The guest of honor arrived at LaGuadia Field via Over Seas Line, from Frankfurt, last Thursday. On Thursday, July 3, she is marrying, in Concord, R. Wayne Crosby of Concord and Hillsboro. Sometime ago, Mr. Crosby took over the office and law business of the late Ralph G. Smith. Many useful and lovely gifts were sheltered by a big umbrella until the bride-to-be opened them. Guests brought favorite recipes for her also. Refreshments were served.

Those present were the guest of honor, the hostess, Mrs. Donald Baker, Mrs. Thor Olson, Mrs. Harrison Baldwin, Mrs. Harry McClintock, Mrs. Henry Martin, Mrs. Robert Boardman, Mrs. Robert Fogg, Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mrs. Raymond Connor, Mrs. Carl Harrington and Mrs. Frank O'Connor.

BROOKS VERSUS CREEKS

In New England, a small stream of water is called a brook, but in the Middle West it is just a creek, pronounced to rhyme with brick. Nearly all country children grow up beside one or the other—mine was the Molly Jackson Brook. It used to be one of the best trout fishing streams in southern New Hampshire. Starting beyond the Center, it rushed down along its upper course, but flowing more slowly on the eastern edge of our

Legion Plans To Re-Organize Antrim Boy Scout Troop

The members of the Myers-Prescott post of the Legion in Antrim met at their hall July 1. The officers were nominated for the coming year and will be elected at the next meeting in two weeks.

The swimming project was discussed and plans outlined for raising the funds for transportation. This is a fine opportunity for all children to learn to swim, the Legion hopes for wholehearted cooperation from the parents and friends.

A new Boy Scout committee will be appointed at a meeting, which will be held in the near future to reorganize the troop and plan for active outdoor work this summer.

Several young veterans such as Guy Clark, David Hurlin, Harold Roberts etc. desire to assist this summer before they resume their studies, and it will be a welcome addition to the scout committee which promises a fine scouting program this summer.

The constitution and by-laws of the Legion, which were obsolete, were re-written and brought up to date to meet the present policy. The chairman of this committee was Earl Worth assisted by Richard White and Arthur English.

Athletic officer, Stanley Canfield, announced a schedule of about 15 baseball games for the Town Team, sponsored by the Legion. It is felt that much interest will be shown at the local diamond.

Local Poet Published In New Anthology

NEW YORK — With the publication today of "Songs of the Free," an anthology of post-war verse, the Crown Publications of New York contributes another volume to the growing list of post-war literature. Among the hundreds of poets included in this comprehensive book is Miss Ellen McClintock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark McClintock, Pleasant street, Hillsboro.

"Songs of the Free" records the feelings, dreams and ideals of America's poets as tempered by the effects of the late war. It incorporates the work of many distinguished writers, and includes a brief biography of each contributor. Arrangements have been made with nearly 200 radio stations in this country and Canada for the broadcasting of many poems from this book.

BE ALIVE ON THE FIFTH

What shall we say to these people?

One is a man driving with his family on a vacation trip. He is hurrying to arrive at his destination before dark. A slow-moving truck tempts him to pass on a hill... One is a mother who failed to hear the summer cottage screen door slam, nor did she notice her 18-month-old son toddle to the bluff overlooking the lake and disappear...

Another is a teen-age boy driving friends home from a movie. Laughing and cutting up, they were into the intersection before anyone saw the big, black sedan... Another is a father who permitted his children to have only "safe" fireworks. His hands were badly burned trying to beat out the flaming torch of his daughter's thin summer dress after the sparkler touched it...

What can we say to these people? They have no names—yet. They will be the victims of Fourth of July accidents... They are a few of the 8,000 or more Americans who will be killed by accidents in July. This estimate is made by the National Safety Council, which regretfully notes the grim lessons of experience.

Many of these deaths will happen during the Fourth of July holiday, which this year is a three-day week-end. What can we do to stop it? There must be something. All of these deaths will be needless, because virtually all accidents are preventable.

You—the man who passed the truck on the hill—we can't send a policeman to you now and say, "On July 4, at exactly 5:43 p.m., you will become impatient at following a truck and try to pass. You will crash head-on into an approaching car at the crest of the hill and only your baby daughter will survive."

No, we can't warn you. We don't even know who you are. But you are somewhere.

All we can do is tell everyone, those marked for death and those who are not, to be careful. That's a flat and distasteful phrase to most Americans—Be Careful—but it's all we can say.

Be careful. Be Alive On the Fifth!

HILLSBORO, N. H.—Despite the fact that two other important rifle shoots were held in Braintree, Mass., and Springfield, Vt., on the same dates, the First Annual Rifle Tournament of the Hillsboro R. C., held on the new out door range off the Antrim Road was a signal success. Shooters were present from Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The shooters were guests of the Hillsboro Club at "Shooters Evening," at the Community House. Movies entitled, "Rifle Shooting," and "Trigger Happy Harry," were shown. Clarence McCubbin, who acted as Range Officer, Saturday afternoon, was principal speaker, complimented the local club on its new range and made constructive suggestions for future efforts of the club. Leonard L. Maine, deputized by Ed. F. Bridgman, Regional Director of the National Rifle Association to speak for him, spoke of the efforts of the N. R. A., to make the U. S., again, "A Nation of Riflemen."

Distinguished guests present were Philip E. Brooks, a famous old time rifleman, Rudolph Kamla, New England Pistol Champion, and "Ma" Crocker, designated by Mr. Maine, "As the Dean of Wives of New England Shooters," and a most important influence among the shooters in the interest of friendliness and good will.

The Prone Rifle match was won by two men with identical scores of 300-26x with identical backers. To George O'Brien, a newcomer to tournament shooting we give a special salute and hereby warn the established hot shots that they can keep a wary eye on George from now on. The other winner, Les Pease, is an old hand at taking away honors; his presence on the firing line means excellent shooting. Ed Cushing of Claremont took third place. Sandwiched between Harold Buck in fourth place and Elmer Lindquist in sixth place.

Every cottage and camp at Mil-

"Camp Morgan" will open, I be-water has been on the ball field, etc., it was impossible to mow the

been busy getting things in order.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gove of Hillsboro have been here on his

Most of the summer residents will be here next week.

All cottages at this pond are

Mr. and Mrs. John Carter are the happy parents of a daughter, born in the Exeter Hospital on Thursday, July 26. Doubtless Miss Carter has a name of her own, but its grandmother Carter had to go to Jane Ash's wedding in Vermont on Saturday, so I'll be told later.

Walter Gay was the guest last Thursday of his former good neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Eastman and sons, at their home in Concord. While being shown some to the high spots of the city by his host, Walter spied George Ingalls, who had left Hillsboro recently to took Mr. Ingalls home where he is very happy and insisted upon show-

Miss Ardell Call, student nurse

Frank Gay called on two of our old friends in Concord, recently,

Mrs. Julia Hoyt Nichols, 88 years of age. Their nephew, son of their ever they are, skipping over the water and admired the occasional dragon fly or darning needle, although so scared it would sew up my lips, I never watched it long.

Why do people tell children such lies? Beside this brook the first Gay in town built his shoemaker's shop, home, and tannery.

Buffalo Creek in Polo, Illinois, is the only creek I have ever known well. How different from my brook, but equally interesting. We went in early spring for frogs eggs for school and children introduced me to the crawfish and crayfish, which can run backward as well as ahead. In my early morning bird walks along the creek, I not only watched the birds in the trees hanging over the water, but the muskrats going in and out of their holes on the opposite bank. Farther along the creek was very shallow.
I found little inlets heavily stocked with tadpoles or water snakes.
The ground was carpeted with spring beauties, so many that I could not move without stepping on the dainty pink blossoms. I sat down on a fallen log, stones did not grow there, to write in my notebook. There were no snakes to bother me, but as I glanced up the creek that perfect early spring morning I saw two or three men and a small barrel only a few rods away. I quietly withdrew to the public highway. I never enjoyed early morning walks any more, for the next spring I was a thousand miles away. There was a reminder of early days when buffaloes roamed over the plains. It was called the Buffalo Hole where the animals came morning and farm through the willows and under the road, then on down to meander through the meadow and past the foot of Bible Hill and on into the Beard Brook.

In our pasture it tumbles down
over the rocks in a miniature waterfall, under the shade of big maple trees and ferns of several kinds grow beside it. There are also shady pools where the trout seem to play hide and seek with each other and the fishermen too.
One of the biggest and not too deep pools near the woods served as a bath tub to my brothers when small boys many years ago. Another shallow pool was sunny and filled with minnows. We could scoop up handfuls of these about an inch long, but those two inches long I used to catch with an angle worm on a willow stick with no line—two of the McArllis boys were along to handle the worm. But the brook no longer has trout or minnows unless they come up from the river in early spring for the brook goes dry nearly every summer in recent years. There was a small, deep pool under the lone maple tree. Royal ferns grew so close to the water, they helped to keep it shady. Checkerberries grew next to the wall, but every time we approached the place big green frogs jumped into the water with such a splash my heart stood still and much as I liked to pick checkerberries I gave up the pleasure for there were too many snakes slithering through them. I liked to watch the water spiders, or what-

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schnieder and family of New York City, are at their summer home on Beard Brook road.

With no Fourth of July celebration planned here, many local people are planning to go to Contoocook for the big time scheduled or to auctions in neighboring towns.

Fred Hill, Jr., is employed by the Fox Boys' activities committee as life guard at the Beard Brook pool, which opened this week. The supervised hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Howard Humphrey, Harry Cross and Bert Craine attended a special meeting of the directors of the Odd Fellows Home at Concord last week and also visited with George Ingalls.

Mrs. Clarence Nelson has been spending two weeks as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Hart of West Roxbury, Massachusetts.

Residents of Preston street have complained that youths are celebrating the 4th of July prematurely. Where the boys have obtained the supply of firecrackers and salutes is a mystery yet unsolved for although cap pistols and caps have already been sold in quantities no firecrackers have appeared in local stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcelus Barnes of Boston are at their cottage on the bank of the Contoocook river for a vacation.

Frank Jones of Worcester, Mass., a former baseball catcher on the town team, was a recent guest of friends in this community.

Dr. and Mrs. Everett Van Horn of Syracuse, N. Y., are at their summer home on Depot street.

Leon Dennison has in his possession an old copy of the Hillsboro Weekly News published by W. G. Hagar on Saturday, November 3, 1860. The four-page paper Vol. 1, No. 43 is subtitled "A Family Newspaper Devoted to the Interests of Its Subscribers and Publisher." Previous to this issue Fred Lawrence was Mr. Hagar's partner in the publishing enterprise.

Any Hillsboro Serviceman or Woman who served in the U. S. Armed Forces between Dec. 7, 1941 and Sept. 2, 1945, whose name is not listed on the Honor Roll in Butler Park, please notify Rolland M. Ives, Adjutant, Gleason Young Post No. 59, American Legion, so that your name can be added to the Roll.

Lily and Herman Masters of New York City have opened their Pierce Lake Cabins on Route 9. They have two cabins and dining hall and are planning to serve home cooked foods.

Peacetime Conscription

Termed Horse-and-Buggy
Policy in Atomic Age

Peacetime conscription—particularly the six-months universal training plan now advocated—is a horse-and-buggy military policy in an atomic and missile age," declares Hanson W. Baldwin in an exclusive article in The Reader's Digest for July.

Millions of partly trained men, put into uniform on any future Mobilization Day, would be helpless to defend our cities from the probable atomic attack of a new war, Baldwin contends. What is worse, he adds, the adoption of such a plan will handicap the development of a realistic military policy. The cost of peacetime conscription, estimated at $3 to $5 billion a year, would divert funds from far more important military requirements. The energies of 150,000 men of the regular army would have to be devoted exclusively to the basic training of mass reserves.

Conceding that preparedness is today more important than ever, Baldwin holds that true preparedness does not rest in a large drafted army. Prior to the U. S. entry into World War II, the draft had been in effect for more than a year, he points out. But, except at Bataan, our first divisions did not get into action until almost a year after Japan attacked.

Baldwin sees our "first line of defense against war" in a sound foreign policy. Next in importance is a "global intelligence service, able to give us warning of political crisis." Other factors of genuine preparedness are "a research and development plan superior to any," and "an industrial mobilization plan calculated to make quick use of our industrial superiority."

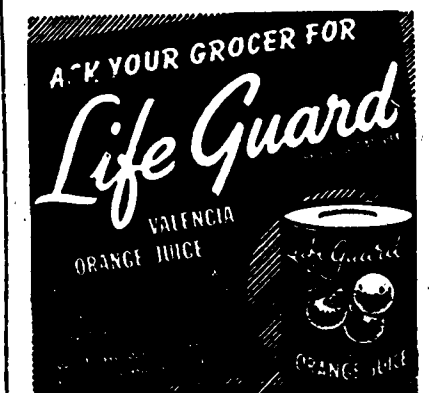

The many men who will be needed for disaster-control and home front duties, in event of atomic attack, should be supplied by the National Guard, or by "specially created state forces, federally directed."

Objections to peacetime conscription, on other than military grounds, are cited. It is undemocratic, Baldwin insists, "despite the fact that it has been described as symbolic of democracy." Internationally, it has never tended to promote understanding and peace. While we strive for world peace through U. N., our conscription of a large army could have only warlike implications abroad and would be a "backward step in international politics."

Finally, Baldwin says, Russia—"the only other great protagonist in the drama of the world today"—does not fear mass armies and would not be impressed by our adoption of universal military training.

The old story about a Mother deer will not return to her young if handled by human hands has exploded. In a state paper one day last week was a picture of "Pete" Goodwin, a Conservation Officer holding twin deer. He found them in an open field and he stayed around all day to see if the mother would come back and to save them from dogs. Just at dusk she came back and took them with her. Another old story exploded.

The best story of the week. Dr. Galloway, a local doctor, went fishing in a nearby pond. He laid his pole down to light a smoke when his line, pole and sinker went sailing out into the pond. The Doctor dove in twice to get the pole without success. A boat and a hay rake did the trick. On the end of the line was a 15½ inch rainbow that tipped the scales at 14½ lbs. The Doc says there is a moral to this. Don't lay your pole down.

Last week we printed a bear story that a Connecticut man saw on the Souhegan river in Wilton. Sunday two fishermen from Massachusetts did not see the bear but they did see fresh tracks made by one. So I guess we have a bear in our midst. One was seen in Peterboro and Greenfield just a few weeks ago.

The large sporting magazines are printing each month a fine series of pictures in color showing our wild ducks. They print a fine story about each kind. "Know your ducks."

Last Saturday night my wife and I entertained the Profile Kennel Club for their June meeting. This club was organized in town just 26 years ago and I had the honor of being the first President. In that time the club has put on many successful AKC shows all over New Hampshire. The Club is planning on an All Breed show to be held in September. The Mrs. served refreshments.

Did you ever lose an outboard over board? Well, now they have a chain that you attach to the boat and the outboard and now if the outboard comes off it won't go over board. See adv. in your favorite sporting magazine.

Ray Clouette of the Granite Fish and Game Club of Milford has taken five snapping turtles from Osage pond so far this season. George Koski of New Ipswich, president of that Club, came down the other day and I gave him 376 pout to stock some of his ponds. These from my own private pond.

Have you seen the new Bob-e-lite for night fishing? When you get a bite the light comes on. Get one at your Sporting store. They tell me it works slick.

The Seagram Co. have gotten out a Pictorial Fishing Guide that's a honey. It's a swell chart and every fisherman should have one.

Did you ever see a copy of "A History of Wisconsin Deer?" It's a 100-page booklet and highly illustrated by pictures and tells a fine story. I had a copy brought to me by Ellis Sears, a former Wilton man but now living in Wisconsin.

Did you ever see a postcard letter? Well, I had one the other day from Edwin M. Crane of Daytona Beach, Fla. He writes a very interesting letter on four picture postcards and puts them in an envelope.

I am greatly indebted to Mrs. Miriam Calvetti of Milford for a bushel of walnuts for my grey squirrels.

Harold Grant of Greenfield has a fine litter of nine setter puppies now a week old. These are from prize winning stock and Mr. Grant has a box full of ribbons to prove the fact.

Perley Jones of Jones Crossing Milford, found a nest of snapping turtle eggs right beside the tarvia road. He took home three to see if they would hatch. I went down the next day but a black and white woods pussy came in the night and cleaned them all up. The shells were there but nothing else.

You have heard of dogs chasing deer but here is a story about a deer chasing the family dog. Mrs. Mary Hugron of Hancock heard her neighbor chasing a deer out of her garden. Mrs. Hugron's dog heard the racket and took after the deer but not for long. That deer put the dog home in nothing flat. Mrs. Hugron was in the way and she started to run and the deer took after her. There was plenty of things doing in that neighborhood for a few minutes. There were others who witnessed the strange proceedings. Deer are bold in that town.

Sure I have a list of places that you can purchase trout for your private pond. If interested order now while they have a good supply. The Department is very much interested in getting data of grouse and duck nests. Can you help me out. Want to know how many eggs and if hatched how many in litter, or brood.

Yes, Nelson Maine of Hillsboro will board your dogs at his milk farm.

Have a request from trout fishermen about a certain pond in my district. Sorry fellows but the Department will not stock any brook or pond where sawdust is being blown into the water. Stop that and we will start stocking again.

The other day I saw a young fellow (14) who was in all kinds of trouble. He had caught a three foot eel and he did not know what to do with it.

Ever see that booklet issued by the Merrimack Valley Region of N. H. Tells you where to fish and other valuable information. Get your copy from box 634, Manchester.

Tinfoil this week, 150 lbs., from Joe Soucy, Hillsboro, Martha Ann Tenney, Mrs. Mitchell, Peterboro, G. J. Kaigsday, N. Y. City.

Somewhere in these United States is a crow worth $500 to the man that gets it. Many other crows have hands on their legs that are worth good money but this $500 black fellow is worth your attention. There was a big crow hunt in Grand Rapids last week and thousands of crows were killed in this big meet and hunt. If you get a banded crow get in touch with Wildlife Management Institute, 822 Investment Bld., Washington, D. C.

Did you know that the art of Gunsmithing will now be taught in colleges. The first college to teach this will be at Trinidad, Colo. and it's a two year course. Students from 22 states are interested in the course.

It's claimed that our greatest loss of water fowl is during the fall migration and where the water fowl spend the winter. The Federal Government is to investigate this matter this fall when the birds start for the south.

A new 44-page booklet of interest to all fishermen "Knots and How to Tie Them with the Dupont Nylon Leader Material" has just been published by the Dupont Co., manufacturers of the nylon filament from which the leaders are made. Every type of knot useful to the fisherman is discussed and explained. 45 illustrations are included. Fishermen can obtain this booklet by writing the Dupont Co., Plastics Dept., Arlington, N. J. It's free, fellows. I have a copy and it's GOOD!

If you are fishing a pond or a brook and the owner comes out and asks you to leave—It's up to you as a good sportsman to leave without any comment on your part—he doesn't have to have signs up. It's his property, and if he doesn't want you on it, that's his right to order you off and it's up to you to go without words of protest. You may lose your license if you give him any back-talk. He has ALL the law on his side.

I have a half grown black and white woods pussy living under my barn. I have caught him in a wire trap three times and he is a perfect gentleman each time. I let him go back under the barn and he keeps the rats away.

My little brown toad which lived under the stone steps at my back door last year is back again. He or she is very tame and we never molest it. Nice to have them.

I have humming bird feeders out but have not seen the birds feeding yet. Have filled them up several times which shows that something has been drinking the sweetened water.

Last Sunday we found many men and boys hunting frogs for the legs. This I suppose is to combat the high prices of meat of all kinds. Woodchuck is good eating, just like chicken. The wilds produce a lot of good eating that you can't buy at any store.

Here is a fellow in Vermont who writes to a paper saying that porcupine are just as good eating as coon or rabbit—give us chicken.

Did you ever hear of a tire being punctured by quills from a quill-pig? A man in Maine says he ran over one with bad effects to his tire and tube. Never heard of such a case, did you?

Among the Current Books At Fuller Public Library

"BANNER BY THE WAYSIDE"
by Samuel Adams.

It is a lusty tale of a group of traveling players in upper state New York in the early days of the Erie Canal. The love interest is provided by a beautiful stage-struck girl who is innocent of the wicked ways of the world and a young man of a good family whose escapades caused him to be dismissed from Harvard. It is historical, romantic and colorful.

Hillsboro Rifle Club

Hillsboro. This was a remarkable performance for the old deer hunter who claims old age has reduced his speed to the point where he is able to keep not more than 6 inches ahead of his creditors.

In the Off-Hand Match, Len Maine, of Newport, R. I., and the Hillsboro R. C., was out in front all the way. His 97-9X7-96 for a total of 290 was high and in the memory of Phil Brooks and other veteran shooters present is the highest known score fired in match competition, metallic sights at 50 yards. Information otherwise would be appreciated by Nelson D. Maine, Executive Officer of the Hillsboro Rifle Club. Rudy Kamila with 283 and Vernon Maine with 281 fired fine scores for second and third place respectively.

The Pistol match went to Rudy Kamila with 92-90-88-270. Second place went to Lester Randall of West Hanover, Mass., and third to Nelson Maine of Hillsboro. The scores fired were high since the target used was the 20 yd., target used at 25 yds.

Clarence McCubbin of Bridgeport, Conn., and Bill Brophy of Concord, N. H., acted as Range Officers. Elmer Gibbs of Manchester served as chief scorer; his efficiency and fairness contributed much to a pleasant match. Vernon Maine and Robert Norton took care of target assignments. Ady Yeaton supervised target placements. Mrs. Len Maine and Mrs. Les. Pease cared for registration and sale of targets.

A number of excellent targets were turned in by lady shooters. An 8x possible prone was turned two of New England's finest belly shots, was Alvin A. Yeaton, Sr., of in by Barbara Derby, Bedford, Mass., who failed to present enough targets to have her score classified.

The Club is considering a match for women only for next year's Annual shoot. Keep this in mind ladies! The Hillsboro Club appreciates your presence at the shoot and on the firing line.

The Hillsboro Club took great pains to have a target set-up which would enable shooters to assume comfortable positions and to get exceptionally clear sight pictures. Since the scores fired were higher than any known about in any similar match it appears that the Club succeeded in solving these problems. Next year the new grass on the firing points will be supplemented and a velvety carpet is hoped for.

The Hillsboro Club is now considering adding a battery of 100 yd. targets, but such effort will mean bull-dozing with resultant sand and gravel piles which will destroy the beauty of the present set-up to some extent.

The First Annual Shoot of the Hillsboro Rifle Club was designed to attract shooters to a new range geographically located to be as convenient as possible to the shooters of all the New England States. The medals awarded are the best. In addition to medals the club set up a plan to return a fair proportion of the money spent for targets to the shooters; to the shooters in the lower brackets as well as the winners.

The Club is well satisfied with its First Annual Shoot. If the shooters of New England plan to attend these tournaments and will spread the good word to other shooters who did not attend this year, it appears probable that the finest of shooting competition can be enjoyed, and that real pay-offs can come to the winners and to those shooters who hit the right spots in the lower brackets.

The Hillsboro Rifle Club extends its thanks to the participants, the press, and the local people who did much towards making this shoot a success.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all those who remembered me with gifts and cards while I was at the Veterans' Hospital. Also thanks to the Hillsboro A. L., and the Hillsboro and Bennington V. F. W. Posts.

Negro Children

To Visit In N. H.

CONCORD — Negro children from Harlem will again be guests in New Hampshire homes this summer under a plan sponsored by the New Hampshire Council of Churches and Religious Education.

The program, which was begun two summers ago, was planned to give underprivileged city children a chance to get a taste of country living, and to offer New Hampshire citizens an opportunity to get to know Negro urban youngsters through having the children come into Granite State homes for a two week visit.

Residents of the State contribute their homes for the period but all expenses of traveling and insurance are taken care of by private funds.

The New Hampshire visitation will take place from August 5 to August 19. Last summer homes were offered from Nashua to Colebrook and from Portsmouth to Bellows Falls, Vt.

The plan is being sponsored by the social action committee of the Council of which the Rev. W. S. Yeaple is executive secretary.

HILLSBORO

Mrs. Lois Davis is a student at Keene Teachers College.

Members of the Railroad Enthusiasts came to Hillsboro on a B. & M., passenger train Sunday, stopping enroute to photograph bridges and to inspect the "Y" on the Hillsboro-Nashua run. While here they looked the town over, spending a few hours here before their return to Lowell, Mass.
