Musical Comedy To Be Presented At Bennington

Are you going to the entertainment to be given in the town hall on July 7th at 8 p.m.? This entertainment is sponsored by the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary to Frank W. Butler Camp 35 for the National War Victory Fund. During World War No. 1 a sum of $26,000 was raised and used to purchase, equip and deliver fourteen ambulances to France. It has not been specified for what purpose this money will be used. The decision will be made by the government.

So that we may all help in this project, Miss Annie Lindsay has written and will produce "School Daze" a Musical Comedy. Miss Lindsay has produced and written many entertainments and we know it will be good. The characters are as follows:—

Mortimer Snerd . . . . . Robert Wilson
 Percival . . . . . Richard Clymer
 Happy . . . . . Charles Lindsay
 Three "little" maids, Mrs. Clarence Edmunds, Mrs. Edward French and Mrs. Lawrence Parker
 School Board, Mrs. Aaron Edmunds, Mrs. Milan Parker and Lawrence Parker
 Teacher . . . . . Annie Lindsay
 Chorus—Mae Sheldon, Josephine Cuddemi, Margaret Edmunds, Mary Korkonis, Mrs. Joseph Diamond, Clarence Edmunds and Lawrence Parker, Jr.
 Accompanist, Mrs. J. Herbert Lindsay

The evening will be well spent, we feel sure, if you come and enjoy this entertainment and at the same time swell the fund so sorely needed for war time supplies. Miss Annie Lindsay has given her time and talents unstintingly to raising money for war time needs.

BENNINGTON

Christine De Bernado of Keene has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Church. Mrs. Church returned to Keene with her.

Francis Porter, who had a bad burn on his foot, is nearly recovered and Earl Barnett, who had an infection on his foot, is better, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cashion are announcing the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Cashion is at home. Mr. and Mrs. William Cashion are announcing the birth of a son. Mrs. Cashion is in the Peterboro Hospital. The two Mr. Cashions are brothers. The babies were born only about a day apart.

Summer Preachers Announced For Deering Church

The Deering Community church (Congregational) is to have a distinguished group of summer supply preachers at the regular Sunday morning services during the next two months.

The first of these services which will be held on Sunday, July 5, at 11 o'clock Daylight Saving time will have as the preacher Rev. Douglas Horton, D.D., General Secretary and Minister of the General Council of the Congregational and Christian Churches, U. S. A., New York. He has just concluded leading the bi-annual sessions of the Congregational General Council held at the University of N. H. at Durham.

All interested in the summer services are invited to attend. The list of speakers and dates is as follows:

July 5: Rev. Douglas Horton, D.D., General Secretary and Minister of the General Council of the Congregational and Christian Churches, U. S. A., New York, N. Y.

July 12: Rev. Hugh Vernon White, D.D., Secretary, American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions (Congregational), Boston, Mass. He will be remembered by many as a former pastor some years ago of the Smith Memorial church of Hillsboro.

July 19: Prof. Amos N. Wilder, D.D., Andover-Newton Theological Seminary, Newton, Mass.

July 26: Rev. William S. Abernethy, D.D., former president, Northern Baptist Convention, Washington, D. C.

Aug. 2: Rev. Arthur O. Rinden, Ph.D., American Board, Foochow, China.

Aug. 9: Rev. Martin L. Goslin, Franklin Street Congregational Church, Manchester, N. H.

Aug. 16: Dr. Harry N. Holmes, Secretary, World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, New York, N. Y.

Aug. 23: Rev. Daniel A. Poling, D.D., Grace Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, Pa.

Aug. 30: Rev. W. S. K. Yaeple, D.D., formerly Lake Avenue Baptist church, Rochester, N. Y.

Sept. 6: Rev. W. C. Sipe, Pastor of Deering Community church and Associate Secretary, N. H. Congregational Conference.

ANTRIM LOCALS

Miss Frances Tibbals was at home from Cambridge over the week-end.

Sergeant Lawrence Pratt has been at home at Robert Hill's on furlough from Patterson Field, Ohio.

Miss Mary Huntoon has gone from Maplehurst Inn where she has been stopping temporarily, to live at Ross Roberts'.

Weekly Letter by George Proctor Fish and Game Conservation Officer

Listen to this one you fellows who like to hunt pheasants. Monday morning E. S. Gould of the State Dept. and who is also connected with the Federal Govt. brought me 50 adult ringnecks. He had 300 in the lead and the others were for Cole, Barnard, Willey, Martin, Tuttle. All the 300 were planted in southern N. H. These were from the yards of Prince Toumanoff at Hooter Farm, Hancock.

This fall, Mr. Gould tells us, New Hampshire will have the biggest stocking of pheasants it ever had.

Last Sunday was Father's Day and with me it was—I got tied and soaked as usual. Cards and letters came from California, New York, Mass., and way stations. Most of the children and grandchildren were at home for the day. The two children and two grandchildren in California were greatly missed.

Last week was a strenuous one for me as I was on the go every minute. I did take time out to attend the graduation of one of my girls from the local high school. It was a brilliant affair. In coming from the hall one man said to me, "How many more children have you got to graduate from this school?" I replied one to go. He replied, "Well I have been coming to these exercises for years and there has always been a Conrad, Burke or a Proctor in the class. Big families is what's keeping 'em a flying."

Did you ever hear of Otto Luther of Fitchburg, Mass.? Well, he is a regular fellow and a good friend of mine. He speaks my language and is a 100% sport. He owns a nice home in New Ipswich and had rather be up there in old clothes than to be sitting in his office as the new president of the Iver Johnson Sporting Co. of Fitchburg. He gave me a fine set of the maps of this part of the world issued by the Govt. Does he love to fish.

Mrs. A. W. Derby of Peterboro while at their camp at Sunset Lake last Sunday found a six pound loon dead in the lake. No marks were found on the bird and it's a mystery how it met its ending.

Zephyr Lake in Greenfield showed up big last Sunday and the pickeral taken were worth looking at. One woman caught a small turtle which she did not enjoy.

You fellows in the service listen to this one. In the past few weeks I have heard many complaints that people have written to the boys in the service and never got an answer. No doubt many of the letters do go astray but it seems funny that so many of them would. I know women who last Christmas sent candy and food with plenty of smokes and never a postcard saying they were received. Postage is free now to you fellows so be sure and answer the letters from the home folks. They appreciate a letter as much as you do.

Here we have a nice long letter from Camp Bowie, Texas, from Pvt. Noel A. Sweeney of Peterboro. He likes the army all right but he don't like the country. He is not struck on (K. P.) duties. He has a good word for the U. S. O. and he says the boys all like it. He is in the Dixie Division and he says they have a swell bunch of officers. His address is Co. A, 167th Inf., APO 31st Div. Camp Bowie, Texas. Thanks, Noel.

If the rest of the country is doing as well as they are right in my district there will be no more rubber shortage. School's out and the boys are working overtime pulling old tires out of the rivers and dumps and the garage men are having a hard time trying to find a place to store it. Two very young fellows last Saturday in Milford pulled down $7.80 for old tires brought in for the drive.

180 lbs. of tinfol from Harry Buttrick the well known beagle hound man and Perry Wilson, Supt. of the Cemetery in Fitchburg. Also a nice lot from Paul and Eugene Laro, two young fellows on the Intervale road. Tinfol is now very scarce and from now on we can't expect so much. This is for the crippled children and we thank you for same.

Word comes from Peterboro that Ray Sweeney of that town caught a 17½ inch squawtail in that town a few days ago. As usual it was "Over There."

ANTRIM LOCALS

Mrs. Ellerton Edwards is spending a week with friends in Henniker.

Antrim Garden Club will hold their regular meeting Monday evening at Library hall. The garden back of the Library will be visited and flower arrangements will be discussed. Members are requested to bring any flowers or containers, which they would like to present as a problem for discussion.

Harvey Black, who has been stationed at Dow Field, Army Air Base at Bangor, Maine, has been advanced from Junior Aircraft Instrument Mechanic to Aircraft Instrument Mechanic. He has now been chosen as an instructor at the Civil Service School in Brewer, Maine, and has taken up his duties there.

Vacation school started Wednesday with classes from 9 to 11:30 A. M. in the Presbyterian vestry. The July group is for children from five through eight and in August will be for children from that age on through twelve. There is no charge. Work is under the direction of Miss Phyllis Benner of Merrimack with local young ladies assisting.

Mary W. Hurlin Becomes Bride Of William K. Glen

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Hurlin of 25-36 79th street, Jackson Heights, N. Y., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Wood Hurlin, to William King Glen of Rochester, N. Y., in New York City, on May 25th, 1942. Miss Hurlin is until her marriage a student at the School of Nursing, Yale University at New Haven. She is a graduate of Pembroke College, Brown University, class of 1941. She prepared for college at Friends Seminary in New York City and was a graduate of P. S. 89 Jackson Heights.

Mr. Glen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Glen of 43 Dale road, Rochester, N. Y. He was a student at Brown University until his enlistment as an aviation cadet in the U. S. Navy in the summer of 1941. He is now a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps, having completed training as a naval aviator at the Naval Air Station at Opa Lika, Fla., in June. He is now assigned to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., as an instructor, where he will report July 7. Mrs. Glen will accompany him.

MacArthur Honors Doctor From Hancock, N. H.

Dr. E. Orton Hubbard of Hancock, N. H., first lieutenant with the Medical Corps in Australia, was the first from this section to receive a citation from Gen. Douglas MacArthur for bravery in the service there. He was born in Hancock and is the son of Mrs. Catherine (Darcy) Hubbard of this town and the late Edward O. Hubbard, who came here from Cambridge, Mass. more than 80 years ago.

Dr. Hubbard was graduated from Hancock High School in 1932. His farm life helped to develop the resourcefulness which enabled him to save two lives, for which the MacArthur citation was given. He was graduated from the University of New Hampshire in 1936 and from Tufts Medical School in 1940, spending internships in the Newton Hospital and one in Providence, R. I.

Dr. Hubbard has four sisters: Mrs. Edward Perkins of Weston, Mass.; Mrs. Raymond Lloyd of Winchendon, Mass.; Mrs. John Haas of Hancock; Miss Anna Hubbard of Weston and Waltham, Mass.

ANTRIM VACATION SCHOOL OPENED WEDNESDAY

Under leadership of Miss Phyllis Benner of Merrimack, who graduated recently from a theological school in Newton, Mass., the Antrim Community Vacation school opened in the Presbyterian vestry Wednesday, July 1 at 9 a. m.

The committee which has been making the arrangements includes Rev. R. H. Tibbals, pastor of the Baptist church; Rev. William McV. Kirtledge, pastor of the Presbyterian church; Mrs. Jessie Black, Mrs. Carroll Johnson, Mrs. Raymond Grant, Mrs. Wendell Ring, Mrs. Andrew Fuglestad, Mrs. Everett Chamberlain, Mrs. William Nay, Mrs. William Richardson, Mrs. John Griffin, Mrs. Benjamin Butterfield and Mrs. Fred Dunlap.

ANTRIM LOCALS

Fresh Nazi Offensive Forces Red Army To Yield Key Ground Back of Kharkov; Rommel Drive Perils All Middle East; U. S. Names Leader for European Zone

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

The strategic importance of the Aleutian islands, off Southwest Alaska, is indicated by the above map. From Kiska, near the western end of the chain, to Tokyo the distance is less than 2,000 miles. Dutch Harbor lies 2,400 miles northwest of San Francisco. Jap landings in the fog-blanketed Aleutians have focused America's attention on that area.

RUSSIAN WAR: Nazis Pay Dearly

Marshal Timoshenko's Red army had sustained blow after blow on the Kharkov front as General von Bock's Nazi hordes tried a breakthrough to swing around Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields. Stubbornly resisting German forces numerically and mechanically superior to them, the Russians had been compelled to fall back to new lines. Here they had withstood heavy attacks of tanks, infantry and planes.

A Russian communique acknowledged the loss of the railway junction city of Kupyansk, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov.

The Reds were following a strategy that had served them well in last year's bloody campaigns—of fighting fiercely until forced to fall back, then withdrawing slowly to strongly prepared positions. Meanwhile they were taking an enormous toll in Nazi dead and slowing down Hitler's timetable.

Meanwhile, Britain brought additional grief to the Nazis with a world record raid on the German port city of Bremen. More than 1,000 planes raided Bremen, leaving it in flames. A British communique reported the loss of 52 planes.

TAX BILL: Biggest on Record

The average income taxpayer faced the prospect of paying about twice as much as he is now paying when the new federal revenue bill becomes operative.

As approved by the house ways and means committee, the new bill would provide a gross revenue estimated at $3,924,000,000—the largest tax ever collected in United States history. At that, it was a billion and a half short of the treasury department's original request for new levies to help finance war outlays.

Surprising to many fiscal experts was the house committee's action in striking out a provision making it mandatory for husbands and wives to file joint income tax returns.

The average wage-earner would be affected three ways under the new tax measure. The bill provides a normal income rate increase of from 4 to 6 per cent; exemptions for single men would be reduced from $750 to $500 and for married men from $1,500 to $1,200; surtaxes would be increased from 6 to 12 per cent on the first $1,000 of net taxable income.

U. S. INCOME: To Hit 117 Billion

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, told the nation that a new all-time record of 117 billion dollars for the annual national income would be reached during the war years.

Mr. Eccles warned Americans that the tremendous spending power will be far in excess of the consumer goods available to the buying public. Strict curbs on all but necessary purchases, greater personal savings and steady buying of government war bonds, he said, will stop inflation.

The 1942 national income will be about 110 billion dollars, he said in a radio address. This will be about 30 billion more than it was in 1932.

EUROPEAN FRONT: U. S. Takes Steps

A further step in the program to make the fighting efforts of the United States and Britain more effective and to pave the way for the second front was taken when the war department announced the establishment of a "European theater of operations for United States forces."

Director of this European theater was Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, recently assistant chief of staff of the war department general staff, who had already arrived in London when the announcement of his appointment was made.

Laconic was the statement issued by the new commanding general in which he said that "formal establishment of a European theater is a logical step in co-ordinating the efforts of Great Britain and the United States."

EGYPT: Tank Steeplechase

Sidi Barrani had fallen and Salum had been abandoned as the British strove by fierce rearguard actions to slow down the rush of Marshal Rommel's victory-flushed tank armies in engagements on which the fate of Egypt and Suez depended.

The serious plight of the British had been apparent following the surprise surrender of Tobruk in nearby Libya. Foxy General Rommel lost no time in following up his advantage by slicing into Egypt.

General Ritchie's battered forces had not made a stand at the Egyptian border because of the danger of encirclement, but had withdrawn to Mersa Matruh, 157 miles east of the Libyan frontier.

The British had been in possession of Sidi Barrani since December 11, 1940, when they drove out Italian troops which had occupied the town less than three months before and then launched a drive which swept 400 miles across the Libyan desert.

FAMILY MEN: Deferred by Draft

The departure of many a married draft inductee for training camp was halted when President Roosevelt signed legislation authorizing deferment of family men until the supply of single men is exhausted. This marked the first time in American military history that the policy of so preserving established families had been fixed by law.

Draft headquarters announced that married men with children would be the last to be called into service, but emphasized that they could count on no permanent deferment. The deferment clause applied only to men married before December 8, 1941.

Financial assistance to dependents of service men was provided in the measure, with the government furnishing the bulk of the monthly allowance check and the service men the balance. The allotments would go to army men up to and including the grade of first sergeant and navy men including third class petty officers.

Allowances include $50 a month for a childless wife of a service man, $72 for a wife with one child and $72 for a wife with two children.

Spirit of First 4th Will Give New Note to Independence Day

Fourth of July Celebration to Be Worldwide in Scope This Year

By CHARLES A. SINGLER
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

"You write it," said John Adams to Thomas Jefferson, "for you wield a pen ten times more eloquent than my own." And Thomas Jefferson wrote it.

That was 166 years ago. But today the Declaration of Independence gleams among the literary jewels of the world through the sheer beauty of its phrasing and the human dignity for which it stands.

Thomas Jefferson at that time, in the year of grace, 1776, was a young man of 33, known for his clarity of expression and ability as a writer. How well he wrote all the world now knows.

In that hall in Philadelphia, learned and courageous men pledged "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor" that we might be a free nation. Surely enough, the men who signed the Declaration of Independence risked their fortunes, to say nothing of their lives, for those indeed were perilous times. King George of England was not disposed to treat lightly the matter of disloyalty to the crown. "We must all hang together," Benjamin Franklin had said, "or we will all hang separately." But he knew when he said it that it was no joking matter, although millions have had a good laugh since then at the wittiness of his remark.

That First Fourth.

The Fourth of July, 1776, was a hot, sunny day, and in the afternoon a thunderstorm broke. Although the Declaration was adopted on the fourth, it was not engrossed until some weeks later. The announcement of the Declaration created a restrained enthusiasm, tempered by a knowledge of the gravity of the step. In this respect it closely resembled our own Declaration of War against Japan, and then against the entire Axis, when a peace loving nation, fully in accord with these declarations of war, waited tensely for developments.

The document was proclaimed to the people in the state house yard on July 8. At the same time the liberty bell was rung to summon the populace. Within a few weeks after the great bell tolled, King George's army under General Howe was hovering uncomfortably close, and soon thereafter the long and bitter chapters of the Revolutionary war were being written in privation, blood and heroism.

The first publication of the historical document was on July 8, in Dunlap's Pennsylvania Packet. Other printed copies appeared in Newport, Boston and Salem.

A Symbol of Freedom.

The big bronze bell with the familiar rent in its side has been the symbol of liberty and free expression to countless millions of Americans since the new republic embarked on its perilous enterprise in the year 1776. The crack came into the bell when it tolled the funeral of Justice Marshall in 1835. In the raised letters which adorn its crown it is proclaimed that the bell was cast by Pass & Stow in the year 1753 by order of the Assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania for the new state house "erected shortly before in that city." However, the great bell could make other claims. It could claim—but it does not—that it was the first bell turned out in an American foundry.

This, then, is the background in which the first Independence day was cast, and all should be familiar with it. The spirit of liberty which glowed from the pages of the immortal Declaration has been the guiding star of the American people from that far day to this. The pattern of liberty which was fashioned then has been woven into all of our institutions, as well as into our

Global War Creating Interest in Geography

Americans in and out of school are rapidly seeking knowledge of regions which the nation's armed forces may be called upon to defend. They want to know how the loss of a seemingly remote country can affect the supply of commodities and food products which the American household has taken for granted. Many have relatives going to battle stations in distant areas. "The war has demonstrated that the study of geography, even by speech and our everyday lives. Liberty is an essential part of all of us. We draw it in with the very air we breathe.

It is inconceivable that a country nurtured in these fine traditions could ever accept the yoke of a foreign power, or that the flame of liberty should ever burn out on these shores. Those who in their arrogance thought that it might planned badly indeed.

Liberty Bell Rings Again.

And so the liberty bell has rung again. Its first reverberations were heard from the U.S.S. Augusta, in the North Atlantic, at the time the Atlantic Charter was written. The bell pealed still louder when America entered the war. But this time its reverberations were heard throughout the world, guaranteeing to all peoples that freedom which is the divine heritage of all.

This Fourth of July will differ, both in celebration and in spirit, from other Fourth of July years past. Once more America is at war, but this time we fight not alone for our own liberty but for the liberties of conquered countries and for those nations whose liberties are threatened by the aggressor nations.

The Changing Times.

The fishing trips and the basket picnics of last Fourth and earlier Fourth will largely be converted this year into trips to training camps

This Fourth of July will find American boys celebrating the Declaration of Independence on many fronts throughout the world. Picture shows a group of typical U. S. fighting men who are manning our Caribbean defenses. They are equipped with modern Garand rifles and wearing mosquito helmets. These finely conditioned men are experts in "bush" warfare.

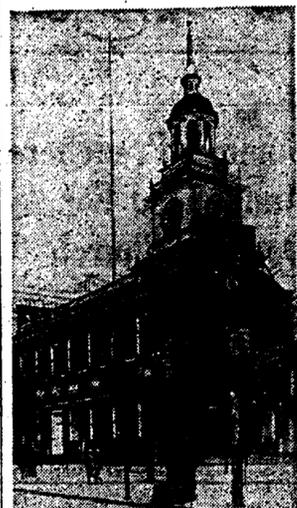

throughout the land to visit soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen in-the-making. Millions who formerly sought pleasure in countless ways in city or country will find strange new delight in wielding the hoe or pushing the cultivator in victory gardens all over the land. Many, too, will glean with pride and satisfaction some of the agricultural rewards of early springtime efforts, to be placed on the Fourth of July table. For never before in the history of our country has there been such a trend towards "grow your own" as in the spring of 1942.

Thousands of boys who celebrated last Fourth in the traditional American way will celebrate it this year in foreign lands. In Iceland, in China, Ireland, Australia and 26 other outposts of our far-flung battle front the Declaration will be duly celebrated. On aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers, destroyers, subs and minesweepers, on PT-boats and flying fortresses, tribute will be paid to that first grand Fourth of July. And it won't be done with firecrackers!

Widening Range of the Fourth.

While the Fourth of July has been a major American holiday from time immemorial, it has been strictly an American holiday with little more than passing press notices in foreign lands. However, there is reason to believe that those countries which are not under the Nazi heel will hail the Fourth this year as never before. It may even become an international holiday after victory is won, at least in those Axis-dominated countries who will owe their liberty to the efforts of America and the other United Nations engaged in the struggle for world freedom.

A 'Quiet Fourth' Expected.

Indications now point to the quietest Fourth in many years. Regulations issued last March by the Federal Explosives Control act placed a ban on the sale of fireworks and "torpedoes" of the fireworks variety. The measure was designed to save materials needed for munitions and at the same time lessen the danger of fires.

However, this ban has been somewhat modified since then to dispose of stocks on hand. Amended regulations forbid giant crackers and rockets of the "super-duper" variety but allow manufacture and sale of firecrackers not more than five inches long, of torpedoes containing less than five grains of explosives, and all other works within specified size limitations.

During the motoring years that stretch behind us the Fourth has been marked each year with a great flux of auto travel from city and

HIGHLIGHTS in the week's news

PRAGUE: The National Council of Service Units announced that more Czechs had been shot in reprisal for the killing of Reinhard ("The Hangman") Heydrich.

ROME: Improvement in the health of Pope Pius was reported in a dispatch by the Vatican City press. Although the pope is giving no audiences, he is receiving his immediate collaborators, the dispatch disclosed. Doctors attending the pontiff were hopeful he could go to St. Peter's on the eve of St. Peter's day for the traditional visit to the apostle's tomb.

WASHINGTON: The house ways and means committee voted to direct the post office department to increase third class mail rates to the point where the service pays for itself.

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR

THE STORY SO FAR: Joan Leland accepts a secretarial position in a night club and falls in love with the handsome proprietor, Karl Miller. Her sister, Sybil, suspects Karl's motives and is not mollified when he also gets her a new position. Paul Sherman, club manager, warns Joan about Karl but she defends him to both Paul and Sybil. Receiving a mysterious message for Karl to a tramp steamer, she finds Paul secretly following her. He rescues her from Eric Strom, Karl's partner, when Eric tries to kiss her. Karl shoots and kills Eric in Joan's presence, and threatens to blame her if she calls the police. He admits he is German, and part of a spy ring. To her surprise, Paul backs him up. At her home that night, Paul enters through the window and reveals himself as Paul O'Malley of the FBI. Knowing her fingerprints were on the gun Karl made her pick up, he had side with him temporarily, he explained, as this work was more important than their lives. Joan is sickened by the revelation that Karl also has a wife in Germany. Sybil disappears. Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER X

One-thirty and still Sybil had not come home. What had she meant by that note saying "something terrible had happened?"

"She never trusted Karl." Joan spoke fearfully.

Paul was looking out of the window. "He's not there now. Whatever happened to Sybil had nothing to do with Karl personally. He hasn't been out of sight all evening. Of course there are plenty of others working with him."

"Karl said that everyone at the Club Elite was involved. Is that true?"

"I'm afraid so. Karl is too clever to take any chances."

"But what does he actually do?"

Paul thrust his hands into his pockets and stared at the fire. "I'm not sure of all his activities and I have no proof, but he is suspected of transferring plans of bombing planes and munition plants to other foreign agents. He's working with someone else, of course."

"Remember that freighter Karl took me to and later sent me to with a package?"

"Maybe establishing refueling bases for submarines."

"Not here!" Joan cried.

"No. Probably in the South Atlantic. I don't know yet."

Joan sighed. "I always wanted adventure but I certainly didn't expect it to take this form."

"I'm sorry you got in so deep," Paul told her very seriously.

"It's my own fault. You tried to warn me, so did Sybil . . ."

Their eyes met. Two o'clock and Sybil was still out.

"I'm going," Paul said, rising, "and you'd better get some sleep. I'll be by for you at one-thirty. Karl's orders, you know." He smiled grimly. "It's fortunate for both of us."

"I'm not going to bed until Sybil comes," Joan insisted.

"Oh, yes you are! You need your sleep. Tomorrow is going to be a tough day. You've got to be clicking on all cylinders. Both our lives are at stake. You can't afford to make a slip. If Karl ever finds out, we'll end up just like Eric."

"Don't say that! Oh Paul, I've been such a fool. I loved him . . ."

He patted her shoulder. "We all make mistakes," he said comfortingly.

When he had gone she tried to obey his instructions. She went to bed and tried to sleep. But the grandfather's clock had chimed three, then three-thirty before she slept, a fitful doze. It was a little after six when she awoke.

"Sybil!" she called hysterically, but there was no reply. Her sister's bed was untouched.

Joan got up, shivering in the cold of the December morning. She went into the kitchen and made a pot of coffee. What had happened to Sybil?

"I've got to keep my head," she thought desperately, pouring the coffee with shaking hands. "But I feel so helpless."

At one-thirty Paul arrived and took Joan to the Club Elite.

"Now remember," he said as he parked the car, "we're not friends. Ignore me. And watch your step."

"I'll do my best," Joan said grimly.

But it was not easy to walk into this office, to see Karl sitting at his desk with the familiar red carnation in his buttonhole, the same smile that had once endeared him to her. With shaking hands she removed her hat and coat and sat down at her desk.

"Paul tells me you have decided to be sensible," Karl commented.

"What else can I do?" She paused for a moment, then burst out, "What have you done to my sister?"

Karl regarded her with apparent surprise. "Sister? What do you mean?"

"She didn't come home all night."

Karl Miller shrugged and smiled. "What makes you think I had anything to do with it? I have no interest in your sister."

"You know what I mean . . ."

"Let us get on with our work," Karl said. Joan managed to control her resentment, and obeyed.

The afternoon finally dragged to a conclusion. At six Paul Sherman appeared and he and Karl had a short conversation in German, after which Karl left.

"I'm talking you to dinner," Paul said, "Karl's orders."

Joan laid the dazzling emerald before Karl without speaking and Karl put it in his pocket as if it had been a slip of paper.

Without a word Joan got her coat and they left the club.

Safe in a small restaurant, she asked, "What about Sybil? Have you heard anything?"

"Not a word. And I can't ask Karl. It's too much of a chance."

"But we have to do something," Joan pleaded.

"Wait until tomorrow and see what happens."

Paul smiled grimly. "It amuses me the way Karl trusts me. Even the most clever criminals make one fatal mistake. This is his."

"You really think he trusts you now?"

"Yes. And since he does, he is sure to reveal something."

"And all this trouble started because I wouldn't take Sybil's advice."

As Joan picked up her purse she remembered the ring Karl had given her. It was in its velvet box in her purse where she had placed it this morning. She had completely forgotten to return it. Karl did not seem to care particularly whether she did or not.

"It's probably stolen anyway," Joan thought bitterly as Paul took her back to the club.

Joan laid the dazzling emerald before Karl without speaking and Karl put it in his pocket as if it had been a slip of paper.

Joan wanted to scream, to pour out her anger. But she suspected that it would only amuse him.

Karl actually seemed to think that she would return to their former relationship. "You loved me yesterday," he reminded her. "What is so different?"

"You can force me to work for you—that's all!" Joan told him, her green eyes blazing. Had she ever loved this cruel, conceited man?

An hour later Paul Sherman appeared again and said something to Karl in his own language. Joan noticed that Paul did not look at her, but she felt a personal importance in those guttural words even though she could not understand them.

Karl smiled as he turned to her but there was warning in his eyes.

"There are two officers here to see you, Joan. I believe they have news of your sister."

"The police!" In an instant Joan was on her feet.

"Something about Sybil," Karl repeated calmly, but his eyes warned her not to make a false move.

Joan risked a glance at Paul. It seemed to her that he shook his head ever so slightly. He was trying to tell her not to take any chances.

"All right," Karl snapped. "Show them in."

Paul disappeared.

When the door opened as he left, Joan could hear the music and laughter from the front of the club. Christmas gayer! How could these people laugh and be merry? How could they be so unaware of the drama that went on in that back office?

"Watch your step," Karl advised. "If you say anything, you will be the loser, I warn you. I will not hesitate to use all the cards I hold. Shall we put it that way?"

Her green eyes filled with tears. "Don't worry! Sybil is all I'm thinking about now."

Paul returned with two officers.

"Sorry to bother you, Mr. Miller."

"Not at all," Karl replied graciously.

"Tell me," Joan cried, "is it something about my sister? What's happened to her?"

"We're not sure it's your sister, Miss Leland. We want you to come down to headquarters and identify the clothes."

"Clothes? You mean . . . oh, no!" Her voice rose to a scream.

"Take it easy now," the officer advised. "We're not sure."

"Tell me," Joan begged. "Where did you find them?"

"A woman's garments were found on the Golden Gate Bridge—a coat, shoes and a handbag with a letter addressed to your sister. Apparently it was suicide."

"Suicide? Sybil would never do a thing like that!"

"Maybe she didn't. Maybe she just wants you to think so. But we called up her employer, Mrs.

Murdock, and she said she hadn't shown up for work."

Joan's eyes were upon Karl. "You had something to do with this," her eyes accused.

For one moment she was tempted to pour out the whole story of the spy ring, to scream her accusations, but Paul was at her side now, grasping her firmly by the arm, and the pressure told her to be silent.

Karl was saying, "I'm terribly sorry, Joan. You may go with the officers. Paul will go with you and see that you get home safely."

"Thanks!" Joan flung the word into his expressionless face.

All the way to headquarters Joan prayed that all this might be a mistake—that those clothes found on the Golden Gate Bridge were not Sybil's. It could not be Sybil! Her sister had said she would "be back soon." Was that indicative of suicide? But when she was faced with the coat, shoes and handbag she knew there was no mistake.

"Yes. These are my sister's," she told them tonelessly.

There was a sympathetic silence as an officer removed the clothes and letter.

"Do you know of any reason why your sister should have done this?"

"No," Joan wanted to cry but the tears would not come. A great pain welled up inside her. Sybil! Sybil was all she had in the world! She felt the floor swaying beneath her. She clung to the table.

"Poor kid!" Paul was saying as he helped her into a chair. Someone else brought a glass of water.

"It's almost impossible to recover a body from that part of the bay," one of the men was saying. "Of course we'll do all we can but the tide is so strong . . ."

"Stop it!" Joan screamed. "I tell you my sister didn't kill herself! I know she didn't!" She was speaking incoherently now.

The officers leaned closer. "Just what do you mean, Miss Leland?"

Paul came to the rescue. "Miss Leland is hysterical. It's only natural. This has been a terrible shock, of course. Probably a good night's sleep will fix her up. Why not let me take her home? She's had enough for one night."

"Sure," the officer said sympathetically. "Go ahead."

Paul led the trembling figure down the cold marble hall and into the street. Joan could not have stood without his support.

"Why didn't you let me tell them?" She asked over and over. "Paul, you know Karl had something to do with this."

"We can't prove it," he reminded her kindly. "Our only chance to convict Karl of this, or anything else, is to be seemingly unsuspecting."

They were driving home now, through the wet streets of San Francisco. Wreaths shone from the windows of homes and apartments. Small Christmas trees sparkled. Next week—Christmas.

"Oh, Paul, I can't stand it!"

"Listen, honey," he said tenderly. "I don't think Sybil committed suicide."

"Then you think Karl is behind it?"

"I wouldn't be surprised."

"But where is Sybil? Has he . . .?"

"As a matter of fact," Paul said thoughtfully, "I think Sybil is alive. Now this is pure theory, understand, but I think Karl is trying to put a scare into you. He's probably taken Sybil away somewhere, but I don't think he's really harmed her. He doesn't want to take that much of a chance. He wants her as a hostage."

"You mean," Joan said slowly, "that Karl will someday tell me that Sybil is alive and threaten her life if I don't do as he asks?"

"That's the way I have it figured."

"As long as Sybil is alive, that's all that matters. Surely we can find out if we go on with Karl and he isn't suspicious."

"Good girl," Paul approved as they drove up before her apartment. "If we work together, I think we can beat Karl Miller at his own game. He's bound to make a slip and when he does we'll have all the evidence, not only about Sybil but his other activities. You'll stick it out, Joan?"

DRAFT PICTURE

If you are registered on the draft rolls, here is the general picture of your prospects under the selective service amendments just passed by congress:

If you are between 20 and 45, unmarried with no dependents, your status is unchanged.

If you are married and now classified as 1-A, your draft board will be directed to shift you to 3-A. That means the chances are strong you will not be called for at least another 8 to 12 months, depending on the trend of the war and on what is done about lowering the draft age to 18.

If you are unmarried, but have dependents and are classed 3-A, you will be moved up to 1-A and headed for induction by fall. The new allowance and allotment act, under which soldiers with dependents put up $22 a month and the government $28, is the basis for this change.

As selective service officials figure it, by offsetting these two switches against one another, the 4,500,000 army which the war department wants to raise by January, can be obtained from 1-As in the 20 to 45 age groups. After that, if the army still needs men, selective service either will have to turn to married men now deferred, or the draft age will have to be lowered to 18, as strongly favored by military chiefs.

That will take congressional action, and until next November, there is no chance of anything being done by congress. Even after November elections there is no certainty congress will be any more eager to act. It will depend on what happens in the elections and the way the war is going. If it is not going well, congress is likely to be more willing to follow the demands of the military and include 18-year-olds.

If that is done, then married ex-empt will get another breather, probably into the summer or fall of 1943. It is estimated that 18-19 year-olds will furnish 1,200,000 new soldiers. This would bring the army to over 6,000,000 by next July.

If by that time still more men are needed, then will come the turn of married registrants, beginning with the lower age groups.

Note: Privately, military experts believe that before the war is over the U. S. will have from seven to eight million men in the army and navy.

EUROPEAN REVOLT

After returning on the Drothaingholm, Leland B. Morris, U. S. charge d'affaires in Berlin, and George Wadsworth, charge in Rome, gave the senate foreign relations committee some eye-opening slants on international conditions in the Axis countries, coupled with a blunt warning. The warning was:

"Don't depend on the peoples of Germany and Italy revolting against their masters."

There is only a long-shot chance of an Axis collapse through revolution, the two diplomats reported. The German and Italian people, they said, are under such severe military rule and surveillance, that it would be extremely difficult to plan, much less carry out, revolts at present.

Morris, who served in Berlin about 18 months, also pooh-poohed rumors that the German people are not loyal to Hitler.

"They are weary of war," he said, "but they are still faithful to Hitler. Make no mistake about that. They may not consider him the idol they once did, but they are still behind him. Anyone who thinks otherwise is fooling himself."

Asked about German "morale," Morris replied that from the standpoint of loyalty to the fuhrer, "it was good."

Wadsworth said the Italian people are kept in such subjugation and fear by the Germans that it was difficult to get a true expression of their feelings, though the morale of the Italians definitely was not as good as that of the Germans.

"Do you think there is any possibility of a revolt in Italy in the next year?" he was asked.

"I do not," Wadsworth replied.

WAR NOTES

Here is more good news for U. S. cotton growers. Camouflage requirements in the far-flung war areas are making heavy inroads in the huge cotton surplus. Vast quantities of cotton cloth are being bought by the army for camouflage purposes.

Suggestion to the army and navy air branches: How about giving the navigators and radio operators of plane crews a favorable mention in announcements of successful attacks. Pilots and gunners, who of course richly deserve credit, are always cited.

Australian External Minister Evatt, busy flying between Sydney, London and Washington to beg planes for his government, nevertheless found time to write a book on the Australian labor movement.

WAR CONDITIONS AND COMMODITY MARKET

IN THE EARLY SUMMER of 1929 a banker friend and I were lunching together at the Chicago club. A stranger came into the room and at his request, was introduced to my banker friend.

"Yesterday I achieved an ambition of which I am sure you will approve," said the stranger. "I purchased some shares of stock in your bank."

"At what price?" asked my banker friend.

"At $1,150 a share," replied the stranger.

"No, I would not approve," said the banker. "I advise you to sell those shares at once. They are not worth any such price. They never have been and never will be. The stock is on the board and we cannot control what the public is willing to pay for it, but the stock will pay a reasonable dividend on less than half that price."

That incident illustrates the stock market inflation of 1928-29. People had money and were willing to pay unreasonable prices for stocks. Their demand pushed the prices up to unwarranted heights. They made the wild rise of such men as Insull possible, and then in the fall of 1929 they paid.

What happened then in the stock market is threatening today in the commodity market and half measures will not stop it. The President's ceiling on commodity prices will help, but that ceiling cannot be maintained if the cost of production continues to go up, as it must if the cost of labor continues to rise. Prices must go up with increased labor costs, or industry goes broke and closes up.

Increasing prices for labor means not only the necessity for increasing prices on commodities for civilian consumption, but also on war supplies. It means an ever-increasing cost of our war effort, an increasing burden of indebtedness for our children and their children to pay.

Why not a ceiling on wages that are now $1 an hour or over, and a 48-hour week? That would help to control the inflation tendency and help to make possible the ceiling on commodity prices.

THE REGULAR ARMY AND U. S. GREATNESS

I SEE AND MEET many of those serving in the armed forces of the nation whose job is to defeat for us our present enemies—the Huns, the Japs and the Wops.

As I talk with them and know the valor and ability they represent for us, my memories turn back to soldiers I knew in past days—those of the little regular army that made the greatness of this nation possible.

It was but a mere handful of valiant men, officers and soldiers, who pushed back our frontier from the Allegheny mountains, at the close of the American Revolution, to the broad Pacific. That little handful of men conquered the wilderness and the plains and the savagery to the Mississippi, to the Missouri, to the Rocky mountains and on to the Pacific. They blazed the way for the pioneer, the homeseeker. They made towns and cities possible. It is from the towns, cities and farms, which the little regular army of the United States made possible, that today come the soldiers and sailors who are protecting us in this greatest of all wars. It is largely from these towns and cities and farms that is coming the food, the planes, tanks, guns and ships needed by our soldiers of today.

All glory to that little regular army which conquered for us the America we love today. It was my privilege to know many of the members of that valiant, hard-fighting force during the last quarter of the last century.

OWNERS OF AMERICAN INDUSTRY TODAY

OWNERS OF American industry are the average, every-day Americans. One-hundred and sixty-five of our industrial corporations are owned by 5,490,601 stockholders. In 1940, the average dividend paid to each stockholder was $1.91. The amount of taxes—local, state and national—for each share of stock was $3.92. Industry is owned by the rank and file of Americans. Through industry we provide jobs for millions of employees. These employees provide a market for our farm products. Through industry we pay the greater part of the cost of government and for the support of our institutions. We are all, directly or indirectly, a part of business.

NEAT TAX SUM FROM AUTOMOBILES

THE STATES RECEIVE the neat sum of $3,917,450,000 in revenue from automobile owners each year. That represents what is paid as automobile license fees and sales taxes on gasoline and oil which go to the states, exclusive of what the federal government takes. It represents 277 per cent of the total income of the state governments. If the war continues for two years, much of that revenue will be wiped out.

One thing a soldier is afraid of is a display of emotion. That's why his slang so often sounds derogatory. For example, he refers to the silver eagles on his colonel's shoulder straps as "buzzards." But when he speaks of his favorite cigarette, he says: "Camels." They're first with men in the Army as well as with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen. (According to actual sales records in servicing men's stores.) A gift of a carton of Camels is always well received. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Camel cartons to send to any member of our armed forces. Hint for the day: Send "him" a carton of Camels.—Adv.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pain, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

The summer people of St. Patrick's Church will present for the amusement of the community a penny sale in the Grange Hall on Saturday evening, the fourth of July. This should be well attended as amusements are few this fourth and gasoline scarce. Many useful articles and beautiful things such as hand needle work, crocheted articles, lovely glassware, good things to eat such as cakes, rolls, bread, doughnuts; other articles such as flour, cigarettes, novelties are generally among the things offered on these occasions.

11:00 a. m. Morning worship, with communion service. Sermon, "Christianity and Government," by the pastor.

7:00 p. m. "All-Out" Vesper Service. "Music for Victory" Night. The first of the "open air" meetings, on the parsonage terrace, by the Contocook river, for the summer season. These gatherings proved so welcome and successful last year, they are to be repeated. A committee of the young people will assist. Special music by the Grange Harmonica Band, with Mrs. E. W. Sturtevant, as leader. All adults are welcome. Children under twelve should be accompanied by parents or older friends, a precaution made necessary by the possible danger from nearness of the rocks and river. Bring basket lunch; wienie roast for those bringing supplies, at the fireplaces. Good singing; a brief address by the pastor, "Music and the Life of the World." Come and bring a friend.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE Hillsborough, ss.

Court of Probate
I, Wilfred J. Boisclair, Register of the Court of Probate for said County of Hillsborough, having by law the custody of the seal and all the records, books, documents, and papers of or appertaining to the said Court of Probate, hereby certify the paper hereto annexed to be a true copy of a paper appertaining to said Court and on file and of record in the office of said Court, to wit:

Petition to probate Will of Nellie M. Conway, late of Hillsborough, in said County, deceased, in Solemn Form, and Order thereon.
Given under my hand and seal of said Court at Nashua, in said County, this 2nd day of June A. D. 1942.

WILFRED J. BOISCLAIR, Register.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Hillsborough.

Your petitioner, Nelson R. Davis, of Hillsborough, in said County, respectfully represents that at a Court of Probate holden at Manchester, in said County, on the twenty-first day of April, A. D., 1942, a certain instrument, purporting to be the last will and testament of Nellie M. Conway, late of Hillsborough, in said County, deceased, was offered by Nelson R. Davis the executor therein named, for Probate; that the same was proved, approved and allowed as the last will and testament of said Nellie M. Conway in common form and without notice, that no appeal has been prosecuted or claimed; and that your petitioner is Executor and residuary legatee of said deceased and interested in said will.

Wherefore he prays that the probate of said will may be re-examined, and the same proved in solemn form before the Court of Probate for said County, and that the former probate thereof be decreed void or affirmed, as to law and justice shall appertain, agreeably to the laws of said State.

Dated the twenty-ninth day of April, A. D. 1942.
NELSON R. DAVIS

Hillsborough, ss.
Court of Probate

At a Court of Probate holden at Nashua, in said County, on the 2nd day of June A. D. 1942, upon examination of the foregoing petition, it is ordered that a hearing be had thereon at a Court of Probate to be holden at Manchester, in said County, on the 21st day of July next, when and where you may appear and show cause, if any you have, why said will should not be approved and allowed; and that the said petitioners give notice to all persons interested therein, by causing said petition and this order thereon, to be published once each week for three successive weeks in the Hillsborough Messenger, a newspaper printed at Hillsborough, in said County, the last publication to be at least seven days before said day of hearing.

And said executor is ordered to summon the several subscribing witnesses to said will to appear at said time and place, to testify in relation to the execution thereof.

And it is further ordered that the said Nelson R. Davis, executor, give notice to all persons known to him to be interested in said will, by cutting from said newspaper a printed copy of said petition and this order thereon, and mailing by registered letter return receipt, directed to such interested persons, at least fifteen days before said Court.

By order of the Court,
WILFRED J. BOISCLAIR, Register.

Court of Probate
To the heirs at law of the estate of Emily Z. Flanders, late of Hillsborough, in said County, deceased, intestate, and to all others interested therein:

Whereas Annabella Leach, administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has filed in the Probate Office for said County, the final account of her administration of said estate:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Court of Probate to be holden at Hillsborough, in said County, on the 31st day of July next, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

Said administratrix is ordered to serve this citation by causing the same to be published once each week for three successive weeks in the Hillsborough Messenger, a newspaper printed at Hillsborough, in said County, the last publication to be at least seven days before said Court.

Given at Nashua, in said County, this 19th day of June A. D. 1942.

RED SOX BEAT CRUSADERS OF MANCHESTER, 10-5

The Hillsboro Red Sox defeated the Crusaders of Manchester last Sunday afternoon, 10 to 5. Kitty Falles pitched a beautiful seven hit game. He was ably aided by Kim Blake who connected four hits in five trips to the plate.

Next Sunday, July 5, the locals face Weare in rubber game of the series which now stands at a game apiece.

APPEALS FOR THE NAVY RELIEF SOCIETY

President Roosevelt: "There is nothing finer than to build up this fund for the Navy Relief Society. I urge you to do your utmost, and do it now!"

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox: "In cases of emergency and distress this organization supplies funds for the families of our men in the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard who are now serving all over the world. For years the Society has been a vital factor in maintaining the morale of all branches of our Naval forces and is of the greatest importance in our war effort."

Josephus Daniels, World War Secretary of the Navy: "Serving far from home, Navy men take no thought for their lives. The welfare of their families, however, would be a source of real concern to them if it were not for the Navy Relief Society. The present fund-raising campaign of the Society deserves the generosity and support of all Americans."

Hillsboro's drive is now on—Give what you can when requested by representative at your place of business or in your home.

South Weare

Franklin Wilson has passed the physical examination and report-d for army duty at Fort Devens on Tuesday.

William Nichols of New York City has returned to his duties there after spending a week's vacation with his mother, Mrs. Denton Dearborn, of this place. He was accompanied by William Parker, formerly of this place and now of Bennington.

There was a good attendance at the entertainment and movies held Saturday night at Osborne Memorial hall for the benefit of Wyoming Grange Savings Bond Fund. A good sum was realized toward the purchase of another War Bond for the local grange unit. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Wyoming grange held its regular meeting in Osborne Memorial hall on Wednesday evening. The second degree was conferred by a women's degree team from the local unit, with Mrs. George Hall as master. The third degree was exemplified by a degree team from Hillsborough County Past Master's association, with Mrs. Denton Dearborn as master. A program was presented and refreshments served. The Juvenile grange met in the afternoon and a program was presented.

Blueberries are getting ripe. William Clark of East Weare was in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McNally and family of Hillsboro are at their summer home in the Bowen District.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Wood and a friend of Concord spent the week-end at their home, Twin Elm Farm.

Mrs. Archie Cote was the winner of one of the prizes given away at the Cooking School at Hillsboro last week.

Miss Helen Mitchell of East Northfield, Mass. has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. William P. Wood at Concord.

Mrs. John Evans has returned to her home in Hillsboro, from the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston, much improved in health.

Mrs. Z. Bercovitz and two children, Miss Mary Bercovitz and Timothy Bercovitz of New Rochelle, N. Y. have arrived at their summer home on Clement Hill.

Mrs. Harold G. Wells and Mrs. C. Harold Taylor attended a brush demonstration at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Willard at Hillsboro last Thursday evening.

Miss Ruth L. Wood entertained her cousin, Miss Helen Mitchell of East Northfield, Mass., at the home of her grandfather, Perry Wood in Manchester, several days recently.

William O. Kimball has the largest American flag in town; at his home in the Manselville District. Several other homes are displaying American flags during the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cousens are building a new house in West Newton, Mass. Mrs. Cousens was Miss Pearl Smith of Deering and her many friends in town wish her much happiness in her new home.

Wendall Putnam has been appointed to take charge of the amount of scrap rubber collected or sold in the Manselville District, and C. Harold Tewksbury has charge of the Pond District. Let everyone report the amount sold to the one in charge in your district, so that Deering's quota may be reported to headquarters.

East Washington

John Fredette has been working for Herbert Smith.

The Bookmobile will be in our village next Monday.

Ralph Linton was in Wilmington, Vt., last Thursday.

Ralph Linton has a two year old orange tree growing in his yard.

Kenneth Shaw has been cutting wood for John Bell at Island pond.

Mrs. Phyllis Duncan of Boston was at the Duncan place a few days recently.

How To Get the Most From Your Electric Roaster

1. Take care that Roaster is not plugged into a circuit on which any other appliance with a heating element is connected. It may overload circuit.
2. Do not plug cord for body of roaster or broiler on same circuit. Don't use an extension cord.
3. Never connect Roaster-Oven to a drop cord from the ceiling. The wire may not be suitable for such heavy duty.
4. The inset pan is left in for most cooking. Place smaller utensils in inset pan, never in shell of the roaster itself.
5. Do NOT immerse broiler or grid unit in water when cleaning. Wipe clean with damp (not wet) cloth.

TO PRESERVE YOUR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

1. Defrost regularly.
2. Allow hot foods to cool before storing them.
3. Be sure door gasket makes tight seal.
4. Remove paper from foods.

PROCTOR'S COLUMN

The appointment of Major Caswell of the State Police to its Supt. is very pleasing to me as I have known Ralph for many years and know him to be just the man for the position. I have worked with this man many years ago when he was connected with the Federal Govt.

Last week a big male beaver tried to build a dam in the sluiceway of the Abbott Worsted Mills. He had made good headway when Mr. Center of the office force found his work. Two big steel traps were put into the sluiceway and that big fellow just quit and he has not been seen since. He did not like the looks of that steel.

The laurel bloom which has been the best for many years is now on the wane but still the show is good in many parts of my district. Chief Drayton of the home town says that it's going to be a safe and sane Fourth. And when Jack says that it's so. Most of the cities and towns in the state have gone on record as favoring a safe and sane Fourth.

If you want to know just how many robins there are in a square mile you want to find some one who has a cherry tree. I know for a fact that I have got more robins than I need for they have stripped my tree, only left enough for one pie. Tough luck.

That strange animal has been seen again at the farm of Charles Sheldon on Abbott hill. Some say it's a mountain lion and some say it's a freak animal. I don't know for I have not seen it.

In the past two weeks I have had complaints of seven people being bitten by dogs. This according to doctors is caused by the extreme hot weather. Dogs must have a cool place to lay and always plenty of nice cold water to drink. More cases of fits are caused by dogs very heated and lack of cool water to drink.

Oh yes, another lot of tinfolk from Mrs. F. W. Moore, East Jaffrey, Mrs. Robert Mallows and Edward Doherty of the home town.

Well, here we have another interesting letter from my old bird friend, E. C. Weeks of Sanborn. He tells me that Red Wings are corn thieves and as bad as the crow. One of his neighbors killed a red wing which would not keep out of his cornfield. It was banded with one of Mr. Weeks' bands April 25. This is a new one to me. We will have to page Bob Lake on this question.

According to the Govt. the Whistling Swans are on the increase in numbers. The status on the white-fronted goose shows very little change while a loss is recorded for the cackling goose.

A few years ago many people were afraid that the blue heron was going the way of the heath hen and DoDo bird. I can take you to several rookeries in my district where there are hundreds of nests hanging from pine and white birch trees. Every nest has three young and they all grow up as nothing preys on the heron. And my district is small compared to some of the Wardens.

The small pout are out and swimming around alone. At Sunset lake

Monday noon I saw millions of small pout about half an inch long swimming along the shore line. No big pout with them. In my own pond one day last week I saw one big bunch with hundreds in it. These pout grow very fast and in middle July are over an inch and a half long.

Lewis H. Baldwin, my neighbor, has got one of these rare wool sheep. It's about a week old and black as coal. More about this baby later.

It's a chicken year and everyone is raising chickens. Never have I seen so many chickens as this year. Not only on farms but the village people are hard at it.

The other day I saw a fine article written by a man who should know his birds. He had a great plea to protect the crow. I guess this man never tried to raise wild mallard ducks in the open. This year is the worst I ever had. I have about 16 mallard hens and they have all laid a clutch and not a chick have I got this season. The crows get the eggs as fast as they are laid. You can't convince me that the crow is a conservation bird. No sir-ree.

A small stuffed heron, a native of Florida, was a gift last week from C. E. Newhall, owner of the Flowing Blue Antiques Shop in Amherst. Looks like a miniature heron.

Have you a hobby? If you have you want to get the Hobby Reporter, edited in Nashua by Harold B. Wheeler. It's a snappy little sheet if you ask me.

Here is something to think about. A Govt. expert on snakes said that N. H. was known to have no snakes that could bite or cause trouble.

This is the time of the year when hay operations are in full swing. Don't forget to put a flushing bar on your mowing machine. Many a fine brood and the mother hen can be saved by such a bar. It's hitched just before the cutter bar and warns the hen that a machine is coming. When the hen files up the operator pulls up the cutter bar thus saving the hen and the nest of eggs. This bar is being used more and more by up to date farmers.

If you find a nest of pheasant eggs in the hay field that the hen has left get in touch with your nearest Conservation officer who can save the eggs. Many a fine pheasant has been saved by getting the eggs right away.

Here is a man who says he knows why it rains

OLD phonograph records are now being collected for our fighting men. The movement is headed by Kay Kyser, Kate Smith and Gene Autrey, and endorsed by Ginny Simms, Lily Pons, Benny Goodman, Guy Lombardo and practically all the other top notchers in music. Used and broken records will be converted into scrap and sold, and new records bought for U. S. army camps, forts, naval stations and marine bases here and overseas. The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary will do the picking-up. If you've got a man in the service, you know what a fine thing this is.

Columbia has two of last season's greatest grid greats, Bruce Smith of Minnesota and Frankie Albert of Stanford, on the lot in films based on their own lives. Two All-American teams will figure in each picture.

RKO added a potential 26,000,000 customers for its "Sweet and Hot" with the announcement that two highly popular coast-to-coast programs will appear in the forthcoming Tim Whelan musical, which co-stars Lucille Ball and Victor Mature. Charles Victor and his "Court of Missing Heirs" program, and Ralph Edwards and the "Truth or Consequences" company have been signed up for the picture.

Director Alexander Hall sent a camera crew around the city to photograph kissing shots for a trailer for "They All Kissed the Bride." He was so impressed by a girl whom the camera caught kissing a young man good-bye at a railway station that he offered her a screen test. She was Evelyn Scott, of Salt Lake City. She accepted, but didn't show up—she'd married the man she kissed!

Betty Rhodes, one of the top-singing stars in radio, will be Bing Crosby's leading lady in his next Paramount picture, a radio story tentatively titled "Manhattan at Midnight." She has her own half-hour weekly radio show, singing over a 90-station network.

Susan Peters is the happiest girl in Hollywood. She was just one of a hundred ambitious young actresses, with a small role in "Tish"—and then suddenly she had the second feminine role in "Random Harvest," starring Ronald Colman and Greer Garson, and a new long-term contract with Metro to boot. A local girl, she'd been trying for two years to get a start in pictures.

Recently Jack Holt visited his son Tim on location for "Pirates of the Prairie." Seeing some cowboy extras he'd played with, Jack sat down on a bench in front of a saddle shop to talk with them. A shot was made of Tim riding by—and later it was discovered that, by mistake, Jack appears in his son's picture.

Lena Turner is coming—she won't be at the top of the page with her "Marriage is a Private Affair," based on the book of that name. It's a rich and romantic tale that you'll find in the pages of the magazine.

As a result of the recent fire in the city, the fire department is being used to help in the cleanup of a large area of the city. It had been reported that the fire was caused by a gas leak. It was not until the fire department had been called that the cause of the fire had been determined.

ODDS AND ENDS: Lucille Manners had trouble "mike fricht" until an engineer took a microphone to pieces and showed her how it worked. Lionel Barrymore was asked by Rudy Vallee if he would consider taking his brother's place on the radio program, but he refused because of ill health. Columbia's "Lucky Lee" reviews the "invited sister" Frank Capra introduced in "Mr. Deeds" in Adelle Rounland and Elizabeth Patterson. Feodor Chaliapin Jr., son of the famous Russian bass, has a short but spectacular role, that of Kashkin, in "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

These Barbecued Hamburgers Are Appetite-Tempting! (See Recipes Below.)

Outdoor Fun

The delicious aroma of meat cooking over a crackling fire, toasted buns, and freshly roasted corn or potatoes in the embers—all these make for plenty of summer fun. Toss together your outdoor cooking equipment, bright, gay colored cloths, napkins, and gather some wood for your picnic. Plan to have lots of hearty, nourishing food to give your picknickers so they will have plenty of that up-and-at-them spirit.

Crunchy green salads packed in jelly glasses or paper containers, steaming hot coffee, baked beans, or macaroni and cheese, and barbecued meat. Dispel the chilliness of cool nights with your picnic outdoors.

Hamburgers are old favorites, but you can make them extra delicious by drizzling a tasty barbecue sauce over them while they cook.

*Barbecued Hamburgers. (Serves 8)

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- Pepper to taste
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 2 teaspoons brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium-sized onion, chopped
- 1½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon hot water

Have any of the thrifter cuts of beef ground—such as chuck, flank, shank, neck, or heel of round. If meat is quite lean, ask your butcher to grind in some suet. Mix meat thoroughly with salt and pepper. Cook on a greased griddle-grill with thick slices of onion. Mix rest of ingredients well and drizzle over hamburgers as they cook. This sauce is also excellent over frankfurters which have been pricked with a fork.

To make a new kind of "cheeseburger," add ½ cup grated cheese to each pound of hamburger, mixing lightly.

Hamburger Puffs. (Serves 8)

- 2 pounds chuck steak, ground
- 2 cups grated raw potato
- 4 tablespoons grated onion
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ peeled clove of garlic, minced
- 4 tablespoons milk
- 4 tablespoons fat

Combine all ingredients except fat. Form into 16 patties. Cook in fat on a greased grill or skillet over medium heat until brown on both sides.

Lynn Says:

For best results in outdoor cooking use a small fire. Be sure you have a deep bed of coals before you start broiling or frying your food. To start the fire, use a soft quick burning wood like pine, spruce, hemlock, laurel, poplar, or aspen. For a good bed of coals, use a hard wood such as maple, oak, ash, beech, birch, hickory, or any available hard wood in your community. Seasoned wood which has not lain on the ground long enough to become wet or rotted, but long enough to dry out, is best for fires. Wood without bark makes the best kind of fire, as bark will cause a fire to smoulder. To start a fire more easily, use split wood, as it burns more easily than round logs.

You won't be a sissy if you kneel when using a hand axe for chopping or splitting wood. If you use seasoned wood, it can easily be broken into convenient chunks for the fire.

Barbecue Supper

- *Barbecued Hamburgers
- Wienies Toasted Buns
- Mustard Chili Sauce Relish
- *Roast Corn or *Roast Potatoes
- Fresh Fruit or Berries
- or
- *Marshmallow Dessert
- Coffee or Honey Lemonade
- *Recipe Given

sides and done. About 5 or 6 minutes on each side is enough.

*Roast Corn.

Have a hot fire and let it burn down until there is a good pile of red embers. Soak the ears of corn in their husks until good and wet and lay them, still in the husks, in the hot ashes. Bake for 30 minutes or until corn is tender. Turn the ears occasionally.

*Roast Potatoes.

Bury potatoes in hot ashes and roast as you do the corn, until they are tender. They take longer to roast than the corn. Serve with lots of butter, salt, and pepper.

*Marshmallow Dessert. (Serves 6)

- Small bars of plain chocolate
- 12 graham crackers
- 12 marshmallows

Toast 2 marshmallows over the coals to a crisp, gooey state, and then put them inside a graham cracker and chocolate bar sandwich. The heat of the marshmallow between the halves of chocolate bar will melt the chocolate just enough, and the graham crackers on the outside are nice to hold.

Do you like to go primitive and roast meat over a forked stick or long-handled fork? Then, you'll like:

Kabobs.

For each person, allow ¼ pound round steak, ½ of a medium-sized onion, and a few slices of bacon. Cut the meat in 1-inch squares, cut the onion lengthwise, from top to bottom. Cut the slices of bacon into thirds. Place beef, onion, and bacon on a fork or stick, alternately, and broil over coals until done.

Vitamin Salad. (Serves 6)

- 1 cup celery, diced
- 2 cups cottage cheese
- ¼ green pepper, diced
- 1 cup carrots, shredded (cooked)
- 2 cups cabbage, shredded fine
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- Salt

Toss together all ingredients and serve on crisp lettuce leaves. A cookie treat to take with you on your picnic is this sugar-saving one:

Fruit Treats. (Makes 12 Treats)

- 2 cups sifted, enriched flour
- 3 tablespoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 to 4 tablespoons shortening
- ¼ cup milk (about)
- 1 tablespoon honey or corn syrup
- 2 eggs
- 12 cooked apricots or prunes

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening. Beat 1 whole egg and 1 egg yolk, reserving white for tops. Add milk and honey to beaten eggs and add flour to mixture. Stir in only enough to hold flour together. Turn on lightly floured board and knead together ½ minute. Roll ¼ inch thick, cut with doughnut cutter. Place on baking sheet and place an apricot or prune in the "hole" on each one. Brush with egg white and sprinkle biscuits with cinnamon sugar. Bake in a moderately hot oven 12 to 15 minutes. Cinnamon sugar: Mix 3 tablespoons sugar with ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman
Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

WALLPAPER CAN BE PAINTED WHEN wallpaper is old and dingy the freshening of the rooms gives a choice between stripping it off and replacing it, putting new wallpaper over it, or painting. Of the three, painting is the simplest, but with the warning that it is not always practical. For one thing, the liquid of the paint may strike through the wallpaper and loosen the paste, and this is especially likely to happen if the wallpaper is bulged and shows other signs of not being firmly attached. With wallpaper in good condition, painting is possible when the conditions are right. In the first place, the paint must be of a kind that dries quickly, so that there is the least possible chance that the paste will be loosened. Also, the paint should have enough body to cover the wallpaper design with a single coat. A good type of paint for this purpose is a top quality calcimine, which comes as a powder to be mixed with water, or a casein paint that comes as a paste to be thinned with water to painting consistency. Painting should be done on a warm and dry day, with good ventilation, for the more quickly the paint dries, the less chance there will be for it to strike through and soften the wallpaper paste. Painting can also be done at a time when the heater is going and the house is thoroughly warm.

Lamp Support

Question: I want to hang an oil lamp from an ordinary plaster ceiling of an inexpensive frame house. The lamp weighs about six pounds. How can I be sure that the supporting screw will go into something solid, rather than into the space between two laths?

Answer: At a hardware store you can get what is known as a toggle-bolt, which will give ample support, because in going through the space between two laths, it acts as a bridge across them. Another method would be to screw a strip of wood six inches or so wide and a foot or more long to the ceiling, where the screws would go into several laths. The toggle-bolt would be neater, because it would not show.

Sun Deck Floor

Question: We are planning to have a sun-deck cut into our third floor roof. What type of flooring would you recommend? We plan to cover the deck with canvas. What weight canvas should we use?

Answer: Tongue-and-groove fir, pine or spruce flooring, No. 2 common flooring grade is generally used. The boards should be seven-eighths of an inch thick and not over four inches wide. Use a type of canvas made especially for roofing purposes. Roofing canvas manufacturers furnish complete directions on the correct method of laying a canvas roof.

Difference in Temperature

Question: There is a difference of about 15 degrees in the temperature of our living-room taken near the floor and the temperature taken near the ceiling. Naturally the heat goes up. Is there any simple way of equalizing the room temperature? Hot water heat is being used.

Answer: The best way to get even distribution of heat in the room is to run a small electric fan set on the floor and blowing into the lower part of a radiator.

Log Cabin

Question: The pine logs of my cabin have been shaved. How can I treat them for preservation and to retain their whiteness? How long should logs season before being treated?

Answer: Two coats of spar varnish will act as a preservative and will maintain light color for some time. However, the logs will darken with age, which cannot be avoided. One winter's seasoning should be enough.

Inlaying Mahogany

Question: I should appreciate your advice as to what glue would be best to use in inlaying a mahogany table that I am making.

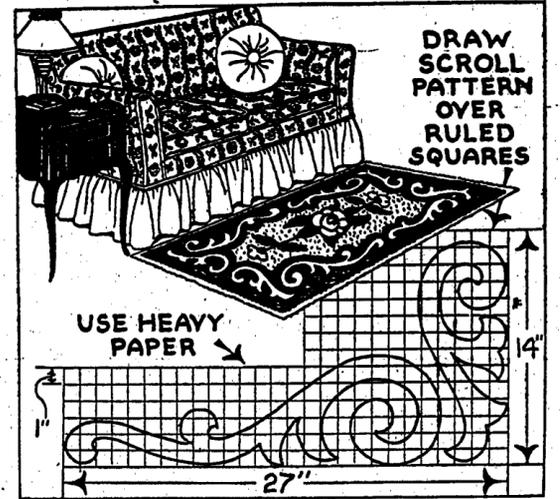

Answer: Casein glue or a glue made with a synthetic resin, applied according to the manufacturer's directions, should give good results. Lumber dealers who handle plywood should be able to tell you about the synthetic resin glue.

Cracking Down on Rats

One of my correspondents writes that he foiled some aggressor rats who were trying to invade his house by nailing pieces of tin onto his porch at ground level. These pieces went into the ground to a depth of six inches. He also treated his garage in the same way and since then has had no more trouble with rats.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

WOMEN today are not the first to discover a war-time shortage of floor coverings. The glowing Oriental rugs of the Colonial mansion ceased to be imported during the Revolution; and the simple hooked rug made from old clothing began to be developed.

Then, as now, scroll borders around a flower motif were popular. The posies were designed according to individual taste but scroll patterns went the rounds of neighbors who traced the patterns on the burlap or canvas rug foundation. Today wax crayon is generally used for tracing. You will find it easy to make a cut-out pattern by first ruling paper into one-inch squares and then copying the curves in the sketch.

NOTE: If you wish to make a scroll pattern be sure to clip this diagram and save it as it is not in any of the booklets which Mrs. Spears has prepared for readers; however, Book 5 contains two designs and directions for making original designs. To get a copy, send your order to:

AROUND THE HOUSE

Fruit flavor and color and sugar

can be preserved to a higher degree in freezing fruit when it is crushed, sliced or pureed first. The sugar (usually one part to three of fruit by weight) is not left in the bottom of the container but dissolves in the juice, spreading through the crushed fruit mass, preserving color, flavor and aroma. These are the qualities so essential in sherbets, ice cream, beverages and pastry products. Another advantage in crushing or pureeing fruit for freezing is that imperfect fruit may be used.

Leather never should be cleaned with gasoline, naphtha or any hydrocarbon solution. They dissolve and remove all the essential fats in the leather, leaving it dry and harsh.

If strawberry jam should sugar, mix it with two parts of cooked rhubarb to the one of jam, cook together for a few minutes and you will have an excellent pie filler, cobbler filler or sauce.

Before working in the garden, put soap under and around your finger nails. You will find them much easier to clean.

When bed sheets become worn, pillowcases may be made from the best portions. Seams may be sewed at the sides, if necessary.

Add a pinch of salt to your cream before whipping.

If the sewing machine needle will not penetrate heavy canvas, try rubbing the canvas where it is to be sewn with a piece of soap.

One Truck Driver Who Could Follow Instructions

Business being cut by priorities, the boss of the trucking company found it necessary to lay off one truck driver. But that driver was both big and tough. So the boss decided to fire him by mail.

And the following day the driver didn't show up. Four days went by and then he was back.

"Didn't you get my letter?" asked the surprised boss.

"I did."

"Well, didn't you read it?"

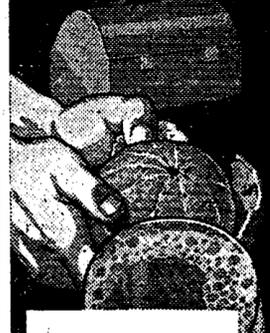

"Sure. First I read it inside and then I read it outside. Inside it said that I was fired. On the outside it said, 'Return in five days to the Consolidated Trucking company.' So, here I am."

When ironing puffed sleeves,

fold the sleeve in halves, pulling apart as it sticks. In this way you can get down into the gathers at the top. Iron it dry and you will have a pretty puffed sleeve when it is done.

Maple toast is delicious with hot or cold tea. Mix shaved maple sugar with a little cinnamon and melted butter and spread on hot toast. Reheat and serve.

Lunch box Vitamins

Easy-to-peel oranges perfect as 'dessert'

Box lunches are tastier and more healthful when you include oranges.

They're delicious and the best way to be sure of your vitamin C! Few foods have much. It's easily lost in cooking. Yet needed daily, since you do not store it.

Oranges also have vitamins A, B<sub>1</sub> and C, calcium, and other minerals.

PRIVATE MANN
 ("Eugene L. Mann of Wenatchee, Wash., at the age of 65, has retired in that state and been assigned to M. P. duty. This is his third year. He is the head of three corporations and spent the last ten days playing golf and arranging for their operation in his absence."—News item.)

I
 Chuck my golf bag in the cellar—
 Hang my golfing togs away;
 Tell my corporation staffs that
 I will not be in today.
 Put my slippers in the discard—
 I'll not need the things for I've Joined up with the U. S. army—
 I am only sixty-five!

II
 Stick away my trusty driver—
 Cover up my irons well;
 Tell my locker-room companions
 I'll be missing for a spell;
 To the boys down at the office
 Say I'm leaving 'em quite cold—
 Once again I am a doughboy—
 Who says sixty-five is old?

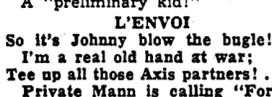

III
 In the drawer put my golf balls—
 I'll not need 'em any more;
 There will be no hooks or slices
 In my present type of war;
 Let my varied business interests
 Run along as best they can.
 For the third time in my lifetime
 I'm becoming Private Mann.

PRIVATE PURKEY ON THE USO DRIVE
 Prescott S. Bush, National Chairman, USO Drive.
 Dear Mr. Bush—Like every other service man I want to do my bit to boost the USO which is now making a big drive for more dough to make life for us more comfortable. If the general public knew what the USO had done for the U.S.A. it would be surprised. I got a idea for the whole story in a nutshell and here it is:

GIVE TO THE U.S.O.
 S O S
 And the U. S. A.
 Will win the war
 P. D. Q.
 O. K.

We used to sing about keeping the home fires burning. The USO is moving the fires right into the camps and furnishing coal and wood. It has brought all the comforts of home right to the army and navy. Why, Mr. Bush, a jeep now lives better than a general used to and some times I guess when the war is over and I get back home I will be squawking how I miss all the comforts of army life. If you keep on doing so much for us you will have to start a drive after the war to raise dough to see that we have as many comforts at home as we used to have in war.

Good luck to the USO which rates AAA with U and with I for what it does for the U.S.A.
 Oscar Purkey.

Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief, delivered such a glowing tribute to the splendid, brave, humane qualities of the late Herr Heydrich that even Heydrich, if he could have heard would have sat up and demanded, "When do you start talking about me?"

"The whole town of Lidice was leveled to the ground and the name of the community extinguished forever."—Nazi statement.

Wanna bet?

IN THE midst of the turmoil of nations and the crash of planets the argument has arisen as to which is the more proficient type in competitive sport—the fellow who is knock-kneed or the one who is bowlegged?

This query comes in from one of the army camps, where it seems that quite a debate followed without arrival at any fitting and proper exit.

As a starter I put the matter up to P. Hal Sims, golfer, bridge player and a close follower of all sports where he might pick up a worthy wager—and on the right side.

Mr. Sims promptly went for the knock-kneed entry. "I know in golf," he said, "that it provides a more comfortable stance, and it also allows you to pivot much more freely."

To carry out his point Mr. Sims picked up a random brassie and proved that a bowlegged golfer had to turn with great effort, whereas the knock-kneed party had no trouble at all in this respect.

"With the two knees bearing in," Mr. Sims continued, "you are balanced at the start. You are all set."

To prove his point further, artistically and financially, Mr. Sims then played the first nine holes at Garden City in 36, one under par.

Other Stars
 On the knock-kneed side I can give you the case of two star performers. One was Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons, who stopped Jim Corbett at Carson City, Nev., some 45 years ago.

Fitz was a terrific puncher—especially for his weight, which was from 158 to 165 pounds. One day Fitz had a workout with Kid McCoy. In that workout Fitz gave the Kid a heavy lathering. As the operation was taking place, McCoy's keen eyes noticed how Fitz stood—how knock-kneed he was.

Deciding this stance, a natural one, provided at least part of the leverage, the Kid tied a towel around his knees, just enough to permit him to move around, but getting the benefit of the knock-kneed effect. He always claimed as a result he became a much harder puncher later on.

"It was the added leverage," according to the Kid, "that did the job."

He went on:
 Christy Mathewson was the most knock-kneed pitcher I ever saw. It was Matty's idea that being knock-kneed helped his balance tremendously—accounting in part for his fine control. You could barely get the segment of a toy balloon between Matty's knees.

Against this, Hans Wagner was as bowlegged as a barrel hoop. You could drive a horse—a short one—between Wagner's wide-spreading legs.

I have known many great football players who also were on the bowlegged side.

The Normal Stance
 Mr. Sims brings out the point that in golf, instructor Alex Morrison always advocates an inward roll of the left and right foot—left foot on the backswing, right foot on the downswing. This naturally comes much easier to the knock-kneed party, who has a slight start along that route.

But it must be admitted that the normal stance is the straight-legged fellow—Joe Louis, Ty Cobb, Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Byron Nelson, Jack Dempsey, Bill Tilden, Babe Ruth.

I don't think there is any question that a pigeon-toed take-off provides more leverage and a quicker start than one that is slue-footed. I should say the pigeon-toed stance would come more naturally from a knock-kneed player than from one on the bowlegged side at least generally speaking.

Stance is largely a matter of balance and leverage. There is certainly more power to be gotten from the inside of the feet than from the outside. You can get an inside grip, whereas there is no outside grip.

The Greatest Ball Player
 "Do you know the greatest ball player I ever saw?" Andy Coakley, the old Philadelphia Athletics star, asked. "His name was Louis Sockalexis, the Indian who once played with Cleveland. Lou lasted only a short while, but he had everything—Ty Cobb's speed, Babe Ruth's swing, a great arm. He was a master artist. If he had only given more attention to baseball he could have been a steady 400 hitter. I've never seen another who had as much natural all-around ability."

A WIDESPREAD rumor, supposed to have originated in New York, indicates that the Yankees have more than a fair chance to win the American league flag. This whispered bit of propaganda probably is designed to frighten the seven (count 'em) other clubs in the league.

A close examination, however, discloses a germ of truth in this malicious, back-fence gossip. The record, open to anyone interested, reveals that there is considerable daylight between the world champions and the closest contender.

It might not be amiss to point out to Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, etc., that while the race is not always to the swift, the hare usually is a much better bet than the tortoise.

In 1941 Outfielders DiMaggio, Henrich and Keller averaged quite a bit over .300, hitting more than 90 home runs. To date these individuals are batting around .250—some 60 points below normal. When they hit their usual stride the future will be even darker for the junior circuit hopefuls, and that sad moment may come any time.

Happier League
 In the National league things are a bit happier, though not all is serene and placid. Brooklyn looks too good. St. Louis may come through and break up the Yankee-Dodger combination. The Cardinals are looked upon as the only team with enough stuff to trip Durocher and his Gowanus Goons.

The Cardinals are a scrappy club, but have looked better on paper than in action. They were headed for the 1941 series when injuries weakened them for Brooklyn. The same excuse won't hold up in 1942.

Two league positions seem quite secure as of this writing. The Yankees will gallop away with first place in the American, and Philadelphia will refuse to be edged out of last place in the National. The 14 other positions will be more bitterly contested.

The Record of a Great Hitter

Seventeen years ago a young fellow named Paul Waner was socking the ball all over the diamond at Paso Robles, Calif., where the Pittsburgh Pirates were in training.

Today Mr. Waner is set to join the select ranks of players who are responsible for 3,000 or more hits—a total reached by only five other players in modern times.

Ty Cobb leads the list with a mark that no one will ever approach. The Georgia Peach accounted for 4,191 runs. Others who compiled 3,000 or more hits include Tris Speaker, 3,515; Honus Wagner, 3,430; Eddie Collins, 3,313; and Napoleon Lajoie, 3,242. Cap Anson, who wound up his career before the turn of the century, hammered out 3,081 hits.

Three-Year Record

In his first three years, with San Francisco in the Pacific Coast league, "Big Poison" hit 369, 356 and 401. That was from 1933 through 1935. With Pittsburgh in '36, Paul hit 336, climbing to 380 the following year. He stayed comfortably above the 300 mark for the next ten years, slipping to 280 in 1938. His major league average for 16 years is .340. He led the National league three times—380 in 1927, 362 in 1934 and 373 in 1936.

Dry statistics don't tell the complete Waner story. Paul claims a curious history for his hitting ability. It seems that his father bought a farm outside Oklahoma City, at Harrah, Okla. Paul and his brother Lloyd, "Little Poison," both learned to hit by batting corn cobs with their hoe handles.

Unquestionably a corn cob is an elusive target—especially when the slugger is armed with nothing more than a hoe handle. But such practice seemed to develop a singleness of purpose which stood the Brothers Waner in good stead. It made their later work seem as easy as shooting fish in a barrel.

A FLOUNCING skirt, fitted "long torso" top and kimono sleeves are the leading features of the pretty pinafore frock for girls offered in Pattern No. 1602-B. It buttons down the back—and at the shoulders and is as cool and comfortable to wear on a hot day as a romper suit would be. Run ric-rac edging around the edges of the kimono sleeves, the neckline and shoulders—and use ric-rac in rows around the full, flaring skirt—the result will be a decorative frock which will call forth ohs and ahs from all who see it. There are panties to match, too—which may also be edged with ric-rac braid.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1602-B is designed for 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 years. Size 4 dress and panties require 2 1/4 yards 35-inch material. 6 yards ric-rac.

Weight-Concealing Frock.
 END your search for a dress which will fit you becomingly even though you have gained unwanted weight with the effectively slimming style offered in Pattern No. 1588-B. First of all, long straight lines from shoulder to hem make the most of your height, minimize your weight. Second, a low neckline reduces bulkiness at the top and furthermore flatters because it is youthful. Third, a gathered fullness (easily achieved) permits a smooth, comfortable fit through the bodice.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1588-B is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 with short sleeves requires 4 1/2 yards 35-inch material. Send your order to:

Here's a Gentler Way to Treat Constipation!

Do you think you have to take harsh cathartics or purges every time constipation makes you miserable? You don't—if you are one of those people with normal intestines who suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. There is a pleasant and gentler way. All you do is eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is a crisp, delicious cereal. It works quite differently from many medicinal laxatives. They work by prodding the intestines into action or by drawing moisture into them from other parts of the body. But ALL-BRAN acts principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, see a doctor.

CONGRESSMAN STEARNS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

CONG. FOSTER STEARNS

Congressman Foster Stearns of Hancock, New Hampshire, today issued the following statement from his Washington office:

"I shall be a candidate for reelection as Representative in Congress from the Second New Hampshire district. For four years I have given all my time, thought and energy to the service of my state and the nation. As a member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, I have had an active part in enacting the legislation which gives support to the nations fighting for freedom, and which prepared us to play our part when our entry became inevitable. While deeply concerned with these international issues, I have cooperated with my fellow Republicans in a constant fight to keep down the burden of non-essential expenditures; and I have never neglected the interests of my constituents as they came to me with their local or individual problems.

"It has been a great help to me in carrying the burden of my office, to have constant assurances of the confidence and approval of my constituents. If renominated and reelected, I shall continue my efforts to represent New Hampshire in the nation's capital with intelligence, dignity and independence."
