DEERING CLUB MEMBERS HONOR DR. CAMPBELL

DEERING—Dr. Eleanor Anderson Campbell of Scarsdale, N. Y., and a Deering summer resident of many years was the surprised recipient of a corsage and testimonial from her townspeople at the Community Center "Julie and John" program held at Evelyn Hall last Friday evening.

The "Good Neighbor" award given to Dr. Campbell as read at the meeting is as follows:

"Dr. Eleanor Anderson Campbell of Scarsdale, N. Y., came to Deering more than twenty years ago, purchased the Merrill Farm, in the Pond District. This old farm house she restored to its original beauty. Since then she has purchased five neighboring farms and restored them as valuable property.

"After the sudden death of her only daughter, she purchased the Goodall place on the Manchester road and erected several cottages, and making the large barn into a hall that has been used for social functions, as a Memorial. The house across the road was built for a parsonage, to be used by the pastor of the Deering Community Church.

"She held a baby clinic in this and surrounding towns and by her untiring work saved the lives of many children, coming from her home in New York during the winter months to check on ailing children.

Near Plymouth is a hill called South Mountain, or it used to be there when I went to Normal School, now Teacher's College. About this time of year, a good long time ago, I explored this hill just to see where the maiden hair ferns grew, which had been so profusely used in decorations for the June graduating time. I had never seen so many before. Well I found plenty of maiden hair on South Mountain and marvelled at their beauty. Although many showed signs of autumn. When I had climbed half way up, I turned around and fairly gasped with delight. It had not been much of a climb but below the valley was spread out, the town and farms around it and just north of town the Pemigewasset and Baker rivers, I believe came together to form the Merrimack River. The bright October sun made all the foliage in its gorgeous colors glisten and gleam as in a fairyland world. Little bits of the present glory of autumn remind me of my mountain climbing days and by closing my eyes I can see many beautiful pictures as real as those of today.

Mrs. George Haslet, Mrs. B. D. Peaslee, Mrs. Frederick Lundberg, Mrs. George Hall, Miss Abbie Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. K. Yeaples, and son, Whitney, and others from Deering attended the interdenomination and inter-racial service sponsored by New Hampshire Council of Churches and Religious Education, held in Laconia, Oct. 13 at 4:15 p.m. Sermon by Dr. Roswell Barnes of New York City. Dr. Yeaples was pleased to see so many of the parishioners present, for he, as secretary, was largely responsible for the meeting.

Mrs. Warren Day came home from the hospital last of the week, and with her husband, is staying with her sister, Ruth Riley, and their father on Myrtle St. All her friends hope she continues to steadily improve.

Messrs Smith and Lee left on Monday for Tennessee where they will make an extended visit with friends. In the late summer they sold their home on Central St., the former Hearty house, and moved to the Centre where they have rooms in the Nelson House. They were good neighbors and we regretted to have them leave but like the rest of us they have a fondness for the Centre, in the summer. Mr. Fogg, manager of the Farmers Feed and Supply, his wife and two daughters, bought the Central Street property.

Miss Bernice Derby left for New York City on Tuesday where she will be employed in the Presbyterian Hospital from which she graduated in June, after a 3 years course there. She finished a five year nursing course including 2 years at U. of N.H., 1 at Simmons College and three months at Bryn Mawr. She is quite interested in Public Health Nursing and proved her ability for such work by substituting for Mrs. Bailey, R. N., during September, however, she is prepared for most positions in the

ON THE STREET

By Paul S. Scruton

The "Snews News", edited for some time past by the Antrim High School is one of the most interesting and breeziest little publications ever seen in the state, and Hillsboro High School would do well to follow the example of the smaller neighboring town school and publish a monthly booklet along the same lines. Of course art went out of Hillsboro High some years back as drawing was numbered among the non-essential subjects, but it's safe to state that some of the students have a liking for drawing as well as music.

And of course the drawing of a nice fat salary is quite a necessity in this day and age but until very recently a teacher drew less pay than the day laborer. When we went to school a drawing teacher was regularly employed and we had the ambition to be a cartoonist, but slipped up somewhere between sunrise and darkness and have since been able to barely draw a deep breath without numerous complications.

We hope the High School and all the other schools using this newspaper will take full advantage of the opportunity for self-expression through the medium of The Messenger, and gladly turn over all available space for the school news.

Interest in the Hillsboro schools will always very naturally be of first importance in my humble opinion. My Dad was once the Principal of the High school and my mother taught school for some 28 years here. It is a deplorable condition when opportunities knock and are disregarded by fools like me, who venture in where angels fear to tread, but many of us take the bull by the tail and face the situation instead of reversing the procedure.

With the world's series baseball now past history, those of us who were fortunate enough to listen in, through the medium of radio, were thrilled and some of us old timers recall many of the games played at Grimes' Field in our own home town during the past 40 odd years. We remember the day "Fatty" Crowell clouted a homer that landed on the Colby roof, among other feature hits and plays. It's a great game, baseball. In our humble opinion the greatest of them all. Hillsboro had a fine baseball club during the past season and we understand that plans are already being made for an even better team if possible. It's good to know that the diamond and playing field will be put in decent playing condition again before another year rolls around.

It's in the wind that the town is to have a basketball team again this coming season but details are lacking at the present time.

According to Life magazine, President Truman is a great joiner. In fact he belongs to some 140 different lodges, fraternal organizations and societies besides being an honorary member of prominent national associations. No President we ever had belonged to so very many different organizations, which seems to prove that he is socially prominent in any language.

Most of us who are fast becoming vegetarians from necessity and can afford a pound of butter about once every third month loudly curse the OPA and the administration for wanton waste and lack of leadership and it's no wonder soldiers are reenlisting after getting the shock of their lives in returning to civilian bickering and dilly dallying. With taxes for this and taxes for that, the money you actually can take home would barely buy food for the pet canary in carpet tacks. Nobody today, however, worries much about the meat bill. Its fast becoming a centless world in any sense.

GRANITE STATE GARDENER

by J. R. HEPLER

This is the season of the year when the average gardener is worried about the refuse that is left in his garden. I have had a number of inquiries asking how to build a compost pile. Personally, I think it would be much simpler in a way, if all tomato vines, potato vines, refuse from peas, beans, and even corn, were burned, as soon as they were dry. There is really very little organic matter and not a great deal of plant food in these vines and they do carry the spores of early and late blight of potatoes and tomatoes, the various blights of the peas, of anthracnose of beans, celery blight, and smut and corn borers in the corn. Is it worth while to take a chance on infecting your garden for the sake of a few dollars worth of fertilizing material? Even weeds often contain the virus of disease and in many cases the seeds of purslane and other garden weeds are often carried over in the compost pile without being killed.

Wouldn't it be better, then, to destroy this garden refuse because its value at best is negligible. A ton of green tomato, potato, and pea vines, contains approximately 100 to 150 pounds of dry matter, equal in fertilizing value to about two or three hundred pounds of hen manure.

And yet, there are many good reasons for composting soils. For house plants and greenhouse use, soil may be composted on a small scale by mixing equal parts of fairly well rotted manure and a good field soil free from garden diseases. You may keep it in your house cellar or in your barn cellar so that it will be available when the ground is frozen in February or March. This composite pile should be built up of alternate layers of soil and manure and wet down occasionally. Turning it over once or twice during the winter season will help.

If you wish to build a compost pile outdoors on a large scale, use about equal parts of fresh cow manure and bluegrass sod in alternate layers. This should rot for two years before it is ready to use. Now, if you insist upon composting your garden trash, the leaves from your shade trees, poor hay, straw, or corn stalks, do it the following way: put down a layer of the material about a foot thick and then sprinkle over this layer a pound of good garden fertilizer, like a 5-10-10, to every 20 or 30 pounds of corn stalks or other garden remains. Add layer after layer until the pile is complete, wet down once or twice and allow to rot. Alternate layers of manure may be used instead of the fertilizer and will work equally well. By spring you should have a very good fertilizer for your garden and you will ease your conscience by saving every bit of the organic matter.

MORE HELP TO POLAND URGED BY QUAKER LEADER

Individuals and organizations in the United States are urged to send increased quantities of CARE food packages to Poland, in a letter just received from David Richie, representative of the American Friends' Service Committee and the joint Anglo-American Quaker Mission in Poland.

Mr. Richie's letter, written from Kozenice, Kieleckie, Poland, defines the needs of the Polish people: "I have seen the need," he wrote. "Almost everyone is continuously hungry. The two basic foods, potatoes and bread, are both scarce and very expensive. Those favored workers who receive a meal while at work must consider this their only real meal for the day, while their families try to buy enough on the open market to keep alive."

HOW TO ORDER A CARE PACKAGE

Print your own name and address clearly.

Print the name and address of the person in Europe you wish to receive the package.

Enclose a check or money-order for fifteen dollars, which represents a cost of 52 cents per pound of balanced food, delivered in Europe, with delivery guaranteed.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES Rev. Earle Y. Fellows, Pastor

10:45 A. M.—Service of worship and sermon on "Living as a Christian". We profess, we pray, we talk of the ideal of the Christian Life, but how do we act as we go about our ways of daily living? Are we always ourselves Christians and are we supposed to be upon a different level from those who walk the paths of worldly life.

12 M.—The Sunday School will soon be in full swing and there is promise of a splendid year. There are classes and teachers for all grades. Come to the church school and help carry on the teachings of God.

7 P. M.—The second evening service will be held with Rev. Milo Farmer of the Methodist Church of Hillsboro speaking on "The Challenge of Our Times". The soloist will be Miss Gladys Elder of Grasmere.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Are Returning Veterans "Different"?

During the war you heard a lot about how hard it was going to be for returning veterans to get adjusted to civilian life... how they'd be "different."

Well, plenty of them have returned to our town, and a finer, stouter bunch you couldn't ask for. Most of them are back at the same jobs... going with the same nice home-town girls (getting married, some of them, and setting up families)... renewing the same old friendships.

Even their amusements are the same. Nothing more exciting than fishing Seward's creek or pitching horseshoes... enjoying an outdoor barbecue with friendly wholesome beer and pleasant talk.

If they've changed at all it's in the direction of maturity and tolerance... tolerance for everything except dictators, and those who would destroy our democratic principles of live and let live. And from where I sit, that's another reason to be proud of them.

Lower Village

Miss Mary E. Pierce
Correspondent

There is beauty in our village at this time of year. Everywhere the world is beautiful, but on the road that leads to Gibson Mountain there is unsurpassed loveliness. The Creator must have smiled upon this spot.

Long, slanting shadows soften the glistening ripples of Pierce Lake and blends them with the haze that spreads over the water. Far on the slopes the gorgeous coloring of oak and maple reaches up the mountainside and mingles with the somber green of hemlock and pine. The clouds drift by and cast their ever shifting shadows upon the meadows and the mountain. The beauty of the country is so breathtaking that one can only murmur, "Glory be to God for the shadows of autumn."

Here is an exquisite bit of nature on this hilly road. The shimmering water, hills clothed in indescribable grandeur, and over all at evening, the benediction of the hunter's moon.

Long ago amid this beauty of sky and field and mountain lived Jenny Gilchrist, the witch of our village. To her evil eye was attributed each and every misfortune that befell a villager.

Back in the so-called era of witchcraft every hamlet had its character who was looked upon with suspicion. It was believed this much maligned person was on friendly terms with evil spirits and with gnomes of ill repute.

Little is known of Jenny Gilchrist. About her linger a few fantastic stories but her small home still stands. A tiny one-story building called the "witch house," that today shelters from the storms, hay and grains and wood.

Opposite is the fine old fashioned house of Mrs. Bessie Broadley. The Gibson family once lived here. One day, the two daughters incurred the displeasure of "Aunt Jenny," as our witch was sometimes called. She frowned upon the Gibson girls. "You'll not go riding today," she said, although the horses were saddled and bridled, and waiting in the barn. The young girls laughed. Later, dressed in long riding habits and plumed hats, they could not find their steeds. Closed tightly was the great barn door, there was no other exit. Yet in the meadow were two wildly running horses, that gave every sign of having been bewitched. This strange story can be read in "Smith's Annuals," an aged yellow phamlet in the Fuller Library. There are other equally amusing tales about the Lower Village witch who lived and died amid the beauty of the hills.

Today people love the meadows and the mountains as did "Aunt Jenny." There are many cottages on the shores of the Lake. Every week-end until the coming of cold weather these lovers of the beauty of our village return to their summer homes.

On Monday, October 2, Death folded her ever peaceful wings about our neighbor, Mrs. Fred E. Jones, who observed, recently, her eighty-fourth birthday, died in Boston. The funeral was held from her home in the village on Saturday afternoon, October 5.

Relatives, friends and neighbors assembled to mark the memory of one, who for over forty years had lived among us. Rev. Dr. Yeaple conducted the service. He read several poems that had been enjoyed by Mrs. Jones.

Her especial favorite had an appealing pathos:

"Not As I Will"
"Blindfolded and alone I wait;
Loss seems too bitter, gain too late;
Too heavy burdens in the load
And too few helpers on the road;
And joy is weak and grief is strong
And years and days so long, so long,

Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go
That I am glad the good and ill,
By changeless law are ordered still,

Not as I will."
We shall miss our good neighbor.

An English bride has come to our village. David Murphy, who during the recent war, spent several months in England, found there the sweetheart of his choice.

This young wife, a native of Manchester, England, sailed from Liverpool on the S. S. Scythia which docked in Halifax, Oct. 4th. Her husband met her in Montreal where she arrived Saturday evening. On Sunday these very happy people came to our village to live.

It was a joyous home coming. The upstairs was gay with flowers sent by the Ladies' Aid and David's family opened its heart and arms to this young girl from across the sea.

On Saturday evening, in the Chapel, the villagers gave a pound party to welcome Mrs. Murphy to our community. It was a happy gathering. The basement of the Chapel was tastefully decorated with red berries and autumn leaves. Each guest presented the young people with a pound of some household commodity, with wishes for a bright and sunny future. Sandwiches, cookies, tea and coffee were served. A delicious cake made by Mrs. O'Dell, and presented by Mrs. Moulton was cut by the bride. The committee, Mrs. Ernest Durgin, Mrs. Morris White, Mrs. Frieda Senecal, Mrs. Azarie Senecal deserve much credit for this very enjoyable occasion.

Our village takes this young wife to its heart and hopes that all kinds of happiness may come to David and his bride.

"The ornament of a house," says Emerson, "is the friends who frequent it." Last week good cheer abounded in several homes where guests were entertained.

A childhood playmate, Mrs. Emil Boder, of Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y. was pleasant company for Mrs. F. J. Orser.

Mrs. Roy H. Miles of Wakefield, Mass. spent a day with Mrs. Edna Perk.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Phalen, who live in an attractive house on the mountain road, entertained guests over the week-end.

Mrs. Irving Jones of "Jonesmere" enjoyed the holiday visit of Mrs. David I. French. The presence of Mr. Irving E. Jones added pleasure of the festivities. It is a curious fact that whenever Mr. Jones comes to his home for the week-end, with him he brings the rain. He is an excellent weather prophet. His advent causes the neighbors to close bulk heads and windows to keep out stormy weather. During the summer dependance upon barometers was forgotten, but when Mr. Jones returns to Boston for the winter, the village will be forced to rely upon old time weather signs.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Simonson of San Francisco, California, visited Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henning. Mrs. Simonson is the aunt of Mrs. Henning.

In the village Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman enjoyed the company of Mrs. Hoffman's son, Mr. Harold Dobbie and his wife.

The Hoffman house is very neat and pleasing. It is one of the village homes that commands a view of the mountain. From the side porch one can meditate on the great, hill, always peaceful and sublime, for the mountain is dear to every one of us.

It is pleasant to learn that Mrs. Josephine Fuller is slowly improving from her very recent illness.

Our sympathy is extended to Mr. Leon Cutter who is ill in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Scott Nelson, who lives in town.

Bird lovers welcome these warm sunny days. Ripened berries attract so many feathered songsters that strangers mingle with the old familiar friends. Cedar waxwings hover over the elder berries and robins descend in flocks upon the fruit of the dogwood.

Only yesterday the dulcet sound of "Peabody" came from the rose hedge where a white throated sparrow chanted his command, "Sow wheat, Peabody sow wheat." In the spring, not Peabody alone, but every gardener hastened to obey, but now, in the declining year, only the sweetness of the song is heard, for sowing time is over. The Peabody birds with all the summer sparrows are starting on their journey to the South. As to all travellers by air, our village wishes "happy landings."

annual Forest Conference to be held at Peterboro Oct. 16th. A very interesting meeting has been planned for the day. Don't miss it. Oct. 16, 10 a.m.

Speaking of interesting places, I visited the Larrabee Hatchery at Peterboro. I went into the hatchery room where there men were busy sorting out the thousands of chicks hatched every Monday. Mammoth incubators holding thousands of eggs. A very interesting place. Besides the hatching department, he has one of the largest laying houses and brooders houses in the state. It's a place I got a big kick out of visiting. So would you if you are chick inclined.

More dogs are reported lost. Some with and some without collars. The hunting season always makes a lot of lost dogs. Many new dogs are brought into this section and the first night they turn up missing.

The past week I am indebted to George Blood of Mt. Vernon. The Fiske Farm of Temple and the Larrabee farm at Peterboro for feed for my wild animals.

Sorry I had to miss the Firemen's meeting at Frankestown and the Civic club meeting at Milford. With the bird hunters in the daytime and the coon hunters at night, where do we get off to attend social affairs?

If you want to see a swell up-to-the-minute store visit the new First National at Peterborough.

The Greenville Sportsmen's club cleaned up over $800 at their recent carnival and are to make extensive repairs and improvements to the basement of their club house. They have a fine club house and a fine

The recently formed Sportsmen's club at Greenfield is going strong and adding new members every day. They are planning a big sup-bank account. More power to them. per Oct. 17th and are to give away a $75 shot gun.

Walter Peterson, who owns a beautiful summer home on Cunningham Pond, Peterboro, reports that several people have seen a young yearly cub bear on what is known as Knight's Hill, that town.

Thomas Burke, over on the Greenfield-Peterboro road reports a cow moose and three small ones in his large field for several weeks. Here is a man that wants to buy a real watch dog. He lost his last week. He wants a cross between an Airdale and a German Shepherd. What have you?

Shooting grey squirrels right close to home is bound to get some hunter into trouble. First night of the raccoon season

I bumped into two parties but they were coolness when I saw them. A mother raccoon and three young were seen the other night near the center of the town on route 101.

Speaking of narrow escapes, Oct. 1, 12:05 p. m., a hen grouse flew into the office of the David Whiting Co. breaking a large plate glass window and ending up with a broken neck. The office help had just left the room. It was a narrow escape for the people working in that room. The same day two grouse just barely missed hitting Arthur Hazen of Mont Vernon while he was on his way to the village. They just skimmed the windshield.

Had a nice letter form Conservation Officer Arthur J. Lovely, Jr. of Orange, Mass. Have worked with Arthur a lot in the past and he is 100 per cent Conservation Officer over in Mass. He joins me at the Winchendon, Mass. Rindge, N. H. line.

I have an invite to set in some day or night to a television show at the studio of Roger Brooks at Hancock. His studio is 262 miles from New York but they get wonderful results. I will be showing up some day or night soon. Save me a seat.

Have you got a valuable dog? If so, be sure and put a collar on him or her with your name and address. From now on all dogs without the proper marking will be taken care of. The Rabies scare in this town has made many changes in the dog laws of this town. From now on we live up to the letter of the law. No more strays running at large. All dogs without a collar will be considered strays.

A loaded gun in a car or boat calls for the cancellation of your hunting license and a trip to the nearest Police Courtroom. This is one thing we are hardboiled on in this present hunting season. More gun accidents are caused by a loaded gun in a car. Fair warning.

Take the teen age boy or girl out and show them how to be a real sportsman or woman and teach them how to properly use a gun.

Shooting up a no trespassing sign calls for a nice little fine. So don't do it.

Last week's honor roll for tinfoil for the crippled children is as follows: Miss Helen C. Draper, Warner; Mrs. Frederick Trejo, Lynde-boro; The Home for the Aged and Algae L. Duncan Urquhart of Newport was at Pinehurst Farm last Thursday evening to give a Stanley Home Products Demonstration. Most of the ladies present came from Hillsboro. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, and coffee were served by the hostess, after the demonstration.

Mrs. Marie H. Wells, and Mrs. Melvina Whitney and Mrs. Flora Hofman of Hillsboro attended the regular meeting of Union Pomona Grange at New Boston, one evening last week. The Fifth Degree was conferred on a class of candidates and Deputy Russell A. Rolston of Greenland was present for fall inspection.

Miss Mary Hogan of Hingham, Mass. spent the week-end at Hillside Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carew.

Mrs. Joseph Carew spent two days the first of the week in Boston.

Miss Helen Holmes, a former resident of Deering, returned for a visit last summer. Her return to Arizona on September 11th was made in eleven hours by airplane.

"The Goodall property was made ter. which was made available, for into the Deering Community Center-summer vacation school, and where the organizations in town were always welcome.

"She furnished a caretaker, who transported the citizens to Church and to the social functions which were held at the Community Center.

"She assisted financially with restoring the Deering Community Church to its original beauty, and helped pay the minister's salary.

"She has given several girls and boys a chance for higher education, by sending them to East Northfield and Mount Herman Schools and by paying all their expenses.

"She has never been too busy to help anyone in need or in sickness, paying hospital bills for several families, who needed surgical attention, and were unable to attend to it because of the expense.

"She gives year-round employment to all the families that live on her farms, and has stocked the farms with valuable guernsey cattle. Her farm tractor assists in keeping the roads open during the winter.

"She has improved property on the shores of Piscataquog Lake and brought many of her friends to town. She assists financially in every drive that is conducted in town, thus helping Deering to meet its quota. She not only is a good neighbor, but also a good Christian, a good American and a good doctor."

The broadcast was preceded by a supper, for which the committee chairman was Mrs. Hazel Putnam. The affair was under the auspices of the Deering Community Club, which was rewarded with a substantial sum for its treasury.

Mrs. James Y. Wilson of East Deering, aged 78 years, was awarded the prize for being the oldest woman present, and won a second award as having been married the longest, 40 years. Mrs. Roger Connor of Hillsboro won the mother-in-law award, and Mrs. Joseph Carew the prize for having the largest number of children. She has 10 children, the oldest of whom is 26 and the youngest 11, and her family comprises seven sons and three daughters.

Carlton Flanders of Hillsboro, was given the award for having been married at the earliest age, 19. John Adams, the youngest child present, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Adams, was interviewed by Julie and presented a toy. He is two years old. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chase of Weare were given a prize as the most recently wedded couple. They have been married eight months. Mrs. Belle Weber won the wishing ring, and little Miss Theresa Ann Smith of Bow won the prize for having come the greatest distance. Four-year-old Nancy Harvey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harvey, was the winner on the Kiddie Quiz program. Prizes were donated by the merchants of Hillsboro.

Over 150 people were served at the dinner which preceded the entertainment.

Shirley B. Brown of Bow to Donald J. Welch of Concord, at St. John's Church at Concord Saturday morning. They also attended the reception which followed the services.

Paul Cooper is tearing down the shed joining the house at his home Chick-A-Biddy Farm and will build a sun porch across the back of the house soon. He is also having all the old trees cut along the state road, which is a great improvement and will eliminate those horrid tent caterpillar nests next spring.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Reidt left for Canada, last Saturday, where they will spend their vacation.

Donald Hodgman of Weare was a business visitor in town, the first of the week.

Dr. Ralph H. Whitney is having a metal edge put onto the roof at his home, Alderbrooke Farm.

Mrs. Rebecca G. Smith and her son, Harry Putnam, visited relatives at Wilton, one day last week.

Harry Dutton and Harry Putnam were business visitors at Frances-town, last Saturday.

Miss Bibian Cote of Albuquerque, New Mexico, arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cote, last Friday for a three week's visit.

Nice letter from Mrs. C. J. Chamberlain of Antrim telling about her son in France reading the column. A copy goes to him every Monday. Thanks for the compliments.

One day last week Joseph E. Duval of East Jaffrey found several thousand small pout in a small pond that was fast drying up. He phoned me for a permit to take them out and put them in Lake Contocook which he did. Just a humane act.

To you duck hunters. The Dept. wants you to save the stomach of all ducks you shoot this season. The state Biologist Mr. Segler wants to find out what the ducks eat in the different parts of the state. Send direct to him or to the nearest conservation officer.

It might be interesting to know that the contents of the stomach of the grouse that flew into the office of D. Whiting & Sons the first day of the open season was fermented grape juice. She must have been intoxicated. The same day a grouse hit the side of the house of Charles Gregoire on Maple street but recovered and flew off.

Last Sunday in my travels on the back roads I saw many grouse crossing the road. But I did not see any in the hands of hunters. Sunday afternoon I guess every hunter was at home with the radio to see who won the first game. At Greenville it was one and one in the third inning. When I got home the game was over. Some game.

The first edition of the N. H. Sunday paper is out and it's a honey. It's about time that we did a little yelling of our own. Nice paper.

Do you know what the State Flower is? The question was asked me one night last week and I had to pass the question along. Mrs. Gay of the Gregg free library tells me it's the Purple Lilac.

Sunday I was right behind a Vermont car which lost a wheel coming down from Winton Center. He landed right side up in the Pierce yard on Burn's hill. With heavy traffic both ways it was bull luck that he didn't hit some one.

If you see a violation of the Game laws it's your duty as a good citizen to report it to the nearest Conservation officer. Don't wait till the next day, do it then and there. These fellows who shoot protected game in the closed season are just stealing from you fellows who play the game square. Let's get that tip hot off the bat.

For the next few days there will be no business done in the P.M. when the big series start. Many a business man will be in conference these days. Wish I was myself.

Please keep a collar on your dog so if lost we can return to you at once. Many a new dog has come to my district in the past few weeks. Dogs I never saw before.

Monday morning I got a tip that four dogs were seen crossing the iron bridge at Jones' crossing. One Irish setter, one English setter, one German Shepherd, one mongrel, black. Without doubt they had been running deer all night as their condition indicated it. Just a tip to people owning such dogs to check on their habits. They may turn up missing some A.M. I have in my district many a farmer and some that are not farmers who are gunning for these dogs. One poultry man lost a lot of pullets and another man hunted all one day for young neat stock that these dogs chased. So watch your dog's habits. The fine is $100 for a dog that kills a deer, same fine as if you killed it yourself out of season.

Here is a fellow who is interested in raising pheasants. Well, get a copy of Modern Game Breeding, edited at Doylestown, Pa. See your local Newsmen for a copy. It's good.

Sunnymist Kennels, Franklin, N. H., have some nice cocker spaniels for sale. Clover Kennels, Hillsboro, Falconer Kennels, Milford, and the Hampshire Hills Kennels at Wilton.

Last Saturday I got a real eyefull of Old, Old cars that were running under their own power. Some Massachusetts society of Old Cars made the run up from Lincoln, Mass., and spent two days in Peterboro, the special guests of Maj. and Mrs. A. Erland Goyette. Sunday I ran across a man with an old Mercer car that was much too old to vote. I watched him at the Quinn Filling station, Temple, 101 route, filling up. I wanted to see him pump up the engine but he just pressed a button and away they went. He and the Mrs. were much impressed by this part of the country and more so by the treatment they got from the Major and the Mrs.

If you see a sign that says Breeders' Permit, don't go any further. That means a heavy fine for you to trespass unless you have the O. K. of the owner.

Now that hunting is on in full swing it would be very nice if the party that borrowed my 12 gauge shot gun would return same. If you feel sort of guilty just leave it on the doorstep some night. I will keep the dog in the barn.

Here is a little dope I would like to pass out to some of you people. In phoning me don't insist on speaking to me. Nine times out of ten my wife can tell you what you want to know and that will save me another phone call. She knows all the answers as well as I. So tell her your troubles and she will relay it to me later. Thanks a lot. Don't send a collect call unless it's real important.
