SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

It is very hard to realize how the most vociferous, loquacious man in town succeeded in keeping a secret from his two sisters and brother for a month, all the while telling every other person in the state about it. He and Walter and I had been given a party on our birthdays by Ethel, so he decided she ought to have one on her birthday, April 6. He knows he is not very strong on cooking so Mrs. Gould roasted a turkey. Bertha Swett and Pearl Ray and Miss Farley came to help get the vegetables and dinner ready to serve, while Ethel was at church. He had told Mrs. Woods, our neighbor, his plans, so she told us how to start. Pearl made raised doughnuts which were eaten with syrup for dessert.

When Ethel came home, the house was in a hubbub and the table set for ten persons. Soon the special guests arrived, our cousins Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis of West Roxbury, Mass., and Miss Jennie Torgie, Mr. and Mrs. James Torgie, Mrs. Davis and the two Torgie's spent the summer or part of it at the Gay farm in 1892, and many other years. Ethel was completely surprised as was Walter, when guests arrived. Frank had told me a few minutes before. He carried on his correspondence with these and other invited guests through Concord.

But the dinner was not all! He invited neighbors and friends to "drop in" during the afternoon. Altogether there were over 60 people here. A group came to the door and sang "Happy Birthday" to Ethel. Ice-cream and cake were served. A birthday cake was made by Pearl Ray and a very elaborately decorated one came from Angelo's

Arthur Hugh Jacques Dies, Was Spanish War Vet

DEERING — Spanish-American War Veteran, Arthur Hugh Jacques, passed away at his home on Wednesday, April 2 at the age of 74 years. He was a native of Aglesford, Nova Scotia, the son of Charles W. and Agnes E. MacMillan Jacques. Mr. Jacques enlisted as Pvt. Company K. of the 8th Regiment of Mass. Infantry, U.S. Volunteers, on April 29, 1898 at Boston, Mass., and served in Cuba. He was a member of the William H. Devin Camp No. 5 and Manchester Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was Past Master of Wolf Hill Grange at Deering, N. H., and a member of the Hillsboro Methodist church.

Survivors are his wife, Minerva (Durham) Jacques; a brother, Charles Lindsay Jacques of Manchester, N. H.; and a sister, Mrs. Matie Diamond of Danvers, Mass., also nephew and niece.

Funeral services were held from the Woodbury Funeral Home on Sunday, April 6 with Rev. Milo Farmer of the Methodist church officiating. Interment was made in Holten Cemetery at Danvers, Mass., on Monday afternoon with Rev. Milo Farmer conducting the committal services. The casket was draped with the American flag and military services were conducted at the cemetery by members of Spanish-American War Veterans Post at Danvers, Mass., under the direction of Commander John Collins, assisted by a firing squad composed of Arthur P. LaFortune, Walter Rackliff, Frank Bennett and Edmund Rideout, under the direction of Commander Malcolm Eaton of the Drapeau-McPhetes Post No. 180 A. L. Bugler, Neal Wheelright of the Danvers High School, played taps. Bearers were Spanish-American.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

When the newspapers get through with John L. Lewis, their readers will believe that he caused the Centralia mine explosion.

The Willey Bill is not only opposed to closed shops, but union shops and unions as well, and should be defeated. We understand that the Hillsboro representatives will vote against it.

SOME THINGS DON'T CHANGE

One of the things that we often marvel at is the variety of opinions human beings have.

This week a reader questions our calling Oswald Garrison Villard a liberal. We do so because of his record, past and present.

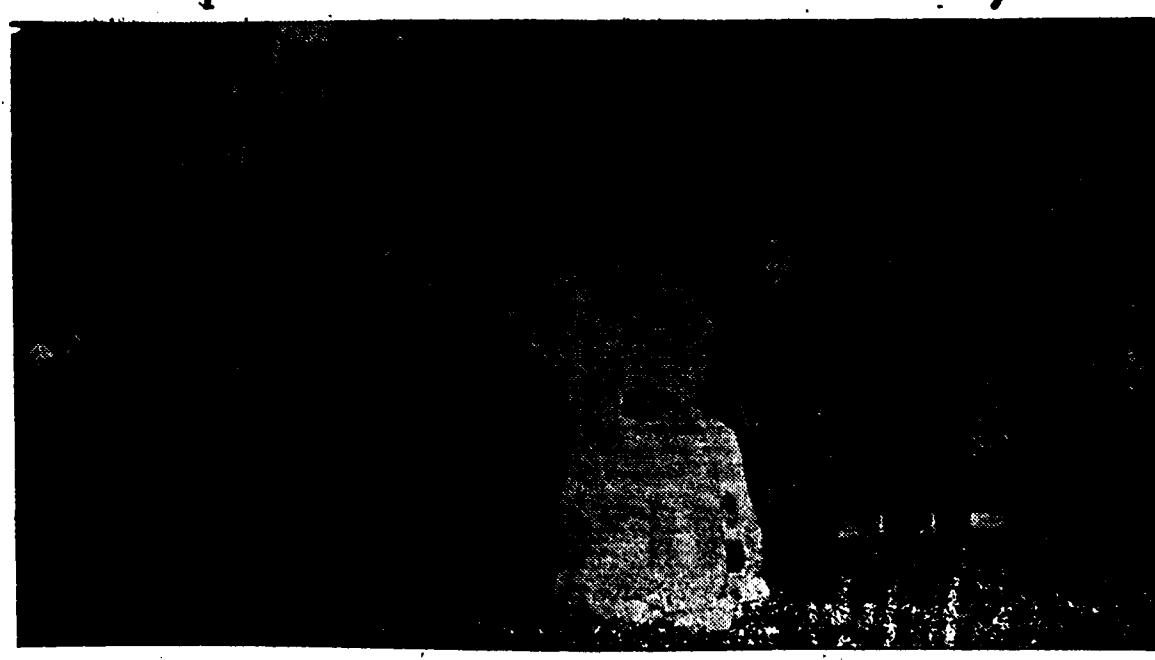

Though we live in the fast travelling age of 1947, transportation is still transportation, whether it be ox cart or airplane; war is still war whether it be spear or atomic bomb; the virtues of yesterday are still virtues today; democratic methods of then and now are still democratic methods. These things do not change.

Garrison's appeal was for the use of moral influence, above-board democratic foreign relations arrived at by the people of the world, not their would-be masters, Roosevelt, Truman, Stalin, or what have you.

Our support of Turkey and Greece does not seem to be purely altruistic as some would have us believe. Turkey is not a poor country, has a million men ready for war and could wipe out her national debt in two years.

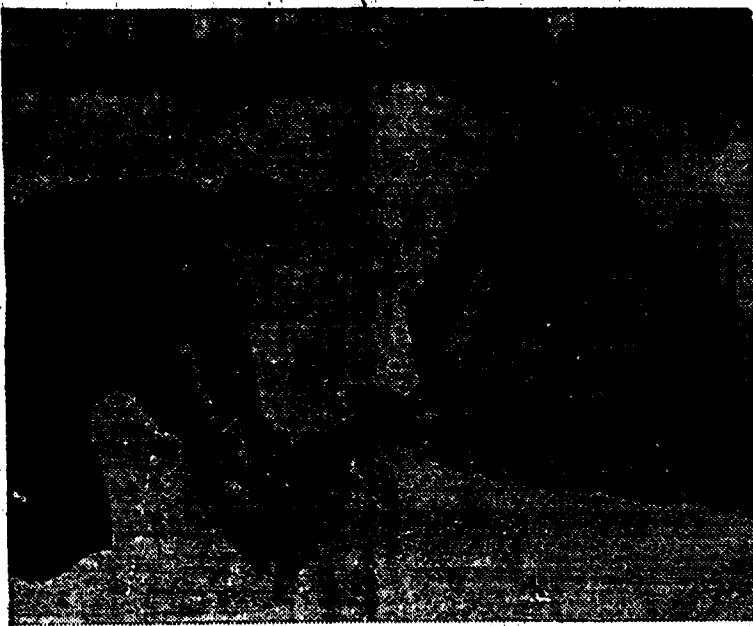

Support of Greece militarily, may be the lesser evil, but let's do away with lesser and major evils. Let's work for something positive. This would require condemnation of our own imperialism as well as that of our neighbors, universal disarmament of all countries, the feeding and clothing of the hungry, a world economic system to produce for human needs and not for the profits of the few as at present.

C. and has taken part in every jump which her buddies have made to date.

House To House Canvas Underway In Bennington

BENNINGTON — The demonstration on Tuesday of the Resuscitator called together people from neighboring towns as well as those from this town. The machine was in a suitcase like case and could easily be handled. There are small tanks that may be placed within the case. It may be hooked up to a large tank of oxygen and used in case of pneumonia when it is advisable to move a patient to a hospital. It is also automatic in pressure, adjusting itself to adult, child or infant without having to set various gauges. There is an attachment too, that makes it possible to work on two people at once. It may be carried in an ambulance or car, giving oxygen while carrying a patient to a hospital. Its uses are many.

When I wrote the appeal that appeared last week in this paper, the price quoted was $500 for this machine, but there are several more things that are necessary to have. One of them is an attachment that would enable this machine to be used in a large tank of oxygen and then there would be necessary extra tanks of gas. So the fund to be raised is now $600. A house to house canvas will be made by the committee.

Garden Club, Reviews Boston Flower Show

ANTRIM — The Antrim Garden Club's first meeting of this spring was held April 7 at the residence of Mrs. Guy Tibbets with thirteen members present. Miss Ruby G. Allen was elected president, and Mrs. Arthur English, secretary, for the coming year.

The new president presided and one of her suggestions to benefit club attendance was to provide transportation for some members unable to attend meetings.

Mrs. Ira Hutchinson spoke of planting different seeds and bringing plants to show other members, which would be of interest to all. The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Tibbets, the hostess, and two spring poems were read by Mrs. Elizabeth Bassett. Mrs. Rose Poor gave an informative review of her impressions of the recent Flower Show held in Boston. Several members added remarks about exhibits, at this Spring Flower Show, which most impressed them. Seeds, bought by the club, were given to members to plant this season and a plant was exhibited by the hostess, raised from last year's experimental new seeds.

The next Garden Club meeting is May 5 at the home of Mrs. Ruby Allen.

CARD OF THANKS

To all the many friends and neighbors who so kindly offered assistance and sympathy, to all those who sent flowers and have given their services to lighten my burden during those trying days of my recent bereavement, I wish to express my deepest appreciation and heartfelt thanks.

Lower Village

Miss Mary K. Pierce
Correspondent

A LOWER VILLAGE STORY

John G. Fuller was the name upon the iron gate that opened to a quaint and charming home and closed the busy world without. Now the gate of handsome grill work is gone as well as the purple lilacs that once shrouded the low white fence. The house that faced the rising sun is no more, for it was burned many years ago, and the old fashioned garden has become a tangle. Only the door rock remains, so deeply embedded in the earth that one must search to find it.

Back in the tannery day, our village was a busy place, and the great buildings on the turnpike proclaimed a business both well established and successful. The canal flowed peacefully by and the warehouses were stocked with finished hides to be converted into the multitudinous leather needs of man. With the passing of the years, prosperity smiled upon this enterprise and smiled, too, upon the owner, John G. Fuller.

With the blowing of the tannery whistle, about thirty men answered the call to steady labor, satisfactory pay, and pride in work well done. Many years ago the buildings burned, but the huge chimney, pointing toward the sky, has not been gone too long. It was leveled and the canal that flowed close by filled with earth with the building of the dam, but the tannery, the men that worked therein, with their joys and sorrows, had already joined the past history of our village.

Mark G. Fuller was the master tanner. In 1813, when he was 3 years old, he came with his parents to live in our village. While quite young he learned, from his father, the trade of tanning and currying. Fortune smiled upon him the day he tanned a few calf skins that were finally sold to a leather dealer in Boston. The superior condition of the skins brought so many orders to the Fuller tannery, that it was very prosperous for a considerable length of time.

A distemper, the "epizootic," believed to have been brought into the States by the South American hides, broke out among the horses. Every steed, but one, succumbed to this strange disease, for no teamster recognized its nature and knew not the method to combat it.

After the death of M. Fuller in 1864, the tannery slowly declined and finally closed its doors to trade and business. Mr. Fuller helped to establish the Valley Bank that is now Hillsborough First National Bank.

Mark Fuller, a member of the same family, lived in the Upper Village. He bequeathed a sum of money to the town to establish a public library known as the Fuller Public Library.

One by one the members of the Fuller family left our village, and as the years rolled by, the gate creaked slowly back and forth on rusty, sagging hinges. One cloudless summer day a relative looked thoughtfully upon the iron name of the master of the tannery. The hour had come to place in safety this testimonial to far departed elegance and on the day the latch was taken from its old accustomed place, the gate swung outward for the last time.

There will be a box social at the Lower Village Chapel, Saturday evening with the ladies bringing boxes.

Mrs. H. Pierce Brower of Belmont, Mass., visited Mrs. Josephine Fuller during last week.

Mr. Joseph Hicks went to Vermont during the past week to visit his brother.

Mrs. Frank Orser spent Easter with her husband in Millward, N. Y. She will visit her father before she returns home.

Mrs. Worthley of Arlington, Mass., has quite recently been the guest of Mrs. Carrie Gibson.

Despite the inclement weather on the evening of Saturday, April 5th there was a good attendance at the whist party in the Chapel.

The door prize was won by Harvey Spaulding.

Mrs. Wesley Bumford fashioned artistic score cards in the shape of colored Easter eggs.

The highest scores at the whist party were received by Miss Ellen McClinton and Mr. Wesley Bumford. Consolation prizes were given to Miss Ruth Seaver and Mr. Lewis White.

At the Bingo table, Dr. Elgin Bowers and Mrs. A. C. A. Perk were given the highest score prizes. Miss Isabel Bowers and Mrs. Charlotte Harvey received consolation prizes. Much merriment continued throughout the evening and much credit is due the committee for the careful planning of so pleasant an entertainment.

Mrs. Georgiana Gile auctioned off a mysterious package and Mrs. John Moulton was the lucky purchaser. A donated loaf of Easter bread, with other food, was auctioned off by Mrs. Gile, the proceeds of which helped increase the substantial amount realized from the sale of tickets.

Why it takes 6% to make the grade . . .

Impartial research polis show that, on the average, people think we make 15%. They also think a fair return would be 10%.

What We Make

But for the year 1946, with the biggest peace-time traffic in history, the railroads earned only . . . 2 3/4%. This is less than one-half the comparable earnings for other industries.

The reasons for this low return are not hard to find. Since 1939 railroad wages have increased 52 1/10% and the prices of fuel, materials and supplies have gone up 61 1/10%.

But freight rates have just recently been increased an average of only 17 1/10%—a year after the effective date of the last big wage increase.

What About This Year?

It is estimated that the return for 1947, even with the recent freight rate increase, will be only about half the 6% minimum return required to provide the improvements and service needed. This will be because of increased costs of materials and supplies; because certain wage increases granted in 1946 were in effect for only part of 1946 but will be in effect for all of 1947; because of increased special payroll taxes on railroads; and because of a decline in passenger business.

What Does This Mean To You?

The answer is "Plenty!" Your standard of living is the highest in the world because of MASS PRODUCTION. But mass production would not be possible without MASS TRANSPORTATION, which the railroads provide at low cost.

Why 6% Is Needed

The kind of service your standard of living requires takes a lot of money for new equipment and improvements. To carry out the post-war improvement program for better equipment, tracks, terminals and modern safety devices, a minimum return of 6% is needed.

So when the railroads make only 2% cents on each $1.00 of their net property investment, it concerns you.*

The funds for future new equipment and improvements must come from railroad earnings and also from investors. They will furnish money on reasonable terms only if they have confidence in the future earnings of the railroads.

You Have Another Stake In This

Even if you do not own any railroad stocks or bonds, insurance companies and savings banks do. So you still have a special interest in seeing that the railroads are allowed enough to do a good job . . . for you.

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

*On total property investment, the railroads made only 2 3/4%.

Gangsters in the Grass

Weeds and brush are gangsters in the grass. They literally steal your cattle and sheep by reducing the carrying capacity of grazing land or pastures. They rob your soil of moisture and minerals. They choke the life out of your grass.

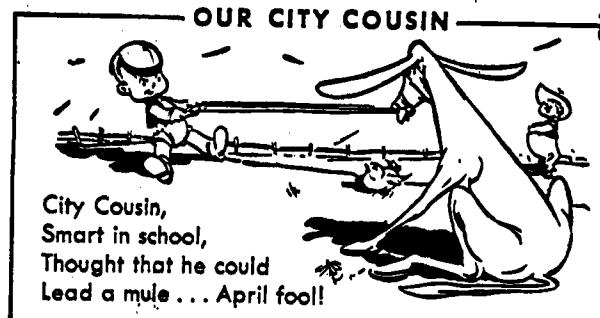

Mesquite and sagebrush in Western range country are often thieving plants. They're tough and aggressive. The carrying capacity of a hundred million acres of good grazing land has been greatly reduced by these two alone. Weeds and brush can be burned or poisoned, grubbed out with bulldozers or yanked out with tractors and cables. Grass thrives again when the brush is gone. Then, cattle or sheep production can be increased, sometimes as much as 300%.

From farming states come reports of doubled beef production per acre of pasture simply by mowing weeds. In dairying sections startling improvements in production, flavor, and milk and cream profits have resulted from cutting pasture weeds two or three times a season. Promising experimental work is proceeding with 2, 4-D and other new chemical weed killers. Spraying pastures is proving effective in destroying these live-stock rustlers.

Once weeds are under control, pastures benefit by liming, fertilizing, reseeding with recommended pasture mixtures, by harrowing or discing to break up manure. Few crops give as great return for a little attention as does grass. A good starting point in an improved grass program is to take steps to control weeds and brush.

We—both you and Swift—are interested in making the best use of what we have. It has been said that "a penny saved is a penny earned." There are many dollars to be saved by making the most efficient use of grass lands. We suggest that you contact your state agricultural college, county agent, or vocational agricultural teacher for further information.

1/4 cup vinegar

1/4 cup diced green pepper
3 tablespoons water

1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Cook potatoes. Peel and cut in 1/2-inch cubes. Place frankfurts in saucepan of boiling water. Remove from heat and let stand from 5 to 8 minutes. Heat drippings. Add onion and green pepper, and brown. Add vinegar, water, sugar, salt, and pepper. Cook over low heat until flavors are thoroughly blended. Pour hot sauce over cubed potatoes and mix lightly. Top with frankfurts and serve hot.

Judging Producing Ability of Heifer Calves

by W. W. Sweet
Bureau of Dairy Industry
U. S. Department of Agriculture

The results of preliminary analyses of data obtained by scientists in the Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, offer much promise that dairymen will soon have a new, practical, money-saving system for judging the future producing ability of heifer calves.

We have found that by examining the udder of a dairy heifer when she is 4 months old we can get a good idea whether or not she will be a good milk producer. We think that with a little practice any farmer can learn to judge heifer calves the same way.

Working with our experimental dairy herd at Beltsville, Maryland, we first determined, by feel, the average udder development of calves. Then we graded all the heifers as High, Medium, or Low. Later we checked the grades of these calves against their milk production records as cows. We found a fairly close match between the grades of the calves and the milk production of the cows.

Since these results are based entirely on the study of animals in one herd, the plan must be rigidly tested for reliability in other herds where the inheritance for milk production may be at different levels and more variable, before it can be recommended for practical use.

The pay-off, of course, comes in culling out low producers at an early age. It costs about $125 to raise a heifer to milking age. Nearly one-third of the heifer calves now raised turn out to be unprofitable cows. If the method stands up under field tests it appears that this proportion and the resulting monetary loss can be materially reduced.

Price balances supply and demand

There is always a demand for meat. Yes, at some price. But that price is not determined by the meat's cost, or set by the meat packer. It is set by what the consumers are willing and able to pay for the meat and by-products. That is something which must be known and remembered if one is to understand the meat business.

A good many people think that the meat packers sell meat for the cost of the livestock, plus expense, plus a profit. But that is not how meat prices are made. We must sell our meat—because it is perishable. We hope, of course, to sell it at a price which gives us a profit. But profit or loss, we must sell it. As our president, John Holmes, said recently, "We seek the price that balances supply and demand. Sometimes this is a profitable price; sometimes there is a loss. The records show that, on the average, we make a modest profit year by year."

As for prices paid for livestock, they, too, are set by the forces of supply and demand. No meat packer could control them because there is so much competition both in buying and selling. There are over 4,000 meat packers and 20,000 commercial slaughterers competing daily for live animals.

Things are NOT always as they seem

Which weighs more? The cubic foot block of iron, or those four big rolls of 26' fence wire? The wire looks much heavier, but it isn't. They weigh the same—491 pounds each.

No, things are not always as they seem. Take that fence wire, for example. The fence maker paid perhaps 2¢ a pound for the iron. You buy it as fencing at around 7¢ a pound. That leaves a "spread" of 5¢ a pound between the raw material and the finished product. This "spread" covers heat treating, drawing the wire, weaving it, rolling, and other processes we may not know about. It includes also manufacturer's profit, transportation, jobbers' and retailers' costs and profits, and delivery to you.

There is also a "spread" between what you producers get for livestock and what you pay the meat dealer for meat. For one thing, an average 1000-pound steer produces only 543 pounds of meat and 161 pounds of by-products, both edible and inedible. In processing there is unrecoverable shrink and waste of 296 pounds. We also have the costs of "disassembling" live animals into meat, refrigerating, transporting to market, and delivery to retail stores. The "spread" covers also retailers' costs and profits—plus a profit for the meat packer which averages only a small fraction of a cent per pound of product handled.

Several people have asked where remember the wild ride I had before sending postcards for the children's hospitals. Well, here are the addresses of two places: Children's Hospital, 300 Longwood Ave., Brooklyn, Mass., and Save the Children Federation, 8 Washington Place, N. Y. City. You will be doing your good turn by sending them.

April 1st instead of April 15th opens up our lakes to salmon fishing. New law just passed.

Another new club has been formed with Major Warren C. Barnaby of Brooklyn president. The name is Musantanaus Fish & Game club.

The newly formed Wilton Sportsmen's Club will have movies at their next meeting.

Another party wants to buy some wild land on a pond or lake in southern N. H. Will buy up to 20 acres. The wilder the better.

Speaking of records I guess Supt. Harold Trow of the Fox farm in Mont Vernon has one tacked up. He had ringneck pheasants start to lay March 17 and will lay chicks out this week. In years gone by your pheasants did not start to lay till the first week in April. Hats off to Troy.

The Peterboro Fly Casting Club are to stock their pond at the north with good big square tails. This is a private pool for club members only.

April 1st is the date that we put on the lid and sit on same in regard to self hunting dogs. All self hunting dogs, and this takes in every breed that will hunt alone or in company of other dogs must be confined till the fall open season. So many deer have been killed the past few months that this law will be strictly enforced by the Conservation officers.

Lewis A. Aylward of Beverley, Mass., one of my Souhegan river fans, sends me up some nice flies he made to try out on my brooks. He and his pals have a lot of fun in this neck of the woods.

H. L. Powell of St. Petersburg, Fla., sends me a clipping on conservation and also some fine post cards of that city. Mr. Powell is a native of Franklin.

A friend of mine from Proctorville, Vt. wants a good hound dog. What have you for him?

It's with a great deal of sadness that we announce the tragic death of our old friend, Arthur T. Wallden, the well known sled dog man. I knew Arthur very well and do I mention what have you for him?

Pretty Soft

CHICAGO—The smarter gals in calico—up-to-date American housewives—know the difference between hard and soft water, and that any home can enjoy soft water by having a home water softener installed. Soft water makes for brighter hair, softer skin, healthier hair, better food, and less wear and tear on the family wash. Fairbanks-Morse laboratory experts recently proved by experiment that soft water requires only one-thirtieth the amount of soap used with hard water.

A basket of fruit, etc., came from the Favor neighborhood, and flowers from the Woods' children, a beautiful bouquet of yellow snap dragons, an Easter lily, a table centerpiece of tulips, Jack brought the corsage of red roses, and a pot of daffodils came from Walter.

Pearl, Mabel Crosby, Kay Tasker and Virginia Woods, helped serve in the afternoon. In the evening Ethel opened her gifts and cards and each one seemed nicer than the one before. Frank watched the process and breaking forth at a quiet moment, "I never supposed I could surprise you and Blondie but I did it." Ethel enjoyed the day after the first real shock of surprise, and so did Walter. I'm always happy when people are around, but nobody doubts that Frank was the happiest of all. Mrs. John McGreevy of Providence, R. I., formerly of School street, is planning to attend the National Meeting of Federated Music Clubs in Detroit, Mich., April 19 to 29 and is wondering if anyone from this section is going. I have heard that the Glee Club from N. E. College may go.

The construction work over at the Baldwins' is beginning to have a finished look, and windows have been washed and curtains hung. I can't see what goes on inside, but the new office of Dr. H. C. Baldwin must be getting well settled, for it will be open for patients.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR—

A great deal of interest, by the people, is evident in the agitation for and against House Bill 134 that proposes to outlaw closed shops.

Surprisingly, we find that a great many do not understand just what the difference is between closed shops, union shops, preferential union shops, and open shops. In view of the public interest shown at this time, it appears that the definitions would be made clear.

"Closed shop" means that new employees must join the union before they are permitted to secure employment.

"Union shop" agreements state that all employees must maintain union memberships and new employees must join the union in a certain period of time, generally 30, 60 or 90 days.

"Preferential union shop" permits non union employees to work but new employees must join the union after 30-ninety trial period.

"Maintenance of membership" requires that union members must maintain memberships as a condition of employment, but workers are free to join or not to join the union according to their own desires.

"Open shops" agreements, permit employees to join, or not to join, and are not required to maintain membership.

Had the sponsors of House Bill 134 been content to confine their attack on the closed shop agreement alone, organized labor would have gladly settled for the much preferable union shop agreement.

Union shop agreements allow new employees and their employer a fair deal in ascertaining mutual satisfactory relationship and still provides for union security.

After all, these union issues are debatable, through collective bargaining, by the parties involved; namely, Industry and Labor, have proved over a long period of time, to be effective and workable and need of Federal or State Legislative action is not indicated.

I wish to go on record in support of Union Shop agreements and not of Closed Shops.

Fraternally yours,
A. V. Hilliard,
Pres., Monadnock Local,
International Brotherhood of Paper Makers.

BUTLER'S

Hillsboro, N. H.

TO THE EDITOR—

I would like a little space in your interesting weekly paper to ask a few questions about your article on Russia in the last issue by Oswald Garrison Villard. At the head of this article you say he is "the dean of American liberal journalists and one of the nation's most respected analysts of foreign and domestic affairs."

I wish to ask if Mr. Villard is in this year of 1947, still entitled to the term "liberal"?

The whole trend of his article is a yearning for the peace and glories of the past—when we did not have to worry about the Russians. He seems to have forgotten the new fact of the atom bomb which now changes everything. Yet a true liberal is one who wishes to see changes—changes for the better—and works to bring them about. We can no more go back to the old days than you can put an oak back into the acorn from which it sprang.

Wilfred Funk, in his "A More Powerful Vocabulary," gives this definition of "Liberal", "Conservative", etc.

"Liberalism is dynamic." "Conservatism is static". In politics these two wings of the government are to the left and right, respectively. Extreme liberals, still further to the left, are called "radicals". Extreme conservatives, who are far to the right, are called "reactionaries." Conservatives want to keep things as they are. Reactionaries wish to turn the clock back to "the good old days." "Radical" is from the Latin "radicalis" meaning "pertaining to roots" or "thoroughgoing" and "Reactionary" goes back to the Latin re-

(back) and agere (to lead). I do not question the facts in Mr. Villard's article, but I do question the results he arrives at from the facts. He seems to me to have the confusion in his thinking which comes to the former liberal when he advances in age and wisdom (as we all hope to) and unconsciously retreats from liberal habits of thinking of the conservative. In this day it almost always leads all the way back to reactionary thinking, for who would be so foolish as to wish to keep things in the mess they are now? Therefore the only refuge is to go clear back to the "good old days." There were millions of oppressed peoples who saw nothing very good in those "old days." It depended which group you belonged to, the exploiters, or the exploited.

Taking a look at history for the last 200 years, and the relation of revolutionary action in this country to similar movements in other sections of the globe, the rise of the people, etc., it is not apparent that the "American Revolution" was only the first act in a worldwide drama which is still being worked out—which has been in continuous operation for more than 150 years?

As for Russia, it must be remembered that she was, until a few years ago, an Eastern despotism, her people kept as ignorant and brutal as cattle. All this can't be improved in a moment. Many observers from Russia report that the people themselves are making fine progress—most of them can now read and write, etc.—and they wish for a chance to progress peacefully. However, the men in the Kremlin are another story; they not only have the vast material resources of the combined Soviet Republics, but they have almost complete control over the minds of the people.

Mr. Villard writes of past instances of the moral force of the United States saving bad situations.

Has he forgotten that any force—call it what you will—was not strong enough to stop Hitler? We talked, we protested, we sent notes. How he must have laughed at us.

Many people believe that had we been strong enough—our military force—before 1939—to have met Hitler with the only kind of power he was capable of understanding, we could have checked him—and saved the world the horrors and desolations the world has since suffered.

While we know that help to Greece—by request—is not giving help to democracy as we know it here, it certainly seems to be a choice between the lesser of two evils. At least it will give Greece time in which to work toward a more democratic government. But can we afford to let the bold and ruthless men in the Kremlin believe that we are so weak, so selfish, so stupid, that we will let them over-run and absorb all of Europe?

"Save The Children" Group

CONCORD — The first Women's Council of Save the Children Federation in New England, and the second such council in the United States, has been organized at Concord, N. H., by Mrs. Robert O. Blood, wife of the former governor.

The Council is sponsoring a child war victim in Finland and plans to develop local programs supporting all phases of the child service work which the Federation conducts from its National Headquarters, No. 1 Madison Ave., New York City.

Through sponsorships the Federation provides help to needy children and war-battered schools in five countries of Europe, and to underprivileged children in small rural schools in eight Southern and Southwestern states in America. It also conducts Bundle Days in schools throughout the country and operates a volunteer sewing project to secure clothing for these children.

The new Concord Council is at present trying to enlist the support of other women's organizations in this work; according to Mrs. Blood, who is temporary chairman of the council.
