Dutton Family Reunion Held At Bennington

A perfect day dawned for the forty-seven (47) people who gathered in the Griswold grove for the Dutton Reunion. For a number of years now this reunion has taken place in the grove. Settees are provided, a few comfortable chairs and cushions for the older ones, a good fire place and plenty of space for the children to run about and plenty far enough away from the road to be secluded from the eyes of the general public. Archie Perkins was elected President and his wife, Mae Perkins, Secretary and Treasurer for the coming year.

Besides the local families which included Mrs. James Griswold, Miss May Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cleary and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Griswold and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griswold and son, there were present Mrs. Annie Snow of Malden, Mass.; Mrs. Mary E. Smith, Mrs. Frank Cousins, Virginia Cousins, Hope Smith from West Newton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Dutton of West Wilton; Mr. and Mrs. Miller and family of West Swansy; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thayer and family of West Swansy; Mrs. Alice Thayer and son of Gilsom; John Wellman of Keene; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wellman of East Sullivan; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dutton of Hillsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Perkins and son James of Antrim; Mrs. Nettie Harris of Antrim; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Griswold of Antrim; Mr. and Mrs. William Griswold of Albany, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dutton of Hancock. Ice cream is always provided out of the funds and every one brings an abundance of good things to eat. An impromptu program is participated in by those who have talent and games are played. These reunions are enjoyable affairs and every one looks forward to the next one.

BENNINGTON

Mrs. James Griswold strained the ligaments in her left foot about a week ago. It is improving slowly.

Those on the gas rationing board last week were Mrs. Lawrence Parker, Mrs. Clarence Edmunds, Miss Marion Diamond, and Miss Lorenia Kimball.

There was a canning demonstration on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Diamond by Miss Myrtle Beecher. There were quite a few ladies present.

C. Willis Brooks, Native Of Antrim Buried Here

C. Willis Brooks, vice-president of the Porcupine Co., plate and structural steel, died suddenly Tuesday, July 7, at his home in Bridgeport, Conn.

He was born in Antrim, December 2, 1867 and was married to Mabel C. Downes of Franconia. For several years their home was in the Charles Brooks house, now known as the Swain place on Clinton Road, and here their two sons were born. Mr. Brooks went first to Meriden, Conn. and in 1910 went to Bridgeport and joined the Porcupine Company in which he had been an officer ever since. He was an expert in the designing of plate fabrications and had been regularly consulted by the engineering staffs of Western Connecticut. He was president of Williamson Brooks Real Estate Holding Company of Fairfield and had been a member of the Algonquin Club.

Funeral services were held Thursday in Bridgeport and burial was in Maplewood cemetery, Friday afternoon with committal services conducted by Rev. Ralph Tibbals, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Mabel Downes Brooks, and the two sons, Arthur C. and Philip D., both of Somerville, New Jersey.

H. B. ELDRIDGE MADE CHAIRMAN BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK

H. Burr Eldredge, treasurer of Courier Press, Inc., Winchendon, Mass., was recently elected Chairman of the Board at a meeting of the directors of The First National Bank of Winchendon. Mr. Eldredge is the son of the late H. Webster and Rebecca M. Eldredge of Antrim. He is associated with his brother, Cranston D. Eldredge, in publishing The Winchendon Courier and The Jaffrey Recorder and is also a director of the Messenger Publishing Co., Inc., of Hillsboro.

Weekly Letter by George Proctor Fish and Game Conservation Officer

Here is the story on the dead loon found in Sunset Lake one day last week by Mrs. Derby of Peterboro. It seems this bird had got its inner coat of feather coated with oil in the salt water and he was unable to fly nor could he dive for food. He just died from starvation. This is also the fate of millions of waterfowl which alight in the ocean and get covered with oil from some sunken ship by a sub. Here are millions of innocent victims of warfare.

Yes, it was the sanest Fourth of July I ever witnessed. The home town was quiet and one would never know it was the glorious Fourth. Chief Drayton said it would be and John knows.

Speaking of setters. If you are interested in a real honest to goodness English setter puppy let me know and I can tell you where they grow. They are 8 weeks old and rarin' to go places. There are no $5 dogs as they have a pedigree, a mile long and are real high blue blooded goods.

Jimmie Dawson of the home town rescues a young robin from a cat and brings it to me. These boys from the home town have had wonderful training in the public school and the teachers of the lower grades should be complimented on the humane side of the picture that they have imparted to these youngsters. This is not the first case of boys walking a mile or two to bring me in many wild birds and animals.

In my nursery I also have three very young skunks that the mother got killed and we are trying to pull through.

Blueberries at 40c a quart have attracted many people from the city to the country. Many a car I checked Sunday were not fishing but after the blues.

George Durant of Milford had good luck in two of my lakes over the weekend. One 2 1/2 inch and one 22 inch pickerel. Duke Paro and his wife also got their limit of pickerel over the last weekend. "Over There," says "Duke" but I know where that is.

It's with a great deal of sadness that I record the passing of my old friend, Sherman B. Ward of Newton, Mass. He had a beautiful summer home at West Wilton known as the "Red Mill." Here he spent his summers and took a great delight in this his summer home. He was a real friend to the local fishermen. Every year he purchased thousands of real trout which he fed and admired in his private pool. In the fall he pulled up the screen and let them go down or caught them up and put them in the upper pond for the boys to take out the next spring. He was president of the Stowe Woodward Rubber Co. of Newton Upper Falls, Mass. He graduated from Dartmouth in 1913 and had traveled all over the world many times. He was buried in the local cemetery last Sunday afternoon in a town which he loved. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Della Gordon Ward. He was a good friend of mine and we will miss him greatly.

The gas shortage has put a bad crimp in the night fishing of pout. The other night I visited five different ponds in my district and not a pout fisherman did I see. One fellow in Greenville expressed it like this. "Last year I went pout fishing up to Hubbard four times a week. This year I have only been once." "No gas, no go."

You outdoor motor fellows have nothing to worry about. You can get all the gas you want.

Who has lost a crank? Over in North Lyndeboro a wood chopper staying with George Moses found some sort of a crank. It looks like something from an airplane. It's got the army paint and might be some sort of a crank to a plane. This was found in the deep woods and must have fell from a passing plane. Boy I would like to be hit by that thing.

Has any one lost a very small black and white female cocker spaniel. This was found on the R. R. track in Jaffrey the other day. It's very shy and small. It's in good hands just now but they would like to find the owner.

The hay crop this year is very heavy but the weather man will not let them harvest it. Rains every day now.

Pond lilies are out and some of the ponds in my district are very pretty. What sticks to me is the fact that such beautiful and sweet smelling flowers can live in such a stinking mud hole. You tell me.

This is the time of the year to look out for pheasant eggs in the grass when you are mowing. A flushing bar rigged up in front of the cutter bar will save the lives of many a fine bird. If you kill the bird or destroy the nest get in touch with the nearest Conservation officer who will salvage the eggs and may save them. If you live near Hancock notify Prince Toumanoff or near Mt. Vernon notify Harold Trow and they will get the eggs. In other parts of the state notify your club. But "Save the eggs."

The past week was a bad one for homing pigeons. Hundreds were lost over the weekend by the severe storms which drove them down. Report them in at once if you have any hanging around your buildings. I have restored many a pigeon to its owner in the past few weeks. Most of these owners appreciate it.

The past holidays (two in a row) was hard on wild life. I saw more skunks, woodchucks, squirrels, snakes and a few birds crushed in the highways. And just now let me tell you that old black crow can be credited with one good act. He keeps the highways cleaned up of birds and animals killed on the highways.

In just three days I have caught with the aid of state owned pout traps 609 small pout from my own private pond and have planted them, into other ponds to make better pout fishing. These traps were set with stale bread. The funny part of the whole business is that I have caught them all in the day time.

Don't stock a pond with any kind of fish unless you have the O. K. of the Director of Fish and Game. There is a heavy fine for taking fish from one pond and putting in to another without his O. K. The reason for this law is because some one might stock a pond with carp. Goldfish are small carp and there is a heavy fine for using goldfish for bait while fishing.

Saturday p. m. I checked a Brockton, Mass., man and his wife in the Souhegan river. He had 13 and she had four nice rainbows. This man is a regular and he does just love the old Souhegan. He saves gas all the week to make the trip over the weekend.

The tinfoil story this week is from Mrs. Harry Chase, Wilton, Mrs. Harry Holt, South Lyndeboro and Don and Bob Nelson of Peterboro. This tinfoil is not much in use now and our supply will be less and less as the weeks go by.

Camp Sachem Officer Leaves Hospital for Home

Fred Bauer, chief medical officer of Camp Sachem, who was severely burned, rendered unconscious and who suffered bursting of both ear drums, when lightning entered the hospital building after striking a nearby tree, has been discharged from the Margaret Pillsbury hospital in Concord and has returned to his home in Boston.

He is receiving ear treatments at the Eye and Ear Infirmary of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and it is expected will have no permanent ill effects from the accident.

Mr. Bauer, a fourth year student at Harvard Medical school, will not return to the camp this season. Another medical officer to complete the term ending July 31 is being sought in Boston. John Trakas, another Harvard medical student, is to begin duties at the camp August 1. Fifty new boys arrived yesterday for the second two-weeks' period, most of the first group having returned home after their two weeks.

This camp is maintained by the Sachem Council of Boy Scouts with headquarters in Arlington, Mass., and includes scouts from that city, Belmont, Lexington, Concord, Lincoln, Bedford, Waltham and Watertown. It includes Troop 25 which is the Boy Scout Troop of Perkins Institution for the Blind in the latter city. At the camp now is Allan Gillis of that troop and later George Zermas, another scout of the troop at that institution, will attend the camp.

Edward Robinson is spending the summer near Laconia, where he is Boy Scout cabin master at Camp Manning.

During the two weeks between July 17th and August 2, members of either the American Legion or the Auxiliary will make a house to house canvass for contributions of phonograph records and decks of playing cards. Have yours ready.

Report On The U.S.O. Drive In Bennington

A fine beginning has been made in raising the quota of Bennington for the present campaign of the United Service Organization, which represents all the allied religious organizations, as they work for the recreation and spiritual morale of our young men, in the far-flung forces of our army, navy and aviation. The special gifts committee reports a good response and quite a sum has already been pledged. The regular canvass of the town began this Wednesday and will continue until Friday, July 24th, at which time it is hoped to have the entire amount of the quota for Bennington, $275. In

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Drive Into Don River Sector Endangers Rich Caucasus Oil Fields; Jones Warns U. S. of Inflation Peril; FDR Says Tire Seizure Is Possible

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

RUSSIA:

Nazi Menace

Breaking through the Russian front east of Kursk and Kharkov, a Nazi armored assault had driven 100 miles into the upper basin of the Don river and given Adolf Hitler his first significant success in his summer offensive against the Reds.

With both sides throwing in all available manpower and equipment, the greatest armored battle in history raged.

To hard-pressed Marshal Timoshenko it must have seemed that he faced more disastrous threats than he could meet. Although counterattacking gallantly and fighting grimly, the Red forces had been forced steadily back. Violent combat had centered around Voronezh, key link between Russia's central and southern armies.

And the goal, as before, was the rich oil fields of the Caucasus to the southeast. Possession of this prize would mean unlimited fuel for Hitler's mechanized legions.

Two immediate targets of the Nazi offensive were the Don river, one of Russia's chief transportation arteries, and the Moscow-Rostov railway which parallels the Don and feeds much of the Soviet's industrial and military machine.

Meanwhile in Egypt, Marshal Rommel's headlong drive had been stopped by the British under General Auchinleck. Refusing to be bottled up in stationary fortresses, the "Auk" had chosen his own battleground when he turned on the Nazi army. The site was a narrow funnel-shaped front between El Alemeln on the seacoast and the Quattera marshes 40 miles inland. Here, aided by reinforcements, fresh equipment and slashing blows by the RAF and their American flying Allies, he had brought to a halt the Nazi steamroller headed for Alexandria and the Suez canal.

INFLATION:

Perils Revealed

Like a stern pedagogue pounding the three R's into the skulls of his scholars, gray-haired Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, read the American people a lecture on the ABC's of economics.

His theme: The dangers of inflation. Mr. Jones said that the American people will have "over $30,000,000 more income in 1943 than the value of the things for which the money will be spent" and termed this "a potential 'inflationary gap' greater than any the world has ever known."

The secretary's remarks followed hard on press conference warning by President Roosevelt that it would be necessary for Americans to adopt a national economic policy which would control inflation.

Among maxims Mr. Jones laid down were:

"No business man or industrialist can expect higher prices for his products without paying higher prices for having them made."

AIR TRANSPORT:

Saga of Service

The answer to what had become of civilian luxury airliners taken over by the army after Pearl Harbor came when it was announced that these planes were among craft that had flown 5,000,000 miles during the past five months rushing war equipment and personnel to strategic points in the Pacific.

The saga of this bold aerial venture included chapters highlighting the heroism of hundreds of pilots.

RUBBER:

Tire Confiscation?

The administration's nation-wide rubber hunt had produced disappointing results. Only a portion of the hoped-for scrap rubber stock pile had been turned in and meanwhile 30,000,000 American motorists continued to roll along on steadily thinning tires.

Hence it was not a surprise when President Roosevelt declared at a press conference that if war conditions grew worse, the government might be forced to confiscate every automobile tire in the country.

The President tempered his warning with the cautious hope that nation-wide gasoline rationing could be avoided. But, he emphasized, he was trying to save the nation, not gasoline and rubber.

Mr. Roosevelt's review of the situation came after the army, the navy and Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes' office had appealed to East coast motorists to discontinue immediately all unnecessary use of gasoline, regardless of what their ration cards entitled them to. A joint statement said joyriding in the gas rationed area was preventing war workers from getting enough motor fuel to get to work and back and was threatening to hamper seriously the war production program.

Fortunate were congressmen, members of state legislatures, other government officials and candidates for public office. For under regulations promulgated by the OPA for permanent East coast rationing, such persons were given "preferred" mileage ratings providing them with gasoline for transportation needs "in pursuit of legislative business."

SABOTEURS:

History Recalled

Once before a military commission had sat in Washington deliberating over evidence that was to send a band of conspirators to their death. That was 77 years ago when eight defendants were tried in the dingy old penitentiary building for the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Now again, a military commission sat in Washington. This time it was to pass sentence on eight Nazi saboteurs who had landed on the East coast to launch a campaign of destruction against American arms plants. The trial this time was held in the new department of justice building.

In proceedings marked with the same secrecy that characterized the former trial, the prisoners learned whether they were to meet a firing squad or go to the gallows—for death was the penalty they faced.

Observers who noted the coincidence between the two famous trials—eight defendants in each case—remembered that only five of the Lincoln conspirators, including a woman, Mary Surratt, were put to death.

MISCELLANY:

SYDNEY: A highway capable of maintaining heavy military traffic has been completed across the trackless northern territory of Australia, in a little more than a year, a government report revealed. The highway is so designed that army vehicles will not be halted during the rainy season. Civilian road workers, including several United States engineers, worked on the project.

Streamlined Distribution Increases Farm Income

Consumers Heeded, Marketing Plans Are Developed, Standards Raised.

For years Jefferson county, Kentucky, growers sent their Irish potatoes into northern markets to compete with plentiful supplies from other sections of the country.

When the 1941 harvest season opened last July with the northern market heavily glutted, grower-members of the St. Matthews Produce Exchange, Jefferson County Co-operative, prepared to give up potatoes as a cash crop.

In a last desperate effort to salvage their cash crop, R. W. Hite, president of the exchange, called his membership together for a meeting with a group of distributors and restaurant operators. Instead of trying to move the potatoes into overloaded outside markets, the growers agreed with several distributors to seek to develop a market within the state through a "Kentucky Potato Campaign."

The resulting drive enabled the stores to move a large percentage of the crop locally and to boost prices paid the association 40 per cent. Now, instead of reducing their production, the 150 members of the exchange plan a 10 per cent increase this year in line with the federal government's request for greater production of fresh fruits and vegetables to aid the "Food for Victory" program.

The Kentuckians' experience is one of many examples of how growers throughout the country are attacking the major problem created by the increased production called for in the "Food for Victory" drive—finding profitable markets for the great crops of fresh fruits and vegetables now ripening in the fields and orchards of America.

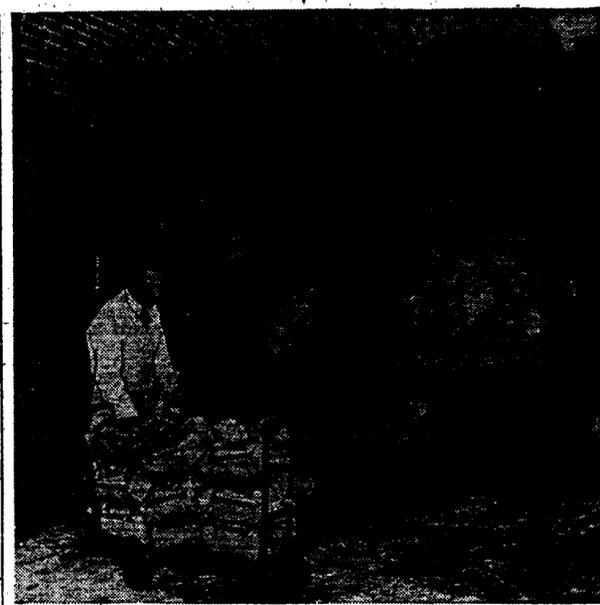

Production no longer is the problem—farmers throughout the nation are responding wholeheartedly to the government's appeal for more fresh fruits and vegetables for America's dining tables. This year's crop yields, intention reports of the department of agriculture indicate, will be the largest since 1933.

Production increases in certain crops and in certain sections of the country are tremendous. Through June 13, the department of agriculture reported, rail shipments of commercial truck crops were 13 per cent greater than a year ago. Movement was heavier for beans, beets, carrots, cauliflower, green corn, cucumbers, mixed vegetables, onions, spinach, cantaloupes, strawberries and Irish potatoes. During one two-week period alone, shipment of commercial early potatoes rose nearly 2,000 cars above the corresponding period of 1941.

Growers Improve Production. Along the fruit front increases as large as those for fresh vegetables are not likely—it takes years to develop new fruit trees. However, growers are expected to improve production through more applications of fertilizers, better orchard management practices and elimination of as much waste as possible in production, harvesting and processing.

With production under control, the nation's growers now must make sure that their "vitamin bullets" reach the 130,000,000 Americans for whom they are intended.

As Secretary of Agriculture Wickard recently pointed out,

FARM TO RETAIL STORE COOP METHOD

Members of the Pennsylvania Co-operative Potato Growers association market 60 per cent of their output by moving it direct from farms in 45 counties to nearby retail stores. As a result, the 848 growers marketing through the association last year got 80 cents of the retail dollar, far above the national average share. An association truck is shown unloading potatoes at the back door of a large retail store.

production is "only the first step. Food, as one of the munitions of total war, is effective only when it is in the right form, at the right place, and at the right time."

Realizing more than ever that their job does not end with the harvest but instead extends to the consumer's market basket, farmers are paying increasing attention to the necessity of streamlining the distribution system to eliminate waste and to increase their own cash returns. With fruit and vegetable growers throughout the country getting only 35 cents of the retail dollar for their sales through all trade channels, growers are seeking to perform their own operations at the lowest possible cost while at the most economical marketing channels.

Working with distributors, extension directors, county agents and heads of state colleges of agriculture, growers are developing marketing programs and are making organized efforts to raise grade and pack standards to meet consumer demand. Movements of early season poor varieties and immature produce, shipments of which in the past built "consumer resistance" to better grades during peak movements, are being reduced.

Growers are building their home markets, with the active aid of distributors, extension services and agricultural leaders. Retail distributors, chain and independent, at the request of growers, are staging timely advertising and promotion campaigns.

In brief, growers are striving to place marketing on a non-speculative basis and to develop

DIRECT MARKETING IN S. CAROLINA

Farmers, seeking to solve transportation problems created by the war and also find more profitable markets for their produce, are moving much of their produce as directly as possible from farm to retail stores. Here L. C. White (right), field buyer for the Atlantic Commission company, watches peaches being loaded onto a truck at a packing shed operated by members of the Ridge Peach and Vegetable association at Ridge Spring, S. C. The truck takes the fresh peaches directly to retail stores.

Rural America Losing Youths to Cities

Human tides held back in rural areas by lack of employment in industrial centers from 1932 to 1941 now are flowing cityward at accelerated speeds, in the opinion of Dr. A. R. Mangus, department of rural sociology, Ohio State University. Dr. Mangus recently issued a report of a survey made in Ross county to find what had happened to the 4,629 young men and women who were between the ages of 18 and 27 when the census was taken in April, 1940. The survey made in March, 1942, disclosed that 1,200 of those young men and 800 of the young women left the county in the two years since the census was taken.

The survey also showed that industry took more young men from the county than the number who enlisted or were inducted into the army. A larger percentage of both young men and women left villages with less than 2,500 population than went from farm homes.

With no middleman save the grocery counter, both farmer and consumer benefit. Potatoes for which the grower is paid from 17 to 19 cents per peck are sold to the consumer for only 20 to 21 cents. During the 1941-42 marketing season, the association sold 4,918,499 pecks for $1,324,065.

Fruit and vegetable growers throughout the nation face other big problems resulting from the nation's war effort. Transportation, both rail and truck, is becoming more and more of a problem as rail facilities are taxed to capacity.

Working with the extension services, other agricultural leaders and distributors, farmers are moving to solve this problem, too. Movement of produce directly from farm to retail store is being increased. Where possible, farmers are finding markets closer to home for their fruits and vegetables.

A War Message on WAR BONDS from the President of the United States

“... The American people know that if we would raise the billions which we now need to pay for the war and at the same time prevent a disastrous rise in the cost of living, we shall have to double and more than double the scale of our savings.

“Every dime and dollar not vitally needed for absolute necessities should go into WAR BONDS and STAMPS to add to the striking power of our armed forces.

“If these purchases are to have a material effect in restraining price increases they must be made out of current income.

“In almost every individual case they should be big enough to mean rigid self-denial, a substantial reduction for most of us in the scale of expenditure that is comfortable and easy for us.

“We cannot fight this war, we cannot exert our maximum effort, on a spend-as-usual basis.

“We cannot have all we want if our soldiers and sailors are to have all they need.”

SHOOT STRAIGHT WITH OUR BOYS

Smartly Styled Washables Are Made to Wear Long and Often

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE is a great to-do being made about the "soap and water" look for summer. Because we want to look immaculate and feel cool, because we've found that only washables can give us that wonderful, fresh-from-the-laundry cleanness, we are growing more and more to appreciate how completely washables attain to our ideals of perfect materials for perfect summer days. This summer we'll wear washables all day, every day and for late in the night.

This season, more than ever before, we are discovering that there can be and is true aristocracy and a wealth of possibilities in sterling quality-kind linens, piques and other of the myriads of lovely weaves we've hitherto taken for granted. And now that the women of America have been led by designers and style creators to look upon washables as fabrics of beauty and a joy forever we are yielding utterly to their lure this season.

Women who insist on being beautifully dressed no matter how busy their lives may be will appreciate at first glance the appeal of fine artistry and deft workmanship reflected in the three dresses illustrated above. They live up to the tradition of the designer who created them and who is noted for exquisitely simple styling and unusual detail.

Among fine wash weaves Moygashel linen has ever been noted for its superior look, feel and wear. Happily this linen is still being imported from the North of Ireland. The demure little suit dress shown to the left in the above picture is just about as pretty and cool for a summer afternoon as ever a dress might be. This beautifully cut original has a brief peplumed jacket and a graceful unpressed-pleated skirt. Exquisite Venise lace borders the jacket and cuffs. Three flower buttons clear almost to transparency blossom down the front. It's lovely and feminine as any one could wish, charming and choice enough for any young woman of faultless taste to wear in the most select environs. Practical, too, for it washes like the proverbial "hanky."

Simple line is the important detail which makes the adorable dress centered in the picture. It's one of those classics of sophisticated simplicity to live in and love all summer long. Of soft rayon shantung, with tiers of hand-turned scallops on the pockets and pearl-buttoned bodice, it has all the high class styling of the best in washable summertime fabric manipulation. Worn with a shady-brimmed hat, nothing could be cooler looking or feeling.

Stop, look, listen! In the dress to the right in the above group you are receiving advance notice of a fashion you'll see more of this fall and winter, that is, the use of rich embroidery on the slim-lined dress. It's of cool Moygashel linen. Made very simply, with a deep-throated neckline and soft front fullness its restrained simplicity the more keenly highlights the chalk-white embroidery on collar and pockets. Wear it proudly and often, for it washes well and is easy to keep fresh.

One of the favored washables is pique, birdseye pique, eyeleted pique, printed pique, or embroidered pique. With this immaculate-looking washable designers are performing wonders in the way of sports apparel, daytime costumes, jacket dresses and party frocks which are most intriguing. Pique takes beautifully to trimmings of Irish crochet lace, which is being used very effectively. Printed pique combined with plain injects a splurge of color attuned to this summer's mood.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Fringe-Printed

Smoothly cool, shape-holding and comfortable, rayon jersey is a popular summertime fabric. This striking and most charming New York creation is of deep green and white fringe-printed jersey. This season's prints are noted for versatility and originality in design, but of all prints brought out nothing more unusual in a print has been shown than the fringe effect as here illustrated. Smartly simple and style-right for informal town and country daytime functions is this gown, and it is a forerunner of a new movement in prints.

Herald Lavish Use Of Embroideries

All signs point to a lavish use of embroidery on fashions now on the way for fall. One of the present season's highlights is the trick of trimming a black frock with contrasting embroidery in chalk white.

There is intriguing originality expressed in the embroidery technique employed in advance modes, such as the flower motif placed at the waistline of a slim frock which simulates a huge corsage. The new one-piece wrapover dresses invite ingenious introduction of embroidery used variously in border effects or in splashes of bright hand stitching in effective placement of flower clusters.

Materials for exotic looking turbans are also embroidered, and 'tis said that belts, bags and gloves will be cunningly needle-worked with yarns and chenilles.

Milliners Do Wonders With a Little Organdy

While there is big news in handsome white straws bordered with flanges of white ribbon and in cunning little flower turbans and pique types both broad of brim and brimless, it is in the exquisite hats milliners are making of organdy and other diaphanous materials that the thrill of thrills is found. On the head they look as airy and lovely as drifts of snowy clouds on a summer day.

Favorite types have pleatings of the organdy encircling transparent white brims. Other white chapeaux are styled of gleaming white cellophane straw made with the intention of stressing their transparency.

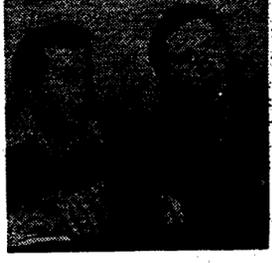

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

LARRY PARKS, young Columbia Pictures' leading man, and eight other lads who are making their first bid for screen fame have taken over the 26-room house once owned and occupied by the late Thomas Meighan. Larry, who heads the group, has an important role in the Astaire-Hayworth musical, "You Were Never Lovelier." He says it cost only $14.75 to furnish the house—it cost Meighan more than $9,000! They've thrown four rooms together and built a theater in which they rehearse parts for pictures coming up. There is a large portrait of Tom Meighan over the living room fireplace—they picked it up in a Hollywood prop house.

The sponsors who, seven years ago, were farsighted enough to see the potentialities of an obscure radio couple and build them into the famed Fibber McGee and Molly, give radio another innovation this summer; they're substituting a

John Nesbitt and Meredith Willson

Metro news commentator and a musician in a half-hour replacement program while Fibber and Molly vacation. The commentator is John Nesbitt, the musician, Meredith Willson. The program combines music with snatches of history, literature and current events.

Walt Disney, whose "Bambi" will soon be released through RKO, has acquired the screen rights to Major Alexander P. de Seversky's "Victory Through Air Power," and will make it into a feature picture for exhibition sometime this fall.

Imagine Charles Boyer producing and acting in something called "Flesh and Fantasy." It will be his first production for Universal; he'll star in one episode, Edward G. Robinson in another, and let's hope they change the title!

Capt. Hewitt Whelless, the army flier who was cited by the President for his exploits in the Pacific war, will play himself in a short subject, "Beyond the Line of Duty," which Warner Brothers will produce for the army air corps.

This shortage of leading men has proved too much for Harold Lloyd. He's produced two pictures for RKO, "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob" and "My Favorite Spy" and has left the studio. His next picture would have been "Butterfingers," a football comedy.

Samuel Goldwyn will select six of the loveliest and most talented secretaries of Washington, D. C., for roles in "They Got Me Covered," co-starring Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour. The story brings out the part that Washington secretaries play in helping to run the government; it's said that they arrive in Washington at a rate of 5,000 daily!

The biggest all-star lineup ever gathered for a summer radio show is the one that Bob Hawk's sponsors have booked for Friday nights; it's a 60-minute show featuring Xavier Cugat's orchestra, Connie Boswell and Margo, Lanny Ross and a new comedian, Egrb Shriner.

Richard Denning, male lead in "Beyond the Blue Horizon," has held many of filmdom's stars in his arms. He made the test with Veronica Lake which won her her role in "I Wanted Wings." Paulette Goddard got her Paramount contract after making a test with him; Ellen Drew's test set her for "If I Were King"; Mary Martin's put her into "The Great Victor Herbert," her first film role. A closeup of his chest substituted for one of Bob Hope's; his back did the same for Bob Burns'. Now he's getting a chance, all of him, in the Lamour picture.

ODDS AND ENDS—Paramount plans to present the Quiz Kids in feature films following the completion of their present series of short subjects at that studio. . . . Ruth Hussey takes another step toward well-deserved stardom with the role of Mrs. Andrew Johnson in "The Man on America's Conscience." . . . Eddie Albert will play opposite Lupe Velez in "Ladies Day," a comedy of the woman's side of big league baseball. . . . Patricia Morrison wants a horse—but don't send her one unless it's a 14-hand Palmino. . . . Metro has bought "Cabin in the Sky," one of last season's most successful musicals.

Vegetable Preparation and Processing Guide

Stock Those Shelves

Well-justified pride is yours if you can gaze at the summer's crop of vegetables, nicely put up on your canning shelf for, comes the winter, you have but to open one of those brightly colored jars with tomatoes, peas, beans, beets or carrots or any of the other vegetable favorites and part of that well balanced meal is planned and on its way to the table.

Time was when canning was an unscientific and highly questionable process, but all this is past now, and you can now put up any of the vegetable and victory garden produce, and be certain that it will be attractive to look at, good to eat, and will not be spoiled if you take the simple precautions that make for successful canning.

Safest method for canning vegetables is by the pressure cooker. Your concern here is to be sure to process the exact length of time the vegetable requires, as indicated by the table at the top. If not properly processed, the food will spoil.

Selecting Vegetables. Young, tender vegetables, freshly gathered, give you the best finished product. Canning cannot remedy tough, over-mature produce, so do not expect it to. Nor, should you expect to can what you cannot dispose of at the table while fresh. Commercial canners use vegetables grown to order, not leftovers, so it behooves you, homemakers, to take a tip from them.

Cleanliness is important. You'll enjoy letting cool water trickle, trickle, trickle over the vegetables to free them entirely of every trace of soil. Any soil left on the vegetable can carry bacteria, and thus be a major factor in spoiling an otherwise good product.

Process the jars of vegetables as soon as they are packed, never allowing them to stand around until you get to the serious business of canning.

Spoilage Factors. Mold, yeast and bacteria cause food spoilage. They lurk in air, soil and water and must be destroyed by proper processing if the food is to keep in perfect condition.

Then to assure food keeping well be sure the jar cover is fastened as tightly as possible. This you can do by any number of available devices.

It is also important when packing the jars, after vegetables have been precooked and you are spooning them into the jars, to wipe off any excess before fastening on the cover. Any small particles which lodge between cover and jar will cause spoilage.

Cooling the Jars. Proper cooling is important to the good keeping of canned food. Do not

Lynn Says:
How many jars will it take? That's the question many home canners are asking when it comes to figuring the number of jars she should have.
Here are hints on some of the common canned goods:
Tomatoes: 3 pounds yield a quart jar.
String Beans: 1 bushel yields 17 to 20 quart jars.
Greens: 1 bushel spinach yields 13 pints; 1 bushel dandelions yields 18 pints.
Corn: 100 ears of golden Bantam makes about 14 pints.
Beets: 12 pounds yields 6 pints in the stalk, 2 pint jars, if cut in pieces.
Peas: 1 bushel pods yields 14 pints.

set them in a draft, but rather away from one, with jars far enough apart to allow a free circulation of air around them.

Stacking the jars or covering them with a cloth does not allow for free circulation of the air. Jars should not be packed in boxes or in the canning cupboard until they are properly cool.

When the jars are cool, test to see if they are sealed properly, by taking a spoon and tapping the lid gently. If they give off a clear, ringing sound, they are properly sealed. If the sound is low and dull, there's a leak somewhere, and you would do best to re-can the food, and prevent spoilage.

Sterilizing Jars, Caps, Lids. To dip the jars, lids and caps in hot or warm water is not proper sterilization. Before placing in sterilizer, wash all caps and jars and lids in soapy suds, then rinse thoroughly. Place in a pan on a rack or on a cloth laid on the bottom of the pan and pour warm water over them. Bring to a boil and boil for 15 minutes. The equipment may stay in the hot water longer, until you are ready to use it.

Speed Is Necessary. The time from which the vegetables or fruit are picked and canned should be pared down to exceed not more than two hours. Changes take place in the composition of the food which makes it less desirable for canning, each hour it is allowed to stand without being canned.

Packing the Food. Sandwiching the food down in the jars too tightly prevents the heat from getting around it and will result in improper processing. Especially important is a fairly loose packing with vegetables like corn, peas, greens and lima beans.

If liquid boils away or evaporates during processing, do not replace this other liquid before sealing the jar. Even though all the vegetables or fruits are not covered with juice, they will keep perfectly well, provided the contents are cooked properly and sealed well.

Since tomatoes are technically a fruit and are acid, they are canned differently from vegetables.

Tomatoes. Scald tomatoes in boiling water 1 minute. Soak in cold water 1 minute. Peel, core and pack into sterilized jars. Add 1 teaspoonful of salt to each jar and cover with boiling water or tomato juice to within 1/2 inch of the top. Put on cap, screw tightly and place in pressure cooker for 10 minutes at 5 pounds, in the hot water bath for 35 minutes or in the oven for 75 minutes.

Vegetable Soup Mixture.
1 large onion (cut fine)
1 quart tomatoes (cut fine)
2 cups okra (cut fine)
2 cups corn (cut fine)

Combine the ingredients, stirring carefully to prevent scorching, for about 12 minutes. Pack loosely into clear jars and add 2 teaspoons salt to each jar. Put on cap fastening it tightly, and process in pressure cooker 40 minutes at 10 pounds.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To keep lemons, stiff dry sand into a stone jar, then bury the lemons in the sand, so that they will not touch each other.

To remove a fresh grease spot on a rug, cover the spot with blotting paper, then press with a hot flat-iron. Cover the spot with magnesia, let it remain for 24 hours, then brush off.

Clothes iron much easier if they are hung up carefully, pinned securely with plenty of clothespins and shaken occasionally to remove wrinkles.

If you have china plates with cracked, old faces you probably subjected them to sudden, great or unevenly applied temperature changes. Or perhaps you soaked the dishes too long in water and the body expanded, cracking the glaze.

When you want to thicken gravy, put the flour and water into a wide-mouthed jar, with a screw top and shake well.

Keep your linoleum floors waxed. Wash the floor first with mild soap and water. Wipe it dry. After half an hour has elapsed apply a thin coat of floor wax.

If your bread is too fresh to slice easily, put it into the refrigerator to get thoroughly cold.

The new steel helmet just adopted by the Army is no longer called a "tin hat." It's a "head bucket" and when you see one you'll know why. Our soldiers have changed much of their slang since the last war, but not their preference for Camel Cigarettes. Now—as then—Camels are the favorite. They're the favorite cigarette with men in the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard as well, according to actual sales records from service men's stores. If you want to be sure of your gift to friends or relatives in the service being well received, stop in at your local dealer's and send a carton of Camels.—Adv.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a nervous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of waste impurities. The salt of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause back-ache, dizziness, one may suffer from nervousness, persistent headache, itching of skin, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all over aches.
Frequent, steady or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a simple medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisons body creates. Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's held at all drug stores.

DOAN'S PILLS

PRIVATE PURKEY IN LOVE AND WAR

Dear Ma—

There is not much to write about and anyhow even if there was the top sarge wood not give me time enough to write about it. I am well and feel stronger than ever with puzzles me on account of if I did half as much work when I was in civilian life I would be a fizical wreck long ago. I guess it must be that a jeep goes on doing what's asked of him in the army knowing it won't do him no good to kick and he knows he wood get no sympathy if he got run down.

I see where we declared war on the Balkan states Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungaria. When it first come over the radio that we declared war on three states extra it sort of jarred me on account of we was already fighting so many states that I am always one or two states behind. But when I found out it was only Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungaria I felt easier. I got no friends in none of them and the only Hungarian I knew played in a orchestra witch was pretty bad. Everybody is in the war now so a few more do not make no difference I gess.

Well, mom, do not worry about me as from all I hear it is softer being here in the army than being a plain civilyun. The situation back home is very heartbreaking to me. New York and a lot of other cities is so dark nights it is more lonesome going out after dark than it would be to stay home.

Gas is going to be harder than ever to get, the government is talking about taking tires away from everybody, all parking lots at the beaches have been closed at night and there is talk of forbidding bus travel except on business, so it is just a laugh now when anybody talks about keeping out of the army so he can do as he pleases.

Gosh, mom, I gess you and pop take more orders right now in a day than I get in the army in a week. All people in civilyun life have got on me is that they don't have to peel potatoes. The radio keeps talking about ceiling troubles back home and I still hope nothing has happened to your ceiling yet, although you did not answer my last letter about it.

I hope you are all fixed on priorities also whatever they are. Everybody seems to be having them. Sergeant Mooney says I need not worry about having them as I had them when I was a boy.

John Bennett is in my outfit and he is always good for a laugh. He says he just ran across the most cookoo jeep in the army. He says he saw him with a homemade fly trap catching flies. At first he thought he was just nuts but when he seen him doing it four days in a row he demanded a explanation and found the nitwit was catching them to feed a pet frog which he keeps in his tent as a mascot.

It takes all kinds of men to make a army but this is the first time I knew it also took a fly trap and a frog. Well this will have to be all. I get pretty homesick at times of course, mom, and I wish I could get back to see you and pop often but on the other hand I don't gess I could stand life back in a city with so many restrictshuns and with everybody giving orders about one thing and another.

Your loving son,
Oscar.

IS IT JUST IN FUN?
With all the bulletins, warnings, radio talks, etc., being made to save tires and gas by slow driving, one has only to stand on almost any open road in America to see that thousands of drivers are brazenly ignoring the whole matter. This driver should be put well near the top of Fifth Columnists, and, what's more, the police are almost as guilty in their lackadaisical attitude about him.

SUPPOSE we could put on a baseball carnival that included Cy Young, Ty Cobb, Nap Lajoie, Tris Speaker, Joe Jackson, Ed Walsh, Babe Ruth, George Sisler, Rogers Hornsby and Hans Wagner. It would be something to look at—especially for those who carry memories of other baseball days.

Or suppose you could put on a series of fights that knew such names as Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, John Lawrence Sullivan, Jim Jeffries, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney and Joe Louis. That, also, would be something to see.

In a way, after this fashion, the Hale America open golf show in Chicago, for war fund purposes, was the closest approach anyone could make along the lines of past and present stardom when it comes to a matter of past color and skill, hooked up with modern ability to wreck par.

Turning Back the Clock

When it comes to turning back the clock in Chicago's golf ensemble we can give you Chick Evans, an ex-caddie from the Edgewater G. C. in Chicago, who was a star golfer 35 years ago—and who is still good.

We could give you Francis Oulmet, another ex-caddie who at the age of 20, turned back Harry Vardon and Ted Ray 29 years ago at Brookline in Massachusetts. And he is still good.

Or we can give you Walter Hagen who threatened at Brookline in 1913, and came along to win the U. S. Open in 1914 at Midlothian, Chicago.

Or Bobby Jones who starred at Merion in 1916, only 26 years ago, at the age of 14.

Or Gene Sarazen, who at the age of 20, won the U. S. Open at Skokie, another Chicago course, in 1922—a mere lapse of 20 years.

And don't think that Jones and Sarazen can't break '70 today.

Hagen, Jones and Sarazen together have won something like 30 national and international championships. Jones and Hagen have been the two great golfers of all times and when it comes to the combined check-up of skill and color Sarazen isn't far away. Harry Vardon had his full share of skill, but not the color that goes with the three we have named.

The Modern Group

No one could expect Cobb, Ruth, Speaker, Young, Lajoie, Sisler or Hornsby to compete with the present day crop—Ted Williams, Joe Gordon, Bobby Doerr, Joe DiMaggio, Pete Reiser, Terry Moore, and others.

So no one could expect Jones, Hagen, Sarazen and other old-timers to match scoring swings with Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Sammy Sneed or Craig Wood.

But this is one outstanding feature of golf. The old-timers, here and there still will play holes and shots as any Nelson, Hogan or Sneed can produce.

They no longer have the physical or the concentrative stamina to hook up shot after shot through 72 holes. This means a twelve or a fourteen-hour grind, where there is no let-up on nerve pressure—where only those who have battled from coast to coast, week after week through many months, are well enough seasoned to go the route. But these old-timers still can play all the shots any of the modern crop can produce.

The only trouble is that they can't link them together, stroke after stroke, and hole after hole. It is the linking process that counts. Even 26-handicap golfers have made holes in one, or hammered brassie shots dead against the pin.

So it would be foolish to expect any member from the Old Guard to keep on the heels of a Nelson, Hogan or Sneed, to mention only three members from the modern group.

Jones and Sarazen might—in an 18-hole test. But not over the 72-hole route, where concentration and nerves begin to disintegrate and fall apart, and the old urge fades out—not overlooking a little matter known as youth—competitive youth.

For all that, the golfers hang on the longest. They still can stick around when the others are merely records covered with dust.

A Faster Pace

There isn't any debating the fact that modern golfers have set a faster pace than old-timers could offer. Their game is more standardized—a 270-yard drive and then a wallop for the pin.

But I still think they lack the variety of shots old-timers could play—the half and three-quarter iron, for example.

The dynamiter or blaster of the modern crop has made a big difference in bunker play. You also can call it the "wedge."

THE Great Men of the prize fight industry came close to getting Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in an unsavory mess when they urged that the army allow him to fight another bout in order to earn money to pay his income taxes.

The Great Men made a mistake. The suggestion came shortly after Louis had presented approximately $85,000 to the army and navy from benefit bout receipts. The suggestion had too strong an implication of reciprocity. It was as though the army had been asked to grant Joe a concession in return for his financial aid.

Such a move never would have occurred to Joe. His honesty and forthrightness would have prevented it. Louis is the kind of a person who would naturally steer clear of such schemes.

Joe's tax bill is $117,000. It doesn't take a mastermind to figure out that the man on the street—earning maybe $35 a week—can't feel very sorry for anyone whose tax bill amounts to that kind of money.

Since the original suggestion was made, Louis has been transferred to Fort Riley, Kan., for completion of his basic training. In a ruling on Louis' status by Secretary of War Henry Stimson, it was stated that "appearances other than those strictly in behalf of the armed forces will not be undertaken by Louis until he has finished his training."

JOE LOUIS

A soldier since January 13, Louis put in about six weeks of training at Camp Upton. Thus the question of his fighting may be brought up again no later than the middle of August, leaving plenty of time for a late summer fight.

However, the shift may end the matter. It probably was a good thing for Joe that the army ordered his transfer to Kansas. The Great Men will find it a bit more difficult to operate from long distance.

Too, the next Louis fight isn't likely to draw a very heavy gate. The opposition isn't strong enough to engender much enthusiasm on the part of anyone but the challenger. Conn is the most suitable opponent, but he's also in uniform. Bob Pastor's drawing power is becoming limited to relatives and a few close friends.

There are other angles. The Office of Defense Transportation has frowned on county fairs, conventions and other assemblies which would use transportation equipment that might be necessary in the war effort. A heavyweight championship bout usually has a greater pull than a county fair or a convention of the Friends of the American Buggywhip Collectors.

Louis unquestionably is in good shape. While he was under the jurisdiction of the Second Corps area he was sent out on a good many exhibitions—too many, some observers believe. In this connection, Secretary Stimson's statement was quoted:

"The many public appearances made by Louis since his induction have made it impossible for him to be afforded the same privileges of training that are available to other soldiers. That is unfair to him and to the army."

Joe's entire attitude is excellent. When he was told of his transfer, his answer was characteristic:

"I don't know anything about it, but anything the army does is all right with me."

SPORT SHORTS

Ⓢ In the American league the visiting team gets 30 cents each for grandstand and pavilion spectators and 20 cents for each occupant of the bleachers. The home club keeps the balance except for three cents which goes to the league to pay salaries and expenses of scorers, umpires, etc.

Ⓢ In a recent game against San Antonio, Tulsa put 18 men on base but only two of them scored.

Ⓢ New York is the only city which could stage a championship fight without drawing patronage from distant areas. And gas rationing in the East would affect the take considerably.

Ⓢ Lieut. Comm. Frank C. Lane, former business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is the athletic officer at the Corpus Christi Naval base.

Ⓢ Until 1920 a rule existed which called a balk if the pitcher threw to an unoccupied base.

Patrick Discovered No Murmuring of the Crowd

Patrick went to a funeral home to pay his last respects to a business acquaintance, who had been a grasping fellow. The funeral service was an imposing one, and Pat sat patiently through it. And when it was over he approached one of the mourners and inquired: "What did he die of?"

"He died of a Tuesday," was the reply of the mourner.

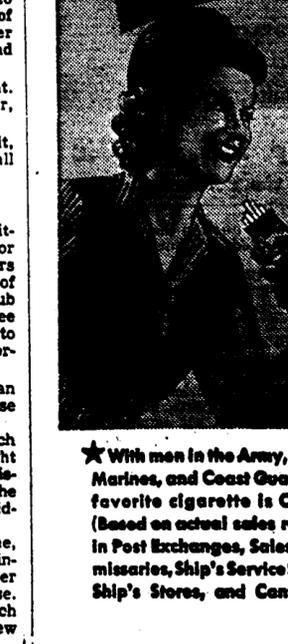

"No, no," said Pat, "I don't mean when he died. I mean what was the trouble? What was the complaint?"

With that the mourner's eyes lighted up. "Oh, I see what you mean. Well, to tell the truth, there was no complaint. Everybody is satisfied."

Inescapable History

Fellow citizens, we cannot escape history. We of this congress and this administration will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generation. We shall nobly save or meanly lose the last, best hope of earth.—Lincoln.

FAMOUS ALL-BRAN MUFFINS. EASY TO MAKE. DELICIOUS!

They really are the most delicious muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! Made with crisp, toasted strands of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, they have a texture and flavor that have made them famous all over America.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
2 tablespoons 1/4 cup milk
shortening 1 cup flour
1/4 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg 2 1/2 teaspoons
1 cup All-Bran 2 1/2 baking powder
Cream shortening and sugar; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Stir flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 6 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

AUCTION SALE

IN
Hillsboro Village, N. H.
Saturday, July 25, 1942
At 9:30 O'clock in the Forenoon

At which time we shall begin to sell by public auction the goods and chattels from the home of the late Amy Gould situated on Church Street.

To our auction audience, we believe you will find this one of the most interesting and worthwhile auctions of the season; not a large amount of antiques, but so clean and well preserved. We shall only attempt to list a small percent.

Two large old platters, variety of old crockery and china, pewter plate and tea pot, glass hen, gold band glass, cut glass, vases, jardiniere, knick-knacks, etc. Clocks, lamps, lanterns, large variety of kitchen, pantry and dining room necessities. Old blue and white bed coverlet, also a tan and green coverlet. Very unusual good lot of comforters, quilts, bed spreads, sheets, pillow slips, towels, table linen, etc. Toilet sets, art squares, rugs, books, pictures, mirrors, drop leaf table, marble top table oval top, oak center table, dining table, stands, Black Walnut chamber set, Mission bed, other beds, mattresses, sofa, Marble top dresser, Oak dressers, sewing machine, music cabinet, Victrola, records, electric carpet cleaner, good variety of chairs.

Several cords of hard wood fitted for the stove, lawn mower, wheelbarrow, ladders, two tool chests and a lot of good tools for carpenters, farmers, and gardeners, grindstone, cultivators, hand sled, brackets, etc.

Don't miss the auction.
