More News About "The Walking Lady"

Correct time to identify her is next Saturday, March 27th between 3 and 4 P.M. Previous to that time you don't get the money even if you guess right.

Somebody said that the model in the photo looked too professional to belong to Hillsboro. Local talent must not be under rated.

An Easter Message

by Rev. C. W. Turner

"Go tell my disciples and Peter."

Standing as we do in the midst of a troubled world, we do well to enquire as to the source of help for the vast multitude of those who face the Easter Dawn bearing burdens that, unlifted, may easily lead to disaster.

As of old one of the disciples of the Christ facing a great emergency, looked into the face of the Master and cried—"To whom shall we go, thou hast the words of Eternal Life?" So today in the midst of a troubled world we too turn our faces at this blessed Easter Time, to look unto him who said—

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

It is a significant fact that one of the last words of the dying Saviour, was spoken to one whose life had been sadly blighted by sin, and who at that very moment was suffering on a neighboring cross.

"This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise."

Then a few days later as the First Wonderful Easter dawned, we hear him once again, as he sends a message of hope and inspiration to one who had cruelly denied him at the moment of his supreme need of devotion and loyalty.

"Go tell my disciples—AND PETER."

For three dark and lonely days Peter had suffered on account of his denial of the Master; then suddenly, like a shaft of light flashed across troubled waters, there comes this message, from the one whom he had so deeply grieved.

Is it not a significant thing that this first message of the Risen Christ to a troubled soul should have been entrusted to a woman, thus conferring on the women of every age this most delicate ministry for the inspiration and comfort of all lonely hearts. May the Christ who spoke the word of Peace to the troubled waters of Galilee, and again to the troubled heart of Simon Peter, bring at this glad Easter Time a word of inspiration and Hope to troubled hearts all over the world.

Textile Manufacturer Favors N. E. Because Labor Nears "Maturity"

from the Fitchburg Sentinel

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 19—A textile manufacturer who in ten years built a $5,500 initial investment to an industry doing a $16,000,000 yearly business said today his company chose New England instead of the south in part because organized labor here "is approaching maturity."

"Labor conditions in the partially organized south seem to us a definite detriment to maximum efficiency in operations," Joseph Axelrod, president of the Crown Mfg. Co., Pawtucket, declared.

In an address prepared for the quarterly meeting of the New England council, regional promotional organization, Axelrod predicted the textile industry has a future in New England if New England wants it that way.

It is hard to conceive of any section of the country ringing about itself an iron curtain for the purpose of shutting out organized labor," he commented in discussing southern labor conditions.

The young textile manufacturer, who has extended his operations to control a half dozen other Rhode Island mills, said his reasons for keeping his company operations in New England were based on a thorough analysis of the conditions under which textile manufacturing could be carried on in the southern states. He listed as New England advantages:

(1) A reservoir of skilled textile employees steeped in the tradition of the textile industry. (2) An organized labor which is approaching maturity with programs fairly well defined, whereas he said labor was in the process of organizing the south and he said the south's labor future was uncertain. (3) Proximity to the large markets of the United States unexcelled in any other area of the country. (4) An abundance of natural advantages such as pure water, which needs little conditioning and an abundance of natural and manufactured power. (5) An abundance of capital to finance growth and expansion.

"In the south," Axelrod said, "organized labor is having its growing pains. Millions of dollars are being poured into the south by the national unions in an attempt to unionize the textile industry there. Much has been said about the lack of success of these organizational drives but we are of the opinion that these are not the most ideal conditions under which to operate."

"It is hard to conceive of any section of the country ringing about itself an iron curtain for the purpose of shutting out organized labor. The greater the struggle, the greater the dissension between employers and employees. Under such conditions there is dissension even between groups of employees—those who want the union and those who don't want the union."

"These conditions seem to us a definite detriment to maximum efficiency in operations. Management must have a clear understanding of its labor problems and a co-operative attitude must be built up between management and labor so that friction and controversy may be avoided. We thought there was a better chance to achieve this relationship in New England."

Axelrod said textile industry growth must include a co-operative attitude on the part of the public, local and state governments, including a community pride such as Californians have in their sunshine, constructive long-range legislation, modernization and research.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A legal voter speaking his mind: On Article 10 in the School Warrant to see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum not to exceed $80,000 for an Elementary School building. The vote was questioned and Mr. H. E. Wilson made a motion and it was carried but turned down by the Moderator, that the vote be made from the checklist which under the circumstances would have been the legal way to do it. The result was a 1 vote victory.

I have talked with citizens and property owners of our town and have had people from an adjoining town say that it doesn't look or sound so good. Now then, the question is, what are you going to do? Rumor has it that there might have been a vote cast that wouldn't have been if the vote was taken from the checklist.

I have a decision from an attorney saying if there was an illegal vote cast, the vote on Article 10 is null and void. Now, then, are we going to take that vote by one majority laying down? The result of the Majority Vote of that meeting is nothing to be proud of nor elated over.

An Easter Message

by Rev. C. W. Turner

"Go tell my disciples and Peter."

Standing as we do in the midst of a troubled world, we do well to enquire as to the source of help for the vast multitude of those who face the Easter Dawn bearing burdens that, unlifted, may easily lead to disaster.

As of old one of the disciples of the Christ facing a great emergency, looked into the face of the Master and cried—"To whom shall we go, thou hast the words of Eternal Life?" So today in the midst of a troubled world we too turn our faces at this blessed Easter Time, to look unto him who said—

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

It is a significant fact that one of the last words of the dying Saviour, was spoken to one whose life had been sadly blighted by sin, and who at that very moment was suffering on a neighboring cross.

"This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise."

Then a few days later as the First Wonderful Easter dawned, we hear him once again, as he sends a message of hope and inspiration to one who had cruelly denied him at the moment of his supreme need of devotion and loyalty.

"Go tell my disciples—AND PETER."

For three dark and lonely days Peter had suffered on account of his denial of the Master; then suddenly, like a shaft of light flashed across troubled waters, there comes this message, from the one whom he had so deeply grieved.

Is it not a significant thing that this first message of the Risen Christ to a troubled soul should have been entrusted to a woman, thus conferring on the women of every age this most delicate ministry for the inspiration and comfort of all lonely hearts. May the Christ who spoke the word of Peace to the troubled waters of Galilee, and again to the troubled heart of Simon Peter, bring at this glad Easter Time a word of inspiration and Hope to troubled hearts all over the world.

Textile Manufacturer Favors N. E. Because Labor Nears "Maturity"

from the Fitchburg Sentinel

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 19—A textile manufacturer who in ten years built a $5,500 initial investment to an industry doing a $16,000,000 yearly business said today his company chose New England instead of the south in part because organized labor here "is approaching maturity."

"Labor conditions in the partially organized south seem to us a definite detriment to maximum efficiency in operations," Joseph Axelrod, president of the Crown Mfg. Co., Pawtucket, declared.

In an address prepared for the quarterly meeting of the New England council, regional promotional organization, Axelrod predicted the textile industry has a future in New England if New England wants it that way.

It is hard to conceive of any section of the country ringing about itself an iron curtain for the purpose of shutting out organized labor," he commented in discussing southern labor conditions.

The young textile manufacturer, who has extended his operations to control a half dozen other Rhode Island mills, said his reasons for keeping his company operations in New England were based on a thorough analysis of the conditions under which textile manufacturing could be carried on in the southern states. He listed as New England advantages:

(1) A reservoir of skilled textile employes steeped in the tradition of the textile industry. (2) An organized labor which is approaching maturity with programs fairly well defined, whereas he said labor was in the process of organizing the south and he said the south's labor future was uncertain. (3) Proximity

Maple Sap Running Now in Washington

WASHINGTON, MARCH 22—It's maple syrup making time up here in the hills with Walter Chamberlin, Norman Fletcher, the Cranes and the Farnsworth brothers having about 4000 buckets hanging on the trees just now.

Walter Chamberlin covers Vermont and New Hampshire selling maple syrup items such as evaporators, buckets, and modern appliances, when he is not operating his own sweet business on the east hillside of East Washington.

"Walt," who padlocked his saphouse door and went to war some six years ago, is already thinking that Uncle Sam may again find use for his experience in the Army, but hopes he may be able to remain until the syrup season is over. Last season was only fair and Walt made less than 350 gallons, but the run of sap was better than during 1946. He expects this year will be just average, something like 400 gallons.

Maple Sap Running

Now In Washington

WASHINGTON, MARCH 22—It's maple syrup making time up here in the hills with Walter Chamberlin, Norman Fletcher, the Cranes and the Farnsworth brothers having about 4000 buckets hanging on the trees just now.

Walter Chamberlin covers Vermont and New Hampshire selling maple syrup items such as evaporators, buckets, and modern appliances, when he is not operating his own sweet business on the east hillside of East Washington.

"Walt," who padlocked his sap-house door and went to war some six years ago, is already thinking that Uncle Sam may again find use for his experience in the Army, but hopes he may be able to remain until the syrup season is over.

Last season was only fair and Walt made less than 350 gallons, but the run of sap was better than during 1946. He expects this year will be just average, something like 400 gallons.

SCHOOL NEWS

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

GRADE ONE

Mrs. Buttrick visited our room one day last week.

Mrs. Tasker visited our room one day this week.

We are enjoying our fish pond. A box is the pond. We made fish about three inches long. A number combination was written on each fish. We slipped a paper clip over the nose of each fish. A magnet is tied to a string attached to a stick (fish pole). The magnet catches the fish by the paper clip on the nose when it is pulled through the pond. We must be able to tell the combination or return the fish to the pond.

Patricia Johnson is still ill with whooping cough.

Charles Denny has left our school. We miss him very much.

GRADE TWO

Jane Woodrow has brought in the first pussywillows.

We dramatized the story of "The Three Little Pigs." Some of the other grades visited us to see the performance.

Judith Sharby and John Martin selected ten books for our library reading table.

In the reading workbook contests the following pupils are leading in their groups: Walter Olson in his, and Darlene Powell and Roscoe Putnam are tied for first place in their groups.

On Friday we played Wordo.

Margaret Bush and Mrs. Lois Davis attended the Flower Show in Boston Saturday afternoon and the Dog Show in Manchester Saturday evening.

GRADE THREE

In a multiplication and division diagnostic test, the following pupils had one hundred percent: Sheila, Norma, Joan, Jack, Charles, Theresa Duggan and James.

Mrs. John Tasker visited our room Tuesday.

Joan Devlin and David Sterling had one hundred in arithmetic four days this week.

We wrote riddles in our language class.

We had two nice surprises this week. Billy Baker sang a song for us and the second grade invited us to a dramatization of "The Three Pigs." We enjoyed them very much.

GRADE FOUR

The name of our new reading books is "Children of the Mayflower."

Last Thursday we went to Grade II and saw a play, "The Three Little Pigs." We liked it very much.

Mrs. Day gave us a nice drawing lesson on Thursday. It was a design that we will put on a paper plate next week.

There is no school on Good Friday.

GRADE FIVE

The fifth grade was invited to visit the second grade to watch the pupils dramatize the story of the "Three Pigs." We enjoyed it very much.

William Baker has proven to us that he can sing. He visited the song, "Young Abe Lincoln."

We are learning the poem "Somebody's Mother." We are going to start learning, "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer, next week.

The fifth grade played basketball last Friday at the Hillsboro High School. May we take this opportunity to thank Mr. Bernard for arranging the game for us.

GRADE SIX

The sixth grade was invited to see the second grade put on a play about "The Three Little Pigs." They certainly did well and we enjoyed it very much.

Thursday the girls competed against the boys in a spelling match. Both sides did very well but finally the girls won.

Everyone in the grade wrote a story telling all the reasons we could think of why we are glad we are Americans.

We had a lot of fun the day that we had "Descriptions" for oral composition. Each of us described a building in town and the rest guessed the name.

Tuesday in the Geography Radio period we listened to stories of the Resorts in Switzerland and a very thrilling rescue by a St. Bernard dog in the mountains during a blizzard.

UPPER VILLAGE SCHOOL

Those who earned one hundred per cent in spelling last week are: Nancy Crane, Donald Sweeney, Melody Bumford, Barbara Hersy, Catherine Monagle, John French, Sally Crane, Norma Sweeney, Arline Sweeney.

the third grade and sang to them. We are glad to have bare ground again to play on.

Each afternoon the seventh and eighth grades are taking parts in a play called "Cremona."

We all enjoy the music Mr. Hill teaches us.

In our travel lesson we are in China.

There will be no school on Friday as it is Good Friday.

Charles Baptist won the Multiplication Game last week.

It's Being Done at Willow Run!

Kaiser-Frazer Introduces Four New 1948 Models

- The 1948 KAISER • The 1948 KAISER CUSTOM
- The 1948 FRAZER • The 1948 FRAZER MANHATTAN

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE!

While Other New Car Prices Are Advancing

HERE'S WHY Kaiser-Frazer can make this announcement while other new car prices spiral upward. Kaiser-Frazer controls its own supply of many basic raw materials . . . has its own engine plant, foundry and steel mill. Materials from these sources funnel into new and modern Willow Run—the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the world under one roof.

Unfinished steel goes in one end of this great plant and comes out a quality automobile, ready to be driven away. All this is accomplished in a matter of hours, and with the economy of Kaiser-Frazer straight-line production. This is an achievement of men who are injecting new methods and ideas into an old industry.

In the new 1948 Kaiser, Frazer, Kaiser Custom, and Frazer Manhattan you get all the features that others have attempted to copy since Kaiser-Frazer design was introduced in 1947.

So far no one has been able to more than approximate the graceful exterior body lines. No one has come near matching the roadability . . . the ride resulting from seats cradled between the front and rear wheels, such wide seats with both elbow and shoulder room. And none have the style features, the wide choice of colors and fabrics.

You get all this plus the many refinements made possible by years-ahead engineering and design. And, of course, all 1948 Kaiser or Frazer cars have the new Goodyear 24-pound pressure Super-Cushion tires that make bumps something you see but never feel.

Enjoy a ride today in America's newest new cars—the 1948 cars that have not gone up in price!

Wherever you drive, wherever you go, 'round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts and approved service.

We Invite You to SEE, DRIVE and COMPARE Them, Today!

 William Gibney, former Antrim resident, who has been stopping at William Nichols' this winter, paid us a visit recently. Mr. Glenn brought him. Mr. Gibney is very clever with his jack knife, making all sorts of things. He gave us a pair of pliers which work perfectly. He also makes buttons and we saw a porcupine he made, in fact he makes many things all of wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kierman, members of Art Associations in and around Rockport and Boston, stayed at the Valley Hotel, Saturday evening, on their way down from a visit with the Aldro Hibbards in Vermont. An oil painting by Mr. Hibbards, done last autumn, of the beautiful white church up at the Center is now on exhibition in a Boston Gallery. The Kiermans came down to the Cellar Studio to see what had been done by the members of the Art Club during the winter. They gave them a great deal of credit for all that has been accomplished and also set their stamp of approval on its future plans, for a show, etc.

Mr. Bell, Hillsboro's well known school principal, and Mrs. Bell celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary with dinner at the Hotel Wednesday evening and later talked with the Art Group. They were most complimentary and enthusiastic by the strides the club is making in bringing art to Hillsboro. This last week-end brought many persons up to the country and the club had many visitors.

Mrs. Harold Martins son sat for for the class week Wed. and the problem for the class was not one of getting a likeness but to put on paper a typical American Boy. Mr. Stewart Bruce, the Club's Art Director gave class criticism. The results were interesting to say the least.

All persons interested in the arts are invited to come down to the Cellar Studio and watch the group at work or to work with them, every Wed. Eve. from 8 to 10 P. M. Keep Wed. Evenings in mind!

FOR SALE — Baker Block, Depot St. 8 apartments and 2 stores. Stores rented. Will rent to reliable parties the eight apartments. If interested in more details, write or telephone S. S. Jabre, Tel. Durham 13W, Durham Paint Road, Durham, N. H. 131f like doughnuts. We always used to have them in sugar time when the maple syrup was so thick it had to be cut off with a knife when poured from a pitcher.

I think the name "dum funnies" came from Aroostook County, Me., with the Butterfields, Asa, Flora, and son Lyman. They came to live at the Centre more than sixty years ago. Asa made me think of Rip Van Winkle with his squinty blue eyes and long white beard.

The Butterfields invited Theodore Barnes to supper one night. Seated at the table Asa said, "Now Theodore, help yourself to the dum funnies, sozle on the molasses (syrup), and lallup-em into ye." I don't believe such language was ever heard in New Hampshire until Asa spoke it in his twangy, drawling voice.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Spring certainly arrived on schedule and Saturday and Sunday we were able to hear something besides the rumble of the oil burner every few minutes. There were the shouts of children to be heard, interspersed when the smaller ones found a new puddle to wade through even though wearing bedroom slippers and supposed to stay on the piazza. I heard the crows one morning and the chickadee's song lacks the cheeriness of winter. Once I heard its plaintive pee-wee call and probably someone will tell me the pheobe is here.

Sunday Frank dug some parsnips from the garden. Under a thin surface layer of ice there seemed to be no frost in the ground. The amount of snow we have had all winter ought to have been of some good use.

Bicycles and tricycles were much in evidence and small boys were playing marbles in the driveway. Jack Woods is able to play outdoors again after wearing a cast for a long time because of a broken leg. Sunday afternoon produced a thunder shower, the part of spring and summer I'd rather have winter. Sap buckets hanging on the maple trees sang a specially sweet song of spring.

The pileater woodpecker has been reported as busily at work trying to annihilate some tree or the bugs therein, from several sections of town, even my own, but I did not see it. In three cases, the bird was seen on, an old pear tree.

ROOMS I REMEMBER

The first room which I learned to know well was the southwest room of the brick house at Concord End, now the home of the Edwards family. My sister, Nellie, and Charles Morgan were married on Thanksgiving Day and went to live in that end of the house. Charles' mother lived in the north end. Nellie's one room served as living room, dining room, kitchen, and nursery. It had three or four windows with very nice sills on which she kept the children's small playthings.

I had a wonderful time over to Nellie's until I grew old enough to be homesick without knowing what the matter was with me. I was all right except when Nellie came down here to the Bridge to do some shopping. Things seemed to happen then. Once Charles gave me his hat full of eggs to take up to the house, but I stubbed my toe in the rocky barnyard so only a few ever saw the house—enough though so Nellie let me make some cookies.

I had to stand on a fat, round hassock in order to reach the table to roll them out. Nellie gave me cake, cookies, etc., and had a boxtop all set with tea set dishes, but before I was ready to eat, Bonus, the big dog, brushed by me, nosed over my teapot, and gobbled down all the eats and calmly walked away.

Across one corner of this all-purpose room hung the baby's hammock without stretchers so a small baby could not fall out. The sleeping room above held the trundle bed where the first baby or two slept in the room with parents. I often wonder if this room has as many wasps as it used to have. Probably not, for screens are more in use now than 60 years ago.

I played a heavy part in the courtship of Arthur Perkins and Hattie Perry, both employed at the Morgans'. I had a grand time, but what a nuisance a six year old girl must be under such circumstances.

I can still see this all-purpose room with its big kitchen range, dining table, baby's hammock, and comfortable davenport where I sometimes slept, and all the other things. At dusk, while waiting for Nellie to come home, I can see a scared, homesick little girl trying to amuse her husky baby nephew by spinning a small milk pan, for he laughed when it fell with a wonderful clatter. Sometimes I sang him to sleep. Responsibility rested heavily upon me at such times. I liked to go over there to stay and I guess Nellie was glad to have me as more babies came along. She and Grandmie Morgan changed apartments soon after.

Judy Gove was hostess at the Juvenile Beach Club instead of the other Judy.

Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Matthews were in Manchester one day the last of the week.

Warren Crosby, Arthur Whitney, Frank Gay and Allen Hilliard attended the Chickering auction in Pembroke on Saturday.

Bruce Hutchinson returned to Mt. Herman School after spending his vacation at home.

School Band Has Debut at Henniker Minstrel Show

The Henniker High School Band made its debut on Friday evening at the minstrel show held in the Cogswell Memorial Auditorium. Most of the members of the band had never played any instrument until last fall when the music teacher, Mrs. Mildred Porter organized the band, and it has been directed by Dr. H. C. Baldwin of Hillsboro who was unable to be present.

Band members are Bryce Hatch, and Philip Given, clarinets; Wilfred French, bass drum; Lois Sanborn, snare drum; Jean Holmes, Eddie Moody and Charles Colby, trumpets; Arlene Fisher and Peter Beane, trombones; John Beane, cymbals; David Colclough, saxophone. They were assisted by Jack Tasker of Hillsboro who played the trombone and Harrison Baldwin of Hillsboro who played the tuba and also a piano solo.

Scott Parmenter was interlocutor in the minstrel show. End men were Allen Doon, Joe Patenaude, Donald Goss, Robert French, Robert Maxwell and Bernard Maillette. Anne Comire sang, "Lazy Bones," and did a tap dance in costume. Miss Marion Ryan and Miss Marilyn Clement were vocal soloists singing, "The Man I Love," and "Deep Purple," respectively. The chorus was composed of the rest of the glee club.

Five boys known as the Pumpernickle Five from the Junior Marine Band of Keene, played several selections. The boys were William Zimmerman, Carl Keough, Carl Britton, David Pittfield and William Olmstead. Diane Wilcox of Keene gave a baton twirling exhibition as well as Barbara Carnes and Mary and Constance Beane.

Members of the Gay Nineties Barber Shop Quartet were Richard Jones, Norton Cox, Richard Smith and Peter Beane.

The closing number featured Janice Maxwell as soloist in "Now is the Hour," assisted by Beverly McGregor, Janet Holmes, Arlene Fisher, Sally Hazen, Anne Davison and Dorothy Ryan and the entire cast.

Mrs. Mildred Porter, music teacher was presented flowers.

Two bright spots she mentioned were, first the farm from the middle west whose fellow townsmen thought Her Majesty Queen Wilhelmina ought to supplement her meager diet with some real American honey and gave the woman a 5 gallon can with instructions to present it personally. The can was not only never out of sight but it was a constant companion the whole trip over. On arrival at The Hague, without saying anything to anyone, no consuls, no ambassadors, and no diplomatic red-tape, the woman marched herself up the palace steps, honey in hand. It was unfortunate that Her Majesty was ill at the time but her personal secretary received the gift with grateful thanks, and the woman remained there answering questions about the United States and American farm women for quite a while. She was then taken in the royal automobile for a sight-seeing trip about the city.

Consider New Uses for Deering Center

DEERING, March 22—Wider use for the benefit of New Hampshire of the extensive facilities of the Deering Community Center were explored in a meeting held here recently, attended by 14 university, state, regional and farm and religious leaders.

The Board of Home Missions of the Congregational-Christian Church, owners of the property, have indicated a desire to use the periods of time when the Center is not now occupied for the general benefit of the area in which it is located.

Scattered around the estate are 23 cabins, all re-conditioned and electrically lighted. All are named after famous religious and scientific leaders.

Rev. Charles E. Reidt told the group that Dr. Eleanor Campbell of New York, part time resident of Deering had purchased the property in 1931. Dr. Campbell had felt the need in the area of such social services as are maintained in the populated centers. During the 1930's, under her guidance, clinics, schools, conferences, were conducted here. In 1945 Dr. Campbell presented the property to the Board of Home Missions. A minister's school in 1946 was the first use made by the Board, but 1947 saw full activity at the area from June 25 through to Labor Day. A school for ministers east of the Mississippi, senior high groups of the Connecticut Conference, New Jersey and Massachusetts young people fill the summer seasons now

Own Lake Frontage
In another part of town the Center has about 100 acres of land with 500 feet of shore front on Deering Lake. This past year Dr. Campbell has given the Center her two farms, Valley View Farms in Deering and Mt. Crotched Farm in Franconstown.

It is pointed out that a number of conferences, now being held at the University of New Hampshire or unable to be scheduled there, could well use the Center—youth institutes; leader training schools in forestry, youth work, etc.; health clinics; folk and square dance activities; home craft programs; musical events and the possibility of New Hampshire family reunions.

Uses particularly relating to the more immediate area are expected to be more evident when a survey of that area by Dr. Ross Sanderson becomes available. This includes about seven or eight towns which make up the meeting-point of three regions—Dartmouth-Lake Sunapee, Merrimack Valley and Monadnock. Executive secretaries of the latter two participated in the meeting.

Some words fool you:

ROLL

... but BALLANTINE

always means: PURITY

You roll a court to keep it neat... choose a roll when it's time to eat. Clearly, roll is one of those words with more than one meaning. It can fool you.

But not Ballantine! There's a word that never fooled anybody. Ballantine always means PURITY, BODY, FLAVOR... the qualities symbolized by Peter Ballantine's famous 3-ring trade mark. Look for the 3 rings; call for Ballantine.

Spring and the Walking Lady

These are probably the two main topics of conversation right now, and Saturday some clever person will win five dollars. But man or woman, whether you ride or walk, when you come to the Locker and select fresh frozen fruits, you'll be putting spring into the hearts of your family. No one can help thinking of flowers and sunshine when he has a bowl of ripe berries or luscious peaches before him, so take spring home today.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Slater of Lowell, Mass., spent the weekend with their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ryan. The weather cooperated with the calendar on Saturday, which according to the sun and the calendar was the first day of spring, arriving exactly at 11:57 when the sun was directly over the equator. It was a beautiful morning with the mercury rising to about 50. And shortly before noon, the ice in the river went out between the stone bridge and the dam. Sometime during the morning we heard a bluebird and on Sunday morning we saw some purple grackles and heard a robin. Early last Tuesday evening, March 16 we had a short driving rain accompanied with faint thunder, but Sunday afternoon it thundered several times, with sharp lightning. Our garden is practically all bare and we found the rhubarb was peaking through so our hopes are high once again.

The monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. were resumed last week when the first meeting since December was held at the home of Mrs. Otto Schacht. The topic "Sobriety as a Safeguard" was in charge of the hostess, Mrs. Harry Garland had the devotions.

ANTRIM SCHOOLS

Mr. Editor:

With all its advantages, Antrim could still be made a better place to raise a family. All business and social interests would gain thereby. Both the state and local boards have voiced the demand for a new elementary school.

We are sorry that anyone as in the Reporter last week, should hopefully suggest that by a legal quibble the more than two thirds majority vote in favor of the new school at a meeting duly called and fully representing all parts of the district, could be made void. Even if that should happen, the voice of the people and need of childhood still exists. To cast a shadow on the formative years and after life of 150 children who cannot help themselves deserves no following.

Those who have helped themselves should consider that the tax burden spread over twenty years would not be heavy.

For these and other reasons we would say more power to those who are trying to answer our need for better juvenile training.

"Here's the Pitch"
 By "Bump" Hadley

WBZ-WBZA Sportscaster and Former Major League Pitcher

IT'S ALMOST TWO WEEKS now since the Brooklyn Dodgers traded Eddie Stanky to the Boston Braves for Ray Sanders, Carvel (Bama) Rowell and cash. But the thing that's still puzzling the fans is WHY? Why did the Dodgers let Stanky go? For Ray Sanders? The Bums already had a good first baseman in Jackie Robinson, and if they were serious about shifting Robinson to second base, they could have had Elbie Fletcher last winter, and Fletcher certainly is a better gamble than Sanders. For Bama Rowell? Well, Bama could be dangerous in Ebbetts' Field, particularly if he hit consistently to the Dodgers' tricky right field area, or off that peculiar right field fence.

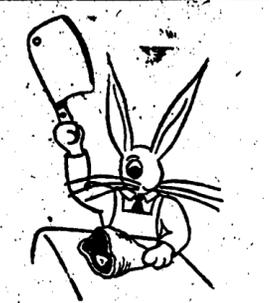

Except for his freshman year when he gave great promise, Rowell has never been any great ball of fire. He's not a brilliant fielder by any means.

For cash? Well, 50 or 60 thousand dollars isn't to be sneezed at, of course, but the Dodgers were reported to have had an excellent year at the gate in 1947, with a cut of the World Series dough thrown in. Rickey certainly doesn't need the money for emergency purposes.

Stanky did get a large boost in salary this year and Deacon Rickey was never any great hand for keeping expensive ball players around. He prefers the lean and hungry players to the established well-paid stars.

Mister Rickey has an outstanding reputation for being a great baseball trader. This is one time he'll have to prove it. He definitely strengthened the Braves, and the Braves are one of the two teams his Bums have to beat for the National League flag.
