The singing of a class song with words written especially for this occasion by Margaret Edmunds was a feature of the program. The program included "Romance" by the school orchestra, Pauline Wheeler and Kimon Zachos, violins, Mrs. Annie L. Putnam, piano; processional with music by the orchestra and with Robert Brown as marshal; invocation by Rev. P. J. Kenneally; song by the school, directed by Mrs. Putnam; "Why I am glad I am an American" by George Spaulding; class history by Harriet Weston; class prophecy by Richard Skinner; school song written by Margaret Edmunds; class will by Cynthia Traxler; class gifts, Marion Lowe; "Francis Scott Key" by Glenn Call; presentation of diplomas by Mrs. J. Prentiss Weston; National Anthem by all; benediction by Rev. George H. Driver; recessional.

Class Colors

The decorations were of flags and flowers, the class colors being red, white and blue. The flowers were from the gardens of Col. Arthur J. Pierce and Arthur F. Bell, and were arranged by Mr. Bell's gardener. They included a large basket of flowers in the center and big red and white peonies. The selection of those to take part in the program was made on ability for speaking not on scholastic standing.

After the graduation program, the reception to the graduates was held, music being furnished by the school orchestra. On Saturday the pupils held their outing at Canobie Lake, under the direction of Miss Green and Mr. Currie.

ANTRIM WOMEN RECEIVE HOME NURSING CERTIFICATES

At a meeting in Library hall, Antrim, Tuesday evening, certificates were presented to eleven ladies who have completed thirty hours of Red Cross Home Nursing instruction, given by Mrs. John L. Griffin, R. N.

Roscoe Lane, Red Cross chairman, had charge of the meeting. William Hurlin, chairman of Civilian Defense, spoke commending the willingness of so many people, everywhere, to render patriotic service.

Miss Ruth Whitcomb, member of the Staff Corps of the New Hampshire State Council of Defense, Home Nursing chairman of the Concord district, American Red Cross and in charge of the Home Nursing program, gave an instructive talk and presented the certificates in the Concord district. Those taking the course were Mrs. Evelyn Allison, Mrs. Gertrude Ayer, Mrs. Ida Butterfield, Miss Johanna Coughlin, Mrs. Gwendolyn Cutter, Mrs. Lada De Foe, Mrs. Irene Mallett, Mrs. Bernice McGrath, Mrs. Barbara Shea, all of Antrim, and Mrs. Ella Spaulding of Bennington.

New Pursuit Ships

Latest of their type are the three Curtiss P-40 low-wing single seater pursuit ships. They are considerably faster than the Hawk 75A which has proved its mettle in European combat.

Weekly Letter by George Proctor Fish and Game Conservation Officer

The war is just as good as won as this Monday morning my own friend, Capt. Warren Barnaby of Brookline was sworn back into the U. S. Marines at Portsmouth Navy Yard. Capt. Barnaby was retired just ten years ago from the service after a long stretch in the Marines. Our best wishes and good luck to the Captain back with the "Boys."

That big St. Bernard I told you about last week has a new home and 18 other people wanted that dog. I have on hand about a dozen applications for big dogs to be used as watch dogs on farms. What have you to offer?

Who would be interested in some cattle dogs—8 months old puppies? The mountain laurel is in the bud and will be in full bloom by next weekend. If plenty of sun before that time.

If you are having trouble with pheasants in your garden just rig up a good scare crow and make it in the image of Hitler and the pheasants will keep out. If that don't work get a berry crate, put in a small bantam rooster and when the pheasant flies in the rooster will give out that long rrrrr and the wild bird will keep right on his business elsewhere. These two schemes have been tried out with good success.

Had a caller the other day and in looking over the horned owl pen he asked why the small can of corn. "Owls don't eat corn." Well rats do and when they come to get the corn the owl feeds on rats. He admitted he learned a new one every day.

Just above me on the side road there was a tragedy the other day which was witnessed by an out of state tourist. In coming down the hill he saw the last end of a real fight and a big red fox threw a cat over its shoulder and ran up into the Whiting woods. O, no it was not my cat as I don't own such a thing. Just now a mother fox will tackle anything as she has a big family to feed.

The people in Greenfield are much interested in the story of the big cat with the long tail as such an animal was seen in that town a few years ago.

Charles Hopkins, manager of the big Hopkins Bros. Grain Elevator at Greenfield is riding a bike to work just showing the boys he is willing to cooperate with the war times.

The Granite State Fox Hunters' Association held their last meeting at Nashua Sunday. Meetings will be postponed until after the war but the association will continue to do business as usual. Conrad A. Dorval, president, reports a full membership and still plenty of interest in the association.

Just to let the boys who are now in the service know what we are doing. We planted 2,700 more squarretails in the brooks in my district two days last week. And we will have plenty more when you fellows get back.

Here is a lady who will part with a big Great Dane dog about three years old. The price is right for these times.

Sargent School camp at Peterboro has the biggest enrollment of young ladies in its history. Things are booming in that camp.

It's rumored that Otter Lake Camp, Greenfield, may not be opened this year owing to shortage of help. Many improvements have been made in this property in the past few weeks. Many new buildings have been built and old ones repaired.

Over 100 Boy Scouts from many of the towns in this vicinity set up camp on the Foster lot just off route 101 in the home town and camped there for days. Camp was in charge of District Commissioner Guy Hollis of Antrim. It was a great success and attracted many people over the weekend.

Tinfol this week from Mrs. Charles Cragin, Mrs. Nellie Schofield of Greenfield, Harry Thorpe of Milford, Algie A. Holt of Peterboro, grade 3 of East Jaffrey schools. This was a nice big lot and will no doubt help some crippled child to walk again. It's a worthy cause.

Mount Vernon has appointed Harold A. Trow Chief of Police and Lyndeboro has appointed E. M. Cook. All towns are supposed to appoint a chief according to the new federal order. Good idea.

Last Sunday we saw many small saddle horses in a big truck coming from Massachusetts into this state no doubt for some summer camp.

Here is a party that's interested in buying a small pony outfit. Can you help us locate one for them?

We realize that a dog will sometimes slip his collar and get away but when a man slips the collar off and tells the dog to beat it but be back for breakfast. Well, some night we are going to make a surprise night visit and see if the dogs are still tied up or are out running and destroying small game. Some of our out of state sportsmen can't understand why they can't run their dogs over the line any old time of year. Well, we have a law here that's a good law that all self-hunting dogs must be tied up between April 1 and Sept. 1. This to protect nesting birds and young small wild animals.

What is a self hunter? Well, that was decided in our courts years ago to this effect. Any dog or any breed that will hunt alone or in the company of other dogs is a self hunter.

Last week a small white spitz and a small black and tan hound were very busy chasing a small buck deer in the Richardson Crossing district in Milford. That small spitz was doing a great job in the running line. A truck driver stopped his truck and with a crank drove the dogs off the trail.

One day last week I nearly caused a panic in one of my towns. I Continued on page 4

MARK 86TH BIRTHDAY

George H. Rogers, who lives with his nieces, Mrs. Grace Miner and Mrs. Mary Temple, recently observed his 86th birthday. He is still able to split wood and walk down street every day.

Mr. Rogers was born in Bennington, and also lived in Antrim, Hancock, Hillsborough, Charlestown, George's Mills and Gardner, Mass. In that city he worked in a shop, but most of his work has been on farms.

He has four daughters, Miss Sarah Rogers of New York City, Mrs. William McMann of Sturgeon's Bay, Wis., Mrs. Ralph Spaulding of Brookville, Mass., and Mrs. Helen Hurley of Athol, Mass.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whipple wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy L. Whipple of Nashua, to Pvt. William L. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ferguson of Norwalk, Conn.

The ceremony was performed on June 12 at Nashua at the residence of Rev. Mr. Neilly, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Nashua.

Spanish Moss

Spanish moss can grow on a telephone pole because it is a true epiphyte, meaning a plant which derives its moisture from the air.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it pontoon, not "pontoon", as you do. Pontoon bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontoons is pictured here. The largest pontoon bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontoons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest pontoon, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 per cent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S.-Russ Pact Means 'Second Front' And Co-Operation for Lasting Peace; Yank Warships Join British Blockade; New Pipeline to Supply Oil for East

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

How the United States can help Greece, now starving and prostrate under Nazi rule was among things discussed when King George II of Greece conferred with President Roosevelt during the Greek monarch's flying visit to Washington. Above, the President is shown with King George on the White House lawn.

U. S.-RUSS PACT: 'Second Front'

In triphammer succession came three moves by the United States, Russia and Great Britain that promised momentous consequences for the prosecution of the war and the safeguarding of the peace afterwards.

First, President Roosevelt announced that the United States and Russia had reached a "full understanding with regard to the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942." Second, British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden announced that Britain and Russia had signed a 20-year military and political alliance pledging peace and renouncing territorial greed. Third, the United States and Russia signed a mutual assistance agreement for prosecution of the war against the Axis, pledging increased lend-lease aid and post-war economic co-operation.

Central figure in negotiating the three-way understanding was Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov. The Russian statesman flew first to London and then hopped the Atlantic to Washington, where under the incognito of "Mr. Brown" he was a White House guest for a week. Not until Molotov was safely back in Moscow was the curtain of secrecy about his visit lifted.

Significance of this latest diplomatic coup for the United Nations is that war activities will be greatly speeded and the framework for a durable peace based on economic fair play provided.

OIL FOR EAST: New Pipeline

Acting to avert a threatened fuel oil famine in the East, the War Production board authorized immediate construction of a 24-inch pipe line from Longview, Texas, to the Salem, Ill., area.

The new pipeline will cut in half the distance Texas oil has to travel at present by rail and inland waterway to reach the Atlantic seaboard.

While it will have a capacity of 250,000 barrels a day, the pipeline will not supply enough oil to lift gasoline rationing restrictions in the East, W.P.B. officials declared. They pointed out that shipments of oil and oil products to the East have not been meeting essential demands, despite rigid rationing and that stocks have fallen dangerously below safety levels.

RUSSIAN WAR: Nazi Speed Drive

Stepping up the tempo of their Russian offensive, Nazi armies and air forces pressed attacks on three major fronts. These included a push from Kharkov in the Ukraine, a drive against besieged Sevastopol in the Crimea and an air attack on Murmansk north of the Finnish sector.

With completion expected by December 1, the 550-mile pipeline will require 125,000 tons of finished steel.

The size of the force directed at Sevastopol suggested that the Nazis were at last getting their summer campaign under way. More than ten German divisions numbering 150,000 men were reported striking at the strategic Black sea city. The importance of this city is that it opens a gateway to the rich Caucasus oil fields.

From Moscow came a cheering communique announcing that "despite the intensity and stubbornness of the attacks, the enemy failed to break the resistance of the Sevastopol defenders."

YANK WARSHIPS: Join British Fleet

As land and air warfare in Europe and Africa approached a critical stage, the Atlantic ocean battle theater crowded into the forefront with the announcement that a powerful task force of U. S. warships had joined the British home fleet.

Commanded by Rear Admiral Robert C. Giffen, the American naval force will help the British blockade German-controlled Europe, guard Allied convoys and hunt Axis submarines.

News that the Yank sea reinforcement had joined the British became public in connection with a three-day visit to an English port by King George VI, who boarded a U. S. battleship and saw other warships of the task force.

With British seapower scattered in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and Pacific oceans, the arrival of substantial help from the American navy in the Atlantic area had significant implications. Important among these was that the stronger United Nations naval squadron now would be able to keep closer watch on the powerful Nazi warships lurking in Norwegian waters.

NAZI TERROR: In Czechoslovakia

In a reign of terror following the death of Reinhard ("The Hangman") Heydrich at the hands of Czech patriots, Nazi Gestapo executioners slaughtered the entire male population of the Czech village of Liditz, banished its women and children to concentration camps and burned it to the ground.

The Axis-controlled Prague radio charged that the village had harbored Heydrich's killers. The town's population was estimated at 483, indicating that upward of 150 men were shot. Liditz was located a few miles west of Prague and not far from where "The Hangman" was fatally wounded by patriots while driving along a winding road.

ALEUTIAN ISLANDS: Jap Footholds?

While the navy department denied Axis claims that Japanese navy and army units had established footholds on the inhabited areas of the Aleutian island chain stretching 1,500 miles across the north Pacific from Alaska, further reports of the extent of the American air and naval victory at Midway island came from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

Admiral Nimitz intimated that of a Jap invasion fleet of more than 30 vessels engaged in the battle, probably half were casualties. Besides heavy loss in warships and transports, the enemy's toll of manpower ran into thousands.

That the Tokyo government was preparing the Nipponese public for news of the sea reverse was indicated by reports that an official spokesman had warned a radio audience not to expect that "all battle news could always be favorable."

MISCELLANY:

Omaha: Rich, high quality beef steaks will probably disappear from American tables this fall, because of present price ceiling regulations, according to Guy Scudder, secretary of the National Live Stock Advisory council. Because feed prices are not regulated, cannot feed animals up to a good market quality and must throw them on the market after short feeding, Scudder said.

Canal Zone Ready for All Comers

Panama Jungles Now a Huge Armed Camp.

By CHARLES A. SINGLER
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

OUR canal zone is one of the hottest spots in the Western hemisphere, both meteorologically and strategically, and is becoming increasingly "hotter" as the war wears on and the possibilities of an enemy thrust by land or sea, or by both, become more imminent.

The Panama Canal is not only our proudest national possession, but a vital link in the U. S. chain of defense fortifications. Little wonder, then, that the eyes of Europe, Asia and all America are turned towards this narrow but important waterway which military forethought and engineering skill provided for our nation some twenty-seven years ago.

The Canal Zone is 50 miles long and about 10 miles wide. Approximately 95 square miles of this is under water. The canal itself is about 34 miles in length and 87 feet high. Deep jungle growths crowd densely upon all sides, furnishing ideal concealment for gun emplacements.

All Is 'On the Alert'

In these lush, steaming jungles where there seems to be no life except that of the countless strange birds and jungle animals that live by the code of tooth and claw, there are many eyes watching; all on the alert. Here brave U. S. boys are waiting for the planes to come, and somehow or other hoping that maybe they will, to relieve the deadly monotony of life in the deep jungle.

Here under the concealing drapery of leaves and branches great naval rifles point forever out to sea with their silent threat to all who may come that way, unbidden. These great 16-inch coastal defense rifles out-range the guns of most battleships. Practice is constantly going on, mostly with the use of dud loads, for Uncle Sam cannot afford to waste costly ammunition or the precious rifling of these big guns on a harmless sea.

And here under the same friendly foliage, "ack-ack" guns bristle towards the sky, a hidden challenge to any air armada or lone enemy bomber which may be rash enough to venture near the canal. Jungle foliage also conceals cool hideouts for gunners—caves in which long gleaming rows of shells, some of them inscribed with loving names for the enemy, await the day or night when the call for action comes. In these caves the "day" is 24 hours long. During all this time gun crews stand on the alert, ready to pour a hot welcome into the sullen jungle skies. During the "off" periods the men repair to more comfortable barracks, completely camouflaged, to gain the needed exercise and recreation.

Underground Cities.

In the Panama Canal Zone are also secret island fortresses where underground cities, carved from sheer rock, offer a threat to the would-be invader. Switchboards have been installed, and when the time comes, if it should, tons of red hot trouble will pour from these fortresses to make the invader wish he had stayed closer to home.

Not only does the jungle shroud great naval and anti-aircraft guns, ready for instant action, but also hidden airdromes, full of planes poised for flight, ready to do their bit for

For Protection of Panama Canal

Dr. Octavio Fabrega, foreign minister of the Republic of Panama, pictured (right) as he signed the agreement whereby Panama agreed to establishment of bases within the republic, for the protection of the canal by the United States. At left is Edwin C. Wilson, ambassador to Panama. The agreement, which was signed May 18, 1942, involves the use of some 40,000 acres in the republic by the U. S. armed forces.

Uncle Sam. It conceals keen-eyed watchers on the alert for surprise attacks and treachery. Pearl Harbor has not been forgotten.

Great forts stand at either ocean entrance to the canal, and swift naval vessels are constantly on guard. P-T boats, those swift messengers of death which accounted for more than one Jap warship in Manila bay and which got General MacArthur out of Bataan, are ready to lend their speed and their fighting power to the defense of the waterway. These deadly "mosquito boats," as they are called, carry an anti-aircraft gun that hurls a 20 mm. explosive shell which is bad medicine for attacking planes. P-Ts can also raise havoc amidst surface craft with their deadly torpedoes and blast a sub from the deep with depth charges.

Where 'Walls Have Ears.'

Unseen sentinels move about through the Panama jungle, as ubiquitous as all outdoors, popping up when least expected. No action escapes unseen; no spoken word is unheard. Here is a place where, indeed, "the walls have ears." Landmine units are on the qui vive, waiting to do their share in rendering enemy progress dangerous and slow.

Packed away in the jungle, too, there is infantry—the inevitable infantry—to which we must all pin our hopes to push the enemy back if he should succeed in gaining a foothold in this vital area. With the advent of the new trans-Isthmian highway the speedy movement of troops from one end of the canal to the other—a 48-mile run—is an accomplished fact.

Dangers Facing Us.

These are some of the things that are awaiting those who have lost their respect for territorial rights.

And now, having had a glimpse of the canal's defenses, let us consider briefly from which direction and in what form any thrust at the canal may come.

As the most strategic spot in our hemisphere, and offering an opportunity of bottling up our fleet in either ocean, it can safely be assumed that our enemies will want to smash the canal at the earliest possible date, regardless of all hazards, and will leave nothing undone to attain this objective. Their plans might take shape in the form of small raiding parties or in vast armadas of bombers and fighter planes.

Then, too, we are faced with the menace of secret bases. We must not forget the lesson of the Jap-mandated Marshall islands on which secret bases were built in open defiance of international treaties. The uninhabited jungles of nearby Central and South America might provide aerial hideouts for the treacherous Japs or the deceitful and ever-diligent Nazis.

With Franco "playing ball" continually with Adolf Hitler, islands such as the Spanish Canaries and the Portuguese Azores, or the many small isles that dot the Caribbean, might furnish springboards for hostile wings.

Danger From the Sea.

Airplane carriers, steaming ahead at full speed all night, or for several nights, as in the case of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, offer serious potential dangers. Once within 500 miles of the Canal Zone they could launch their planes in the gray of the dawn. They know full well that just one big "egg" dropped in a lock, would hatch loads of trouble for Uncle Sam. We must bear in mind that without the canal in operation a 50-mile trip becomes a 13,000-mile cruise "around the Horn," either way you take it, with its terrific loss of precious time and greatly increased operating costs.

The battleship Oregon made one such emergency trip during the Spanish-American war, and arrived on the scene in time to turn the tide of battle, but we have neither the time nor the inclination for this sort of thing in this war with the Axis. Nothing must happen to the Panama canal!

Friendly but Questionable Isles.

Let us look in another direction. One thousand miles to the southwest of the Canal Zone loom the shadowy shapes of the Galapagos islands. These islands are owned by friendly Ecuador. These tiny islands, though in friendly hands, are anybody's guess these days, for Jap "fishing boats" have been known to have plied off their shores, and who knows what observations have been made and what soundings taken.

Then there is the menace of the nearby blue Caribbean, in which enemy subs are known to be prowling, and which have already taken heavy toll of our merchant shipping in these very waters, so dangerously close to the canal. Dealing with this menace is the Caribbean patrol of huge navy patrol bombers, 15-ton Consolidated flying boats with sound apparatus to detect subs, and two tons of bombs. These bombers roar out daily on dawn-to-dusk sweeps of the Caribbean and the Atlantic, and may be included as an important arm of the canal defense.

Espionage and sabotage, the long suit of the enemy, may also be listed on the debit side of the ledger in an accounting of the Canal Zone's danger potentials, and all must be dealt with in their own individual way.

An Historic Event.

The most important event in the history of the canal occurred in January, 1939, when the U. S. fleet passed from the Pacific to the Atlantic ocean, and even more dramatic was the return passage of a large portion of the fleet in early May of that year. Both transits were made without the appearance of haste, but in record time.

Contrary to the general belief, the canal does not run due east and west, but zig-zags irregularly across the isthmus. Its operation consists in helping ships, however big and bulky, to ascend three water-steps (locks) from one ocean into the huge man-made Lake Gatun, from which they descend three other water-steps into the ocean at the canal's other end. The locks are so constructed that two vessels proceeding in opposite directions may go through the canal at the same time. Big ships occupy a whole lock, and smaller ships are wedged in like sardines. Once in the locks the ship's crew is shoved aside and the canal crew takes over.

The United States has sovereignty over the entire Canal Zone. Two cities stand guard at either gateway of the canal—Balboa at the Atlantic end and Panama at the Pacific end.

The canal was constructed during Theodore Roosevelt's administration by the U. S. army, with General Goethals as engineering chief and General Gorges in charge of public health. It was opened to commercial traffic August 15, 1915, and was declared formally completed July 12, 1920, during President Wilson's administration.

The Difference

Between the cost of Good and Cheap Printing

Small Boats to Dodge Subs by Intracoastal Route

Repeated suggestions that the gasoline shortage in the eastern seaboard states might be partly met by use of barges in the Intracoastal Waterway have brought this sheltered route into the news, especially so since the submarine menace. Intracoastal Waterway is a 3,500-mile route, mostly land-protected, from Boston along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts to the Rio Grande.

From Boston to New York the depth of the waterway is ample, but shelter from sea attack is limited to that provided by Cape Cod and Long Island, says the National Geographic society. From New York to Norfolk the route that will eventually take shape is by a wide, deep trans-Jersey canal from Sayreville on the Raritan to Bordentown on the Delaware, then through the industry-lined channel of the Delaware's upper tidewater to the Chesapeake and Delaware canal and into the Chesapeake bay.

Somehow Tramp Knew He Wasn't Addressing George

A tramp, coming down a country road in England, stopped a moment in meditation before a sign on which was written: "George and the Dragon." He then entered the tavern to which the sign was affixed and asked for the landlady.

"Noble lady," he began, "have you a meal and some old clothes to spare for a poor, tired and hungry man?"

"Not for the likes of you. Now go!" she said sternly. Then, seeing he desired to get another word with her, "Well?"

"Then please, ma'am, could I speak to George?"

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR WNU-2 Feature

But it was Eric Strom who lay upon the floor. There was a gun beside his hand.

Her green eyes were pleading from a chalk-white face. "Karl! Karl! Answer me! You didn't... You couldn't... Why that would be... Murder!" Karl Miller smiled grimly as he took a cigarette from the silver box on his desk. "Some people might call it that," he said without a trace of excitement.

Joan leaned weakly against the desk. She was beyond fear, beyond tears. There was a terrible silence in the office, a heavy dreadful silence. A silence intensified by Karl Miller's face, narrowed eyes, hard mouth. A silence made more tense by the stillness of Eric Strom's body upon the floor. Joan's mind slowly tried to put together the pieces of this horrible picture. Karl had shot Eric—killed him. Beyond that she knew nothing.

Her hand reached for the telephone. "I'm going to call the police!" Karl seized her arm with a violence that almost jerked it from its socket. "You will do nothing of the kind!" She stared at him. Was this the Karl Miller she knew? Was this hard-faced man the one who had held her tenderly and murmured "liebchen"?

Someone was pounding at the office door. Karl had looked it. Paul Sherman's voice came distinctly through the opaque glass panel. "Joan! What's going on in there? Let me in!"

Karl walked to the door and opened it. "There has been an unfortunate accident," he said calmly. Paul's expression did not change. "What happened?"

Karl Miller smiled a little as he regarded his white-faced manager. "Joan was perfectly justified. Eric has tried to annoy her before. You can testify to that yourself."

"Just what are you driving at?" Paul demanded. Joan tried to speak but her lips would not move. What was Karl saying? What did he mean?

"Joan shot Eric," Karl Miller stated. His words were like an electric shock. "I didn't! Karl, you know I didn't! You did it yourself! You shot him!"

She ran to Paul and clutched his arm. "Paul, you believe me, don't you?" Paul Sherman did not answer. He did not even look at her.

"Your fingerprints are on the gun," Karl said. "But you told me to pick it up." She could not believe her ears. Karl, the man she loved and trusted, had turned against her, accusing her of a murder he had committed. It was like some fantastic nightmare.

"I have no wish to turn you over to the police, Joan. We will forget about this little matter. No one need know what has happened." Rage blazed in her green eyes. "But I haven't done anything. I'm not afraid to go to the police! I'm going to tell them the whole story."

She was not speaking to the Karl Miller she had loved. This man was a stranger. "You will not go to the police!" His voice cut like a whip.

Paul Sherman stared straight ahead of him, seeming to see or hear nothing. "I will!" Joan cried hysterically, turning towards the door.

Karl's powerful arm stopped her and forced her roughly into a chair. "There are two reasons why you will not. The first—if you do I will testify that you shot Eric, and Paul will back me up."

Her pleading eyes turned to Paul. He would not fail her. But he said coolly, "I'm afraid that's right."

"But you can't! It isn't true! Karl, why are you doing this? Paul! Help me! I don't understand."

"Eric," Karl went on, "tried to double-cross me. You may observe for yourself what has happened to him. That is the second reason that you will do nothing."

Joan clutched the arms of her chair for support. She compressed her lips in a desperate attempt to control her emotions.

Karl Miller advanced towards her. "And if you double-cross me, you know what to expect. Now do you understand?"

"You wouldn't dare!" Joan said but the sightless eyes of Eric Strom refuted the statement.

She covered her face with her hands and wept. It couldn't be true. That wasn't Karl, her Karl! He must be driven by desperation to turn against her. It was some horrible mistake. In a moment it would be over. He would explain everything and hold her in his arms again.

But Karl was saying, "You know nothing! You will tell no one what has occurred here tonight. We will go on as if nothing has happened."

She wanted to laugh wildly, hysterically, "Go on as if nothing had happened?"

Karl wrapped the pistol in a handkerchief, put it in the safe, then motioned to Paul. "Give me a hand." Together they carried the lifeless Eric Strom from the office. Joan could hear them descending the fire escape, outside the back of the building. What would they do with Eric? The noise from the orchestra must have prevented the sound of the shot from disturbing the Club guests.

Joan stared at the telephone. She was alone. It would be easy to call the police—but she was afraid. She was afraid of the look in Karl Miller's eyes. There had been ruthless determination in those eyes. And in the safe lay the gun that had killed Eric. A gun bearing her fingerprints. Paul had said he would testify in support of Karl. What chance would Joan Leland have? The evidence was conclusively against her. What was behind this murder? Why Karl's attitude, Paul's sudden change of front?

She had no idea how long it was before Karl returned. He was alone. "Let us understand each other," he said, sitting down at his desk. "It would be most unfortunate if I were to become involved with the police. I am not an American citizen."

"You are a German?" Joan asked dully. "Naturally, as is everyone else associated with me here at the club."

"Paul, too?" "Of course, Paul, too," Karl Miller smiled as he leaned towards her. "You see we are engaged in certain activities which are necessarily very private."

Then at last Joan knew the truth. This was a spy ring. It must be. That explained everything—those mysterious letters to Mexico, Karl's reticence. The Club Elite was only a blind. But why was Karl telling her this?

"I trust you now," Karl said with a wry smile. "You are in much too deep to get out. Not only would you be held for murder, but you are implicated just as much as the rest of us. You recall the portfolio you delivered to the freighter?"

She stared at him without answering. "That envelope contained very valuable information. Information enough to convict you on many counts. You were seen delivering that envelope by several people. One of them happened to be Paul Sherman."

Little by little Joan Leland's confused brain began to see the picture. And she knew that what Karl said was true. She was in too deep to get out. But she must get out! She could not, would not continue to have anything to do with Karl Miller now that she knew the truth. A spy! So this was the mystery that she had once considered romantic and attractive! She looked at him now with loathing.

But Karl put a hand over hers. "Be sensible, Joan. You're hysterical at the moment but you'll be all right. You have nothing to worry about. I'm very fond of you. Is there any reason we should not go on?"

The girl leaped to her feet. "I hate you, Karl Miller! And no matter what you say, I'm not afraid of you!"

His hands were on her shoulders. "You don't mean that, liebchen!" (TO BE CONTINUED)

FIRST AID AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

USING CARBIDE RESIDUE FROM ACETYLENE BURNERS

"I HAVE a quantity of carbide residue from an acetylene welding outfit," writes a correspondent, "and have heard that I can make whitewash with it. How should I mix it?" Carbide residue is pure lime in a finely divided form, and can be used as a substitute for lime for many uses. As a whitewash it is excellent and can be substituted for hydrated lime in practically all of the formulas, using perhaps 50 per cent more. One excellent formula for weatherproof whitewash is made by mixing 60 pounds of carbide residue with water to form a cream. To this is added a solution of 1 pound of common salt and 1/2 pound of zinc sulphate in 1 gallon of boiling water, to which is added 1 gallon of skimmed milk. This solution is added to the carbide residue cream and stirred well.

Cracking Plaster

Question: In several houses that I have inspected lately, there are large cracks in the plaster walls or ceilings. How can I prevent this in building a new house with a cement block basement?

Answer: The usual cause of plaster cracking is settlement, which may be from the sinking of the foundations into the ground, or the shrinkage of the wood frame. Sinking of the foundation can be prevented by providing footings of a sufficient size to carry the weight. Settlement from the shrinkage of the timbers that might cause plaster cracking can be guarded against by the design of the framework. You can get information on this from the National Lumber Manufacturers association, Washington, D. C.

Smelly Containers

Question: I have received a very handsome kitchen utensil set, but cannot use the containers because of the odor picked up by sugar, coffee, etc. Washing does no good, nor baking soda in warm water, or airing. What can you suggest?

Answer: Try the effect of enclosing in each container a can of charcoal, such as is made for deodorizing refrigerators. These can be had at dime and hardware stores. Charcoal is an excellent absorber of odors, and should work well.

Burning Wood.

Question: We have steam heat. During the cool fall days, before the fire is started for the winter, will it be all right to burn wood in the furnace when heat is needed?

Answer: I do not advise it; for soot and other products of combustion might cause a serious clogging of the flues in the boiler and the chimney also. You would have to burn a great deal of wood to bring the water up to the boiling point. You will do much better to run a low coal fire.

Cleaning Drainboard

Question: How can I clean the drainboard of my kitchen sink? The dirt seems to stick in the grooves. Answer: It may be that your drainboard is not acid-proof and that the enamel has been damaged by acidity or the incorrect use of a strong drain cleaner. Try bleaching with a mild solution of Javelle water or something similar, or apply a paste made of household ammonia and a scratchless cleaning powder, allowing it to stand for several hours.

Refinishing a Floor

Question: I have removed the varnish from my floor, but find that after using a bleach it remains spotted. What should I do now?

Answer: Your best move will be to have the floor gone over with an electric floor machine which will remove all the spotted wood and will expose new wood, which will be easy to refinish. The floor can then be refinished with any one of the new and effective floor seals, finished, if you desire, by waxing.

Leaded Glass

Question: Can you give me the name of anything better than putty for leaded glass? The putty falls out so frequently.

Answer: Plastic roofing cement stiffened with dry portland cement can be used. This is black. For a white cement, use a half-and-half mixture of linseed oil and spar varnish, with a little japan drier, made into a stiff paste by the addition of powdered whiting. Or use white lead.

Storing Books

Question: Is it safe to store books in an attic that is hot in the summer-time? Is it safe to store books in a basement flat?

Answer: Summer heat will not do any great harm to books, but moisture will be most injurious. Storage of anything in a basement is never safe because the atmosphere is likely to be damp.

EVERY kind of cotton goods from dainty chintz to bold plaid gingham is being used for bedspreads. Most of these materials are about 36 inches wide and you will need 11 1/4 yards for a bed 54 inches wide. See diagrams for cutting dimensions.

Cut the center portions first; then the 18-inch side sections for the pillow cover; then the 10-inch strips for the pillow cover and spread. This leaves a 26-inch-wide strip for the side ruffles of the spread. If you make your own seam welting, cover cord with bias strips basted, as at A, and stitched with the cording foot, as at B.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all were out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Indistinct on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

SALVATION ARMY APPEAL EXTENDED IN BENNINGTON

W. J. LAWRENCE

In order to give the closest attention possible to the Salvation Army financial appeal now in progress Hon. Henry W. Wilson, chairman, has secured from the Salvation Army the services of W. J. Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence will commence solicitation within a few days.

W. J. Lawrence has held many important positions in the Salvation Army, having been in charge of several large cities and commanding some of its principal corps. He is from a very musical family and two of his children are Salvation Army Officers.

The citizens who have not made their returns by mail to the Treasurer, Donald C. Powers, are urgently requested to do so in order that time and expenses may be saved and thereby the greater good be accomplished by the money saved.

The Treasurer, Donald C. Powers, reports that it has been necessary to extend the Annual Salvation Army Campaign for funds in Bennington and District, owing to the fact that there are a large number of industries and other groups, together with new and old friends of the Salvation Army, who have not responded to the Annual Appeal. Also owing to the large number of prospects which necessitated a longer time for the making of personal calls.

Smell-Sound Pictures

Two Swiss inventors claim they have an invention that synchronizes 20 smells with sound and sight in a modern screen epic. They call their invention the "odorated talking picture."

They are enthusiastic about the way their invention makes movie dramas more vivid. They claim they can produce 5,000 smells with odorated apparatus but they don't advise any producer to put them all in one film. They refuse to tell how their device works.

Says 25,000 Tons of Wild Rubber Hidden in Weeds

BERKELEY, CALIF.—More than 25,000 tons of wild rubber is hidden in the stems and roots of rabbit brush, a weed that grows thick on alkali flats and other wastelands of the West, declares Prof. T. Harper Goodspeed, University of California botanist. He has called attention to this unutilized resource in messages to the federal government and the governor of California.

Rabbit brush is a shrub that grows from knee-high to twice the height of a man. Its rubber occurs in solid bits and shreds embedded in the tissues, as it does in guayule. Hence the same methods of harvesting and processing could be used that have been successful in extracting guayule rubber.

It is not claimed that rabbit brush rubber would be good enough to compete with the East Indian product, and it costs more to prepare; Professor Goodspeed estimates about 45 cents a pound.

Refuses to Put in Claim

For Goods Lost on Guam

WASHINGTON.—The Charles Green Sales company of New York has declined to accept reimbursement for merchandise in the marine post exchange at Guam which was lost when the island was captured by the Japanese, the navy said.

"We are not in the least bit interested in placing a claim for the amount due us from the post exchange at Guam island," Charles Green wrote the marine corps.

"Under the circumstances, may we suggest that the amount due us be used to buy a good-sized shell to blow the aggressor nation back to hell."

Crystal Has Electricity

It was discovered in the last century that if crystal of quartz or rock salt, is subjected to any stress or strain, its surface becomes electrically charged. Positive electricity is accumulated on one side, negative electricity on the opposite side of a thin crystal plate.

On the other hand, if a crystal plate is put between alternating electrical currents then the crystal material expands and contracts. In other words, the regularly spaced atoms of a crystal dance and swing in perfect rhythms. They are wonderful electrical oscillators. That is why they are used in radio communication devices.

Cancer Core Decreased

By X-Ray Treatment

A new technique in radium or X-ray treatments for external cancer was announced in the journal of the American Medical association. The innovation, called the "method of concentration," involves not only the amount of irradiation but also the area.

Dr. Max Cutler of Chicago, who originated the technique, reported it had a more pronounced effect on certain resistant forms of cancer of the mouth, pharynx and larynx than methods now in use.

He discovered some cancers, which had failed to respond to other forms of external irradiation, were reduced rapidly or in many instances disappeared under the new method.

Cancer's more resistant to radium treatment require a larger daily dose of rays and shorter total treatment, 12 days or less, Dr. Cutler learned.

He found also more powerful treatments could be given by gradually decreasing the diameter of the exposed area—something like focusing a spotlight first to make a large area and then reducing it slowly to a tiny spot.

The reason for this is that the core of a cancer is the most resistant to treatment, but if the whole area is exposed enough to destroy the core, there is danger of damaging healthy tissue.

Technique Cuts Pain

A radically new technique in the treatment of infantile paralysis, known as the Kenny method, has received the support of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, President Basil O'Connor revealed.

Named after Sister Elizabeth Kenny, an Australian nurse, the new method is a revolutionary departure from methods now employed in American hospitals. Its main point is abandonment of the use of splints.

Sister Kenny, who has been conducting studies at the University of Minnesota hospital and the Minneapolis General hospital since the summer of 1941, has been able to reduce pain and prevent deformity in some of the cases she has treated. The treatment primarily consists of gentle exercise and massage of the muscles and administration of hot packs and hot baths to victims in early stages of the disease.

How To Get the Most Benefit From Your Electric Lights

1. Eliminate colored bulbs, except for decorations. They absorb one-third of the light.
2. Replace dark shade linings with white, or very light ones, to reflect light instead of absorbing it.
3. Use one high-wattage bulb in place of several smaller ones of the same voltage. For instance: 100-watt bulb gives 50% more light than four 25-watt bulbs, and uses the same amount of current.
4. Have light source as near as possible to work, though be careful it is so placed that no glare, indirect or direct, is in your eyes.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE Bennetts of Broadway and Hollywood—Richard and his daughters, Constance, Joan and Barbara—have never appeared together on either stage or screen. But thanks to Joan's sense of humor they'll do it vicariously in Columbia's "The Wife Takes a Flyer." An old family picture album figures prominently in the script. With the consent of the director, Richard Wallace, Joan filled it with the oldest and funniest photographs of her father and sisters that she could find—and the glamorous Bennetts will appear as a group of sturdy Dutch country folk. Joan's the only one to appear personally; she co-stars with Franchot Tone.

Edmund O'Brien has left RKO Radio, where he's been for the last two years. Universal has bought his contract, and assigned him to the role opposite Deanna Durbin in "Forever Yours." He'll play an American volunteer flier with the Chinese army.

Ann Sheridan, whom Paramount discovered as a Texas kindergarten teacher in 1933, will return to that studio to play Texas Guinan, famous night club owner of Broadway in the roaring Twenties, who greeted patrons with "Hullo, sucker!" She wanted the role, Paramount wanted her for it, Warner Bros. wanted Fred MacMurray for "Princess O'Rourke," so a bit of swapping went on; now everybody's happy.

It isn't often that you can see a government official fitting about the screen in a woman's nightgown, that's several sizes too large for him, but you'll be able to in "They All Kissed the Bride" unless changes are made. The actor's Melvyn Douglas, occupying an important post with the Office of Civilian Defense. He wrote Director Alexander Hall asking that the scene be deleted, but it's part of the plot.

Cecil B. DeMille, when he assembled, edited and produced "Land of Liberty" for the movie industry, reserved the right to designate one war charity to receive $5,000 of the receipts. He recently gave it to the Queen Wilhelmina Fund for Dutch war relief. Appropriate, as he's a descendant of a family that emigrated from Holland in 1658.

In broadcast parlance, a shot in the arm is any new situation devised by a script writer to put new life into a serial. "Valiant Lady" got one recently, but it happened also to be a shot in the heart: Joan Blaine, widowed one week, met a young millionaire the next!

Dorothy Lamour is going back to 1900 when she begins work in "Galveston," a spectacular production which will have its climax in the Galveston flood. Two of her films, "Beyond the Blue Horizon" and "Road to Mandalay," with Hope and Crosby, await release.

Success story: Five years ago writer-director-producer Charles Martin paid Martha Scott $29 for playing a small role on one of his "Five Star" programs. Later, he gave her more opportunity and more pay. She made good on the stage and on the screen—and when she appeared recently on the CBS Playhouse in his version of "Bachelor Mother" her check was for $2,000.

Here's a bit of news that not even Dolly is in the know of. It's in "Candide" that the MacDermid takes a little trip to Rio de Janeiro. Her most recent role was "Flamingo" from the "Black and White" series. Miss Waters' next, Miss MacDermid going operatic.

ODDS AND ENDS—Ken Niles, "Big Town" announcer, was the first member of his profession to present movie celebrities over the air. Eddie Cantor has decided that for the duration his "Time to Smile" broadcasts will originate exclusively from army camps. Gracie Allen's home is filling up with toy ducks, sent by listeners for Gracie's air bird, "Herman." Martha Tilton, songstress on the Ransom Sherman show, has been named "Sweetheart of the Auxiliary Fire Fighters" in the Los Angeles area. Brian Donlevy, off four days from "Take Island," headed for his tangster mine and went to work.

Household Hints

by Lynn Chambers

Fruit Plate Enhances the Bride's First Dinner
(See Recipes Below.)

Cooking for Two
Now that the honeymoon is over, the serious business of housekeeping begins. Most brides manage well with the general cleaning routines, but marketing and cooking presents some problems.

No bride need feel alarmed, however, about cooking or marketing for two, for it is often just as much of a problem and feed two people as it is a dozen. To help out this year's bride, I've formulated a few rules by which she can start guiding her culinary adventures.

First, the marketing. How, exactly does one use the food dollar? It's done by fifths: one-fifth of the money should go for purchasing fruits and vegetables; the next fifth for milk and cheese; and the bride should remember to provide a pint of milk for her brand new husband and herself, every day, in drinking or cooking. Another fifth goes for meat, eggs and fish, and still another fifth provides the bread and cereals. The last fifth is used for purchasing fats like butter or enriched margarine, sugars and accessories.

The above yardstick will help the bride plan her well-balanced meals. Purchasing fruits, vegetables, milk, butter and cheese will be simple if she follows the guide.

The wise bride will buy carefully, planning menus in advance so there will be no waste and all leftovers will be used in menus.

Before she markets, she makes a list, looks through the advertisements to decide where she can get the most for her money. After making sure her list is complete, she goes to the grocers to do her buying. In this way she does not have to make too many trips and she can save her own time and that of her grocer. She knows there is a premium on time in wartime.

The bride also deplores waste, especially in buying meats. To aid her in making out the meat list for two, I have made out the following:

- Beef:
2 club steaks
2 cube steaks
1 T-Bone steak
2 rib steaks
1 pound round steak (for swiss steak)
2 pounds pot roast
1 flank steak (for stuffing)
1 pound ground beef (for loaf)
1/2 pound ground beef (for patties and casseroles)
1/2 pound liver
4 large frankfurters

- Pork:
2 chops (butterfly, loin or shoulder)
1 1/2 pounds spareribs
4 to 6 slices thin Canadian bacon
1/2 pound ham slice
2 pounds fresh loin roast

Lynn Says:

Here are the rules by which to substitute honey and corn syrup for sugar in your recipes.

In using honey, substitute 3/4 to 1 cup of honey for each cup of granulated sugar, but reduce the liquid in the recipe 1/4 cup for each cup of honey used.

In using corn syrup, substitute 2 cups of corn syrup for each cup of granulated sugar. Reduce the liquid in the recipe by one-fourth.

If you wish to substitute corn syrup for only part of the sugar you may substitute 1 cup of corn syrup for each 1/2 cup of sugar and reduce your liquid one-eighth.

Because of the difference in flavors of substitute products, be prepared to have a slight change of flavor in the food you prepare with them.

Honey cakes and cookies, if allowed to ripen, will have better flavor.

Poultry:
One broiler usually serves two people. It is very often possible to buy certain pieces of fowl, especially chicken, and you can decide how much of each piece according to your appetite. For frying, a 3-pound chicken is just about right.

A simple dish for one of the bride's first dinners is this Swedish meat loaf. It's simple as first grade spelling to make, and certain to please the brand new husband. If there is some leftover, the loaf is very delicious served cold in sandwiches or sliced with potato salad:

- *Swedish Meat Loaf.
(Serves 2)
1/2 cup twice-ground beef
1/2 cup twice-ground pork
1/4 cup grated potato
1 tablespoon grated onion
3 tablespoons milk
Salt and pepper

Mix meat thoroughly, add onion, potato, milk and salt, and pepper. Blend thoroughly, and shape into loaf. Place in a buttered loaf pan and bake 3/4 of an hour in a moderate (350-degree) oven. Baste at 15-minute intervals. To make gravy (after loaf has baked) take 2 tablespoons of the drippings, blend with 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, a few grains of pepper, and then mix in slowly 1 cup of milk.

*Asparagus.
Take 1/2 of a pound of asparagus, clean, add 2 1/2 cups boiling water with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Boil uncovered, 15 minutes, drain, and serve with melted butter.

*Fruit Plate.
Make a circle of orange slices on a large individual platter. In the center of the wreath, place a lettuce cup, fill with avocado balls, a devilled egg and watercress.

Use halved strawberries for one fruit mound at the side of the plate, raspberries and blackberries for the second berry patch, with a cluster of cherries for further variety.

Select easy-to-peel Valencia oranges for slicing purposes. Bride's Biscuits are exquisitely simple to make if you use this recipe:

- Bride's Biscuits.
(Makes 18 Biscuits)
2 cups enriched, sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 to 4 tablespoons shortening
1/2 to 3/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine

Sift dry ingredients together, cut in shortening. Add milk to form a soft mixture. Turn on lightly floured board and knead 1/2 minute. Pat out to 1/2 inch thickness. Spread with 1 tablespoon butter. Fold over and spread top with remaining butter. Cut with a 2-inch cutter. Bake on a baking sheet in a hot (450-degree) oven 10 to 12 minutes.

Household Hints

Gaioches should be stuffed with paper and wrapped separately when storing. The idea is to keep the rubber surfaces from touching as summer's heat will vulcanize rubber.

Copper and brass utensils are dangerous to use if not kept perfectly clean. Rub spot with hot vinegar and salt, lemon rind and salt, tomato juice, rhubarb juice or hot sour milk.

Chromium plate is a soft metal. To clean simply wipe with a damp cloth.

Painting the bottoms, inside and out, of garbage cans prolongs their service.

To wash rayons use mild, lukewarm suds, squeezing them through the material. Don't rub or wring the garment. Iron it slightly damp on the wrong side.

Rust Heaves Buildings

As iron pyrite begins to rust on exposure to air, and this rust occupies 13 times as much space as the pyrite itself, buildings constructed on soil containing such sulphide soon have a "heaving foundation," says Collier's. This trouble has been experienced by one large factory in Cleveland, where the basement floors were raised as much as 12 inches in the first 12 years.

ANOTHER TAX IDEA!

It's all done by suction pump! The treasury department has proposed that congress require that 10 per cent of your wages and other income be deducted at the source and paid to Uncle Sam for income taxes!

No pains! No sleepless nights! No complicated mathematical problems! No troublesome routines! No blanks. (Just come in and bring a gallon of blood.)

Randolph Paul, the treasury expert behind the latest idea, says there will be 28,000,000 novice taxpayers under our new laws, all in the lower brackets, and that, as few of them can save any money for taxes, the only way to collect is to take it at the source. It's a perfect tax-collection plan. Ball-bearing, high-speed and frictionless, it picks up the lint off the rugs and the dandruff off your shoulders.

A baby can use it as well as an adult.

You pay through the nose. Under federal nose control.

It makes it easier for everybody except the bobs and the bookkeeping department. Well, they're too groggy to notice a little extra work anyhow.

Under Mr. Paul's proposal the boss handles the whole business. He does the deducting, answers your squawks, tries to smooth your wounded feelings and then prepares certificates, affidavits and miscellaneous papers to be filed and forwarded to all necessary addresses.

The employer gets carbon copies while the glee club softly sings "Among My Souvenirs."

Not that you don't have to bother to make out a tax blank. You have to do that just the same as ever. The new plan makes it more exciting. If, when you figure up what you owe Uncle Sam, you find the 10 per cent share of your salary has overpaid the tax, you apply for a refund. If you find you're still shy a few dollars you send 'em in.

(And if you're still baffled you retire to a cool dry place and await further advice.)

It probably never will be passed. But if it is, the folks will take it without undue lamentations. War is war and it costs money.

The government again—this time through Donald M. Nelson—warns that autos may be seized unless every driver cuts down his speed and uses his tires as little as possible. PRECISELY 22 years ago the Gray Eagle led Cleveland to her last pennant—her only pennant in some 50 years and more.

The Gray Eagle is better known as Tris Speaker—one of the great outfielders, one of the great ball players, of all baseball time. The Gray Eagle was the flying hawk who prevented Ty Cobb from leading the American league 13 consecutive seasons. This makes Tris half-eagle and half-hawk—especially ball hawk.

"I'd like to tell you something about this kid Lou Boudreau," Tris said.

"Not a bad manager," we suggested.

"Not a bad manager," the Eagle almost screamed. "If he has the chance to keep going—I'm talking about the war now—he'll be one of the best that baseball ever knew."

"Here's a 24-year-old kid who is smart, game, crafty, forceful, respected and admired by every man on his club—and a corking ball player on the side."

"But the war is far more important than Boudreau or baseball. No one knows what will happen a little later on. I'm just trying to tell you what Boudreau might have been in normal times."

How It Happened

"When Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club, was looking around for a new manager," Speaker continued, "he asked me about three or four possibilities. They were all good men."

"But I asked Alva, 'Why go away from your own club?'"

"Who would that be?" Mr. Bradley asked.

"A kid named Boudreau," I said. "How can you find a better man?"

"Lou's only 24," Bradley said.

"If he were 21 I'd still like him."

In a year or two he'll be one of the best in baseball. Take him and give him a chance."

"At that time we were not at war. I figured then that Boudreau would need a year or two, or maybe three, to pick up the answers. He's picked them up, with the material he had."

"Lou took over a club that wasn't so hot last season—even with Bob Feller winning 25 games. Lou didn't have Feller around this spring. Feller has a much bigger job to look after."

Cleveland, minus Bob Feller, looked to be one of the major flops. Feller meant Cleveland. Bob had won 24 games in 1939, 27 games in 1940, and 25 games in 1941. When you lose a guy who can win 76 games for you in three years, you've lost more than your shirt!

Boudreau's Job

"When Boudreau took his Cleveland club south this spring, he understood what Feller's absence meant. He knew the psychological effect. 'I don't think,' he told his squad, 'this is a one-man club. Let's prove it.'"

"I don't know where Cleveland will finish this season. Everyone who knows baseball also knows that the Yankees have most of the good ball players. How can you beat a club that has Joe Gordon, Bill Dickey, Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller, and such pitchers as Bonham, Ruffing, Russo, Chandler, Breuer, Donald and a few more."

"But in this first year, with Feller missing, the Indians are still up there giving the Yankees a battle."

"And don't forget there are hardly any members of this Cleveland squad who could even make the Yankee team."

About the Eagle

We turned the pages back to 1908, only 34 years ago, when Tris was playing with Little Rock. That was our first meeting. The Gray Eagle was a great ball player then.

Time has taken nothing from him. He has been beyond all question the greatest fielding outfielder in the game's history—and I can give you Jimmy McAleer, Fred Clarke, Jimmy Sheckard (King Lardner's pick), Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Joe Jackson, and several others.

And normally Tris was better than a .350 hitter. Beyond this, the Gray Eagle from Hubbard City, Texas, has had more brains than most of the tribe.

Speaker has had the personality that belongs only to a few around the top rung. He is now in his fifties, all gray and partly bald, but still more ready and willing to get in any form of war work where he might be useful. At present he is on a draft board in Cleveland.

"where," he tells you, "we are playing no favorites." And he's not just saying that.

Tris Speaker

Jimmy Foxx

JAMES EMORY FOXX, latest addition to the Chicago National league ball club, may turn out to be one of the soundest investments the Cubs have made in recent years.

Foxx, 35 and in his 17th consecutive season of major league baseball, will serve a double purpose with the Cubs. He is expected to supply a much-needed batting punch and he brings to the North Side club one of the greatest present-day baseball personalities.

The rugged first baseman, two-time American league batting champion, was purchased from the Boston Red Sox after he was passed up by the other seven league clubs at the waiver price of $7,500, thus permitting his sale to the Cubs.

In 1941, Jimmy finished with an average of .300, driving in 105 runs and thereby completing a record of 13 consecutive seasons in which he batted in more than 100 runs. During his American league career, he led the league three times in that particular department. While with the Athletics he marks of 169 in 1932 and 163 in 1933 led the league. In 1938, with Boston, he drove in 175 runs and hit .349, the latter mark also leading the league.

Start of Career

A right-handed hitter and thrower, Foxx began his professional career in 1924 as a catcher with Easton, Pa., in the Eastern Shore league. The Athletics bought him the following year and sent him to Providence for seasoning. He returned to the Athletics the following year and remained with them until the close of the 1935 season when he was sold to Boston for a reported $150,000.

Foxx has been one of baseball's great home run artists. His top mark was reached in 1932 when he recorded 58 circuit clouts. Last season he drove out 19 home runs.

Jim Gallagher, general manager of the Cubs, is well pleased with the deal. He knows the club needs a wallop—and thinks that Foxx is the man to supply it. He knows, too, that Foxx is past his peak, but that he still is dangerous. The Cubs have some excellent minor league hitters in tow, but they haven't produced as yet. Foxx may spark them into a drive that will bring results.

Luck Changes

For Slammin' Sammy

Samuel Jackson Snead, upon whom the gods of golf have frowned for years, finally has proved to the satisfaction of everyone concerned that "pressure" golf is down his alley.

In capturing the 25th national championship of the Professional Golfers' association with a 2-and-1 decision over Corporal Jimmy Turnesa, Snead had to win the hard way. He was three down after the first 23 holes, but managed to summon up his best shots to beat Corporal Jimmy Turnesa with a five under par for the next 12 holes.

Since 1936, when Sam came out of West Virginia with a sweet swing and power to burn, great things have been predicted for him. But Sammy proved somewhat of a disappointment.

It all started in 1937 at Detroit. He had scored 283 in his first bid for the National Open championship. It was in the bag. But Ralph Guldahl, who was smoking hot, cracked through with a 281.

Then, in 1938, at Shawnee-on-Deleware, Snead went into the final for the PGA title, against Paul Runyan, whose average drives lacked 50 yards of Sam's usual poke. Runyan whipped him unmercifully. Snead didn't win a hole until the 24th, and ended up on the short end of an 8-and-7 score—the worst drubbing in PGA finals.

The following year Snead made history. He took an eight on the last hole of the National Open at Philadelphia when a par five would have meant victory. That horrible eight will live forever in Sam's memory.

In 1940, at Hershey, Pa., Byron Nelson joined the PGA championship ranks by winning the title at the expense of Snead, the luckless. Snead is still wondering how he lost this one. He threw a final round of 68, five under par, at Nelson and it didn't do him any good. Nelson outplayed him. He turned loose a couple of thunderbolts when they were needed.

It hurt Sam to lose that one. The West Virginia slugger played good golf. He didn't fold up at a critical moment like he had done in the past. But still he managed to lose.

Treat Constipation This Gentler Way!

Many folks say that almost as bad as constipation are harsh cathartics and purges. That's because many medicinal laxatives work this way: they either prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body.

Now comes news of a gentler and pleasanter way of treating constipation, for the millions of people with normal intestines whose trouble is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. This way is by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, and drinking plenty of water.

ALL-BRAN, unlike many medicinal laxatives, acts principally on the contents of the colon and helps you to have easy, normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, better see your doctor.

The War isn't fought in Fox Holes alone

IT'S fought in the mind. It's fought with a will to win. It's fought with a belief in a cause worth dying for.

That will, that belief, is known as morale.

Our enemies have had years of indoctrination. They have been conditioned to believe themselves part of a "new order" . . . to which the contribution of their lives is small but all-important. They believe themselves cogs in a vast machine.

Our soldiers do not fight that way—because they do not live that way. Theirs is the belief in the sanctity of the individual.

To maintain their morale in the American way, the USO has devoted all its time and energy since practically the beginning of conscription.

It has done this by staffing and maintaining club houses near all training camps and in our outlying possessions from Alaska to the Caribbean.

Today its work is far greater than ever, its need for funds to carry on more than doubled.

The USO needs your help more than ever before!

High government and military officials—including General MacArthur—have praised the work done by the USO and recognized its importance in the war effort.

But it needs recognition from you—recognition in the way of dollars and cents. For the six national agencies which comprise the USO are publicly supported.

Now above all times, to make your dollars count, give to the USO!

Send your contribution to your local USO Committee or to National Headquarters, USO, Empire State Building, New York, N. Y.

TASKER'S

Hillsboro

George B. Colby, Jr., has resigned his position at the Monadnock Paper mill at Bennington.

Chief of Police Arthur Jackson expects to be called in the selective service some time in July.

Pvt. Joseph Holley spent the week-end at his home here. He is stationed in Rhode Island.

Word was received this past week that Pvt. Robert Sterling of the U. S. Marine Corps is now in Londonderry, Ireland.

Howard Smith, who graduated from the grammar school this week, left today, Thursday, for Lewiston, Me., where he will spend his summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Tucker visited relatives in Walpole on Saturday.

Joseph Zoski, who has enlisted in the Naval Reserve, will report for duty on Monday.

A very welcome rain struck Hillsboro on Sunday night, which was a great help to local gardeners.

New time tables have been issued by the Granite Stages and the Whitney Bus Service for June 15th. Both companies serve Hillsboro and vicinity. The Granite Stages run from Hillsboro to Peterboro and connect with buses for Boston and Vermont. The Whitney Bus Service runs from Concord to Keene direct, connecting with the Granite Stages at Hillsboro.

Edward Raines of Schenectady, N. Y., was in town on Saturday to attend his mother's auction sale.

Haying season is on. The great drawback is the scarcity of farm help this year. Many farmers will be cutting hay all through the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown of Lebanon and Miss Helen Scruton of Peterboro were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Scruton over the week-end.

The tragic death of Benjamin Pierce Cheney of Boston, who was found dead in an Arizona desert this past week, brings to mind that his father, Benjamin Pierce Cheney, Sr., was a native of Hillsboro and was born at the Lower Village. He was one of the founders and the largest stockholder of the American Express Co. His start in the express business was made from this town in a small way, first as a stage driver from which he branched out with his own express company. He was also connected with the "Overland Mail" and the Wells-Fargo.

This is a speedy age. Even the gardens are in a rush this year. John Tasker picked his first peas on June 15. I also had peas for dinner from Frank's garden on the same day. The haying season is ahead of time too. Arthur Whitney has cut a lot of his own hay and Frank's also, and got it dry and in the barn before June 15.

Mrs. Mildred Porter of Milledgeville, Ga., arrived in town the first of the week and is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Story. Mrs. Porter and her mother, Mrs. Amy Stanley, motored from Georgia to New York with friends, then came by train to Boston, where Mrs. Stanley will spend the summer with her son. Mrs. Porter visited her husband's mother in St. Johnsbury, Vt., before coming here.

In his pulpit Henry Ward Beecher once opened a letter addressed to him and on the sheet of paper was written the one word "Fool." He mentioned the incident to his congregation, and then quietly added: "Now I have known many an instance of a man writing a letter and forgetting to sign his name; but as far as I can recall this is the only instance I have ever seen of a man signing his name and forgetting to write the letter."

TRI-HI-Y NEWS

This past weekend the Tri-Hi-Y Girls spent at Mr. Nissen's "Hillsboro Camp." Through Mr. and Mrs. Nissen's kindness, we girls were able to spend a very delightful weekend and all camp equipment was available for our use. All we girls extend a very hearty thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Nissen.

The following girls enjoyed the weekend: Jacqueline Halladay, Edith Flanders, Eleanor Jackson, Bernice Coad, Ruth Mellen, Harriett Sanduski, Doreen Daymond, Lillian Franz, Louise Teixeira, Mary York, Bernice Goodwin, Angelina Stamatelos, Sylvia Feldblum, Louise Duefield, Natalie Cote, Thelma Marshall, Louise Carter, Theresa Langlois, Ruth Semerjian, Louise Goodwin, Edith York, Sally Knowlton, Betty Thibodeau with Miss Downing and Miss Greenwood. The girls were housed in "Power House," "Dog House" and "Bug House," overlooking the lake.

All meals were prepared, served, etc. by the girls. We girls enjoyed our meals immensely and always were very hungry at every meal.

We enjoyed swimming, canoeing, sun bathing, dancing, hiking, bicycling, singing, tennis, mountain climbing, movies shown through Mr. Nissen's kindness, and many other types of entertainment. This weekend proved that a very small amount of sleep is really necessary, or so it seemed both Friday and Saturday nights.

We are hoping to make a camping trip one of the outstanding annual events for the Tri-Hi-Y Girls.

Last week at our meeting the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Irene Johnson; Vice President, Louise Teixeira; Treasurer, Natalie Cote; Secretary, Theresa Langlois.

Our last meeting will be this week with the induction of our new club officers.

This year has been a very happy, pleasant and most successful one for the club.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

The Convention to Revise the Constitution, sitting at Concord September 23 to September 26, 1941, voted to submit to the qualified voters of the State of New Hampshire at the biennial election to be held November 3, 1942, the following questions:

1. Do you approve of amending the Constitution to reduce the membership of the House of Representatives to not more than 40, and not less than 35, and to require for each representative additional to the first twice the number of inhabitants required for the first, with the provision that a town or ward which is not entitled to a representative all of the time may send one a proportionate part of the time, and at least once in every ten years, as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?
2. Do you approve of amending the Constitution so as to empower the legislature to provide for absentee voting at biennial, state, or city elections by voters who are unable to vote at the regular polling places by reason of physical disability or absence from the city or town of which they are inhabitants, as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?
3. Do you approve of amending the Constitution so as to empower the legislature, for the purpose of encouraging conservation of the forest resources of the State, to provide for special assessments, rates, and taxes on growing wood and timber, as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?
