perch Only Concern Just Now.

Six million brook trout fry have been distributed this season by the New Hampshire state department of fish and game. Of this amount, four million fry were taken from the fish hatchery at New Hampton. There are left at this hatchery one million fry which will be reared to fingerling size and distributed next fall. Altogether the state has one million and a half of brook trout fry on hand, and these will all be turned into fingerlings.

Aside from brook trout fry the state hatcheries show today one million landlocked salmon, one half a million each of rainbow trout and Sunapee trout fry, one and a half million lake trout and three million white perch fry. The salmon and rainbow trout fry will be held until they reach fingerling size; all others will be put out in their present shape.

Will Be Guests At The Weirs

General Nelson A. Miles, General John J. Pershing, Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, Governor Albert O. Brown, and members of his council, will be invited by the executive committee of the New Hampshire Veterans association to be present at the annual campfire to be held at The Weirs the week of August 22nd.

Also in that August week will occur at the same place the annual convention of the State American Legion and the first session of the Legion auxiliary.

The camp this year will be named after the late Col. Matt Shackford, who was for many years the secretary of the New Hampshire Grand Army Veterans' association.

The encampment will be in progress for six days this year instead of the customary four days.

Increase Valuation of Franklin Manufacturers

Consternation reigned among Franklin manufacturers, paper mill owners and those interested in the extensive water power privileges when it came known that the state tax commission had suggested to the local board of assessors that the valuation of the many plants there be increased 20 per cent.

Already Franklin manufacturers had strongly represented that they were taxed out of all proportion to the valuations estimated upon like property in other sections of the state. It had been expected that the state tax commission would perceive and accept the objections on the part of Franklin manufacturers. Instead, comes the 20 per cent increase in valuation.

Three years ago, the Franklin board of assessors engaged an expert in industrial matters, especially with regard to water power properties, to come to that city and aid them in placing the valuation of the properties there for the purpose of taxation. The finding of this expert resulted in such an increased valuation at that time, that the manufacturers raised immediate objection.

Conditions Will Be Better

"The agricultural situation cannot get much worse. During the next few years it is my judgment that it is bound to get better." This was the prediction made by A. B. Genung of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is on a tour of the eastern states in the interests of the office of farm management. Mr. Genung's opinion has perhaps more than usual significance, since, during his connection with the New Hampshire College Extension Service, he was one of the first to sound a note of warning in regard to farming prospects.

"Prices for farm products are down to a pre-war level," Mr. Genung pointed out, "while nearly everything else is still at least 50 per cent above that level. This means that the farmer's buying power has been sapped—a factor that is already having its effect upon other business. ## GENTLE CORRECTION

"PULSIFER seems mighty touchy," observed the retired merchant. "He was talking to me this morning and shooting holes through the king's English in his usual reckless way. I called his attention to a few of his grammatical errors. Instead of being grateful he shook his fist under my nose, and said that for three sours he would push my face through the back of my head. I can't understand that sort of conduct. I'd thank any man who would correct me when I make errors in my speech."

"In a horn you would," commented the hotelkeeper. "You think you put up a fine line of English when you are talking. You are satisfied you never make any bad breaks, so feel safe in saying you would welcome criticism, but if some sharp who is wise to all the fancy curves of the language came along, and showed you where you get off, you wouldn't wring his hand in an ecstasy of gratitude. No, doggone it, you would climb on his person and discolor one of his eyes."

"If there's any man makes me tired and sore, it's the one who calls me down when I am speaking a piece, and tells me I am making Lindley Murray roll over in his grave. I don't mind if there are only two of us present at the time, but when there are innocent bystanders around I get all worked up and insist upon a hand to hand conflict. No good sport would do such a thing. If you don't like the way I talk, you can pass up this hotel when making your daily rounds. If you must hand me a package of criticism or admonition, send it by mail. Then I can read it in the privacy of my own bed room, and there won't be anybody around to raise a horse laugh."

"My education was sadly neglected when I was young. I went to school only a few months and everything I learned was wrong, for the teacher was a farmer who took up educational work as a recreation when the weather prevented him from cultivating his beans. The little I know I accumulated by reading the newspapers and a few dime novels."

"Consequently I am always taking a fall out of the language. I never could waltz myself to the fine points of grammar, and it was only recently I quit saying 'I done it,' and 'I have went.' Every now and then an aleck stops me in the middle of a discourse and shows me where I am wrong, and if there is any way of getting even with that man I always do. There was a drummer for a shoe house who used to frequent this place. I took a liking to him, and always gave him the best room and saw that his eggs were fresh from the vines, and looked after his comfort generally.

"One day I was telling him a story, and he stopped me just when I was approaching the peroration, and began to explain the difference between 'shall' and 'will.' It seemed that I always used one of these words when I should have used the other, and in the goodness of his heart he explained the whole business to me. When he had made everything clear he asked me to finish my story, but I told him, in a biting sort of way, that I might wound him to the quick by misplacing a few more words, so I would spare him that infliction."

"Then he saw he was in bad, and he began telling me how he always liked to be corrected, and he took it for granted that others felt the same way about it, and the more he talked the less use I had for him."

"He registered here many times after that, always got the worst room in the house and if there was a particularly tough steak on hand, it went to him. He tried his hardest to square himself, and was always looking at me, hoping to see a winning smile on my chaste lips, but he never got anything but the arctic glare, and I suppose he's kicking himself, even to this day, because he made that break. And if you want to queer yourself with all your friends, you'll keep up this thing of telling people of their mistakes."

There are now nearly six million people in the city of New York, and it is the largest center of population on the globe. It is growing faster than London at the rate of nearly two to one; London doubles its population every 30 years and New York every 18 years.

New York's cash balance demands a sum of more than thirty million dollars, and it is the wealthiest city in the world. In fact, its total assessed value is greater than all of the United States west of the Mississippi, and its income exceeds that of 20 states combined.

Just Naturally Friendly.

A woman who is known in the southern Indiana town in which she lives for her friendliness and absentmindedness, recently went to Indianapolis on a shopping tour. She planned to return on a late afternoon interurban car, and hurried from store to store. She bought several articles at a department store and was walking rapidly toward the exit thinking where she would go next. In her haste she dropped one of her packages. A floor walker recovered it and handing it to her said:

"Here is your parcel, madam. Call again, please."

"Thank you, I will," she replied. "You bring your folks and come over to see us real soon."
