

The Antrim Reporter

VOLUME XLVI NO. 48

ANTRIM, NEW HAMPSHIRE, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1929

5 CENTS A COPY

THE GOODNOW-DERBY COMP'Y

Quality, Service and Satisfaction

A GOOD LINE OF BED BLANKETS!

Cotton Blankets for $1.89

Size 66 inches x 76 inches

Pepperell Blankets for $2.59

Size 66 inches x 80 inches

Part Wool Blankets for $3.49

Size 66 inches x 80 inches

Part Wool Blankets for $4.29

Size 70 inches x 80 inches

Part Wool and All Wool
Blankets $5.00 to $10.00

We think we have the best values in Bed Blankets we have ever been able to get.

THE GOODNOW-DERBY COMP'Y

Odd Fellows Block

W. F. CLARK

ANTRIM, New Hampshire

Telephone 64-3

Plumbing and Heating

Sheet Metal Work
Stove Repairing of All Kinds

Agent for

Glenwood, Vecto and
Sunbeam Cabinet Heaters

Hillsboro Guaranty Savings Bank

HILLSBORO, N. H.

Resources over $1,700,000.00

A REPRESENTATIVE of the Hillsboro Banks is in Antrim Thursday morning of each week for the transaction of banking business.

DEPOSITS Made during the first three business days of the month draw Interest from the first day
of the month

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent

The Keene National Bank

KEENE, N. H.

Commercial Banking
National Savings Department
Trust Department

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Presented to Reporter Readers in Concise Form

Our office received a very pleasant call on Thursday evening from Secretary of State Fuller and his Deputy, Mr. Hewitt. They were passing through Antrim to adjoining towns to attend to matters of business.

Through the courtesy of United States Senator, Hon. Henry W. Keyes, we are favored with a list of the soldiers who enlisted from New Hampshire in the World War who made the supreme sacrifice for their country and who lie interred in permanent cemeteries in Europe. The list also shows the organizations in which they served. To those particularly interested this is a very informative list.

The New Hampshire office of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., will be transferred to Concord on November 1, Ernest Dudley, grand secretary, has announced. The change was voted at the last meeting of the Grand Lodge in Littleton because of the belief that a Concord office would be more central than in Manchester, where it has been for 65 years. Mr. Dudley's home is also in Concord. At the Capital City the new office will be at 15 North Main street.

The Milford Cabinet occasionally publishes something that took place twenty-five years ago and here is an item clipped from the last issue: Governor Goodell of Antrim and Rev. Mr. Babcock of Milford, ardent prohibitionists, held a meeting in Milford and assured the people that if laws were passed against booze there would be universal prosperity and such a reduction in crime that jails would no longer be needed, except as storehouses for corn.

There is no better way of testing the value of an apple than by eating it. There is a whole lot to say, however, about the appearance of apples. What a change has taken place in the marketing of apples in the past 15 years. They used to be tumbled into a barrel and the head squeezed on and sold sometimes for $1.00 including the barrel, says an exchange. They did not look very tempting even at that price for there was little perfect fruit and it was all sizes and shapes. It was a gamble with the purchaser as to what he got for his money. The barrel was usually "deaconed," the good apples on top and the bad ones at the bottom of the barrel. How different is the plan of marketing today. The apples are graded for size, packed in bushel boxes and sold for $2, $3 and $4 per box or $8, $10 or $12 per barrel. Today there are no "deaconed" apples on the market. You get just what you pay for.

Proctor, in the Sportsmen's Column Says:

The A and B Club (Antrim and Bennington, fish and game) are staging a big hunt. Sides have been chosen and the losing side feeds the winners a game supper.

Was up on the road between Frances-town and Bennington the other day and saw a big red headed woodpecker, the first one we have seen for years. They used to be plentiful in the Gregg woods at Wilton Center a few years ago.

There are the usual number of "don'ts" in the trapping game. Here are a few: Don't put out a trap until November 1. Don't fall to get a license. Don't forget to fill out land permits and send to Concord. Don't neglect to have your traps properly marked with your name. Initials don't go. Don't miss visiting your traps every 24 hours. I guess that's all. But remember we are to be hard boiled this year.

Let's Emulate Methuseleh

Methuseleh ate what he found on his plate
And never, as people do now,
Did he note the mount of the calories count—
He ate because it was chow.
He wasn't disturbed as at dinner he sat
Destroying a roast or a pie,
To think it was lacking in granular fat
Or a couple of vitamins shy.
He cheerfully chewed every species of food
Untroubled by worries or fears.
Least his health might be hurt by a fancy dessert
And he lived over nine hundred years.
—Pike Pheasant.

TRAIN COLLISION

Sad Accident on Coming Together of Freight Trains

The death toll in the fatal crash of two local freight trains on Wednesday last, just before noon, at Nahor Station on the Peterboro branch of the Boston and Maine railroad, mounted to four when Samuel H. White, brakeman, 33 Williams street, Nashua, died in the Peterboro hospital of injuries sustained in the collision.

Following an investigation in which Division Superintendent Frank H. Flynn participated, an official statement was issued placing responsibility for the collision. The official statement said:

"Two local freight trains were in collision about noon at Nahor on the single track line of the Peterboro branch. Three employees were killed and six injured.

"The accident occurred at a curve. One freight was from Gardner, Mass., to Nashua, and the other from Nashua to Gardner. The former stopped on a siding south of Nahor to allow a train to pass up to a few minutes before the accident. The north bound train went on the line at the branch apparently without noting signals that there was a second section of the previous south bound train."

All those killed in the crash were veterans employees. Chapman was more than 60 years old, and is survived by the widow and three sons. William F. Crosby is survived by his widow and three sons, one of whom is a student at the University of New Hampshire. In addition to Frank C. Spaulding's widow, six sons survive.

The scene of the accident is but a short distance from the spot where a passenger train and engine running dead head were in collision two years ago. In this crash a number of persons were hurt, but there were no fatalities. Another accident on the same line almost proved fatal the same day when a Peterboro bound passenger train struck a truck at the Noone station and hurled it into the river. The driver was rescued and treated at Peterboro hospital.

George S. Proctor of Wilton barely escaped death when he drove his automobile over the grade crossing where the two trains crashed a few seconds before the two locomotives came together.

Mayland H. Morse, member of the Public Service Commission, and Lyman W. Eigelow, engineering inspector for the commission, were at the scene of the accident shortly after the crash took place and conducted an inquiry into the collision. The commission is further investigating the accident for the purpose of determining the cause and placing responsibility if any. Ordinarily conclusions of the commission in such matters are not published other than in the published reports of the commission.

The Future of the Small Town

Electricity is giving every town an opportunity to become a city. In the past, great industrial concerns have been forced to locate in the congested centers of population because of the necessity of readily available power. The small plants common in towns and villages could not be counted upon for unremitting, efficient and economical service. As a result, the smaller town was an industrial nonentity.

The development of interconnected electric systems and the constant decrease in small local plants, is rapidly changing all this. Now thousands of towns receive the same high grade service, at the same low rates, that is provided in great cities. And many of them are gradually coming into prominence as industrial centers.

The small town can offer the advantages of unlimited space, reliable labor, and pleasant living and working conditions that the great city lacks. And with the adjunct of plentiful, cheap power, it can make an almost irresistible appeal to all manner of industries.

It is safe to say that many of the great industrial localities of the future will be towns that today are little more than names on the map. Electric power has given rural America a glimpse of new vistas of social and industrial progress and prosperity.

W. R. C. Notes

All members of the Woman's Relief Corps and their families are invited to a Halloween Party, at Library hall, on Friday evening, October 25, at 7.30 o'clock.
Ethel Whitney, Press Cor.

At the Main St. Soda Shop

Where Candies of Quality are Sold

29 Cent Sale—For One Week Only

35c size Palm Olive Shaving Cream 29 cents
100 Genuine 5 grain Aspirin Tablets 29 cents
25c size tubes Cold Cream 2 for 29 cents
50c size Rubbing Alcohol (one pint) 29 cents
50c size Witchazel, best quality (one pint) 29 cents
50c size Emulsified Coconut Oil Shampoo 29 cents
50c size Eau de Quinine Hair Tonic 29 cents
25c size Honey Almond Cream 2 bottles for 29 cents
50c size Toilet Waters, all odors 29 cents
35c size Glyro Hand Lotion 29 cents
Regular 5c Straigh Cigars 7 for 29 cents

At the Main St. Soda Shop

"Worth Its Weight in Gold for Cough or Cold" DANIELS' BLACK EMULSION

We have taken the agency for Nyal remedies. They are the most reliable preparations sold to-day. Every package has the formula printed on it; you know what you are purchasing. I have sold these Remedies for twenty years and recommend them.

M. E. DANIELS
Reg. Druggist
ANTRIM, N. H.

OPENING!

October 30, 1929

Anna's Convenience Shope

ELM STREET, ANTRIM, N. H.

Latest Fall Gowns, New Hosiery
and Underwear

(Special attention given to sizes for larger women)

Unusual Gifts for the Holidays, and all other occasions, including
COSTUME JEWELRY, LAMPS, NOVELTIES, ETC.

Miss Noetzel will be glad to render her services in helping you to make satisfactory selections.

ORDERS TAKEN FOR ARTICLES NOT IN STOCK

Buy Your Bond

AND BE SECURE

Why

Run

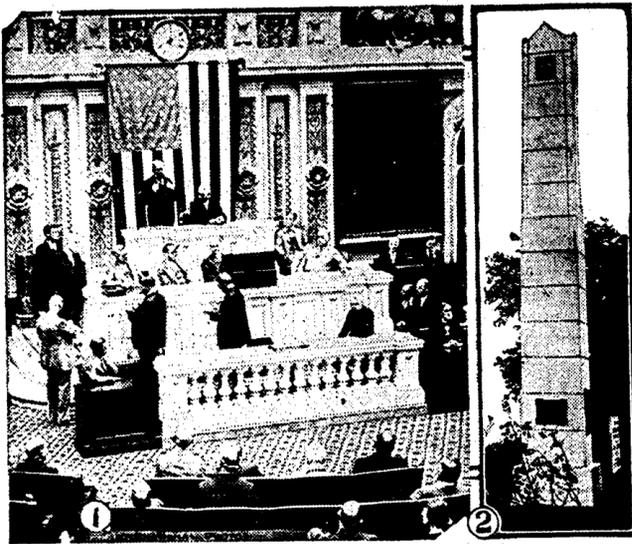

The

Hazard

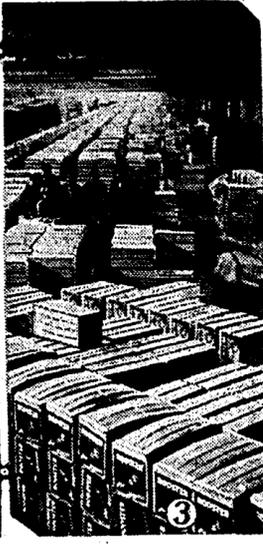

Of accepting personal security upon a bond, when corporate security is vastly superior! The personal security may be financially strong to-day and insolvent to-morrow; or he may die, and his estate be immediately distributed. In any event, recovery is dilatory and uncertain.

The American Surety Company of New York, capitalized at $2,500,000, is the strongest Surety Company in existence, and the only one whose sole business is to furnish Surety Bonds. Apply to

H. W. ELDRIDGE Agent,
Antrim.

1—Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain addressing the American house of representatives. 2—Monument to the Ohio river, erected in Eden park, Cincinnati, to be dedicated by President Hoover on his trip to the Middle West. 3—New York docks jammed with rotting fruit and vegetables during the strike of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union which shut off the city's supply of fresh food.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

MacDonald Visit Ends and Naval Conference Is Called by England.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
FIRST fruit of the momentous conversations between President Hoover and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the Virginia fishing camp and the White House was the invitation issued by Great Britain to the United States, France, Italy and Japan to participate in a naval conference in London next January. The proposal of the British government is in effect to reopen, revise and extend the naval limitation agreements reached at the Washington conference of 1921-22, with a view to gradual disarmament in accord with the spirit of the Kellogg pact in which all countries have renounced war as an instrument of national policy.

In order to give assurance that there will be no differences between Great Britain and the United States over cruiser tonnage to wreck this conference as occurred at the Geneva conference of 1927, the London government informs Japan, France and Italy that the two Anglo-Saxon nations have virtually reached an agreement based on parity of the two navies in all classes of ships.

There is no doubt that the invitations will be accepted, though there will be some opposition to holding the conference in London. America's acceptance was announced Thursday. France, it was believed, would make three reservations, asking that the work of the conference be dissociated with the Kellogg pact; that the proposals for abolishment of the submarine be dropped by England and America before the meeting opens, and that France have the right to call for a new ratio on cruisers, destroyers and submarines. It was understood that Italy would adopt practically the same attitude as France; and Japan was expected to accept the invitation without reservations. Each British dominion also was invited to send representatives to the conference.

When Mr. MacDonald's Washington visit officially came to an end, he and Mr. Hoover issued a joint statement to the effect that in their conversations they had reached an understanding that the United States and Great Britain would co-operate to preserve the peace of the world, and that settlement of all disagreements between the two countries in the future should be sought on the assumption that war between them is unthinkable. Sincere acceptance of the Paris peace pact is reaffirmed, and confidence expressed in the success of the naval conference. One significant paragraph of the statement reads:

"The part of each of our governments in the promotion of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active co-operation with its European neighbors; but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence towards securing and maintaining the peace of the world."

This is designed to quiet the apprehension, felt especially by the French, that the MacDonald visit would result in an actual alliance between America and Great Britain intended to force upon the rest of the world their interpretation of disarmament and peace. At every opportunity Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald disclaimed any such intention, and in his remarkable address before the senate the prime minister specifically said: "We are not out for any exclusive alliance. You would reject it. So would I. It is not for the benefit of either of us."

The President and the prime minister discussed, in a general way other topics besides the naval conference. These included tariffs, the Anglo-American war debt, freedom of the seas and the British naval bases off the American Atlantic coast. It was agreed the last named matter should be the subject of further consideration after Mr. MacDonald has returned to London.

Socially as well as politically, Mr. MacDonald's visit was a great success. He and his daughter Isabel were lavishly entertained, there were state dinners at the White House, the British embassy, and at the home of Secretary Stimson, and the prime minister was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the George Washington university. After the formal farewells in the Capital the British party left for Philadelphia and New York, secure in the belief that Mr. MacDonald's unprecedented adventure had accomplished extraordinary things for the two nations and for the world at large.

IRWIN B. LAUGHLIN of Pittsburgh, one of the "career" diplomats, has been appointed by the President as ambassador to Spain to succeed Ogden H. Hammond, resigned. Mr. Laughlin's last assignment was as minister to Greece, where he served from 1924 to 1926. Prior to his appointment Mr. Laughlin had been stationed in various diplomatic capacities at many of the principal capitals of the world. He began his career as private secretary to the minister to Japan.

ONCE again the Democratic senators and those radicals who persist in calling themselves Republicans scored on the administration senators in the tariff battle. This time by a vote of 44 to 41 the senate rejected finance committee amendments broadening the rights of manufacturers and wholesalers to intervene in customs disputes before the treasury and the courts. Later the senate rejected an amendment offered by King of Utah which would have granted independence to the Philippines, and debated another proposal to levy tariffs on imports from the Philippines and return the revenue thus derived to the islands until independence is granted. These proposals really were made for the benefit of the American beet sugar growers and domestic producers of vegetable oils.

The strength of the Democratic-radical combine led to forecasts that there would be a deadlock over the tariff bill in conference and that the measure would fall of enactment in the special session. There were those who said this result would not be entirely displeasing to the President and that the administration would not favor the revival of the bill in the regular session of congress.

ALBERT B. FALL, former secretary of the interior, appeared in Washington for his trial on bribery charges connected with the oil scandals, and refused to ask a continuance on account of his exceedingly poor health. But before the taking of testimony began he collapsed and a recess was ordered. The court designated Dr. Sterling Ruffin to examine him, but Fall refused to receive the specialist, explaining his action was on purely personal grounds and that Doctor Ruffin was the only physician in the country whom he would not permit to examine him.

THREE more loans were authorized by the federal farm board. The Florida Citrus exchange is to get a facilities loan of $2,500,000; and the Tennessee Cotton Growers' association and the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative association receive supplemental loans of $250,000 and $500,000 respectively. The advance to the Florida Citrus exchange will be secured by first mortgage on packing plants of local units.

REPORTS from India say that Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan, has been captured by the forces of Nadir Khan and that Habibullah Khan, otherwise Bacha Sakao, had fled by airplane. Evidently the story of the usurper king's assassination two weeks ago was at least premature. The troops of Nadir's brother are said to have scattered Habibullah's army and to have entered the capital, the inhabitants taking refuge in the hills.

SENATOR MORRIS SHEPPARD of Texas has put forward a proposal to amend the Volstead act so as to make the purchase of liquor a crime, as well as the sale of it. But the idea is meeting with strenuous objections not only from the wets but also from many of the dry leaders. Some thought it would nullify the whole scheme of prohibition, and others, like Senator Norris, chairman of the judiciary committee, held that it might completely break down prohibition enforcement. Mr. Norris said the plan, if adopted, would prevent 95 per cent of the prosecutions in prohibition cases, for in fully that number the testimony of buyers must be relied on for convictions. Senator Hawes of Missouri, a wet, said: "The matter of 'purchase' purposely was omitted from the Eighteenth amendment, and if it is to be brought up now the proper method would be by the submission of another constitutional amendment."

PREPARATIONS were completed for the investigation of lobbies operating in Washington by the senate. The subcommittee of the judiciary committee, which is to conduct the hearings, was named, as follows: Caraway of Arkansas, chairman; Borah of Idaho, Robinson of Arkansas, Blaine of Wisconsin and Walsh of Montana. Thus the inquiry is dominated by radicals, dregs and pacifists and it is expected to go especially hard for the eastern high tariff interests, the big navy and other preparedness organizations and the wet associations. The tariff lobby was scheduled for first attention. Probably the hearings will last through the winter.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR delegates opened their annual convention in Toronto with President William Green in the chair. The most interesting event of the week was the start of an attempt to bring the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen back into the federation. Albert Whitney, chief of the brotherhood, was loudly cheered when he told the convention he saw no reason for the brotherhood to remain separated from the rest of the labor movement and that he intended to ask the lodges of the order immediately to vote on a proposal to affiliate.

For four days New York's supply of fresh fruits and vegetables was seriously curtailed by a strike of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union, and freight yards and piers were jammed with rotting produce worth millions of dollars. The strike was called off when the Market Truckmen's association agreed to accept one of two propositions made by the union. The men were to get either more wages or shorter hours.

The workers' week has gone into effect in Soviet Russia and is said to be creating distressing confusion in industry.

DIEUONNE COSTE and Maurice Bellonte, French aviators who started eastward from Paris for an endurance flight and were thought to have been lost in the wilds of Siberia, turned up in Manchuria near the Mongolian border, 4,848 miles from their starting point, breaking the world's straight line distance record. It took them about a week of foot travel to reach a place where they could get in communication with the outside world.

Colonel Lindbergh, with Mrs. Lindbergh and two archeologists, spent several days flying over the jungles of Yucatan, Guatemala and British Honduras. Their purpose was to explore unknown regions in the search for ancient Maya cities, and they were successful in discovering several extensive ruins not heretofore known. The Lindberghs then flew from Belize to Miami, Fla.

FEDERAL inquiry into liquor and vice conditions in northern Indiana has resulted in hundreds of indictments and arrests. Among the accused are the mayor of East Chicago and many police officers of towns in the northwest corner of the state. The charges include violations of the liquor, white slave, narcotic and auto theft laws.

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT arrived in San Juan, Porto Rico, and was immediately inaugurated governor of the island. The ceremonies took place in the new capitol building, and the governor was then escorted by a parade to La Fortaleza, the ancient building that will be his official residence.

Community Building

Trend to Beautification of National Highways

The highways have become America's playground, where millions of motorists spend their leisure hours in search of restfulness, beauty and charm. The necessity and demand for combining beauty with utility has become more pronounced with the growth of tourist traffic in recent years.

The application of purely utilitarian standards in highways construction meets engineering and economic requirements, but the motorist who seeks recreation in his automobile is cheated out of the natural beauty which belongs to him, the American Motorists' association declares.

There is a growing and insistent demand for beautification of national highways. California, Massachusetts and Connecticut have demonstrated how much can be done, at small cost, to beautify the roadsides by judicious planting of native trees, shrubs and perennial flowers.

Congress already has recognized the need for highway beautification by authorizing expenditure of federal funds, in co-operation with the states, for roadside tree planting. This law was approved May 21, 1928, more than a year ago, but to date the bureau of public roads, which has charge of the fund, has not been asked to authorize an expenditure or to co-operate in a single roadside planting project.

No Need to Sacrifice All Beauty for Utility

When our ancestors came to this continent they found it covered with the forest primeval, a spectacle whose beauty will never again be looked upon by human eyes. Civilization leveled the forests to make way for homes. That was unavoidable. Cities sprang up. They kept their trees until traffic congestion necessitated their removal. The greater part of the natural beauty one finds en route today is along the waysides beyond corporate limits. The preservation of this beauty is essential to the preservation of the love of the beautiful in the nation, with its refining and humanizing influences. Gas stations and hot-dog stands may be necessary to feed motorists and motorists on the highway; but even they can be made attractive externally.—Detroit Free Press.

Appearance Important

Regardless of how attractive the interior of a house may be, it is generally judged by the prospective buyer from its exterior appearance, and very often well-constructed houses, containing every imaginable feature as an inducement, are drugs on the market, simply because the builder gave little thought to the outside. Generally speaking, the builder gives a great deal of attention to exterior details. With the keen competition in the dwelling field, the operative builder must be on his toes constantly, lest he wake up some morning and find that his operation which he thought was just right is not appealing to the buying public, which is not the same type that was so common ten years ago.

Proper Care of Lawn

Begin to mow the lawn when the new grass is about three to four inches high. From then on, mow the lawn regularly, keeping it mowed to a height of two inches.

Mow frequently enough so that the clippings are short and may be left on the lawn. They dry up and settle around the root where they decay and form humus. If they are long they must be raked off, as heavy clippings left on the lawn smother the grass. Particular care must be taken not to leave long clippings on the lawn in wet weather.

Citizens Asked to Help

The park commission, named by the town council of Federalsburg, Md., to develop and beautify the municipal park grounds, donated to the town by Major T. H. Chambers, issued a general call for men with axes, saws, wagons and a willingness to work in an effort to have the 18 acres of ground, part of which is woodland, cleared ready for further beautifying and future use. The commission has planned for a roofed space for community gatherings and a swimming pool, with space for tennis courts and possibly a baseball field.

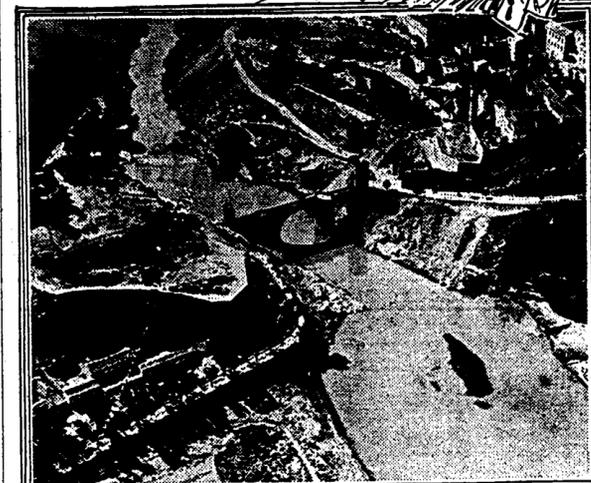

Aims to Clean Streets

A non-partisan organization, called the Clean Streets by Clean Methods club, has been formed in New York city to keep the streets clear of the litter of papers, etc., that the public throws about. About 500 citizens have joined, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Arthur Claflin, Mrs. Kent Cooper, Mrs. Charles Austin Bryant, and Miss Adelaide Stedman.

Build Home Wisely

One home in a lifetime is about all the average man builds. For that reason he should be certain that it is well built and of materials that will last. For reasons of economy he should be equally certain that his home is assured all the qualities of permanence that make for saving in maintenance costs and delay in deterioration.

Three Spanish Cities

Air View of Part of Toledo, Showing Tagus River Bridge.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

THE regional character of Spain can be glimpsed by visits to several of her outstanding cities. Toledo, in the central part of the peninsula, is venerable with age. It is asserted, variously, that Hercules; Tubal, grandson of Noah; and Jews who fled from Nebuchadnezzar, had a hand in shaping its early destiny. The city occupies the crest of a hill rising nearly 200 feet from the Tagus. It is 47 miles southwest of Madrid. When the catapult was the modern engine of war, it was almost impregnable. The Tagus formed an admirable moat on the south, east and west sides; and the neck of land on the north stretching toward a fertile plain, was protected by the plurality of walls that surrounded the city.

It is difficult to imagine that within less than two hours' train ride from the Spanish capital, there is a city with marked oriental appearance. The Puente de Alcantara, the principal gateway to Toledo on the east, is of Moorish design with massive high towers at each end. It was built in the Thirteenth century.

From the time one steps upon this bridge, until the river is recrossed by way of Puente de San Martin, dating back fifty years earlier than the Puente de Alcantara, the many relics and ruins of medieval days in Toledo give a flavor of Palestine and Arabia, with a touch of French Gothic here and there.

High above the Alcantara, looms the Alcazar, a large rectangular stone structure that was once a castle, but is used now as a military school. It occupies the highest point of Toledo.

The road approaching the city from the bridge winds around the hill past the Hospital de Santa Cruz, a Fifteenth century building, and then through a Moorish archway that was nearly 400 years old when Columbus discovered America. It leads to the public square which still retains its Moorish name—the Zocodover.

A few blocks away toward the middle of the city, the lofty but graceful tower of Toledo cathedral rises above the rooftops. Unfortunately, there is no cathedral close. The narrow, winding streets, bordered by unattractive buildings do not permit a full view of the edifice. It is a splendid example of French-Gothic architecture with carved monuments, stained glass and tracery work comparable to that of other European cathedrals. It covers about the same area as that of Cologne cathedral and took 206 years to build. The foundation stone was laid in 1227.

Malaga, Southern Seaport. Somewhat different from Toledo is Malaga, seaport of the south, which is off the route of the majority of seasoned European travelers. This ancient and famous seaport is not remote—it won prestige in earlier times by the frequent sailings from its harbor to England, France and Italy. It still does a considerable export business to those countries and far more distant places. But it seems to renounce tourists to retain its traditions.

Its white houses glisten in a seldom failing sunshine on the blue Mediterranean, and a rampart of hills helps keep its temperature equable and dry. These qualities have made it a rendezvous for a few sufferers from heart and lung troubles; but its aridity is hard on nervous patients. Indeed, at certain seasons, it is averred, courts of justice recognize the weather conditions as an extenuating circumstance in crime.

Malaga grows her famous grapes for raisins and wine, and gardens to the west of the city yield an amazing volume of melons, almonds, pomegranates and olives.

Today's Malaga is a direct contrast to its Moorish magnificence. It is quaint and interesting, but simplicity prevails. There is little formal entertainment, theaters are rather indifferent, the bull-ring, on a Sunday afternoon, offers the week's gala event. Romance lives in the event courtship scenes, where swains thrum their guitars to win a smile and a chat with fair maids guarded by iron bars.

Two principal indulgences of the Malaga man are cigarettes and sweetmeats. There are no rules against smoking on Malaga street cars, even if the doors and windows are closed, and there is no prejudice against a man walking through the streets, or sitting at the bull fight arena, nibbling at some dainty confection. Sweetmeat shops abound. And also donkeys. The affection which the American lavishes upon horse or dog, the Andalusian lavishes upon his donkey. Donkeys and sweetmeats are not wholly unrelated. On a stroll through Malaga's outskirts one may see scores of donkey carts and donkey noses, which is about all of the animals which project beyond the loads of brushwood they convey to the bakeries.

Valencia del Cid.

The intensive agriculture of its environs colors the life of Valencia, our third sample city, situated on the Mediterranean sea midway down the eastern coast of Spain. Irrigated orchards that are more like gardens than groves still mark Valencia's countryside away from the busy hubbub of the port. "The scent bottle of Andalus" the Moors called it. Spaniards know their city of 256,000 people as "Valencia del Cid." Thus do they surrender the city once more to the Cid, a Robin Hood bandit, who is quite lovable at a distance of nine centuries.

A practice in harmony with the old Valencia can be witnessed every Thursday morning at ten o'clock before the Door of the Apostles, main entrance to the five-hundred-year-old cathedral. Here meets the Tribunal de las Aguas, the Court of the Waters. The Tribunal's court room is the pavement, open to the blue sky, and has been for five centuries. The judges' bench is a sofa, upholstered in green. It appears from some mysterious hiding place. Following the judges' sofa comes the bar of justice, a portable iron railing. And in due course seven judges. But how can these men judge? They have no long black cloaks. They have no wigs like the English judges. They have not professionally serious faces. They are dressed like peasants. In Sunday black with black felt hats. Indeed, they are ordinary peasants elected by the peasant water users of the Huerta or gardens of Valencia's countryside.

Dazzling light plays upon Valencia's varicolored domes and towers, of color which adorns the canvas of Valencia's Sorolla. The making of these tiles is a Valencian industry which contributes to the chromatic character of other Spanish cities.

Valencia's cathedral has been spoiled somewhat by "restorations" but the campanile where the Cid took his bride to view the conquered land still offers the visitor a marvelous panorama of fertile and highly cultivated plains.

The bells of this tower give life to the plains around. Their hourly peals tell the time when each tiller of the soil may open the gates of irrigation channels to release the waters for his parched land.

Paid in Fish Hooks

An island on which an able-bodied man is satisfied with five fishhooks for a day's work and a large ax for a fortnight's work, is described in a British Colonial report just issued. This spot is Rennell island, one of the least known of the Pacific islands, which was recently the subject of a geological survey. The inhabitants of the island are estimated to number at least 700 and are still untouched by white influence. They are described as "objectively poor" and practically vegetarians.

Sparsely Settled

Edinburgh, the only settlement on the island of Tristan da Cunha, is about one hundred thirteen years old. It was named for the duke of Edinburgh.

Fairy Tale for the Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"It is getting colder," said Mother Polar. "But when my children were young last year it was really nice and icy."

"They didn't mind the cold. I kept them comfortable at first and then they went into the icy water, and loved it, the precious Polar dears."

"Of course when it's winter where the people live they bundle up and shiver."

"They have great enormous fires burning and they live in houses and buildings and apartments that are heated so that we would probably shrivel right up and die should we ever get in one."

"We never will though, will we?" asked a young Polar bear.

"No, we'll never be invited in or taken in I'm thankful to say, but I hear all this news from those who are called explorers who come to this land."

"I've escaped them too I'm thankful to say."

"They called it cold here this summer. Ha, ha, that's a good joke."

"But now, I am thankful to say it is getting colder."

"They say that when our cousins in the zoo go into the icy ponds given to them in their dens that the people shiver and draw their furs more closely around themselves."

"They cannot understand our cousins at all. They could never understand us."

"Well," said the young polars, "they do not know enough to enjoy lovely cold weather."

"Just the trouble with them," said Mother Polar. "They only go in swimming when it is hot in the summer and then they wear funny bathing suits I've heard."

"Now we go right in just as we are

"It Wouldn't Be Our Sort of Weather."

at all times of the year. We don't fuss about our swimming."

"We take to it so naturally."

"When it is hot I've heard that the zoo keepers give our cousins pieces of ice but oh, they melt so quickly in their hot weather."

"It wouldn't be our sort of weather," said the young polars.

"It will never be hot here as it is there," said Mother Polar. "We will always have cold weather."

"It is so gorgeous in our part of the world where it is always lovely and cold, and where there is always plenty of ice, glorious cooling ice, beautiful cold ice, delightful solid ice."

So the Polar Bears talked, and they were happy for the weather was growing still colder and they knew it would soon be really winter.

How they waved their heads and lifted them to every cold breeze, every bit of icy weather.

Beautiful cold weather! How they loved it.

Lovely cold weather! How they adored it.

(© 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

Calf's Tongue Cooked in Casserole

Calf's tongue is one of the "small meats" especially palatable if cooked in a casserole with sliced vegetables, as suggested in this recipe from the bureau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Casserole of Calf's Tongue.

1 calf's tongue	1/2 cup sliced green peppers
1/4 cup butter	1 1/2 tsp. salt
2 1/2 cups sliced carrots	3 cups hot water
2 cups sliced onion	1/4 tsp. pepper
1 cup sliced celery	1/4 cup stuffed olives sliced thin

Cover the tongue with water, bring to the boiling point, and simmer for about ten minutes. Drain and remove the skin and gristle and place the skinned tongue in a large casserole. Melt the fat in a large skillet and add all the vegetables except the olives, and cook until lightly browned and somewhat dry, stirring constantly. Season with the salt and pepper, put the vegetables over and around the tongue in the casserole, and add the hot water. Cover the casserole and bake in a fairly hot oven for about one hour, or until the tongue is tender. Remove the cover and put the olives over the top of the tongue and vegetables and serve.

Do Not Use Enough Milk

To increase the demand for dairy products seems to be one of the most feasible methods of advancing the dairy business. It is believed by specialists that, on the average, the American people do not consume more than about half the fluid whole milk necessary to the maintenance of the highest degree of health. If organized dairymen could educate the public to the values of the greater quantity of milk in the diet it would open up a large field for dairy expansion.

Spineless

The perennial outcry as to the abuses of the tipping system is another evidence of the growing habit of waiting for the government to do by law what the public can do by common consent.—Toronto Globe.

Mankind's Plain Duty

We live in a world which is full of misery and ignorance, and the plain duty of each and all of us is to make the little corner we can influence somewhat less miserable and somewhat less ignorant than it was before we entered it.—Thomas Huxley.

Uses for a Casserole

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Meat and poultry that requires long slow cooking is especially tasty when baked and served in a casserole. The oven heat throughout the cooking period may be fairly low. From 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit is a good oven temperature for casserole cooking. All the extractives and juices of the meat are retained in the gravy in the dish, and the steam from this liquid enclosed under the tight lid helps to make the muscles of the meat tender. The best results are usually obtained by adding relatively little water. At the time of adding raw vegetables do not add water, as sufficient moisture will cook out of them. The flavor of any seasoning used—tomatoes, onions, celery, and other vegetables, as well as condiments—will penetrate the entire dish.

Still another advantage of cooking in a casserole is that extra dishwashing is eliminated. There is no baking pan to dispose of after the meal. The casserole goes directly to the table. If vegetables are cooked with the meat, serving dishes are eliminated. As most casserole foods are cut into individual portions for quicker cooking, no carving is done nor are carving implements needed.

The busy housekeeper appreciates the casserole because after the food is once put in it, very little further attention is necessary. For an hour and a half or two hours she is free to attend to other things. She may precook the meat in the casserole early in the day, and as she can easily reheat it at dinner time in the same dish, she can go out for the entire day if she wishes. Foods served from a casserole remain hot at the table longer than those spread out on a platter.

Brown stew of beef, Hungarian goulash, pot roast and many other slowly-cooked meats may be prepared in a casserole. Advantage may thus be taken of the fact that the oven is in use for something else, to plan a casserole dinner. Chicken is perhaps most often served in this way. This method of cooking by slow moist heat, blending with other flavors, makes it possible to serve many an old tough bird palatably, the bureau of home economics points out. Rabbits are cooked in most of the ways chicken is cooked, and a casserole rabbit is always excellent. A slice of ham can be laid in a casserole, covered with tomatoes and cooked until it is deliciously tender.

Preparing a Casserole Dish, Using a Glass Casserole.

Some Favorite Beverages

By NELLIE MAXWELL

For those who like the flavor of ginger, this will be a most enjoyable drink:

Ginger Sorbet.
—Chop one-half pound of ginger fine, add it to two quarts of water and two cupfuls of sugar and boil fifteen minutes. Cool and add more iced water to make ten cupfuls of liquid. Add the juice of four oranges, one cupful of lemon juice and serve with crushed ice. Fill the glasses half full and add the sorbet.

Special Punch.—Put into a chilled punch bowl one cupful of granulated sugar and the juice of six lemons. Stir to dissolve the sugar, and add a little ice to stand until serving time. Then add three peeled lemons sliced very thin, one quart of cracked ice and pour in one or two bottles of mineral water and the same amount of ginger ale. Stir and serve in glasses.

Japanese Skillet Cake.—Melt one-half cupful of butter in a hot iron skillet. Add one cupful of brown sugar, stir until melted. On this place one cupful each of pineapple and peach meats.

Take one cupful of cake flour, previously sifted, add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one tablespoonful of melted butter or other shortening, one teaspoonful of vanilla, the yolks of four eggs beaten well, one cupful of sugar and the egg whites beaten stiffly. Combine as usual, adding the egg whites at the last. Pour over the mixture in the skillet and bake in a moderate oven an hour. Loosen the cake from the sides of the skillet and serve upside down. Garnish with whipped cream.

Tea Punch.—Pour two quarts of boiling water over a teaspoonful of tea. In the meantime have the juice and peelings of three lemons and one orange in a pitcher. When the tea has steeped five minutes, strain through a fine strainer into the pitcher. Add one cupful of sugar and cool. At serving time put into glasses with plenty of ice.

Vienna Chocolate.—Mix three heaping tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate with cold water. Pour into a double boiler with four cupfuls of boiling milk. Add sugar to taste and let cook five minutes. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth and put into the chocolate pot, pour the hot chocolate over the eggs and add a teaspoonful of vanilla, stir constantly until well mixed. This may be served chilled as a cold drink.

No matter how well ordered a household may be, there are always contingencies unprovided for in the most efficient housekeeping schedules. The motto seen on many business men's desks is a good one for all housekeepers to have over their desks, too—"Do it now."

The seam of a cushion rips, a streak appears on the polished table or mirror, it takes but a few seconds to attend to some of these trifling things, but allow them to accumulate and weary hours must be taken to restore order.

If a grease spot appears on a gown when one is away from the cleaning fluid bottle, just dash on a liberal supply of talcum powder and lay away for a day and the spot will have disappeared.

A stitch in time is surely a great saver of time and energy. These allowed-to-accumulate soiled things become more soiled, require twice the effort to put them to rights again.

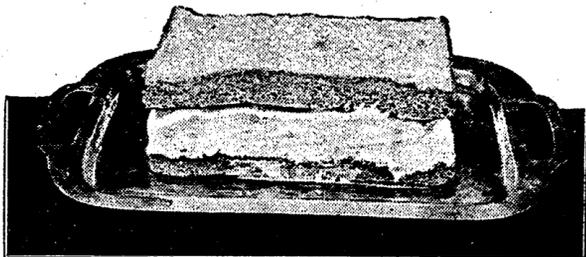

Here is a conserve that may be made at any time of the year and is especially good. Those who spend winters in the South where jellies and jams from home are longed for will enjoy adding this to their note books, and make a few jars this winter to serve when hungry for a sweet of this kind.

Pineapple and Apricot Conserve.—Take one pound of apricots, dry ones, soak overnight, and in the morning put through the meat grinder. Use just enough water to cover and well soak them, then use it to add to the conserve. Add one can of shredded pineapple and four cupfuls of sugar. Cook until thick. Pour into glasses and seal with paraffin.

(© 1929 Western Newspaper Union.)

Pennsylvania's Many Trees
Pennsylvania is said to have 110 different kinds of native trees in its forests. All Europe has but 40 varieties of trees.

Ice Cream Sandwich Dessert

Ice Cream Sandwich Served as Dessert.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Ice cream need not always be served in the same ways—sliced from a brick, or dipped up by the spoonful. Borrow a suggestion from the caterer and treat the family to an "ice cream sandwich" once in a while. As it's a dessert, the substantial part of the sandwich is appropriately made of cake—sponge cake, or angel food. Make the sponge cake by your own preferred recipe, or by the one herewith, given by the bureau of home economics. Bake it in a square or oblong pan, in a layer thick enough to split horizontally with a sharp knife when you are ready to combine it with the ice cream. Use any flavor of ice cream you like to put between the layers. One large "sandwich" on a platter makes an attractive dessert when it comes to the table, or you may find it more convenient to cut the cake into individual portions or to bake it in muffin rings and fill each one separately with the ice cream.

Other variations are easily made. Chocolate, butterscotch, or fruit sauce may be served with the "ice cream sandwich," or whipped cream, sweetened and flavored. Any form of ice cream sandwich should be put together just before being served. If in one cake on a platter it should be cut with a thin, sharp, broad-bladed knife.

Sponge Cake.

4 eggs	1 tsp. baking powder.
1 cup sugar	1/4 tsp. salt
3 tbs. cold water	1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sifted soft-wheat flour	1/4 tsp. lemon juice

Separate the egg yolks from the whites and beat the yolks well. Gradually beat in the sugar. Add three tablespoonfuls of water and continue the beating until the mixture is very thick and light. Sift the dry ingredients together and then fold them into the egg and sugar mixture. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, and add the coloring. Grease a shallow pan slightly, pour in the cake batter, and bake from 45 to 50 minutes in a moderate oven at the temperature of 325 degrees Fahrenheit.

One-Piece Street Dress Popular

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

A novelty woven which glistens with rayon interweavings is especially recommended for the making of the modish frock for general daytime wear. It is one of these attractive rayon-wool cloths which serves as the medium for the genteel mode in the picture, the rayon and wool being interworked in an etamine weave.

Note how eminently up to the demand of fashion is this costume, even to its slightest detail. It suggests the new molded-to-the-form slenderizing lines which are being stressed for the future. Because of the carefully positioned side plaits the hemline flares very properly, as it should. The sleeves display novel and effective treatment at the wrists, while the vestee at the front opening exploits a popular style-formula for this season. The scarf, which hints at a cape because of its circular-cut, also answers to the call of the mode.

In the current catalogue of fabrics the name rayon appears as frequently and as importantly as silk, wool, cotton or linen. One of the most interesting and deserving-of-mention new rayon manifestations is a series of weaves which have every appearance of handsome wool. The thought which intrigues the practical woman in connection with these marvelous rayon suitings and dress materials, which look so wool-like only an expert can detect the difference, is the fact that they actually launder as perfectly as cotton or linen. Fabric-wise couturiers and dressmakers at home and abroad are using these washable to-all-appearances-wool rayons with utmost success for the making of many of their niftiest suits and ensembles as well.

Rumor has it in regard to the one-piece street dress which is outstanding for immediate wear, that later it is to be topped with an extremely modish short fur jacket.

(© 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

Come what may in the wake of the present sensational crush of elaborated fashions into the style-picture, the prestige of the smartly but simply made one-piece street dress remains unchallenged. As a matter of fact the really swagger thing to wear about town is the tailored or, rather, semi-tailored one-piece gown of some one or other of the delightful new lightweight woollens such as are so widely heralded throughout fashion's realm.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia!

When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescriptive product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

PHILLIPS Milk of Magnesia

It is pleasanter to make a friend of an enemy than to overcome him as an enemy.

Cash for Inventions

If you have a good patent or pending patent for sale, write promptly American Patents Corporation, Dept. 7, Barrister Building, Washington, D. C.—Adv.

Independence comes with income.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Scanty or Too Frequent Excretions Demand Prompt Attention.

KIDNEY disorders are too serious to ignore. It pays to heed the early signals. Scanty, burning or too frequent kidney excretions; a drowsy, listless feeling; lameness, stiffness and constant backache are timely warnings.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Doan's Pills. Endorsed by users everywhere.

DOAN'S PILLS

A Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Before and After Childbirth

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my first baby was born and I am taking it now for my weakened condition after the birth of my second boy. Although I never have put on any flesh I am feeling good now and the Vegetable Compound has helped me in every way. It is surely a wonderful medicine and I will be glad to answer letters for I recommend it highly."—Mrs. Fred W. Davey, Madison, Kansas.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

PARKER'S HAIR BALM
Restores Dandruff-stopped Hair Falling
Restores Color and
Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
Grows New Hair at Drop of
Balm (Chas. Parker, Inc., Boston, U. S. A.)

FLORESTON SHAMPOO—Ideal for use in connection with Parker's Hair Balm. Makes the hair soft and silky. 50 cents by mail or at drug stores. H. H. Chemical Works, Patuxent, N. C.

C. F. Butterfield

SPECIAL

Look At Our
MEN'S SWEATERS
 For $1.50

SPECIAL -- IN -- BLANKETS

Purchased in large quantity with our Brattleboro Store to secure for you a special value.

Part Wool, Size 66x80, suitable for any size bed, weigh 3½ pounds; body in white, banded all over in any color desired, bound on the ends with three inch sateen binding. Pair for $3.98

Other Blankets in Pairs $2.00 to $5.75

Fancy Single Blankets, all over designs Indian Blanket Patterns or geometric designs, fine for day beds, couches or extra blankets for regular beds $3.50 to $6.50

Army Blankets, All wool 63x90, 4½ lb. $3.50

Mail orders will be filled at the same price, we paying the postage charge, in ordering state your choice of color.

If you cannot call, write or telephone 154-W

EMERSON & SON, Milford

SAVE MONEY

Ownership of a Pontiac Big Six is an experience in economy. True, most people choose Pontiac, not because it is so inexpensive, but because of the many big car-advantages which it provides. But it is a fact that with a Pontiac you actually save money. You save—

When you buy . . . When you drive . . . When you trade it in

You save when you buy a Pontiac because it is the lowest-priced car ever produced which offers so many advantages. You save when you drive because, according to a large corporation which employed 996 cars of 33 different makes during 1928, Pontiac costs one cent less per mile to operate than any other low-priced six. You save when you trade it in because the demand for used Pontiacs has always exceeded the available supply. Come in to see and drive the car which offers all these advantages.

Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $895, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and lower body also included. Regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Delivered price delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

BENNINGTON GARAGE, Bennington, N. H.

PONTIAC

BIG SIX $745

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

The Antrim Reporter
 Published Every Wednesday Afternoon

Subscription Price, $2.00 per year
 Advertising Rates on Application
 H. W. ELDREDGE, PUBLISHER
 H. B. ELDREDGE, ASSISTANT

Wednesday, Oct. 23, 1929

Long Distance Telephone
 Notices of Concerts, Lectures, Entertainments, etc., to which an admission fee is charged, or from which a Revenue is derived, must be paid for as advertisements by the line.

Cards of Thanks are inserted at 50c. each.
 Resolutions of ordinary length $1.00.
 Obituary poetry and lists of flowers charged for at advertising rates; also will be charged at this same rate list of presents at a wedding.

Foreign Advertising Representative
 THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Entered at the Post-office at Antrim, N. H., as second-class matter.

"It Stands Between Humanity and Oppression!"

Antrim Locals

Mrs. Matilda A. Barrett is visiting relatives in Everett, Mass., and other cities near Boston.

Mrs. Emma Burnham, of Manchester, is spending a few days with relatives and friends in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lamphrey, of Laconia, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie N. Nay.

A. Wallace George is confined to his home on West street by illness, has been quite sick with pneumonia.

FARMS—And Village Property for sale. Carl Johnson, Real Estate Agent, Hillsboro, N. H. Adv. 11

Several members of the local D. A. R. chapter attended a luncheon to special guests in Concord one day last week.

Miss Winifred Cochrane, a teacher in the Reading, Mass., schools, was visiting friends in town for two days the past week.

Miss Elizabeth Tibbals, a student at Howard Seminary, West Bridgewater, Mass., was a week-end guest at her home here.

Mrs. George Appleton, of Manchester, is spending a season with relatives and friends in this place, where she formerly resided.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker and son, David, from Providence, R. I., were Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Parker.

The date of the opening of Anna's Convenience Shoppe, on Elm street, is Wednesday, October 30. Read the advertisement on our first page today.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Whittemore are soon to remove their household goods to the George Dresser house, on West street, and occupy it as a home.

Born, at Peterborough hospital, October 21, a son, William Donald, to Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Cram, of this place, and grand-son to Mrs. William E. Cram.

The annual meeting of the Antrim Citizen's Association will be held in Library hall on Friday evening, November 1, at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

Lost—White Esquimo Dog; long hair; answers to name of Twist; registry number 4; reward offered. Any information will be gladly received by Mrs. A. W. Locke, Antrim. Adv.

Children taking part in the Rally Day program at the Presbyterian-Methodist Sunday school were entertained at a Hallowe'en frolic on Saturday afternoon. The hostess was Mrs. Arthur N. Harriman, ably assisted by her "willing workers," also by Mrs. Butterfield and Mrs. Miner. The Presbyterian vestry was decorated for the occasion, the tables prettily arranged with orange and black crepe paper, not forgetting the place cards and favors. Special features of the afternoon were the Spooky March, Hallowe'en Whirl, and a farce, Old Mother Red Cap's Mill, followed by new Hallowe'en games. Refreshments of ice cream, cakes, cookies, apples and candy, were served.

Bring In Your Apples

We are ready to receive Apples for Pressing.
 Wilde's Cider Mill,
 Hancock, N. H.

Muzzey's Furniture Exchange—Second-hand Furniture bought and sold. Lot of good goods on hand at present time. H. Carl Muzzey, Antrim, N. H. Phone 37-3. Adv.

Moving Pictures!

MAJESTIC THEATRE
 Town Hall, Antrim

Wednesday, Oct. 23
Heart to Heart
 with Mary Astor and
 Lloyd Hughs

Pathe Weekly Pictures at 8.00
 W. A. NICHOLS, Mgr.

Antrim Locals

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Poor made an auto trip to Maine and Massachusetts last week.

Miss Ella Putnam has been entertaining her friends, Miss Helen Colby, of Bethlehem.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hurlin entertained guests from Massachusetts over a recent week end.

In the news item in the Reporter last week, mentioning the purchase of the Forsaith residence, it should have stated in addition that Mr. Clark had also purchased the store property adjoining.

The Corlew family has practically closed Contocook Manor for the season, although members of the family will occasionally be there till cold or winter weather makes its appearance in earnest.

In addition to the delegate from Molly Aiken Chapter, to attend the D. A. R. state convention last week at Portsmouth, Mrs. Howard Hawkins, these members also attended: Mrs. E. E. Smith, Mrs. H. A. Hurlin, Mrs. G. W. Hunt, Mrs. D. H. Robinson and Mrs. T. C. Chaffee.

A goodly number of members of the Masonic fraternity from this town attended a meeting of Aurora Lodge of Masons, in Henniker, on Friday evening last. The occasion was the conferring of the third degree on a gentleman well known to all our people—Max Israel. A large gathering was present from a number of adjoining towns.

The family of George Smith has removed from town and we are told are now residing in Brentwood, this state.

Mrs. Mary P. Derby, who has spent the summer in Antrim, has returned to her winter apartment in West Somerville, Mass.

AVOID NORTHERN WINTERS. Buy this twelve acre Florida Place on paved highway, convenient to everything, four-room bungalow, garage, henhouse. Land all cleared, rich soil, price $2200. $300 cash, balance easy terms. Chas. G. Woodbridge Co., 77 Central Ave., Lynn, Mass. adv.

There will be a Dance at Grange hall, Antrim, next Friday evening, October 25. Music by Majestic orchestra. Come and have a good time!

Mrs. W. L. Harlow and Miss Nancy Harlow, of Hampton, this state, are guests of the Munhall sisters, at Merrybrook Farm, for a season.

The Reporter has received a supply of the Session Laws of the last Legislature, in pamphlet form, and Town Clerk Butterfield also has a small supply. These are for distribution among those who have use for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Goodell, who have been spending a season in town where they resided for many years, started on their return trip to Santa Barbara, California, on Monday morning. They will make a few stop-overs and side-trips en route, expecting to reach their home on the Pacific coast about the last day of the present month.

Herbert Rogers

Who has for some thirty years resided in Antrim and most of the time at the Center, and was well and favorably known by our people, died Sunday night at the County General hospital, at Grassmere, after a lingering illness, at the age of 74 years. He was a native of New Boston. Besides his widow, Mrs. Myrtle Rogers, residing at the Center, he is survived by two sons, James and Herbert Rogers, living in Goffstown; one brother, William Rogers, of New Boston; one sister, Mrs. Sara Patterson, of Waltham, Mass.

The funeral services will be held at the Center church on Wednesday afternoon (today) at 1.30 o'clock.

For Sale

Having put in hot water heating, I wish to sell my Sunbeam Heater, which has been but little used and in perfect condition.

Mrs. Gertrude Robinson,
 Antrim, N. H.

Those who know about such things say that the drastic changes in feminine styles will mean a complete change of outfit for every woman. The correct thing in men's wear will be a look of dumb agony.

Blankets

Time for fresh, clean blankets for the cold winter nights that are now close upon us.

Rugs

Frequent washing prolongs the life of rugs. Our method restores much of their original brightness.

Phone 33-4

Hillsboro Steam Laundry

AUCTION

Bills, Dance Posters, and Poster Printing of every kind and size at right prices at this office. We deliver them at short notice, clearly printed, free from errors, and deliver them express paid.

Notice of every Ball or Auction inserted in this paper free of charge, and many times the notice alone is worth more than the cost of the bills.

Mail or Telephone Orders receive our prompt attention Send your orders to

The Reporter Office,
 ANTRIM, N. H.

FUNERAL SERVICES

Conducted with all modern equipment in a refined and efficient manner

"At Your Own Prices"

WE MERELY SERVE YOU

CURRIER & WOODBURY
 MORTICIANS

Hillsboro and Antrim, New Hampshire
 Phone 71-8

Use of Non-Sectarian Funeral Home and Consultation or Advice -- -- FREE!

balance of 1929 free

to all New Subscribers to the

Antrim Reporter

receipts will read January 1, 1931 thus receiving the remaining issues of the present year free.

Send us a two dollar bill—new or old issue we don't mind—or you may send check or money order, as you like, and we'll promptly send you a receipt to January 1, 1931, and mail to your address every week a copy of this paper

Moving Pictures!
DREAMLAND THEATRE
 Town Hall, Bennington
 at 8.00 o'clock
Saturday, Oct. 26
Red Skin
 with Richard Dix

Bennington.

Congregational Church
 Rev. Stephen S. Wood, Pastor
 Sunday School 12 m.
 Preaching service at 10.45 a.m.
 Christian Endeavor at 6 p.m.

Miss Marion Diamond was at home from Keene Normal school over the week end.

Miss Rachel Wilson is at home for a short time, from the Deaconess hospital, Boston, Mass.

At the Grange, on Tuesday night, Deputy Boynton, of Jaffrey, was here and the third and fourth degrees with two new members initiated were exemplified; supper was served.

The fire company was called out on Sunday evening, between 7.30 and 8 o'clock, to extinguish a fire at Wm. Harrington's home, at South Bennington. The family was away, but it proved to be only a chimney fire and was quickly put out.

The card party at S. of V. hall on Friday night was not very largely attended. Watch for attractive posters announcing one on Friday night of this week. There is a small fee charged, and light lunch served. The proceeds go to the "Department Aide Fund."

Eight members of Auxiliary, No. 1, and three Sons of F. W. Butler Camp, No. 35, visited the Soldiers' Home, at Tilton, on Sunday, with delegations from Nashua, Keene, Troy, Alton, and other places. Entertainment was furnished by the various Auxiliaries, consisting of music, recitations, readings, and a short sketch, entitled "With Baggage," and story-telling. Mrs. Thompson, of Troy, presented the Home with an offering from the Auxiliaries, to which Major Trickey responded in behalf of the Home, and also giving a little talk which might have been called Progress, as seen by one who has known nearly ninety years of the past. All the thoughts expressed were hopeful, with none of the calamity so often heard of in speeches now-a-days; but touched upon the future of religion, education, etc., as being nobly carried on by the present generation and a faith in those to come, rarely noted in one of so vast experience of life. The Home is beautifully situated on a hill-top; flowers were in bloom, the foliage on the hills beautiful, the day perfect; with war only a memory, to the rapidly thinning ranks of the Boys in Blue. Only eight left out of one hundred and ten, a few of the Spanish War and the World War are there.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Magoon of Greenfield, was before Judge Wilson of the local police court and pleaded guilty to setting five traps and having in her possession two trapped muskrats. She was fined $65 and costs of $8.50. Owing to the financial condition of the family the justice placed on file the $60 and fined her $5 and costs, which she paid. This is believed to be the first case in this section where a woman trapper has been brought before the bar of justice. Game Warden Proctor of Wilton made the arrest and put in many long hours before Mrs. Magoon was arrested. The warden thought it was a man doing the trapping so well were the traps set. The complaints of setting on lands without permits, having no marks on the traps and having no license to trap were also placed on file.

New A. L. Officers

At the last regular meeting of the Wm. M. Myers Post, No. 50, A. L., the following officers were elected for the coming year:
 Commander—Robert Nylander
 Vice Commander—L. K. Black
 Adjutant—Lawrence Holmes
 Finance Officer—A. Wallace George
 Sergt. at Arms—Walter Cleary
 Chaplain—Evan Day
 Historian—B. G. Butterfield
 Athletic Officer—Frank Harlow
 Americanism Officer—Don Robinson
 Service Officer—G. D. Tibbetts
 Publicity Officer—B. G. Butterfield
 Executive Committee—A. S. Fuglestad, Lawrence Holmes, B. G. Butterfield, A. J. Zabriskie
 It was voted to hold installation of these officers on Tuesday evening, November 5.
 B. G. Butterfield, Adj.

MICKIE SAYS—

AN AUTOMOBILE WILL RUN TWO WAYS—FORWARD AND BACKWARD. SO WILL YOUR BUSINESS, AND WHEN YOU QUIT ADVERTISING, YOU ARE THROWING IT INTO REVERSE!

Antrim Locals

Antrim friends will be interested in the announcement of a son, born October 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Boyd, of Hillsboro.

For Sale—Two Incubators, one coal burning Brooder, one wooden Brooder, lot Hen Wire; all for $16, if taken at once. Apply to Mrs. T. F. Madden, Antrim.

The annual meeting of the Antrim Citizen's Association will be held in Library hall on Friday evening, November 1, at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

The Grand Patriarch, Walter Maynard, of the Grand Encampment of New Hampshire, of Concord, will pay Mt. Crooked Encampment an official visit at their regular meeting on Monday evening, December 2. Members will remember the date and plan to be present.

Card of Thanks

To Bennington Fire Dept. and others, we wish to publicly thank one and all who assisted us at the time of our recent fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Harrington

CHURCH NOTES

Furnished by the Pastors of the Different Churches

Presbyterian—Methodist Churches
 Rev. William Patterson, Pastor

Thursday, October 24
 Prayer and praise service at 7 p.m. A study in the book of Zephaniah.

Sunday, October 27
 Morning worship at 10.45.
 Bible school at 12 o'clock.

Y.P.S.C.E. will meet at 6 p.m.
 Union Service in this church at 7 o'clock. This will be an illustrated song service and the public is cordially invited to be present.

Baptist
 Rev. R. H. Tibbals, Pastor

Thursday, October 24
 Monthly Workers' conference. Supper will be served at 6.30. Conference will follow immediately. All welcome!

Sunday, October 27
 Morning worship at 10.45. The pastor will preach on "The Way of True Prosperity."

Church school at 12 o'clock.
 Crusaders at 4.30 o'clock.
 Y.P.S.C.E. service at 6 o'clock in the Presbyterian church.

Canned goods for the Home for Missionaries' Children should be in the church kitchen before the end of this month.

Attended Conference

A large delegation of Antrim ladies attended the Conference of the Women's Clubs of the Keene District, held in Marlboro, on Monday, October 21.

Mrs. Alice D. Hurlin, president of the local club, gave a talk on the work of our club for the year.

The program included beside talks by department chairmen, and a brief address by the State Federation President, Mrs. Lucy J. Dickinson, of Keene, two splendid addresses, one on "Modern Poetry," by Mrs. Ethel Jewett Hammond, and one on wild flowers, called "Unappreciated Residents of New Hampshire," by Mrs. Frank Wilkins.

A bountiful lunch was served by the Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., at noon, at the Methodist church.

Those attending from Antrim were: Mrs. Alice D. Hurlin, Mrs. J. Lillian Larrabee, Mrs. Anna Tibbetts, Mrs. Flora Daniels, Mrs. Merna Young and her mother, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Nellie Hills, Mrs. Miriam Roberts, Mrs. Bernice Whittemore and Mrs. Alice G. Nylander.

REPORTER RAMBLINGS

If you're a self-starter, the boss won't have to be a crank.

The first thing a man should get rid of for dress reform is the collar stud.—Dr. A. Jordan.

When you see the driver of a delivery truck backing up, he's probably having another try at the tree he failed to skin.—Buffalo Evening News.

It always sounds funny to hear an able bodied man who hasn't done a good day's work for ten years, kick on the taxes. The ideal system of taxation would be to soak the idler.

Frank Dixon says: "A father told his son, who had just secured his first job that he should lay up something for a rainy day. When he got his first pay check, he brought home a new slicker and put it up on the closet shelf."

When automobiles first came into use there was a considerable number of people who declared that nothing would ever get them into an automobile. We hear the same thing said about airplanes today. The person who has not ridden in an automobile and the same will be true of the airplane. The news stories indicate that this country is becoming air-minded about as rapidly as it became automobile minded.

One hundred and sixty-four aviators were killed in flights in the United States last year. At first glance, that looks as if aviation is a pretty perilous business. Yet, close examination of the figures as tabulated by the aeronautical Chamber of Commerce puts a different aspect on things. Of the 164 deaths, 131 occurred in unlicensed airplanes. Only one air mail pilot lost his life and the air mail flew a total of 1,413,381 miles. More than 97 per cent of the licensed planes flew throughout the year without any fatal accidents. If the plane is standard and the pilot capable, it would seem flying is not so dangerous as it has been painted.

THIS GENERATION

A rather depressing thought is that there is now growing up a generation of which no member knows how it feels to be tapped on top of the bare head with a finger wearing a heavy thimble.

Nowadays the married woman who lives in a flat has not nearly enough necessary work, while her husband has too much. She attempts to make culture take the place of work, while her husband attempts to make work take the place of culture.—Bertrand Russell.

GREENFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Boyle, Jr., were at Sunset Camp over the holiday and week end.

Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Thrasher of York Beach, Me., have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. Cheever.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickerson, of Chatham, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith, of Taunton, Mass., have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Smith.

At the last meeting of the Woman's Club with Mrs. Daisy Perham. It was Michael Angelo Day, and his life and paintings were pleasingly discussed by Mrs. Edna Thomas. There was community singing and Mrs. Edythe Atherton was the "smile maker." Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Daisy Perham, Mrs. Jennie Reynolds and Mrs. Cora Tilton.

FRANCESTOWN

Mrs. E. B. Vermynne has left town for her home in Boston after spending the summer here.

Fred Peters is in town, making repairs on his recently acquired property, the Knight farm.

Dr. E. D. Stevens has arrived in town from Bridgeport, Conn., where he spent the past summer.

Mrs. A. E. Holt has returned home from Memorial hospital, Nashua, where she was for a time for treatment, somewhat improved in health.

There has been life at Hob and Knob farm, the Winslow estate, as the family and guests were there for several days, remaining over the twelfth and until Tuesday.

A "hesitant bachelor" writes in to know whether a girl he calls on is to sit on his right hand or left hand. We hate to be embroiled in what may develop into an embarrassing social issue. So suggest the taking of a middle-of-the-road position. Let her sit on your lap.

An exchange says: "We'll be glad to furnish a lawn and a rake to those persons who feel inspired to get sentimental over falling leaves." We say so too. But don't rake all the leaves off the lawn. If some are left the lawn will be healthier, and the trees also, another year.

Massachusetts is taking to air-marking quite extensively. Recently on an auto trip we noticed many towns and cities plainly marked for the benefit of the aviator. This service is a great help to pilots, for from up there all places look very much alike.

Almost everybody nearly throws a fit when a bumble-bee flies into the automobile. They are indeed unwelcome company and when one flies in it's best to stop the car and shew him out. Just recently a young man received severe injuries to himself and his car was smashed when he tried to manage the wheel and the bee at the same time.

The old idea is, that God made stars, suns, earths, plants, animals, and man out of nothing, just as they are. This thought has vanished to return no more, but only to give place to the thought of a plan immeasurably vaster, more inconceivable wonderful. You have to conceive that, before ever the atoms were, the thought of God planned out the whole creation, that, out of His own being, He willed that innumerable atoms which form the visible universe should proceed, and that each and all, in perfect proportions should join together to build the mighty whole.—Rev. Samuel R. Calthrop.

The horse trader, notes the Capper's Weekly, who never sold a horse that was more than eight years old, now sells used cars formerly owned by old couples who never drove fast.

More motor car accidents are caused by careless driving than by fast driving. Some drivers are safer at 45 miles than others are at 15 miles. As a matter of fact a slow driver is a source of danger on the highway. Cars pulling around a slow driver run a chance of swerving from the pavement or meeting an on-coming driver. It is safer to keep up with the traffic—if you can. Yet it seems no matter how fast you go there's always some driver who wants to go a little faster, so takes the chance of hurrying by.

HANCOCK

Mrs. Minnie Davis has closed her house and returned to New York for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tuttle entertained Mrs. Tuttle's brother, Ralph Dodge, and wife, from Springfield, Mass., recently.

Cards received by friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fogg indicate that they are having an enjoyable time on their trip to the Middle West.

Mrs. Helen Fowler closed her summer home, the Fuller homestead, and has returned to her apartment in Cambridge, Mass., for the winter.

Walden Stahl, it is reported, has disposed of his poultry business and secured employment upon an ocean liner running between the United States and South American ports.

Mrs. Dwight Warner has returned from Boston. Mr. Warner remained in the hospital for observation a few days longer. His many friends will be glad to know of his improved condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lakin, former residents came up from their home in Torrington, Conn., by automobile for a few days' visit. On their return they were accompanied by Mrs. Katie Hayward.

Auction Sale

By H. Carl Muzzey, Auctioneer, Antrim, N. H.

Being about to break up house-keeping, Lennox Braid has decided to sell his household goods at public auction, at his place of residence in Bennington village, on Saturday, October 26, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. This is a nice lot of goods and should attract a large number of buyers. For other particulars read auction bills.

Special Business Announcements

QUALITY SERVICE
Olson Granite Company
 GRANITE CONTRACTORS
Monuments Mausoleums
 274 North State Street, Concord, N. H.
 GRANITE, MARBLE, BRONZE
 We make our own designs; manufacture all our own work. All stones are cut right here. A list of satisfied customers in this and nearby towns on request.
 FREE TRANSPORTATION TELEPHONE 2790

The Souhegan National Bank
 MILFORD, N. H.
 COMMERCIAL BANK, prepared to serve the best interests of this community, and through its National Savings Department performing the functions of a Savings Institution. Your account will be welcome.
 F. W. Sawyer, President
 M. G. Jewett, Cashier

Quality Price Service
FLEXO COMBINATION PISTON RINGS
 Installed in over 250 Cars in Cheshire County
 ASK THE DRIVER
Cobb's Auto Parts Co.
 57 Church St. KEENE, N. H. Telephone 1972

A. U. BURQUE
 75 West Pearl Street NASHUA, N. H.
Reliable Jeweler
 Special Diamond Work a Specialty
 Telephone 2892

Fey's
Coats & Dresses
 "Where they make coats"
 Manchester, N. H.

Rodney C. Woodman
Florist
 Flowers for All Occasions
 Milford, N. H.
 Represented in Antrim by George W. Nylander

Fred C. Eaton
Real Estate
 HANCOCK, N. H. Tel. 33
 Lake, Mountain, Village, Colonial and Farm Property

CHAS. S. ABBOTT
FIRE INSURANCE
 Reliable Agencies
 To all in need of Insurance I should be pleased to have you call on me.
 Antrim, N. H.

H. Carl Muzzey
AUCTIONEER
 ANTRIM, N. H.
 Prices Right. Drop me a postal card
 Telephone 37-3

Automobile LIVERY!
 Parties carried Day or Night. Cars Rented to Responsible Drivers.
 Our satisfied patrons our best advertisement.
A. D. PERKINS
 Tel. 33-4 Antrim, N. H.

E. R. Adams
Auto Glass Replaced
 The Only Place in Concord That Polishes Edges
 Plate and Window Glass, Mirrors and Paints
 23 School St. Tel. 337-J
 Concord, N. H.

ONE PAIR of EYES
 And One Nervous System Must Last You a Life Time
 Let me help you keep them in working order. A thorough eye examination by a competent specialist is the only way you can be sure your eyes are working without strain.
 For appointment phone 2726
Winfield S. Brown
 OPTOMETRIST
 N. H. Savings Bank Building
 Concord, N. H.

E P H I
 PRONOUNCED F. I.
 In the future when you are suffering from Head Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Rose Cold and Catarrhal conditions, get a bottle of Ephi from your neighborhood druggist, or mailed direct parcel post prepaid on receipt of fifty cents.
PRIEST DRUG CO.,
 Bangor, Me.

When In Need of
FIRE INSURANCE
 Liability or Auto Insurance
 Call on
W. C. Hills,
 Antrim, N. H.

Completely Equipped
AMBULANCE
 at your service — day or night
 Phone Hillsboro 71-3
For Sale
 Cows, any kind. One or a carload. Will buy Cows if you want to sell.
 Fred L. Presbie

What the Gray House Hid

The Mystery of a Haunted Mansion

W. N. U. Service
Copyright by Wyndham Martyn

By Wyndham Martyn

CHAPTER VII—Continued

"Why do you tease me?" he groaned.

"Because men like you are made to be teased."

"Cells, you didn't really see any one, did you?"

"I swear I did. What I said, if I said anything—which I don't admit—I shall keep to myself."

A moment later Celia left on Bill's arm.

"Quarrelling?" he asked.

"I see too much of him," she said. "I think I shall fall in love with you again. Shall I?"

"My duties don't permit," he laughed. "You took tired. Why not go to bed early?"

"How quickly you tire of me!" she mocked. "I looked for something subtler from you. Les couldn't have done worse."

Bill Pelham smiled. Evidently she was fonder of Les than she had admitted. She looked at him dancing with her mother, but Les would not even smile.

"She's hurt him," said Bill to himself.

"I'll take your advice," Celia said yawning. "Night-o, Bill!"

She had hurt Leslie more than she guessed, and much more than she would have done if she had known how miserable he was.

"It has been lovely to be here all this time," Les said presently.

"Les, that doesn't mean that you are leaving us?"

"I'm afraid I'll have to."

"Is it something Celia has said?"

Leslie lied as calmly as he could. "Not a thing! I've promised to run down to the Water Gap for a few days."

"You'll be back soon?"

Dina was distressed. She liked the boy, and hoped that Celia would marry him. Junior liked him. They all liked him, and yet Celia teased him almost to madness at times.

In his room Leslie composed a letter to Celia filled with that note of minor melancholy which drips from the pens of lovers with such exquisite ease. He told her he would be gone before she was up. He ended by saying, very darkly, that he had taken her advice and "jumped off the road."

Leslie smiled bitterly as he reread it. It sounded like a veiled threat of suicide.

All the others had gone to bed when he finished. He put the letter in his pocket, and went out to see if any wild faun was prowling about the Gray house grounds. Celia's encounter might have been fact or fancy. One could never be sure of Celia.

He gained the hall quietly, unbolting the door, and walked silently toward the abandoned swimming pool by the tennis court.

"I'll be d—d!" said Leslie.

By the pool stood a very tall man—physically more splendid than young Barron, as Leslie himself would not have denied. The intruder bearded no footfall on the grass. He was aware of another's presence only when Leslie tapped him on the arm.

He seemed far more embarrassed than Leslie.

"What's the idea?" he snarled, trying to shake off the other's grip.

Leslie was instantly relieved. Assuredly Celia had not heard the god-like stranger speak, for his speech was of the East side unrefined.

"I don't want you to disappear in your cloud of star dust until I've had a little talk with you. What are you doing here?"

Leslie snapped the question out in a threatening tone.

"I lost my way," replied the wild faun.

"Don't lie!" said Leslie.

The wild faun frowned a little. The white moonlight showed his heavy face to be capable of readily expressed emotion. Leslie saw, too, that for some reason he wished to make his story good.

"I was trying to find a short cut," said the intruder.

"You must make a habit of it. People don't lose their way two nights in succession when the moon is full. You were here last night. Why?"

"H—!" said the wild faun. "Is this Buckingham palace or the White House? I didn't see no sentries at the gate. If you don't like it, I'd better be on my way."

He turned away, as if to walk toward the drive.

"Not yet!" cried the younger man. "There's a little explaining to be done first."

Perceiving himself to be at a loss verbally, the stranger revised his tactics. This exasperating young man in evening dress must be taught a lesson.

"Bo," said the wild faun coldly. "I don't like your face!"

With that he brought his powerful right arm across with the idea—a wholly diverting one—of altering the saucer on his opponent's features to an expression of fear and agony. He was not quick enough. A left jab caught him on the nose.

"All right!" he said. "If you want it, you can have it!"

He made a vicious spring at Leslie

Barron. Anger beclouded him. Leslie's footwork irritated him. He asked his foe to stand still and have it out man to man. He addressed him as a dancing master, and by other more opprobrious terms.

Finally he measured his distance for a blow that would end it all. The lad in evening dress could box, and was annoyingly active. He had played for the godlike body of U wild faun, and was inflicting hurt.

Just as the strong arm of the intruder was drawing back, there came the sudden sharp cry of an owl, repeated three times. He paused for a second, and turned away his head. It was a tactical error, of which he was conscious too late. Leslie saw his opportunity and made the most of it. He landed a clean blow on the point of the jaw. The wild faun dropped, and, in falling, his head struck the base of an Italian garden marble.

Leslie knelt at the side of his fallen foe. He was undecided whether to alarm the house by calling for help, or to try to carry this big bulk in himself.

A shadow came out of nothingness, and Leslie looked up into the bland face of Mr. Appleton. Since young

Mr. Appleton gave a skillful imitation of the cry of an owl. From afar came the call of another night-flying bird. The owl that was Mr. Appleton booted again. Gradually the other cry came nearer. Presently there was a rustling in the thicket, and a bullet head was thrust through.

"Luigi?" called Mr. Appleton softly. "Come at once!"

The man who wriggled out of the bushes was short, but of tremendous breadth. His exclamations and gestures when he saw what seemed to be a pair of dead men were stayed at a word from the other.

"Carry Jim below, and come back for this."

Luigi shouldered the two hundred and twenty pounds that was Jim with ease. He had been gone no more than five minutes when he returned and picked up the lighter man.

The bird sanctuary received Leslie Barron, heir to a great fortune, Luigi Bartoli, in whom the police were interested, and last of all, Mr. Appleton, who breathed more easily as a heavy shower began. It would smooth out the trampled earth and make tracking impossible.

CHAPTER VIII

When Leslie Barron came again to consciousness, he thought he was in a prison cell. It was a small stone room, electrically lighted. He had been placed on an iron cot. A bandage was about his head, and his crumpled shirt front was bloody, stained, except for bruises and a throbbing head, however, he found that he was unharmed.

He reconstructed what had happened since he went in search of the wild faun, and was forced to admit that the event which stood out most vividly was the inexplicable knavery of Frederick Appleton. The little man had always been so courteous, so respectful, so flattering. He had expressed his regard for the Barron family repeatedly. He had once embarrassed Leslie by comparing his head with that of the Hermes of Praxiteles; and then, incontinently, he had brought a loaded bludgeon down upon it with such force that death had not been very far away.

What was the wild faun to Mr. Appleton, that he had sprung thus amazingly to avenge the unknown intruder?

Leslie rose from his cot and walked to the door. It was of heavy wood, metal covered. He could not escape.

No one answered his shouts. Leslie sat down again on the bed.

In his career as a somewhat reckless driver, he had more than once had to wait in a jail cell until he paid his fine. In every instance there had been a penetrating and unpleasant odor about these places. This cell had no such effluvia; nor, as he examined it more closely, had it the appearances of the regular jail. Yet it was plain that it had been constructed for no other purpose than to imprison.

Leslie called to mind his talks with Junior as to the threatened dangers surrounding the Gray house. In the beginning they had thrilled him; but then, as pleasant day succeeded pleasant day, Junior and he began to feel annoyed that they had ever anticipated peril.

Leslie was not yet nervous about the outcome of the adventure. The eldest son of Grantley Barron could not disappear without a nation-wide investigation. It would be proved that he had gone from the Gray house into the grounds. Celia would understand why he had gone. He had disappeared in evening clothes, leaving his other effects untouched. The whole neighborhood would be combed by detectives. In the end, his father might have to pay a huge ransom.

This last thought rather amused Leslie. Appleton was probably a professional blackmail or kidnaper. None would suspect the suave, modest, hard-working little man. Had not Leslie seen the descending black-jack in his hand, he would not now have believed him guilty.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER VIII

When Leslie Barron came again to consciousness, he thought he was in a prison cell. It was a small stone room, electrically lighted. He had been placed on an iron cot. A bandage was about his head, and his crumpled shirt front was bloody, stained, except for bruises and a throbbing head, however, he found that he was unharmed.

He reconstructed what had happened since he went in search of the wild faun, and was forced to admit that the event which stood out most vividly was the inexplicable knavery of Frederick Appleton. The little man had always been so courteous, so respectful, so flattering. He had expressed his regard for the Barron family repeatedly. He had once embarrassed Leslie by comparing his head with that of the Hermes of Praxiteles; and then, incontinently, he had brought a loaded bludgeon down upon it with such force that death had not been very far away.

What was the wild faun to Mr. Appleton, that he had sprung thus amazingly to avenge the unknown intruder?

Leslie rose from his cot and walked to the door. It was of heavy wood, metal covered. He could not escape.

No one answered his shouts. Leslie sat down again on the bed.

In his career as a somewhat reckless driver, he had more than once had to wait in a jail cell until he paid his fine. In every instance there had been a penetrating and unpleasant odor about these places. This cell had no such effluvia; nor, as he examined it more closely, had it the appearances of the regular jail. Yet it was plain that it had been constructed for no other purpose than to imprison.

Leslie called to mind his talks with Junior as to the threatened dangers surrounding the Gray house. In the beginning they had thrilled him; but then, as pleasant day succeeded pleasant day, Junior and he began to feel annoyed that they had ever anticipated peril.

Leslie was not yet nervous about the outcome of the adventure. The eldest son of Grantley Barron could not disappear without a nation-wide investigation. It would be proved that he had gone from the Gray house into the grounds. Celia would understand why he had gone. He had disappeared in evening clothes, leaving his other effects untouched. The whole neighborhood would be combed by detectives. In the end, his father might have to pay a huge ransom.

This last thought rather amused Leslie. Appleton was probably a professional blackmail or kidnaper. None would suspect the suave, modest, hard-working little man. Had not Leslie seen the descending black-jack in his hand, he would not now have believed him guilty.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER VIII

When Leslie Barron came again to consciousness, he thought he was in a prison cell. It was a small stone room, electrically lighted. He had been placed on an iron cot. A bandage was about his head, and his crumpled shirt front was bloody, stained, except for bruises and a throbbing head, however, he found that he was unharmed.

He reconstructed what had happened since he went in search of the wild faun, and was forced to admit that the event which stood out most vividly was the inexplicable knavery of Frederick Appleton. The little man had always been so courteous, so respectful, so flattering. He had expressed his regard for the Barron family repeatedly. He had once embarrassed Leslie by comparing his head with that of the Hermes of Praxiteles; and then, incontinently, he had brought a loaded bludgeon down upon it with such force that death had not been very far away.

Mr. Appleton gave a skillful imitation of the cry of an owl. From afar came the call of another night-flying bird. The owl that was Mr. Appleton booted again. Gradually the other cry came nearer. Presently there was a rustling in the thicket, and a bullet head was thrust through.

"Luigi?" called Mr. Appleton softly. "Come at once!"

The man who wriggled out of the bushes was short, but of tremendous breadth. His exclamations and gestures when he saw what seemed to be a pair of dead men were stayed at a word from the other.

"Carry Jim below, and come back for this."

Luigi shouldered the two hundred and twenty pounds that was Jim with ease. He had been gone no more than five minutes when he returned and picked up the lighter man.

The bird sanctuary received Leslie Barron, heir to a great fortune, Luigi Bartoli, in whom the police were interested, and last of all, Mr. Appleton, who breathed more easily as a heavy shower began. It would smooth out the trampled earth and make tracking impossible.

CHAPTER VIII

When Leslie Barron came again to consciousness, he thought he was in a prison cell. It was a small stone room, electrically lighted. He had been placed on an iron cot. A bandage was about his head, and his crumpled shirt front was bloody, stained, except for bruises and a throbbing head, however, he found that he was unharmed.

He reconstructed what had happened since he went in search of the wild faun, and was forced to admit that the event which stood out most vividly was the inexplicable knavery of Frederick Appleton. The little man had always been so courteous, so respectful, so flattering. He had expressed his regard for the Barron family repeatedly. He had once embarrassed Leslie by comparing his head with that of the Hermes of Praxiteles; and then, incontinently, he had brought a loaded bludgeon down upon it with such force that death had not been very far away.

What was the wild faun to Mr. Appleton, that he had sprung thus amazingly to avenge the unknown intruder?

Leslie rose from his cot and walked to the door. It was of heavy wood, metal covered. He could not escape.

No one answered his shouts. Leslie sat down again on the bed.

In his career as a somewhat reckless driver, he had more than once had to wait in a jail cell until he paid his fine. In every instance there had been a penetrating and unpleasant odor about these places. This cell had no such effluvia; nor, as he examined it more closely, had it the appearances of the regular jail. Yet it was plain that it had been constructed for no other purpose than to imprison.

Leslie called to mind his talks with Junior as to the threatened dangers surrounding the Gray house. In the beginning they had thrilled him; but then, as pleasant day succeeded pleasant day, Junior and he began to feel annoyed that they had ever anticipated peril.

Leslie was not yet nervous about the outcome of the adventure. The eldest son of Grantley Barron could not disappear without a nation-wide investigation. It would be proved that he had gone from the Gray house into the grounds. Celia would understand why he had gone. He had disappeared in evening clothes, leaving his other effects untouched. The whole neighborhood would be combed by detectives. In the end, his father might have to pay a huge ransom.

This last thought rather amused Leslie. Appleton was probably a professional blackmail or kidnaper. None would suspect the suave, modest, hard-working little man. Had not Leslie seen the descending black-jack in his hand, he would not now have believed him guilty.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER VIII

When Leslie Barron came again to consciousness, he thought he was in a prison cell. It was a small stone room, electrically lighted. He had been placed on an iron cot. A bandage was about his head, and his crumpled shirt front was bloody, stained, except for bruises and a throbbing head, however, he found that he was unharmed.

He reconstructed what had happened since he went in search of the wild faun, and was forced to admit that the event which stood out most vividly was the inexplicable knavery of Frederick Appleton. The little man had always been so courteous, so respectful, so flattering. He had expressed his regard for the Barron family repeatedly. He had once embarrassed Leslie by comparing his head with that of the Hermes of Praxiteles; and then, incontinently, he had brought a loaded bludgeon down upon it with such force that death had not been very far away.

What was the wild faun to Mr. Appleton, that he had sprung thus amazingly to avenge the unknown intruder?

Leslie rose from his cot and walked to the door. It was of heavy wood, metal covered. He could not escape.

No one answered his shouts. Leslie sat down again on the bed.

In his career as a somewhat reckless driver, he had more than once had to wait in a jail cell until he paid his fine. In every instance there had been a penetrating and unpleasant odor about these places. This cell had no such effluvia; nor, as he examined it more closely, had it the appearances of the regular jail. Yet it was plain that it had been constructed for no other purpose than to imprison.

Leslie called to mind his talks with Junior as to the threatened dangers surrounding the Gray house. In the beginning they had thrilled him; but then, as pleasant day succeeded pleasant day, Junior and he began to feel annoyed that they had ever anticipated peril.

Leslie was not yet nervous about the outcome of the adventure. The eldest son of Grantley Barron could not disappear without a nation-wide investigation. It would be proved that he had gone from the Gray house into the grounds. Celia would understand why he had gone. He had disappeared in evening clothes, leaving his other effects untouched. The whole neighborhood would be combed by detectives. In the end, his father might have to pay a huge ransom.

This last thought rather amused Leslie. Appleton was probably a professional blackmail or kidnaper. None would suspect the suave, modest, hard-working little man. Had not Leslie seen the descending black-jack in his hand, he would not now have believed him guilty.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

CHAPTER VIII

When Leslie Barron came again to consciousness, he thought he was in a prison cell. It was a small stone room, electrically lighted. He had been placed on an iron cot. A bandage was about his head, and his crumpled shirt front was bloody, stained, except for bruises and a throbbing head, however, he found that he was unharmed.

He reconstructed what had happened since he went in search of the wild faun, and was forced to admit that the event which stood out most vividly was the inexplicable knavery of Frederick Appleton. The little man had always been so courteous, so respectful, so flattering. He had expressed his regard for the Barron family repeatedly. He had once embarrassed Leslie by comparing his head with that of the Hermes of Praxiteles; and then, incontinently, he had brought a loaded bludgeon down upon it with such force that death had not been very far away.

What was the wild faun to Mr. Appleton, that he had sprung thus amazingly to avenge the unknown intruder?

Leslie rose from his cot and walked to the door. It was of heavy wood, metal covered. He could not escape.

No one answered his shouts. Leslie sat down again on the bed.

In his career as a somewhat reckless driver, he had more than once had to wait in a jail cell until he paid his fine. In every instance there had been a penetrating and unpleasant odor about these places. This cell had no such effluvia; nor, as he examined it more closely, had it the appearances of the regular jail. Yet it was plain that it had been constructed for no other purpose than to imprison.

Leslie called to mind his talks with Junior as to the threatened dangers surrounding the Gray house. In the beginning they had thrilled him; but then, as pleasant day succeeded pleasant day, Junior and he began to feel annoyed that they had ever anticipated peril.

Leslie was not yet nervous about the outcome of the adventure. The eldest son of Grantley Barron could not disappear without a nation-wide investigation. It would be proved that he had gone from the Gray house into the grounds. Celia would understand why he had gone. He had disappeared in evening clothes, leaving his other effects untouched. The whole neighborhood would be combed by detectives. In the end, his father might have to pay a huge ransom.

Little Journeys in Americana

By LESTER B. COLBY

The Dollar in the '40s

OUR libraries, if we will search through their dusty shelves, will yield up many strange volumes. Thousands of them seem to be forgotten. They are curiously printed and often ponderously written. But some of them show pay streaks of rich gold if they are sufficiently prospected.

Almost ninety years ago John Regan came to America from Scotland, and with his bride settled on the Spoon river in Illinois. He became an author. His book, "The Western Wilds of America," to be found in some libraries, tells curious things. For instance, this about building his house:

"I will now give a statement of the entire cost of the structure. 17 feet long, 14 feet wide and 8 feet from floor to joists, roof 5 feet pitch, with a nice little garret, and back room 8 feet by 7—

"Two days' hewing	$ 1.50
Carrying timbers to ground...	.50
600 feet studding, 4 in. sq....	6.00
200 do scantling	2.00
400 do oak sheathing for roof...	4.00
2,000 black walnut shingles...	10.00
1,000 feet black walnut lumber,
siding	10.00
600 feet cottonwood planking,
floors	6.00
2 1/2 pairs window sashes.....	1.87 1/2
30 panes of glass at 4 cents
each	1.25
Putty18
Lime for building chimney....	1.00
2 pair hinges, 35c—screw nails,
15c50
Total	$55.55 1/2

"Add to this, say, six dollars for board, and thus for $61.50 or about eleven pounds sterling—not counting our labor—we got a pretty commodious building. Still it was only a shell and on the approach of winter required to be lathed and plastered inside, which cost $15.00 more."

John Regan records the price of some commonplace commodities in the 1840s and 1850s. Butter was ten cents a pound, smoked bacon five and a half cents, eggs eight cents a dozen, sugar six cents a pound, coffee ten cents and whisky twenty-five cents a gallon.

Farm prices apparently fluctuated much. A chapter written in 1846 records that, "The farmers being, in general, men of small capital, an immense amount of grain is thrown upon the market immediately after harvest; and then, as a necessary result, the price rules low. A shilling for wheat, sixpence for oats, fourpence for Indian corn were common prices then; whereas in October, March, April, May and June, when navigation is open, the prices invariably rise and those who are able to hold on until then are sure to obtain a good return."

Good cows, when John Regan arrived and for some years thereafter, had a standard value of $10 each. He puts down that when he went out among his neighbors to buy his first pigs he was surprised to find them in the same category with hittens. They were not sold to new settlers but given away. Eggs were three cents a dozen and price rules low. A shilling for wheat, sixpence for oats, fourpence for Indian corn were common prices then; whereas in October, March, April, May and June, when navigation is open, the prices invariably rise and those who are able to hold on until then are sure to obtain a good return."

Farm labor, he put down, could be had at from $60 to $80 per half year. This half year was the half year from spring to fall when practically all the work was done. In the winter the farmer got along without help. And the laborer, one might guess, got along without many things.

(©, 1923, Lester B. Colby.)

"Wild Goose Chase" First Used to Describe Race

"A wild goose chase" has nothing to do with the difficulty of catching a wild goose but has a lot to do with the manner in which wild geese fly. The term was first used to describe a kind of horse racing which resembled the follow-the-leader flight peculiar to those birds of passage. In this English chase, as described by Tit-Bits, two horses would run 120 yards, then the jockey who had the lead was at liberty to take whatever ground he pleased, the other being bound to follow within a specified distance or else he was whipped-in by judges who rode by. The passing and repassing of one another went on until one horse fell out through sheer exhaustion, thus giving the other equally overdriven animal a final lead.

Talk About Relief!

An excellent old gentleman grew hard of hearing and was beset with apprehension lest he become totally deaf. One day as he rested on a park bench another elderly citizen seated himself alongside. The apprehensive old gentleman saw that the newcomer was talking rapidly but his ears caught no faintest sound of the other's voice. He listened intently in vain. He cupped a hand to his ear but there was only silence. At last in despair he spoke his thought aloud: "It's come at last! I know you've been talking all this while but I haven't heard a single word."

The answer given with a grin was explicit and satisfying to the worried deaf man.

"I ain't been talkin'—jest a-chewin'."—From True Story Magazine.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

SCREEN-GRID [BATTERY . . . OR] ELECTRO-DYNAMIC

Tune in, sit back and listen—2,500,000 have done it!

No time out for trouble... no lost programs... in the millions of homes that boast Atwater Kent Radio. Atwater Kent owners don't worry about service because they so seldom need it. And they banished costly repair bills the day they decided to treat themselves to the world's leader in radio.

All you want in radio . . . without a bit of bother

WHY will you find more Atwater Kents on farms than any other set? Why will an Atwater Kent owner tell you that the only set he would swap for it is another Atwater Kent? Because it brings in everything on the air as it ought to sound—with trouble-free operation.

And what a thrill you get every time you tune in, sit back, and listen to the mellow tone of the new Screen-Grid, Electro-Dynamic Atwater Kent Radio—the greatest in Atwater Kent's years of leadership. What a thrill when you sense its giant power, its fabulous reach, its needle-point selectivity. See it, hear it, the next time you're shopping in town. Designed for central station current or battery operation.

ATWATER KENT MANUFACTURING COMPANY

4764 Wissahickon Ave. A. Atwater Kent, Pa. Philadelphia

Prices slightly higher west of the Rockies, and in Canada

In Compact Table Models—For batteries, Model 67 receiver. Uses 7 tubes (5 Screen-Grid). Without tubes, $77. For house-current operation, Model 55, uses 6 A. C. tubes (5 Screen-Grid) and 1 rectifying tube, $68. Model 60, extra powerful, uses 7 A. C. tubes (5 Screen-Grid) and 1 rectifying tube. Without tubes, $100. Electro-Dynamic table speaker, $34.

IN CABINETS—The best of American cabinet makers—famous for sound design and sincere workmanship—are cooperating to meet the demand for Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio in fine cabinets like these.

ON THE AIR—Atwater Kent Radio Hour, Sunday Evenings, 9:15 (Eastern Time). WEAJ network of N. B. C. Atwater Kent Mid-Week Program, Thursday Evenings, 10:00 (Eastern Time), WJZ network of N. B. C.

250 DAILY

FOR A ROOM EQUIPPED WITH BATH, CIRCULATING ICE WATER AND RADIO!

SINGLE 2.50, 3.00, 3.50
DOUBLE 4.00, 4.50, TWIN BEDS, 5.00

SPECIAL WEEKLY RATES

NEAR BUSINESS, SHOPPING AND THEATRE CENTERS

THE NEW HOTEL PLYMOUTH
49TH ST. EAST OF BROADWAY
— NEW YORK —

For Best Results in Home Dyeing

You can always give richer, deeper, more brilliant colors to faded or out-of-style dresses, hose, coats, draperies, etc., with Diamond Dyes. And the colors stay in through wear and washing!

Here's the reason. Diamond Dyes contain the highest quality anilines money can buy. And it's the anilines that count! They are the very life of dyes.

Plenty of pure anilines make Diamond Dyes easy to use. They go on evenly without spotting or streaking. Try them next time and see why authorities recommend them; why millions of women will use no other dyes.

You get Diamond Dyes for the same price as ordinary dyes; 15c, at any drug store.

Hotel Embassy
BROADWAY at 70TH ST.
NEW YORK

400 Large Rooms
All with Bath

$2.50 Single
$3.50 Up Double

Excellent Restaurant
EDMUND P. MOLONY
Manager

Austin Poultry Co.

For best prices on live poultry and strictly fresh henney eggs.

Quikok Returns
39-40 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

BE BEAUTIFUL

Without the aid of high-priced preparations. We tell you how, supply you the complete secret, and instructions for making easily at home, all for only 15c. Every woman delighted and surprised. Order today.

RICHARDS & CO.
774 Gates Avenue — Brooklyn, N. Y.

A FEW PENNIES WILL CLEAN AN ordinary size room or the largest rug; absolutely no skill needed—the "magic" is in the process. Complete directions 15c. J. JUNE, 101 BEECH, HOLYOKE, MASS.

All kinds hunting hounds on trial. Write for prices. Bluebirds, Blackbills, Redbones and Walkers. Ramsey Creek Kennels, Ramsey, Ill.

W. N. U. BOSTON, NO. 42-1929.

Ear of City Dweller Has No Rest Period

Between beats the heart rests, and between

Exclusive structural and operative superiorities have, definitely established Champion as the better spark plug. That is why Champion outsells all others throughout the world.

CHAMPION SPARK PLUGS TOLEDO, OHIO

STAGE AND TALKIES Offer wonderful possibilities to those who can sing, dance, talk or play instruments. Stars are made overnight. Fascinating work if you have any talent along these lines write now for particulars.

WALTER BUZZELL, STUDIO E 1680 Broadway New York City.

OPEN CAR OWNERS. Sensational price reduction on Badger Enclosures. Enjoy your car the year round. Write us. Badger Auto Enclosure Co., Chicago, Dept. E.

Superficial Flesh Wounds Try Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh All dealers are authorized to refund your money for the first bottle if not suited.

Poverty may be helpful if it doesn't last too long.

Office seeking grows on a man like any other habit.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

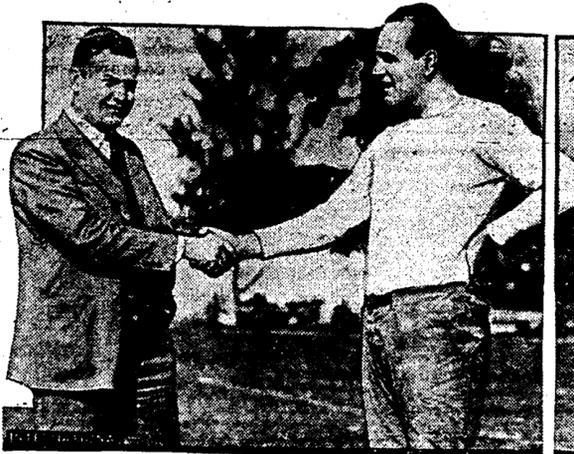

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or a lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children.

Clears out cold in head or chest. A home remedy of tested and tried ingredients, safe, dependable. $3.00 at all drug stores. For selling terms see Fitts' Toothache Drops.

DR. J.D. KELLOGG'S ASTHMA REMEDY No need to spend restless, sleepless nights. Irritation quickly relieved and soon removed by taking the remedy that has helped thousands of sufferers. 25 cents and $1.00 at drug stores. If unable to obtain, write direct to: NORTHRUP & LYMAN CO., Inc., Buffalo, New York. Good for three months.

Tad Jones Greets Bill Ingram

Left to right, Tad Jones, veteran football expert, shaking hands with "Navy Bill" Ingram, head coach of the Annapolis football team. Jones watched the Middles go through a practice session recently.

Mack's Signals Play Big Part in Baseball Game

The officials of football now have a system of signals to tell the crowds what it's all about, when the whistle blows and the teams do a little marching about as the officials announce a penalty. But these signals have nothing on the signals the crowds at a baseball game can watch if they keep their weather eyes on Mr. Mack, generalissimo of the Philadelphia team.

Connie keeps a scorecard in one hand. Watch that scorecard. And when you see it move in a pattern which makes little sense to you, take a careful look at what the Athletics are doing on the diamond, for Connie's signals are not meant to make things clearer to anybody except the nine men who are working for him on the diamond.

Those nine men know very well what that scorecard and its movements mean. For years the veteran manager has directed plays by this patented wig wag system of his. And when the scorecard moves there's action. Some of the keen minded Connie's ideas for victory are working out toward the diamond. And the opposition must watch out, for no one knows any more baseball strategy than Connie.

Nor can anyone command a team better in action. The gentlemanly, almost ecclesiastic figure on the Philadelphia bench can put just as much iron in his order as any of the louder-voiced variety of managers. Connie prefers to voice his criticisms when the game is over. While it is in action the little white scorecard wig wags, and the team obeys.

Holman Can Play

According to a report from Urbana, Ill., the acting secretary of the Big Ten faculty committee has announced that the committee has decided Allan Holman, quarterback at Ohio State university, is eligible to play football for another year.

Holman was ruled eligible earlier this season but other Big Ten schools protested on the grounds that a year Holman played for another school should make him ineligible for play this year with Ohio State.

Ump Shows Red Player How to Get New Punch

Evan Swanson, youthful bit of orrorthness in the gloomy cellar of the Cincinnati Reds have been occupying, owns Empire Rigler of the National league a big debt.

During May, Swanson was in a pronounced batting slump. Rigler gave the flashy youngster some valuable advice.

"Get back and grip the bat nearer the handle," suggested Rigler. "Crouching at the plate is hurting your hitting."

Swanson followed the tip and has been climbing steadily in the batting averages, adding a much-needed punch to the Reds' attack.

Night Football

Night football will increase the patronage of football because naturally it will attract more widely from sport lovers who are not college graduates. Sport followers whose work forbids attendance at football games on daylight schedules will be drawn to the night games. And our great universities and state schools, with high powered and financed stadiums are not sneezing at anything that will pour more bouillon into the athletic coffers.

Sport Notes

Fencing is rapidly gaining in favor among the women of Hungary.

Wilbert Robinson is regarded as a certainty to manage the Dodgers again next year.

Ethan Allen, Cincinnati outfielder, is one big leaguer who plays on his home club.

Shortstop Jesse has been returned by the Decatur club of the Three I league to Cleveland.

Little Rock has signed three players to 1930 contracts. John Lewis, Warren Smith and Jim Woodfin.

Kingston, N. C., will spend the winter raising money to finance the team in the Eastern Carolina league in 1930.

Winning three games in a week was the feat of Pitcher Jack Reid of the El Dorado club of the Cotton States league.

The McCook Generals are two-time champions of the Nebraska league, finishing six and a half games ahead of Fairbury.

Nick Altrock plays golf. The ban on the sport by Walter Johnson doesn't apply to the clown. Nick is extremely serious at play.

Pitcher Ivy Andrews, recently purchased by the New York Yankees from Mobile, has been sent to the Albany club of the Eastern league.

Jimmy Dykes is one of the best all-around infielders in the game. He has played every position in the infield this year. He is thirty-two.

Ernie Smith, shortstop of Birmingham, Southern league, was voted the most popular player on his team by fans and was presented with a wrist watch.

Wally Marrow, one of the most promising backfield men on the University of Nebraska football eleven, spent the summer behind the footlights in vaudeville as a tap dancer.

Birmingham has announced the sale of Pitcher Carlos Moore, twenty-year-old right-hander, to the Washington club. No details were given as to the price or conditions of the transfer.

Maurice Regimbal, one-year-old caddy who scored a hole-in-one recently at the North Bay Golf and Country club, in Ontario, is believed to be the world's youngest golfer to accomplish this feat.

Richard W. (Rube) Marquard, who was purchased for the New York Giants in 1908 for the then record price of $11,000, has proved a success as manager of the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern league.

Eddie Morris, president of the Boston football team of the National league, hopes to sign Gus Sonnenberg, champion heavyweight wrestler, for his squad. Home games will be played on the Braves field.

"Football for everybody" is being carried into effect at the University of Indiana, where 13 intramural eleven have already been formed. Many varsity players are developed on these interclass teams.

One of baseball's veteran performers, Dick Hoblitzel, who managed and played first for Charlotte the past season, is back in West Virginia looking over some of the family estate where oil recently was struck.

The French government has given permission for the opening of pari-mutuel offices in principal towns so that persons interested in horse racing will not be obliged to journey to the tracks in order to place their bets.

Burt Shotton, manager of the Phillies, says he will take the regulars and rookies to Winter Haven, Fla., again next year for the spring training period. His announcement set at rest a report that the Phils would go to Texas or California for conditioning.

LEADING RADIO PROGRAMS

(Time given is Eastern Standard; subtract one hour for Central and two hours for Mountain time.)

- N. B. C. RED NETWORK—October 27. 7:30 p. m. Maj. Bowser's Family Party. 8:00 p. m. Dr. David Lawrence. 8:15 p. m. Atwater Kent. 10:15 p. m. Studebaker Champions. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 1:30 p. m. The Silver Tins. 2:00 p. m. Roxy Stron. 6:30 p. m. Waittall Anglo Persians. 7:30 p. m. At the Baldwin. 8:00 p. m. Little Melodies. 8:15 p. m. Collier's. 8:15 p. m. D'Orsay. 10:30 p. m. Fuller Brush. 11:00 p. m. Pepsodent. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 6:55 p. m. Bulova Correct Time. 7:00 p. m. Littmann's Entertainers. 7:30 p. m. Sergei Kotlarsky—Violin. 7:45 p. m. "The World's Business." 8:00 p. m. La Palma Rhapsodizers. 8:30 p. m. Sonora Progress. 9:00 p. m. Majestic Theater of the Air. 10:30 p. m. Arabesque. 10:30 p. m. Around the Samovar. 11:40 p. m. Brokenshire's Coral Islanders. 11:50 p. m. Choral Reverie. 12:00 m. Herbert's Correct Time. N. B. C. RED NETWORK—October 28. 11:15 a. m. Radio Household Institute. 8:00 p. m. Victor of Eastone. 9:30 p. m. General Motors. 10:30 p. m. Headline Huntin'. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 1:00 p. m. Nat. Farm and Home Period. 7:30 p. m. Roxy and His Gang. 8:30 p. m. Whitehouse Concert. 8:30 p. m. Edison Records. 8:30 p. m. Vocal Folks. 10:00 p. m. Cabin Nights. 11:00 p. m. Pepsodent. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 8:45 a. m. Something for Everyone. 9:30 a. m. Blue Monday Gloom Chasers. 10:00 a. m. Elizabeth Fellows Menu Club. 10:30 a. m. Columbia Quartet. 11:00 a. m. Ida Bailey Allen. 11:30 a. m. Columbia Noon Day Club. 12:30 p. m. Julie Wintz and Orchestra. 1:15 p. m. Harry Tucker and Orchestra. 2:00 p. m. Patterns in Prints. 3:00 p. m. Littmann's Entertainers. 3:30 p. m. Our Book Shelf. 4:30 p. m. Leo Reisman and Orchestra. N. B. C. RED NETWORK—October 29. 11:15 a. m. Radio Household Institute. 4:30 p. m. Auction Bridge Game. 7:30 p. m. Soconyland Sketches. 8:00 p. m. Michelé T. T. T. 8:30 p. m. Prophylactic. 9:00 p. m. Eveready Hour. 10:00 p. m. Cluquot Club. 11:00 p. m. Radio Keith Orpheum. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 11:00 a. m. Forecast School of Cookery. 1:00 p. m. Nat. Farm and Home Period. 8:00 p. m. Pure Oil Band. 8:30 p. m. Around World With Libby. 9:00 p. m. College Drug Store. 9:30 p. m. Musical Mosaic. 10:00 p. m. Williams Oil-O-Matics. 10:30 p. m. Freed Orchestration. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 5:30 p. m. Littmann's Entertainers. 6:00 p. m. Show Folks. 6:30 p. m. Alice Foote MacDougall Hour. 7:00 p. m. Bulova Correct Time. 7:30 p. m. Ohrbach's Gypsy Camp. 7:30 p. m. Leo Reisman and Orchestra. 8:30 p. m. United Symphony Orchestra. 8:30 p. m. Flying Stories—Aviation News. 9:00 p. m. Old Gold—Paul Whiteman Hour. 9:00 p. m. Fada Orchestra. 10:30 p. m. Story in a Song. 11:00 p. m. Jesse Crawford. 11:30 p. m. The Dream Boat. 12:00 m. Herbert's Correct Time. 12:30 a. m. Midnight Reverie. N. B. C. RED NETWORK—October 30. 11:15 a. m. Radio Household Institute. 8:00 p. m. Mobil Oil Orchestra. 8:30 p. m. Happy Window Bakers. 9:00 p. m. Ipana Troubadours. 9:30 p. m. Palmolive Hour. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 10:30 a. m. Mary Hale Martin Household Period. 11:00 p. m. Forecast School of Cookery. 1:00 p. m. Nat. Farm and Home Period. 3:15 p. m. Reznor Mfg. Company. 7:00 p. m. Fidelity Melodians. 8:00 p. m. Sylvia Foresters. 9:00 p. m. Real Folks. 9:30 p. m. Forty Fatigue Trawlers. 10:30 p. m. Hamberg Carlson. 11:00 p. m. Pepsodent. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 8:30 a. m. Morning Doctor. 8:45 a. m. Something for Everyone. 9:00 a. m. Morning on Broadway. 10:00 a. m. Midway Mirror. 10:30 a. m. Columbia Ensemble—Musical. 11:00 a. m. Ida Bailey Allen. 11:30 a. m. Interior Decorating. 12:30 p. m. Columbia Noon Day Club. 1:15 p. m. Harry Tucker and Orchestra. 2:00 p. m. Patterns in Prints. 3:00 p. m. Littmann's Entertainers. 3:30 p. m. Our Little Playhouse. N. B. C. RED NETWORK—October 31. 10:45 a. m. General Mills. 11:15 a. m. Radio Household Institute. 5:00 p. m. RKO Hour. 8:00 p. m. Coward Comfort Hour. 8:00 p. m. Fleischman Sunshine Hour. 9:00 p. m. Selberling Singers. 9:00 p. m. Nat'l Sugar Refining Co. 10:00 p. m. Halsey Stuart. 10:30 p. m. Radio Victor Program. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 10:45 a. m. Barbara Goodrich. 11:00 a. m. Forecast School of Cookery. 1:00 p. m. Nat. Farm and Home Period. 7:00 p. m. University Presidents. 7:30 p. m. Grand Expeditors. 8:00 p. m. Lehn and Fink. 8:30 p. m. Champion Sparkers. 9:30 p. m. Maxwell House. 10:00 p. m. Atwater Kent. 11:00 p. m. Pepsodent. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 6:00 p. m. Twilight Tonic. 6:30 p. m. Duke Ellington's Band. 6:55 p. m. Bulova Correct Time. 7:00 p. m. Sandback's Orchestra. 7:30 p. m. Ohrbach's Gypsy Camp. 8:00 p. m. Tower Health Period. 8:15 p. m. Fred Wm. Wile. 8:30 p. m. S. Army Unit. 9:00 p. m. True Detective Mysteries. 9:30 p. m. Gold Seal Hour. 10:30 p. m. Temple Hour. 10:30 p. m. Hank Simmons' Show Boat. 11:30 p. m. Paramount Hotel Orchestra. 12:00 m. Herbert's Correct Time. 12:30 a. m. Midnight Reverie. N. B. C. RED NETWORK—November 1. 6:30 p. m. Raybestos Twins. 8:00 p. m. Cities Service. 9:00 p. m. An Evening in Paris. 9:30 p. m. Schradetown Brass Band. 10:00 p. m. Charles Fox. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 1:00 p. m. LaForge Berumen Musicals. 7:30 p. m. Dixie Circus. 8:00 p. m. Grandstand. 8:45 p. m. Craddock Terry Co. 9:00 p. m. Philco Hour. 10:00 p. m. Armstrong's Quakers. 10:30 p. m. Arthur Hour. 11:00 p. m. Pepsodent. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 10:00 a. m. Oaklides Orchestra. 11:00 a. m. Ida Bailey Allen. 11:30 a. m. Columbia Salon Orchestra. 11:45 a. m. Radio Beauty School. 12:15 p. m. Columbia Salon Orchestra. 12:30 p. m. Julie Wintz and Orchestra. 1:15 p. m. Harry Tucker and Orchestra. 2:00 p. m. Patterns in Prints. 3:00 p. m. Littmann's Entertainers. 3:30 p. m. Our Book Shelf. 4:00 p. m. Modulations. N. B. C. RED NETWORK—November 2. 11:15 a. m. Radio Household Institute. 8:30 p. m. Skelldonian. 8:30 p. m. All-American Mohawk. 8:30 p. m. Laundryland Lyrics. 9:00 p. m. General Electric. 10:00 p. m. Lucky Strike Dance Orch. N. B. C. BLUE NETWORK. 1:00 p. m. Nat. Farm and Home Period. 6:30 p. m. Grand Stand Orchestra. 7:45 p. m. Doctor Klein. 8:30 p. m. Marvin Radio Tube Co. 11:00 p. m. Pepsodent. COLUMBIA SYSTEM. 8:00 a. m. Organ Revella. 8:30 a. m. Morning Devotions. 8:45 a. m. Something for Everyone. 9:30 a. m. Morning on Broadway. 10:00 a. m. Personality Plus—Benton. 10:30 a. m. Columbia Male Trio. 11:00 a. m. Helen and Mary, for Children. 11:30 a. m. Saturday Synopsers. 12:00 m. Columbia Noon Day Club. 12:30 p. m. Julie Wintz and Orchestra. 1:15 p. m. Harold Stern and Orchestra. 2:00 p. m. Patterns in Prints. 3:00 p. m. Littmann's Entertainers.

Advertisement for Bayer Aspirin. Includes image of a hand holding a tablet, a bottle of Aspirin, and a person in pain. Text: 'Unnecessary Pain! Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain. Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works! And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart. So, don't let a cold 'run its course.' Don't wait for a headache to 'wear off.' Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief. Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.'

Advertisement for Castoria. Includes image of a bottle of Castoria. Text: 'Restless Children. Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults. That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.'

Advertisement for Nujol. Includes image of a man and a woman. Text: 'Hitting on All Eight! Doctor Gives Hint to Lucky Salesman. IT'S a wise man that knows when he is slipping. Mr. R.F. Myers of 711 Rosedale Street, Baltimore, had the good fortune to get his tip straight from one of his doctor customers (he was selling for a pharmaceutical house) and since that lucky visit he has increased his business 50 per cent. For two years he had been driving from town to town, and naturally this threw his elimination out of shape. He felt himself slipping. Cathartics only made him worse. Then one day he was calling on a wise old physician, and asked his advice. "What you need, my boy," said the doctor, "is a simple, easy, normal way to clean the poisons out of your system—we all have them—and with your kind of work they certainly cut down efficiency. Why don't you try Nujol?" "Well, believe it or not," says Mr. Myers, "in a few days I felt like a new man. What's got into you?" asked the home office, "your business has increased 50 per cent!" That's the great thing about Nujol. As soon as it begins to clean the poisons out of your system it makes you feel so well that you can almost always do a much better job. Nujol is not a medicine and contains no drugs. It is perfectly harmless, forms no habit. It is simply bodily lubrication, which everybody needs. You, like everybody else! Why put off good health any longer? Go into any good drug store and get a bottle of Nujol in a sealed package. Costs so little and means so much! Maybe you can increase your efficiency 50 per cent too.'

Advertisement for Cuticura Ointment and Soap. Includes image of a woman's face. Text: 'Try this treatment for pimples! ANOINT WITH Cuticura Ointment After a while bathe gently with Cuticura Soap and hot water. You will find nothing better for soothing and healing all forms of skin troubles. Ointment 25c. and 50c. Soap 25c. Talcum 25c. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. B7, Malden, Mass.'

EZRA R. DUTTON, Greenfield Auctioneer

Junius T. Hanchett Attorney at Law

E. W. HALL AUCTIONEER WINCHENDON, MASS.

Livestock, Real Estate and Household Sales a Specialty.

DRIVE IN Let us grease your car the ALEMITE WAY

Frank J. Boyd, Hillsboro

James A. Elliott, ANTRIM, N. H.

COAL WOOD FERTILIZER

Coal is as Cheap Now as it probably will be this year.

John R. Putney Estate Undertaker

First Class, Experienced Director and Embalmer.

Lady Assistant.

J. D. HUTCHINSON Civil Engineer

Land Surveying, Levels, etc.

SELECTMEN'S NOTICE

The Selectmen will meet at their Rooms, in Town Hall block.

JOHN THORNTON ALFRED G. HOLT, ARCHIE M. SWETT

SCHOOL BOARD'S NOTICE

The School Board meets regularly in Town Clerk's Room.

BYRON G. BUTTERFIELD ALICE G. NYLANDER, ROSS H. ROBERTS

STEPHEN CHASE PLASTERING!

TILE SETTING

Work of this kind satisfactorily done.

About Advertising

It costs money to advertise in a paper of circulation and influence.

REBEKAH OFFICERS AND PROGRAM FOR 1929-30

Officers Elected to Serve Hand in Hand Rebekah Lodge, and Program to be Followed for Coming Year

Table with columns for dates (October 9, 23, November 13, 27, December 11, 25, January 8, 22, 26, March 12, 26, April 9, 23) and descriptions of meetings and parties.

Taken From the Indian The word "succotash" is Indian in origin.

Unworldliness To know there is a world of truth without error, beauty without defect.

Chocolate Ancient Beverage Chocolate was a favored drink on this continent long before the arrival of the white man.

A Promise Although she had never been married at all her views on remarriage were very strict.

Feminine Habit "What is a good cure for absent-mindedness?" asked a man of his doctor friend.

Not a Thoroughbred Jimmy E. of Mooresville, was proudly displaying a tiny Boston brindle puppy to some neighbors.

Not a Highbrow Preacher

By JANE OSBORN (Copyright.)

MOLLY AYRES stood before her bureau contemplating herself in a mirror that set back an image somewhat distorted.

Roman Faith in Power Conferred by Sardonyx

The Romans, who greatly preferred precious stones which took kindly to engraving or carving, were devoted to the sard, in which they carved and wore the figures of Greek heroes and gods.

It was also claimed that this stone sharpened the wits of its wearer, making him fearless and victorious.

Fairs Long Employed as Places of Trading

"The fair has its origin written in the dim pages of the past, and as an institution, although not the same as it is today, has long existed."

Dealings in Stocks

A stock exchange, as generally understood, need not, necessarily, be a building where securities are bought and sold.

Compulsory Voting

In Belgium and Switzerland and some other European countries punishments are inflicted on non-voters.

One Unchanging Fashion

The styles of dresses for women in Scanno, Italy, a small town in the Apennine mountains, have not changed for centuries.

Early Days "Burning Air"

People were afraid of this "burning air," as illuminating gas was called at first and could not be convinced that fire or explosion would not be the inevitable result of its general use.

Easy to Be Critical

The habit of criticism grows upon us, because criticism is the easiest thing in the world.

The Reporter Press advertisement with logo and text: 'Our best advertisement is the large number of pleased customers which we have served.'