D. A. R. MEETING

Correcting Wrongly Reported Account of Last Week

Friday, November 2

Molly Alken Chapter, D. A. R., met with Mrs. E. E. Smith, at Alabama Farm. Seventeen daughters and five guests were present. The regent presided, and the meeting opened by "Salute to the Flag", the Lord's Prayer and singing. Voted to give prizes in our schools the same as last year. Voted to give Edith Hunt Folsom a D. A. R. spoon. Mrs. Smith gave her report on Conservation, Mrs. Hurlin on Preservation of Historic Spots, and Mrs. Hunt gave the Magazine report. The following program was enjoyed: Piano Solo, Old Irish Folk Song, Mrs. Felker. Mrs. Smith read sketches about the earthquake in Japan, furnished by her sister, Miss Susie Pratt, a missionary at Yokohama. Solos by Miss Tandy, and a paper by Mrs. Hurlin, "The Franklin Pierce Barbacue," held in Hillsboro. The town made preparations for 10,000 people, and there were nearly 25,000 there. It was a very interesting paper.

The regent introduced Mrs. Leslie P. Snow, of Rochester, state regent of New Hampshire. She said Antrim Chapter always gave one an inspiration. She spoke of the flag salute, the scholarship fund, and the $2,000 bell that New Hampshire daughters were to give, the 9th bell, as New Hampshire was the 9th state in the Union. This is to be one of the bells in the chimneys to be placed at Valley Forge. She gave us a splendid talk which was very comprehensive and interesting, and we wish all the members could have listened to it.

Mrs. George H. Warren, of Manchester, state vice regent, was introduced by the regent. She gave a short talk, and the slogan, "Newspapers talk, so it pays to advertise," was a good one to adopt.

A social hour followed with refreshments. Adjourned to December 6th. Emma Langley Cooley, Sec.

Observed His 87th Birthday

A few invited friends were present on Thursday evening last and assisted Samuel S. Sawyer in properly observing his 87th birthday anniversary. At six o'clock nine sat down to as fine a chicken dinner as Mrs. Sawyer ever prepared and together with an abundance of pastry, salads, jellies, coffee and a large birthday cake, all present did ample justice to the occasion. Mrs. Abi Perry assisted in serving.

Mr. Sawyer is in perfect health apparently and enjoyed every minute of the evening. A few early recollections were indulged in, but the subjects mostly discussed were the leading topics of the day, not only locally, but also in a broader sphere. Even stories of a humorous nature were indulged in. After dinner and a social hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer continued good health and happiness.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. Perry, there were present: Henry E. Swain, John S. Nesmith, Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank Downes, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Eldredge and daughter, Miss Mabelle Eldredge.

John R. Taylor

Formerly of Concord, but for about six years until recently a resident of Akron, O., died in the above city last Friday, after a year's illness, at the age of 86 years. Mr. Taylor was born in Manchester, the son of James and Martha (Campbell) Taylor. He is survived by his widow, one sister, Mrs. Martha Smith of Boston, and by one brother, David C. Taylor, of Concord.

Mr. Taylor married Miss May Ashford nearly seven years ago, and in February last returned to Antrim. The widow has the sympathy of a host of friends in her affliction.

Funeral services were held from the home of David C. Taylor, 28 Penacook street, Concord, Monday, Nov. 12, at 2 p. m.

A FEW THOUGHTS

Suggested By What Is Happening Around

A book on cookery was shown us the past week printed in 1807; it was in a remarkably good state of preservation. One strange thing that we noticed in looking through the book was that there were recipes for preparing many many modern dishes, such as scalloped oysters for instance.

The Globe says, regarding the results of the election, that neither party has much to crow over. This no doubt is correct. Some changes were made in personnel, but business will go on about the same, and in some cases where better men for the jobs were elected the cities will receive a real benefit. Let good be accomplished without real boasting.

Did you read what Israel Zangwill said about America and her people? He is said to be an English man of letters, and proves himself to be a man of words, and maybe the mouth-piece through which all England tells us what she thinks. It is a noticeable fact, however, that if we are a "land of bluffers and cranks," we are appealed to for help by said England about twenty-four times every twenty-four hours.

"Too many State bosses" says the mayor of Franklin when he ordered work to be stopped on the state aid construction job in his city. This same thing has occasionally been intimated from other sources, and until there is a change and red tape is cut in several places, very many voters in different towns will continue to vote against appropriations for state aid when really the same men are in favor of better roads. Towns are not to blame for their poor roads nearly as much as perhaps something else is.

In 1865 the freedom of slavery was supposed to be in full force, but many say that even now there are certain things which happen in different sections of the country—more particularly south of the Mason and Dixon line—that savors very much of slavery. And then we are told that national prohibition does not prohibit, after just a few years' trial. If in sixty years there is a proportional improvement in the latter case, it will seem to those who are around here at that time that the millenium has arrived.

Further developments in the handwriting matter that we referred to last week in these columns have brought out the fact that our one guess was correct. The one who led us on could hardly believe it possible, but with sufficient proof he was ready to acknowledge that we knew handwriting to a considerable degree. Handwriting has been an interesting study to us for a long term of years; nice penmanship as well as that which is not so nice has always interested us.

All will agree with the statement made last week by the Public Service Commission of the State that "certainly in its present situation the Boston & Maine cannot afford to turn its back on additional income, however slight. If all those riding on passes continued to ride as much as they do now, we believe the revenue would be considerable." It used to be said that newspapers had passes and that was a great injury to the state,—when mileage was furnished publishers for advertising actually done. The calamity howlers and so-called reformers fooled the people to that extent and it is

Rates Reduced on Registering Automobiles

A reduction in the registration rates of automobiles will become effective Jan. 1, according to instructions from the State House at Concord. Machine owners, can file their application for a 1924 license from now on.

The fivev type car, most popular in country and city alike, can now be registered for $10, whereas last year it cost the owner $15.

Some Rates Reduced
Until the rate was changed by the Legislature, the minimum rate was $15 on pleasure cars and a flat charge of 60 cents per hundred pounds.

Now the minimum rate is $10 and the scale is graduated as follows:

4000 pounds—45 cents per hundred pounds.
4000 to 6000—55 cents per hundred pounds.
6000 to 8000—60 cents per hundred pounds.
8000 and over—70 cents per hundred pounds.

Trucks Cut $5

Trucks have a minimum rate of $15 compared to $20 last year. The rates as announced for trucks with hard tires is as follows:

Up to 2300 pounds, $15.
4000 pounds—65 cents per hundred.
6000 pounds—75 cents per hundred.
8000 pounds—80 cents per hundred.

Rates on trucks with pneumatic tires are the same as for passenger cars with the minimum $10.35.

There is no change in the local tax. The saving comes in the registration cost at Concord.

impossible to see where the railroad or the state has been benefitted. Like everything else, it wasn't supposed to work out that way. The commission very plainly says: "We refer to the pernicious practice, sanctioned by the law, it is true, but none the less unjust and indefensible, of issuing free passes to its officers and employes and their families, to its surgeons, physicians and attorneys-at-law, when not traveling on railroad business. All of these classes are paid for the work they do for the railroad. We are not saying this privilege is often made use of, but the point is that the privilege should not exist."

Lloyd George's Last Word Unfortunate

By Wentworth Stewart
Ex-Premier Lloyd George is the most interesting person who has visited America since the war.

The powerful place he held in war time, the tremendous part he played in shaping the thought and purpose of the people of the entire British Empire...

Whether Mr. Lloyd George deserved defeat at the hand of the English people is not for us to discuss here, for it does not in such a confused and distracted time as that through he passed...

Mr. Lloyd George like others took special pains to inform us that he "had no mission here," he just came to see his cousins.

The British still treat us as having no discernment, just backward children of a very wonderful mother, who considering our waywardness...

This propagandist, for such he was, as are all these travelers now-days, after announcing that, no had no errand...

"A COMMON COLD DESERVES YOUR PROMPT ATTENTION"

Take Father John's Medicine

"A common cold deserves your immediate and serious attention." So writes a well known physician in pointing out the danger of neglecting a cold.

When Mr. Lloyd George states that for Britain and America France would have been a vassal nation, he is exceedingly ungenerous and speaks for Britain and not for America.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Sawyer, of Dorchester, Mass., were guests on Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Sawyer.

Arthur W. Proctor, for the past eight years or more employed at Cram's Store, completed his labors there on Saturday night last.

The Barnabas Male Quartet, of the East Jaffrey Baptist church, will be present and assist in the prayer meeting at the local Baptist church next week Wednesday evening.

The printing fraternity and Concord in particular have lost a grand man in the death of John D. Bridge, general manager of the Rumford Press. His monument is the building of the Rumford printing business, and an imposing one it is—probably the best in New England.

he is undoubtedly mistaken. If he thinks such a remark left with the American people to think over will affect them favorably, he is equally mistaken.

We wish no break with England, and we are in no fear of such. We are willing to hold close relations in things we hold in common for ourselves and the rest of the world. But we would like to say to Englishmen as to Frenchmen, and anybody else, that we prefer to and intend to do our own thinking, reach our own conclusions, and follow our own convictions.

When Mr. Lloyd George states that for Britain and America France would have been a vassal nation, he is exceedingly ungenerous and speaks for Britain and not for America.

Moreover, had France become a vassal how would Britain have escaped? Such vassalage would in the end, have endangered both England and America. England was not unaware of it when she made her appeals to us in war time, and knew well that she would never be safe from the iron heel of a triumphant Germany.

Couldn't "Get" the Plot. An English visitor was taken by an American friend to see one of our minstrel shows. It was the first he had ever attended. HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."—Mrs. M. LODIC, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Every Farm Needs Two

EVERY farm needs two automobiles, one of which should be a closed model Chevrolet.

The open touring car is best for general farm use, carrying passengers or perhaps miscellaneous bulky produce or merchandise, but for cold or rainy weather, and for church or social use the family needs a closed car, either a 2-passenger Utility Coupe as illustrated, or the 5-passenger Sedan. The extra large rear compartment is a feature of the Coupe.

These closed cars are very finely made, furnished, upholstered and trimmed. The windows are of plate glass and can be lowered, providing as much air as an open car, yet affording full protection against wind, rain, snow or cold when raised. With a second car on a farm, one is always available for those at home when the other car is out.

The low prices of Chevrolet make the ownership of two cars feasible for most farm families.

FIRST U. S. MILITARY MEDAL WIDENS MARKET FOR MEAT

Government Gave Gen. George Washington Decoration to Commemorate Evacuation of Boston.

The first military medal ever bestowed by the American government was one in gold to Gen. George Washington, to commemorate the evacuation of Boston by the British in 1776. Capt. Paul Jones was similarly rewarded after his famous fight with the "Serapis" in 1779, and the three men, Paulding, Williams and Van Wart, who captured Maj. John Andre in 1780, were given special medals by congress.

The first decoration, and so far as Col. Robert E. Wylie of the general staff of the U. S. A., and author of a work on military and civil orders, decorations and insignia, has been able to discover, which had a general application to enlisted men, was the result of an order issued in 1782 by General Washington. A soldier cited for the decoration was permitted to wear on his facings, over his left breast, the figure of a heart in purple cloth or silk, edged with narrow lace or binding.—Detroit News.

Merely Misplaced.

"Now, I got 'em all in my pocket."

United States Department of Agriculture Gives Hog Raisers Additional Outlet.

A wider market for United States meats, particularly pork, has been made available by the efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State department, the most recent evidence of it being the opening of The Netherlands to shipments of fresh pork. This new market, with the English market, which was opened to the same products about 18 months ago, now gives hog raisers a considerable additional outlet at a time when production is at a high point.

The Public Demand.
"Aren't you going to make a speech?"
"Not if I can avoid it," answered Senator Sorghum. "Why should I risk saying something that might make me unpopular? All the public appears to ask at present is that I keep quiet and be photographed."

An Artist.
"Daughter, doesn't that young man know how to say good night?"
"Oh, daddy! I'll say he does!"

FOSSILS FROM THE ICE AGE

Czech Scientist Discovers Skeletons of Men, Women and Great Variety of Animals.

Skeletons of prehistoric men and women from the ice ages, a mammoth, two lions, a hyena, a wolverine, five cave bears and at least sixty fossil beavers have been found in the vast system of underground palaces formed by nature in the limestone rock of central Moravia now being explored by Dr. Karel Absolon, curator of the Brno museum of Czechoslovakia. Dr. Alea Hrdlicka of the United States National museum, who is in Europe studying cave men for the United States Smithsonian Institution, will report these discoveries in a communication to the next issue of Science.

The skeletons of many of these mammals of the glacial period of the earth's history are in an excellent state of preservation, he says. The cave bears' remains are almost complete and will be mounted as a group in the Provincial museum at Brno (Brunn), while the teeth and skulls of the beavers are also considered of highest scientific value.

The great subterranean halls, with their numerous columns, stalactite and stalagmite forms, are being energetically explored and are said to rival in beauty the famous caverns in Virginia and Kentucky.

HIS FIRST ATTEMPT AT WORK

Curious Experience of College Student Who Was Trying to Earn Money for Expenses.

Many students attending the universities of Indiana pay part of their college expenses by doing odd jobs. Several years ago a young man applied at the Y. M. C. A. employment office of one of the universities and asked for work. He was directed to the home of one of the professors.

His first duty was to mop the kitchen floor. Mrs. H. supplied a mopstick, some rags and a bucket. She was upstairs sewing a few minutes later when he called, "What shall I do with the water?"

"Throw it out."
"But I can't."
She came down to investigate. She found the kitchen floor flooded and the new helper standing on a chair holding the dry rags and the empty bucket. He explained that he had never mopped a floor before, so he had filled the bucket with water about eight times and emptied it on the floor.

The young man is now a practicing physician in Indianapolis.

Poetry as It is Lived.
In his "Human Traits and Their Social Significance," Irwin Edman writes:

"Men may first have come to speak poetry accidentally, for language arose, like other human habits, as a thing of use. But the charming and delightful expression of feelings and ideas came to be cherished in themselves, so that what was first an accident in man's life has become a deliberate practice.

"When this creation of beautiful objects, or the beautiful expression of feelings or ideas is intentional, we call it art.

"In such intentional creation and cherishing of the beautiful, man's life becomes enriched and emancipated. He learns not only to live, but to live beautifully."

The first poem may have been an accident, as Mr. Edman suggests, but more than one number in the latest lot can be reckoned among catastrophes.

Wife Worse Than Expected.
A dorky who had recently married was asked by the farmer for whom he worked how he and his Mandy were getting along.

"Not very well, boss. The fact is Mandy and me we've done parted."
"Parted!" exclaimed the farmer. "Why, you were just married. You know, Sam, you can't leave Mandy. She's your wife and you took her for better or worse."

"That's just it, boss," said Sam. "I shore did tell that pabson that I took that gal for better or was. But, boss, dat gal is wus'n I took her to be."

Young and Inexperienced.
When I was a bride I went into a shop to purchase socks for my husband. I was young and unaccustomed to buying men's wear, and was at a loss when the salesman inquired what size I wanted.

I didn't have the slightest idea, but suddenly I said, "I don't remember what size his socks are, but he wears a number fifteen collar."

The clerk and all other people in the shop burst out laughing.—Exchange.

A Helpful Hint.
"I don't know what in the thunderation is the matter with my wife!" grumbled Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "She's everlastingly asking me for money to buy a new dress with or a bunnet, or some such fool thing."
"Mought try giving her a little money some time, and see if it would make a plumb fool of her," suggested an acquaintance.—Kansas City Star.

Alike in That Respect.
A traveler in the West some years ago observed a well-executed portrait on the wall of a dark room in a cabin and asked whose picture it was. "That's my husband," said the woman of the house, carelessly. "But it is hung with fatal effect," urged the artist. "So was my husband," snapped the woman.
