COMING EVENTS

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church is holding a food sale at Beard's Store, Friday, September 19, at 2 o'clock.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB

The Improvement Club met with Mrs. Florence McClintock last Tuesday. Twenty members were present and six children, as their usual caretakers were in school. Members brought articles and discussed plans for their November sale.

A reading was given by Mrs. Ida Ellinwood and Mrs. Julia Sleeper read a group of poems her son had written. Mr. Harold Webster Cate gave a recital of his own composition. One Russian piece was based on Russian folklore and he told the interesting story before playing the number. He also played several of his waltzes.

After the meeting, all went out on the lawn where refreshments were served from the big picnic table. A letter from Mrs. Helen Crosby Russell of Mont Vernon was read.

COMING CITIZENS

Last week I told about some of our young people going on to college this month. We are proud of them and they are happy and glad of the opportunity given them. However it's doubtful if they feel a fraction of the pride and importance that the small army of six-year olds that greeted Mrs. Mellen and fellow first graders felt when school opened. Gerry wished her paper with "100 and a gold star" be tacked on the wall so Daddy could see it the minute he came in.

Here are the children's names — guess their parents: Grade 1 — Patricia Blanchard, Gerald Blanchard, David Buttrick, James Clough, David Cooper, Kenneth Colburn, Malcolm Cote, Maureen Dunlap, Charles Denny, Patricia Dodge, Mildred Feldblum, Judith Fogg, George Furrow, Jean Holdner, Nancy Harvey, Patricia Johnson, David Kendrick, Eugene Livingston, Robert Mills, Jacqueline Maine, Carl Nickerson, Machael Nickerson, David Marchand, Marguerite Nelson, Nancy Shopes, William Seymour, Charles Whitney, Bruce Wing, Laura Wheeler, Marie Young, William Yeaton, and Geraldine Ellsworth.

One rainy day recently I saw two girls pass by wearing bright red rain coats. It was like a flash of sunshine on the dreary day. The coats were light weight present day style length, and I suppose rain-proof. I could not help comparing them with rain coats I wore three and a half decades. In high school days I had a dark blue "mackintosh" in two pieces. One was the ankle length skirt, skeleton waist, and buttoned from collar to hem, straight down the front. The other was an ample cape hanging well below the hips. No rain could get through such a heavy garment, but as our dresses were ankle length, the simple law of capillary attraction raised havoc if we walked very far. It was some stunt to carry an umbrella, books and hold up dress skirt at the same time. I had a long cravenette coat that looked like the spring coats at that time. The last two or three rain coats I had were much alike; rubber inside and some sort of "pepper and salt" stuff on the outside. Some years I did not have a rain coat. They were too heavy for summer showers and could not be worn over winter coats and not always warm enough worn over a sweater.

In those days, rainy days were dreary days with big, black umbrellas and always bedraggled skirts. Now with rain coats and umbrellas of every hue, a rainy day is much like the words of the Tulip Song. "A sunset dropped from out the sky."

Mrs. John Tasker Appointed Finance Officer in League

HILLSBORO, Sept. 15 — Mrs. John Tasker has been appointed to serve as Finance Chairman of the League of Women Voters of Hillsboro to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Walter Sterling, who resigned her office owing to special political activity in the Republican party, Mrs. H. L. Herrick, Secretary of the group announced Monday.

Mrs. Herrick said that the League expects and encourages its membership to become strong in party affiliations, but owing to the non-partisan policy of this group it is necessary to relinquish office while participating in party work. Mrs. Sterling is retaining her membership and interest in the League of Women Voters.

The following message to women voters is addressed to Hillsboro women by the League.

MESSAGE TO WOMEN VOTERS
By Act of Legislature all certified women voters of New Hampshire are eligible for jury service. As this service is optional, it is necessary for women who wish to participate to register with the selectmen of their town.

Jury service provides an excellent opportunity for valuable public service to your community, and invites you behind the scenes to become familiar with the function of our courts of justice. Women will not be asked to serve on criminal cases.

Deering Women's Guild Speaker Advocates U.M.T.

DEERING, Sept. 15—On September 10, the Deering Women's Guild and the Hillsboro League of Women Voters, met in the Deering Community Church to hear Dr. Daniel Poling give the story of the work of the commission appointed by President Truman to consider Universal Military Training.

The commission of nine included one woman and had for its president, Karl T. Compton of M.I.T. The members were unanimous in their opinion that U.M.T. is necessary for defense and security, not only for this country, but for the world. They also embodied in their report recommendations for the religious and moral training of the boys, such as was given at Fort Knox. In an effort to prevent immoral influence of camp life, no hard liquor nor beer would be allowed in the canteens, and the Federal government would enforce laws keeping evil influences out of the immediate vicinity.

The president of the Guild, Mrs. Gordon Rich, presided and Mrs. Ellsworth, the secretary, read an invitation to the Field Meeting of the Department of Women's Work of the Congregational Christian Church, to be held at Dover, September 30, and October 1.

After the Devotions, led by Miss Almeda Holmes, bringing out the thought that in Jesus we find the answer to the question, "What is Truth?" refreshments were served under the trees just outside the church.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—The late Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, nee Amy Marcy Cheney of Henniker, is among the distinguished composers whose biographies are given by Claire R. Reis in "Composers In America," published today by The Macmillan Company.

Mrs. Beach was born in Henniker in 1867 of a family dating back to the earliest colonial settlers and including musical talent on her mother's side and scholars and mathematicians on her father's. At the age of four she began studying the piano with her mother, and at sixteen she toured the United States as a pianist and appeared with the Boston and Chicago Symphony Orchestras. Her compositions since then have been performed extensively in the United States and abroad. She died in 1944.

To Develop Recreation Area in Washington

HILLSBORO, Sept. 18 — Another step in the direction of improved and expanded public recreation facilities in the Dartmouth-Lake Sunapee Region was taken September 9, 1947, when the Governor and Council voted to accept the gift of the late Albert E. Pillsbury of Newton, totalling $13,878, for the development of the Pillsbury Forest Reservation in Goshen and Washington.

This tract of 3300 acres includes four lakes lying below the steep slopes of Mt. Sunapee. Picnic tables, fireplaces, boats for rent and excellent fishing attract many visitors. The Dartmouth-Lake Sunapee Region Association hopes that the Forestry and Recreation Commission will soon expand facilities and provide camp grounds for such groups as 4-H clubs and boy and girl scouts, Albert S. Carlson, Executive Secretary of the Region Association said.

of my biggest, backest teeth and I underwent a peaceable separation one day last week.

My frequent visits to the dentist began in early childhood. All cavities were filled but no extraction must ever be considered. Even the thought of extraction terrified me and besides I was told the loss of teeth would interfere with my singing, whistling, and even my prospective cornet playing.

Those were the so-called "good old days" and I was lucky to have my teeth so well cared for, but I like the modern approach to the matter much better. Thoughtful parents, I am told, take their children at three or four years old, even two and a half, to call on the dentist. During the short social call, the youngster sees the office equipment, but nothing hurts or frightens him. After a few such calls the child won't fear the dentist or his evil looking instruments. He will likely climb up into the nice big chair, so with no fear, can stand a little hurt if necessary.

Some people declare the whole world is topsy turvy. Others prefer to modify the statement. But occasionally I see something at least contrary to custom. Richard Dumm Weds Miss Arlene Marston HENNIKER, Sept. 18—Miss Arlene Marston and Richard Dumm of North Weare were united in marriage on Sunday at the home of Miss Marston's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. Alfred Dumm of North Weare, grandfather of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a white satin gown styled with tight fitting bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full skirt fashioned with tunic. Her finger tip length veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli framed in a heart design of white satin and lace.

Miss Blanche Beade of North Weare was bridesmaid and Warren B. Dumm of North Weare was best man.

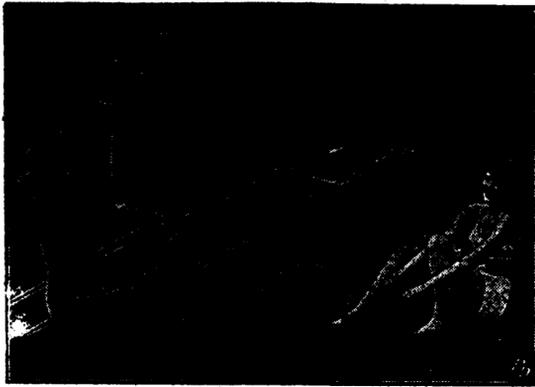

After a trip to the White Mountains they will reside at Wentworth Acres, Portsmouth.

Mrs. Dumm is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Marston. She is a graduate of Henniker High School and the Concord Hospital Nurses' Training School.

Mr. Dumm is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Dumm of North Weare. A World War II veteran, he is a student at the University of New Hampshire.

Mrs. Harold Connor held a party at her home on Thursday afternoon for her sister, Lynda Sargent, who will soon return to her home in Big Sur, Calif. Guests were old school friends: Natalie Marshall Swinnerton, Pomfret, Conn.; Helen Cole Rowe, Worcester, Mass.; Muriel Atwood Eaton, Manchester; Leolyn Annis Warren, Nashua; Edna Wilson Moody, Evelyn Falvey Beane and Nettie Savage Tucker, all of Henniker. KEEPING IN SHAPE

While this pulchritudinous invasion of the kiddies' playground has its "ups and downs," the spirits of the two "invaders" above definitely seem to be up. The sea-sawing nymphs are taking a time-out from the community swimming pool at Leaksville-Spray, N. C., where they are employed in a textile mill. Hilda Sherron (left) and Ash Lee Greer evidently find plenty of recreation facilities in the mill town to keep themselves "in shape."

lunch was served.

Miss Alice Burnham has returned to her teaching duties in Kingston.

Charles Clark of Nashua has been visiting his father and grandmother for two weeks.

Francis Leaf went to North Charleston, South Carolina, with Dick Bowden, who drove there last week to join his parents. After a visit in Washington, D. C., Francis returned home by train.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Robertson were in Woonsocket, R. I., over a recent week-end where Mrs. Robertson was vocal soloist at a wedding of a friend on Saturday morning. On their return trip they stopped in Manchester to call on Mr. Robertson's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson, and

Mr. Robertson's mother, Mrs. Anna Robertson.

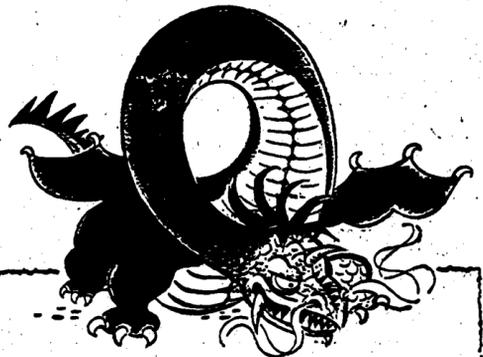

Lewis Carpenter was in Boston Tuesday of last week when he was drum major for Aleppo Temple Band of the Shriners at the ball game between the Red Sox and Detroit Tigers.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Fisher held a reception at their home on Saturday evening for their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Fisher, who were recently married. Guests were neighbors, and friends from Boston, Roxbury, Cambridge and Back Bay, Mass. A wedding cake was cut and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Robert Lewis was called to New Boston recently by the illness of her father.

This is OSWALD...

He stands guard at our Prescription Department

Actually, of course, Oswald is the little dragon who isn't there. We wouldn't know what to feed him. And, anyway, the Fire Marshal would probably have something to say about his presence on the premises. But, symbolically, Oswald is right there, to intimidate would-be intruders, and to assure our Registered Pharmacists an atmosphere of quiet serenity in which to do their work. If you join us in believing that this freedom from interruptions is an important factor in insuring the accuracy of our professional services, then, we suggest that you act on that conviction and bring your Doctor's next prescription—and all others—to us for careful compounding.

MILLEN LAKE
Mrs. Nan Schenck and son, David, have been visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newell Woodbury. The Woodburys' daughter, Mrs. Dean Woodbury and little son, have been at Millen Lake for a month. Mrs. George Parker is still at her camp on the south side of Millen Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Madison are at their cottage. The Muger family returned to their home in Massachusetts on Sunday. Both Crandall families spent the week-end at their camp.

HALF-MOON POND
"Mayor" Harry Trow and wife had as week-end visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Peters and daughter, Jane, of Wilton. Miss Margaret Abbot is at her camp, "Crows Nest" for a month's rest. Mr. and Mrs. George Tewksbury and family of Ashland were at their camp over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dodge of Nashua are at their camp for a month. Miss Phyllis Gaudet of Boston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Gaudet. Mr. and Mrs. John Newman and son are at present at the Harold Newman homestead, with his mother. Mr. and Mrs. Abner Barker made a trip to Connecticut with household goods of Mrs. Davidson who has been spending the summer at Newman brick house. Mrs. May Brown and niece, Miss Hurd, entertained Rev. M. Johnson and wife of Medford, also Miss Dorothy Bird this week. Mr. and Mrs. Peters and Jane were week-end guests of the "Mayor of Half-Moon Pond" and his wife. Has Dude Kemp forgotten that he is agent for Route 31? By the looks of the bushes, etc., he has. Heard he spent all the money on the "Deering Roads"—how come? "I want to know once and for all," the belligerent husband demanded, "who is the boss in this house." "You will be much happier," his wife replied, "if you don't try to find out."

LOVE ANIMALS?

Of course, there will be plenty of blooded livestock shown at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., Sept. 14 to 20, and prominent among the specialty groups will be the Exposition's great Cat Show on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 18 and 19, and the Dog Show on Saturday, Sept. 20. Both these events attract the nation's top breeders to exhibit the finest cats and dogs in the country, for the Exposition's ribbons and trophies are greatly coveted. Pet lovers will find both shows highly entertaining.

Monday Last Day for Blue Cross Enrollment

HILLSBORO, Sept. 18 — Next Monday, Sept. 22, is the final date for enrollment in Hillsborough's reopened community group in the non-profit Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans, it was announced today.

Mrs. Esther Chandler, representative of the services, will be at Boynton's store on Monday from 10 to 12 and 1 to 5 to assist Olo York, chairman, and Walter Sterling, co-chairman, in making out applications and explaining benefits. Blue Cross prepaays hospital bills. There are two divisions of Blue Shield, one providing allowances toward fees of surgeons and the other allowances toward fees of family doctors.

Mr. York and Mr. Sterling stressed that there will not be another reopening of the Hillsborough Blue Cross-Blue Shield group for at least one year. They urged everyone eligible to take advantage of this opportunity to protect themselves and families against bills for an illness or operation.

Blue Cross, which has more than 226,000 participants, is supported by the New Hampshire Hospital Association. The state medical society organized Blue Shield, which has more than 136,000 participants. Only residents of Hillsborough, who are not employed where there are five or more are eligible to enroll, it was explained.

I reported a wedding at Henniker last week with the conviction that it was to be Sunday afternoon previous to the 14th. and learned too late of my error. The Henniker correspondent had nothing to do with the report and I apologize to all concerned. I am a well meaning old fool, but I do make mistakes unintentionally.

To set at rest the fallacy that some people have regarding The Sunday New Hampshire News, it might be wise to make the correct statement that the Sunday paper has no connection with the Manchester Union and is entirely separate with absolutely no connection!

A new flag now adorns the Legion Club front, the gift of a family at the Upper Village who, like most of us, like to see the bright colors of Old Glory conspicuously displayed.

Recent graduates of the Memorial and Margaret Pillsbury Nurse's Training Schools were Ardell Call and Beverly Fisher and the graduating exercises were attended by Mr. and Mrs. James Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fisher, Mrs. Esther B. Call, of this town; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fisher, Warren Fisher, Jr., and Valerie Fisher, of Keene. The exercises were held at the Unitarian church, and reception at the Margaret Pillsbury Unit, Nurse's Home.

The road near the bridge near Shadowlawn on the North Branch road should be called "Death Curve," with so many accidents continually happening with too much regularity. Naturally some drivers speed, but it is hard to believe that so many accidents at this point are the result of so many operators hitting everything except the right side of the highway at 70 m.p.h.

Crab apple jelly was once quite a treat with nice tarts, but today a crab apple is about as scarce as hen's teeth. We know of one lady who had to go out of town to find any of the apparently hard to find variety.

At least one place in town which has been admired during the past years is the Community Building with its beautifully kept lawns and clean surroundings and Clarence Nelson certainly deserves much praise for the plenty of hard work that goes into the upkeep of the property.

If and when we realize that October 12th is really the beginning of the end of the summer season and not Labor Day early in September, folks will cash in on the idea with profit to everybody.

September and October in this section are the two best months of the year in spite of the excessive amount of humidity of the past two weeks that was uncomfortable to say the least.

Mr. Carew and family over there in the hills of Deering are already planning for winter sports and they have an ideal setting for a winter's playground, in fact the Carews have a year around paradise for lovers of the great outdoors. Others dreamed about it, but they planned while the sleepers snoozed.

Saving anything for a Rainy Day these times requires the wisdom of a Solomon and the family that can pay all its bills and still have something left over towards next month's rent is entitled to a special tax rate on its surplus funds every Saturday night.

Arcade Duval, the town cobbler for so many years, has installed a fine shop at his farm, which now has electricity, and is once more repairing shoes out there in his country home, which is good news to many people.

Twelve Attend First Meeting of Art Club

HELLSBORO, Sept. 11—The cellar studio of the Valley Hotel was the meeting place of twelve enthusiastic Art-minded people, Wednesday, September 10. It was the first official meeting of the Hillsboro Art Club. Three of the charter members are from Antrim.

The evening was spent in discussing those details necessary to any organization, however informal.

Meetings will be every Wednesday at the Valley Hotel from 8 P. M., to 10 P. M. Mr. Stuart Bruce will be there at that time to help members with their problems. Anyone who cares to start work earlier in the evening is welcome to do so.

Membership is $5.00 a month and newcomers may join at the prevailing rate. If many more members join, it may mean a reduction in the monthly fee. It was suggested that any surplus be used to hire a model. The club would appreciate the offer of anyone liking to sit for his portrait. Mrs. Donald S. Baker was chosen Treasurer-Reporter.

Each member will furnish his own supplies. Dr. Harrison Baldwin offered his services in helping to get materials when there is no immediate source of supply.

The interests of the members are diversified. They range from poster work through self portraiture. There are some who have never painted before, but inspired by the beauties of the countryside, want to know how to express themselves. The group invites new members, not necessarily from Hillsboro but from any nearby town.

Henniker Pupils May Toot Horns in Own Band

HENNIKER, Sept. 9 — School children in Henniker are going to toot their own horns, if such horns can be procured, it was announced at the PTA meeting held Monday evening of last week in the high school auditorium.

The largest crowd of parents and teachers on record heard headmaster Roberts Edwards discuss plans for the new school year, including the formation of a school band if instruments are available. Offer of a cornet from the original Henniker Band was made and other parents agreed to search their attics for musical instruments that can be used. Anyone wishing to help is asked to contact Mrs. Mildred Porter of the high school who will be in charge of the band.

Superintendent William Sterling and teachers of the Henniker Schools were guests of honor. Supt. Sterling spoke on the determination of teachers to work harder than ever before at what promises to be an exceptionally successful school year and asked for complete cooperation of parents.

Miss Anna Bavelas Weds Lowell, Mass., Businessman

LOWELL, Sept. 7—At a 4 o'clock ceremony solemnized at the Transfiguration Greek Orthodox church on Sunday, Miss Anna Bavelas of Bennington, N. H., daughter of Mrs. Thomas A. Bavelas and the late Mr. Vavelas of that city, became the bride of Nicholas J. Tavoularis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Tavoularis. Rev. Christos Pappas officiated at the double-ring service. Miss Helen Georgas, church organist, played the wedding music and Miss Eugenia Georges sang "Ave Maria" and "Because." The church was decorated with potted palms and white gladioli.

Andrew T. Bavelas escorted his sister to the altar and gave her in marriage. The bride was lovely in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with tight bodice, bustle back and long train. The off-shoulder, shirred yoke was of beaded Madeira lace, as were the peplum and the tips of the long tight sleeves. Her imported illusion veil was fingertip length and was attached to a circlet of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids with a cascade of lilies of the valley.

Miss Georgia Tavoularis, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, gowned in bronze taffeta in off-shoulder fashion, with bustle back and full skirt.

Two cousins of the bride, Miss Dorothea Aleviou of Nashua, N. H., and Miss Esther Paltios of West Bridgewater, and a friend, Miss Morphia Zachos of Keene, N. H., were the other attendants.

Late in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Tavoularis started on a month's motor trip that will take them through New York and New Jersey to Washington, D. C. The bride's going-away outfit was a chocolate brown gabardine suit with which she wore a lime green and brown feather hat, brown accessories and a white orchid. The bride is a graduate of Becker Junior college in Worcester, and has been employed as a bank secretary in Peterboro, N. H.

Mr. Tavoularis, one of the most prominent young Greek-Americans in the city, is associated in business with his father. He is a graduate of Lowell high school, and served two and a half years in the Army with the rank of staff sergeant. He saw action both in the European and Pacific theatres of war.

H., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Priscilla DeLaney Cox, to Phillips Byfield, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Byfield of Newtonville, Mass. I.; and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Chase, Miss Georgie M. Sanborn, and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Sanborn of Henniker.

A Lower Village Story —

Garden of Pierce Manse

by Mary K. Pierce

"In yonder close there once a garden grew," and even today, after all the long neglectful years, through the slanting shadows on the grass to an imaginative mind, comes an image of what it must have been. Tradition speaks of its rare loveliness. It was planned and commenced in 1804 and was called the "garden of the Pierce Mansion," and was to grow and blossom for a good half century of time.

Here walked the master of the Mansion when cares weighed heavily upon him and when the joys of life were blithe and gay. And here the sunshine lingered as a benediction. At mating time the robins lilted their songs of praise and when the day was spent the vesper sparrow trilled his pensive lay to night descending.

A brook flowed through this tract of land, a silvery brook where lay the trout and perch. Upon its banks the violets bloomed in spring-time and in summer warmth the primrose folded its golden cups as shield to the burning August sun.

To this place of quietude and beauty in 1824 came the Marquis de la Fayette, and in his mind perhaps was the memory of John Bartram as with his host he walked the garden paths. Often he touched caressingly a flower of crimson bloom and often raised a lovely blossom from the ground and then his face was grave and tender. "Twas in John Bartram's garden in Philadelphia many years ago when first I saw these plants," he said, and because these woods evoked long memories, the two soldiers stood at attention and in their minds revisited the scarlet trumpet vine twined about a gnarled and twisted buckeye tree. They saw again, beneath its wide, protecting spread, Washington and Alexander Hamilton, exchanging pleasantries of friendship as was their custom.

John Bartram was an early American horticulturist and to his garden came the great and humble, the proud and lowly and those who sought a solace from their cares, among his herbs and trees. Here Gen. Lafayette had often trod the flower bordered paths and had tarried long among the flowering shrubs. And now, on a pleasant day in 1824, he walked slowly through the garden of Benjamin Pierce, his friend of Revolutionary days.

Gen. Lafayette made a farewell visit to America in 1824-25 and came to New Hampshire in 1824. After the welcoming festivities were over in Concord, he rode, by coach to Lower Village that once again he might look upon the face of him whose friendship he still treasured.

And so these two old soldiers, who had fought and suffered to help hold a great republic, together lived again the days of hardship they had known so well, and found each other older grown in years, but still possessed of valor and a warrior's heart.

Too soon was heard the coach horn's silvery note, bringing an end to the short while spent amidst the golden haze of memories. Still the gallant Frenchman lingered, reluctant to leave the stillness of the garden and the companionship of his old friend, then suddenly turned, and without a backward glance, stepped into the coach because his heart was filled with pain of parting.

With tear dimmed eyes, made brave by high saluting hand, he rode away from his friend of early days and from the garden, where with his host he had held a moment's brief communion with Washington, Hamilton and John Bartram, the gentle Quaker gardener.

"LET 'ER BUCK!"

OFF AND ON AT EXPOSITION RODEO

Whether they stay on or get thrown, the world's best cowboys will try to ride the world's meanest Brahma bulls and bucking horses in Blackmon's Diamond B. Rodeo at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., Sept. 14 to 20. The buckaroos are riding for plenty of prize money in thrilling contests of trick riding, bronco busting, steer bulldozing, calf roping and wild steer riding every night during show week in the Exposition's great Coliseum arena. In addition to the contests there are exhibitions and hippodrome specialties of a sensational nature.

To the reluctant cowboy challenge to bucking horses, 75 of the nation's most famous cowboys will try to stay on the "hurricane decks" of the meanest buckers in the string to be brought to the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., Sept. 14 to 20 for Blackmon's Diamond B Rodeo. The rodeo will be staged in the Coliseum arena every evening of show week under brilliant lights.

OLD MR. BOSTON SAYS
Rocking Chair Tastes Smooth
 as Whiskies Rocked in the Keg!
 When "tipper ships" rounded the Horn, bound for the Orient, barrels of whiskey were stowed aboard... the rolling motion of the waves gave it a deeper, fuller flavor.
 Shippers learned to achieve that same smooth perfection by rocking legs beneath their rocking chairs... captured in Rocking Chair!
 Not only expert blending, but controlled and even agitation in my special blending process... the rolling motion of the waves gave it a deeper, fuller flavor.
