COMING EVENTS

The Eunice Baldwin Chapter D.A.R. will hold its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Lottie Harvey. Members will assemble for luncheon at 1 P. M.

BIRD AND GARDEN CLUB

The Caroline A. Fox Bird and Garden Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Edna Perk with Mrs. Elmer Evans and the Misses Estella Sheed, Susan and Mary Pierce, assisting hostesses. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Kyle, the vice-president Mrs. Perk presided.

A trip to Fitzwilliam to see the Rhododendrons was discussed and Miss Isabel Bowers appointed transportation committee.

Mrs. Evans read a fine paper she had written of her own observations of a few tree nesting birds that she has been watching build their nests on her premises for several years, especially the robin, oriole and humming bird. Her description of their nests was most interesting.

Mrs. Atwood, chairman, and her tree group, Mrs. Ines Stevens, Mrs. Charlotte Harvey, Mrs. Julia Sleeper and Mrs. Blott, told and read much of interest about the Willow and Walnut families.

"Our Native Orchids" was the subject enlightening paper by Miss Mary Hearty, beginning with the early lady's slipper to others coming later on in the summer. She showed a book of beautiful orchid illustrations. A discussion followed.

Refreshments of homemade cookies and coffee were served.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Barnes of Main st., were married 33 years ago on June 3. Their two daughters, Mrs. William Sharby, and Mrs. Raymond Stinson, well aided and abetted by Mrs. Frank Mosley and Mrs. Fred Hill, planned to help them celebrate.

By careful maneuvering on part of the guests, 40 or more had arrived before Mrs. Barnes realized they were having a party, and not quite sure until she heard Mrs. Mildred Porter playing the Wedding March.

Mr. Niles Stevens entertained the company well by showing some of his beautiful pictures, then they "made the welkin ring" by singing old and familiar songs.

Mr. Roger Connor on behalf of the relatives, neighbors and friends present, presented the couple a pair of silver candlesticks, a cut glass vase, and lovely glass candy dish. There was also a delicious anniversary cake made by Mrs. Day.

The instigators brought cakes and coffee and served them to the happy couple and friends.

Some of these long evenings after the sun has disappeared I have had my shade up and watched the landscape in front of me. Sometimes it's fairly swarming with lively youngsters. In the homes of my five nearest neighbors live fourteen of them of school age or under. Four of them are sedate high school students. Baby Sandra Colby, her cousin, David Fullerton, and Fay Baldwin, are not in evidence at that time of day, but the others dart back and forth and up and down the street like a flock of swallows.

Each of the small fry has a bicycle. They work hard peddling up School st., then swoop like night hawks down Walnut st. and around the corner. Sometimes visitors come and the maze of moving objects increases. Carol and one of the boys collided with disastrous results for Carol, but now it's all over she seems rather proud of her black eye. The real tragedy was the recent humane shooting of Cricket, the Woods boys' lively dog, who got the worst of an encounter with a porcupine.

Lambeth Products Co. Destroyed by Fire

ANTRIM, June 10 — Monday morning, June 7, fire of unknown origin, destroyed the factory of Lambeth Products Inc. of which Mr. Robert Leonard was manager. Recently new machinery had been installed and a new line of products was being manufactured. About twenty persons were regularly employed there.

The building was one of the oldest in town, originally built for a chair factory in 1835. It is hoped the company will decide to rebuild. No estimate of the loss has been made at this time.

Mrs. Ross Roberts recently attended the twenty-fifth annual reunion of the Class of 1923, Simmons College of which she was a member.

Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Packard had a short call recently from Mr. Packard's brother, Morton, who is the guest of his son, manager of Toy Town Tavern in Winchendon, Mass.

Two breaks occurred in Antrim early Sunday morning: The First National Store reports nothing lost, but the safe was somewhat battered. Eddie's Place at Clinton was also entered. Not much damage was done.

We are sorry there was a name misspelled last week, our apologies to Mrs. Cleary. It was O. K. when it went in, but was misspelled. Also a week ago Gerald Call came out Mrs. Gerald Call. We have been criticized because of mistakes such as these: One week the name "Black" came out "Block." Typographical errors or just poor hand writing! A friend of mine has a plaque on her walls, it reads: "Yes, there are people who do not make mistakes, (They're dead)." Our apologies nevertheless.

"Fat Boys" Trick Small Town Reps

Tax-Reform Opponents Devise Booby Trap for Voters

by Enoch Shenton

One of the most serious challenges to the intelligence of New Hampshire voters will be on the election ballot next November. That is the post-convention attitude of the handful of men who were the brains behind the Constitutional convention. Their chief fear now is that all their efforts will be destroyed by an uninformed electorate next November. They are specially conscious that the amendments to the constitution recommended by the convention must get a two-thirds approval by the voters.

It is generally conceded the convention did its job well. Its most important and pressing purpose was to reform the state's archaic tax structure. The state is now spending $1,500,000 a year more than its income. A surplus in the state treasury, piled up during the war, will be exhausted some time this year. When it's gone, the state will operate with a gradually swelling deficit. The convention met this situation squarely.

Under the leadership of Judge John R. Spring of Nashua, chairman of the state Tax commission; Judge Elwin L. Page of Concord, formerly of the Supreme Court; and Sherman Adams of Lincoln, ex-congressman and likely GOP choice for governor this year, the convention endorsed three constitutional amendments to broaden the traditionally-narrow New Hampshire tax base. Now pending for the voters' consideration are (1) a gross receipts tax giving the Legislature power to impose a levy not higher than one per cent on individual and corporate incomes; (2) a graduated inheritance tax; and (3) a levy on the energy output of electric power plants.

But on the final day of the session, the delegates spoiled this fine record. In their haste to adjourn, they adopted a resolution which is bound to find violent opposition in every city and large town in the state. That is the Council of Small Towns amendment giving every town in the state the right to elect a representative to every session of the General Court.

It is the considered opinion of the men who watched convention proceedings from the press table that the Council of Small Towns was "used" by the die-hard opponents of tax reform. This opposition (Continued on Page 5)

SCHOOL NEWS

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

GRADE ONE

We are to have a picnic one day next week with grades two and three.

The Bluebirds and Butterflies have read seven pre-primers and twelve primers and first reader this year.

We were glad so many parents came to see our Memorial program at the Community Hall.

GRADE TWO

We have some new library books. Jane Woodrow and Kathleen Blanchette had charge of selecting them.

Mrs. Harrison Baldwin and daughter, Fay, visited us this week. Susan Olson and Russell Day were visitors, too.

John Evans brought the record to school, "Puss in Boots."

Catherine Teixeira is leading in the book report contest. She has read and reported on sixty-seven books.

GRADE FOUR

Mrs. Day came yesterday and we drew a picture of a boy and a girl roller skating.

Mr. Hill has finished his lessons with us for the year.

There are three new pictures on the wall, "The Whistling Boy," "The Escaped Cow," and "The Market Cart."

We are making paper butterflies to decorate our room.

GRADE FIVE

Dellene Devlin, John Olson earned first award in spelling for the year. Walter Sterling earned second award in spelling and Jane Seymour earned third award.

Those getting 100 per cent in spelling for the week ending June 4th are: Walter Sterling, Dellene Devlin, Joyce Wheeler, Eleanor Flanders, Cynthia Cooper, Barbara Mills, Jane Seymour, Carole Fogg, Martha Marchand, Ann Clough, Barry Harlow, Mildred Powell, Ann Sands, Eva Day, and Ann Broadley.

Eva Day brought Sharon Lacey to visit us on Friday.

Jane Seymour, Dellene, Devlin, Ann Broadley and Walter Sterling competed in the bird essay contest sponsored by Pomona Grange.

GRADE SIX

The sixth grade was invited to the High School Assembly on Wednesday. The students told us of all the clubs, activities and advantages that we can look forward to taking part in. We certainly enjoyed it.

This week we are reviewing some of our work that we have had this year.

Tuesday the Grammar School baseball team played the 5th and 6th grades of Antrim. Antrim won the game. We play a return game with them in Antrim this next week.

On Thursday we had a fire drill.

HILLSBORO HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTS MUSICALS

A musical was presented in the Hillsboro High School gym. on Wednesday May 26, under the direction of Mr. Herman Hill and Mr. Kenneth Jewett.

Those participating in the program was the combined orchestra of Hillsboro, Antrim and Dublin High Schools; the Hillsboro High School Glee Club; David Wood, pianist, the Junior Glee Club and soloist, Mrs. Harrison Baldwin.

With the co-operation of everyone participating and a very, receptive audience the concert proved to be a great success.

Commercial apple production in the United States last year exceeded 112 million bushels.

MISS MARIE CAREW GIVEN MUSIC CLUB SCHOLARSHIP

HILLSBORO, June 10—Last Sunday afternoon at the Music Room in the presence of friends and relatives, Miss Marie Carew was awarded the Hillsboro Music Club Scholarship. The judges were unanimous in their opinion that her talent and ability merited the award. She played Sonata No. 3 by Mozart, two-Part Invention No. 1 by Bach and Butterfly by Grieg. Mr. Harry Whittemore of Manchester and Mrs. Walter May and Mr. Herbert Rainie of Concord were the judges.

This scholarship of $150 was sponsored by the members of the Music Club this past year to give assistance to any boy or girl attending Hillsboro Junior High or Senior High School who shows definite musical ability and wishes to further their education in the field. Each year this money will be available to anyone who qualifies. If no one receives the award, the money will be put into a special account and in this way and through contributions, it is hoped that a principle will be built up, the interest of which will pay the scholarship.

This year money was earned in various ways by the following members: Mrs. Stella Martin, Mrs. Edith Phelps, Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin, Miss Madeline Gilmore, Mrs. Belle Webber, Mrs. Grace Perry, Mrs. Dorothy Orser, Mrs. Josephine Fuller and Mrs. Mildred Porter.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank every one who contributed gifts to my sunshine basket and to all those who sent the beautiful birthday cards to me.

Mrs. Frank Garland Has 90th Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Frank Garland observed her 90th birthday at her home on Western Avenue on Sunday. She received many cards, and gifts besides callers during the day. She and Mr. Garland also received several anniversary cards as their 37th wedding anniversary was on Monday.

Mrs. Garland was born in Henniker, the daughter of Nahum and Harriett (Pillsbury) Newton. The buildings were on the land now owned by Herman Murdough and much of the farm is now Forest Dowlin's sugar orchard. Mrs. Garland attended the school at Westboro corner until she was 15 when the family moved to the village. She attended Tilton Female Seminary for one year and later, attended Wellesley College for two years. She taught school for 24 years. Her first school was in the building at the lower end of town owned for many years by Charles Carter and now owned by William Parker, son of Oliver Parker. She taught in four district schools, then for about five years in the Walker School in Concord. She went to Arlington, Mass., in 1886 where she was principal in the high school until 1901 when she came home to care for her folks. She was married to Mr. Garland in 1911.

She is a member of the Congregational Church, the Woman's Club of which she is a past president and the Republican Club. As long as she was able she gave unstintingly of her talent to the Woman's Club and many fine programs were prepared by her. Although she does not go out now, she maintains her

DEBORAH SOCIETY HAS FRESIDE TALKFEST

Around a cozy fireplace at Frances Bennett's camp, eleven members of the Deborah Society held their regular meeting last Monday evening.

After a lunch of toasted frankfurts, sandwiches, assorted pickles, various confections, steaming mugs of coffee and a big cake, the Deborahs discussed ways and means of making money during the summer and early fall. Reports were given and there was general discussion on all vital topics concerning the community of Hillsboro.

In this congenial atmosphere more was accomplished than in the staid and austere club room of the church, the regular meeting place of church societies.

One Step Ahead

When coal ranges sold for $150.00 salesmen carefully explained why costs and prices could not drop.

The Eaton Furniture Company waited patiently and in the fall of 1946 came out with a good $89.00 stove.

We were one of the first stores to present genuine Red Cross spring filled mattresses at $29.75, porcelain and chrome dinette nooks at $39.95 and other prewar grades at prewar prices.

Inflation is another name for scarcity. When prices are too high more production for American use has a way of driving them down.

We believe electric ranges are becoming plentiful and that prices are ready to return to earth. At no increase in regular prices, we now include all electrical installing cost in the average home (not more than $35.00).

Although we can't get enough Maytag washers, we have always been willing to make a fair allowance for used washers in trade.

Electric refrigerators are still scarce but we willingly take in trade used refrigerators or even ice boxes with fair allowance.

All furniture prices are strictly competitive at Eaton's. It is our policy not to be undersold. Yet we allow the maximum for your used furniture in trade.

You will always find a desirable choice at Eaton's because we move a lot of furniture and appliances and keep stock up to date with fresh shipments arriving every day.

We furnish homes.

to the tax program, led by Delegate Robert B. Hamblett of Nashua, knew the bulk of next November's votes would be cast in the big towns and cities. The Council of Small Towns amendment would strip these population centers of 54 seats in the Legislature, and is bound to get a strong "No" vote in the referendum. So Hamblett's group threw its weight behind the small towns resolution as a shrewd maneuver to defeat the entire tax program, on the principle that voters would vote "No" on everything, if their feelings were aroused. These are the four men who, as opponents of tax reform, were working openly and "sub rosa" to help pass the Small Towns amendment through the convention: Hamblett of Nashua, George Pike of Lisbon, Fred A. Jones of Lebanon and Joseph H. Geisel of Manchester. They took a 255-to-41 licking when the convention passed the tax amendment, so they adopted this indirect way of making sure the people would kill the tax proposals.

Would Keep Rates Low
Judge Spring, Congressman Adams and Judge Page, in pressing for adoption of the income tax amendment to the constitution, hammered again and again on the principle that the tax rate would be limited to one per cent. It was their clear intent that reasonable exemptions would be granted by the Legislature. Specifically cited during debate was a flat $1,000 exemption for every wage earner.

Unless this tax amendment is adopted, the 1949 Legislature must do one of two things: adopt a general sales tax with rates as high as three per cent; or put a tax without exemptions, of approximately four per cent on personal income. That last figure is derived from the state's average property tax rate, which probably would have to be the established rate for any other form of taxation under the constitution as it now stands.

Delegate Hamblett had his own reasons for opposing this tax program; the graduated inheritance tax would hit him directly. He is believed to favor a general sales tax. Hamblett sprang to prominence as the lobbyist who spent thousands of dollars in the 1947 Legislature to secure passage of the anti-labor Willey Act. Geisel, a Manchester banker, was prominent in the 1947 Legislature as sponsor of a state lottery as a fund-raising method. He made the famous gesture of presenting a personal check for $100,000 to get the lottery started.

How Pike and Jones would react to a lottery or sales tax was not known at the press table. But both hailed the passage of the small towns amendment, and gleefully anticipated its appearance alongside the tax amendments on the ballot next November. When Hamblett, Geisel and Co. won their fight to pass the small towns amendment, Frank O'Neill of the Manchester Union made this comment: "Now it will be a miracle if any of the amendments get by the voters next fall." The press table agreed unanimously.

106 Towns Benefit
The small towns amendment would give full time representation in the Legislature to 106 communities that now are not entitled to a representative at every session. These 106 towns now take turns, in proportion to their size, in filling 52 seats in the 400-seat General Court. To give every one of them a seat every session would take 54 seats away from the cities and big towns.

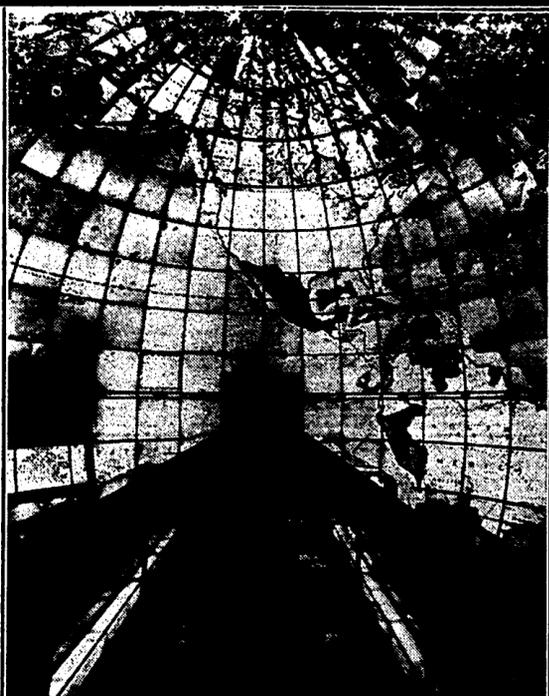

It means the 225 population of Clarksville would have the same representation as 1,908 people in Berlin. Errol's 235 people would get as much representation as 1,547 people in Lancaster. In Middleton 236 people would be given as much legislative power as 1,710 have in Rochester. The 351 people in Webster would get the same representation as 1,687 Franklin people. Temple's population of 258 would have as much representation as 1,235 people in Peterboro or 1,310 people in Milford. Bridgewater's 226 people would have legislative power equal to that of 1,524 people in Littleton. The 142 residents of Brookfield would be entitled to the same representation as 1,217 people get in Conway.

Delegate Norman Alexander of Durham, dean of the department of government at the University of New Hampshire, has made a study showing that the cities and big towns of New Hampshire are the victims of under-representation in the Legislature, even now.

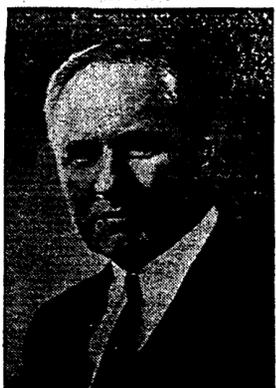

Dean Alexander enjoyed his first excursion into politics. He found a "very strong negative" attitude in the convention, but learned from his more experienced associates that such an attitude is always found in the Legislature, too. His conclusion: "You can't improve the General Court by changing the constitution. The change must be at the base of the structure of government."

That Man Stassen
The Republican Old Guard's stop-Stassen move has flopped badly wherever the voters have been given a voice in the matter. That means in 14 states that have Presidential primaries, not the 34 others where convention delegates are hand-picked by the party executive committee. Despite his showing at the polls, however, it will be a miracle if Harold E. Stassen gets the Republican nomination for President at Philadelphia next month.

Two of the eight New Hampshire delegates at the GOP convention will be fighting for the big Minnesota. They are ex-Congressman Foster Stearns of Hancock and Principal William G. Saltonstall of The Christian Science Publishing Society Mapparium, Boston.

HARRY C. BROWNE Incoming President of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Phillips Exeter academy. Two other Granite State political leaders will be on the Philadelphia scene to help boost the Stassen campaign—Atty. Frank J. Sulloway and Donald G. Matson of Concord. Both were defeated for conventional seats, but Sulloway will have the privilege of the floor in his capacity as GOP national committeeman in this state.

The trouble with Stassen is, he has the reputation of being a liberal. His aggressiveness has made him persona non grata to Senator Taft, Tom Dewey and Gov. Ed Martin of Pennsylvania. But the people seem to like him. The real bosses of the Republican party want the convention to nominate the most reactionary candidate they think they can get away with at the polls next November. Their natural choice would be Ohio's Taft, an ultra-conservative whose political philosophy is farthest to the right of any of the GOP aspirants, and who is considered safe and dependable from a party-line point of view. He puts the party first, follows its best interests through thick and thin.

Stassen, at the other wing of the party, is a typical product of Midwestern progressivism. He's young, charming, a good administrator and a political opportunist—the kind of a guy old George Higgins Moses once called "Sons of the wild jackass." Despite his ability to capture the popular fancy, Stassen is considered too independent to be safe, in the party sense. But the nation still wants to hear his answer to Senator Taft's plaintive challenge; "Show me where you are any less conservative than I am accused of being."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Mass., June 7.—Declaring that democratic government is the instrument through which an irresistible, spiritual force is being channeled into the affairs of men, The Christian Science Board of Directors today urged Christian Scientists, in annual meeting, here, to work strongly and actively for the defense of free governments throughout the world.

Rightly conceived, the Directors told the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, democratic government is something more than an aggregation of legislative acts and legalized rules of conduct.

"It is the orderly unfolding of the moral character and spiritual integrity of its citizens," the spokesmen for the worldwide Christian Science movement affirmed. As such, they said, free government rightly merits active defense of its sacred purpose, in addition to the pious declarations of allegiance to its outer form.

The Directors' statement highlighted a series of papers and reports made to the Annual Meeting. Set against the background of the great Mother Church dome and the Church park resplendent with mid-Spring blooms, the reports stressed the renaissance of religious activities throughout the postwar world, and reemphasized the privileges of free assembly and freedom of worship as the human symbols of "spiritual freedom."

The incoming President, Harry C. Browne, whose only official duty is to preside at the Annual Meeting, declared that the success of any organization, institution or government depends upon the spiritual efficacy of the governing or controlling instrument.

"With the problem of world peace confronting us," he said, "these same divine qualities applied in individual thought and action will be found as potent and as powerful as they were in Jesus' time."

For good or for bad the Hillsboro Art Club has been hard at work all week-matting-framing and selecting pictures for their exhibition to be held at the Municipal Hall, the afternoon of Sunday, June the 13th.

COME and bring your friends and vote for the pictures you like best—COME anytime between 3 and 6 P. M.

The favorite pictures according to the popular vote and the ones selected by the jury will be shown in local store windows for two weeks after the show.

A letter today from Mrs. Roy Kierman, Rockport, Mass., informs us that she will be glad to serve on our jury (if we can arrange for the weatherman to give us sunshine that day) along with Omer Lassonde and Francis Rigney, Sr., and that Reynolds Beal, "Rockport's Grand Old Man" of Art (He is A.N.A., Salamagundi-Century Club-National Arts Club, and Lotus Club) has consented to judge also.

Mrs. Mildred Porter, Mrs. Warren Grimes, and Mrs. W. C. Storey will serve at the punch table.

Plan your Sunday, the 13th, so as to have a few minutes' fun between 3 and 6 P. M. at the Municipal Hall to cast your vote and to enjoy punch and cookies. Make the 13th a lucky day for the Hillsboro Art Club and help make this exhibition a COMMUNITY ACTIVITY of which the townsfolk of Hillsboro can be justly proud. The show is free to all of you.

What's new in tomatoes? Several things. Hybrid tomatoes are now being sold by several of our big seed firms. The question has been asked: "Are these the varieties adapted to New Hampshire?"

Here's the answer. There are two types of hybrids. One type is the single cross which comes from hand pollinating two inbred strains. This is the type which is sold by most of our seedsmen. In a second type, the seed from single crosses has been tried out and in some cases seem to have retained the vigor of the hybrid parent. However, this second type will have to be tried out further before recommendations can be made.

Meanwhile, should these new hybrids be planted? I think only for testing. If the hybrid does well for you perhaps you are justified in planting more next year. Since no early hybrids have been developed, these hybrids will have to be used for main crop tomatoes.

Among newer varieties perfected at the N. H. Agricultural Experiment Station, the High "C" is most important. This variety is a rather strong-growing determinate which bears a large crop of fruit. The fruit is smaller in size than the New Hampshire Victor, and perhaps a trifle earlier, but not as early as the Chatham. This variety should make an excellent home variety for canning and juice.

Another New Hampshire introduction is the Tiny Tim, which is a nice little tomato, early in maturing with lots of small fruits. The earliest is perhaps the window Box which makes a plant from 6 to 12 inches high and matures a dozen or so tomatoes in July. You can plant your Marglobes or John Bears five feet apart and put a Window Box in between. The fruit of the Window Box ripens and will be gone before the others need the space.

The Early Chatham is a two three ounce tomato which ripens ahead of most of the commercial varieties and when handled properly produces a big crop of fruit. The New Hampshire Victor is better suited to New England conditions than the ordinary Victor.

Then there is the Orange King and the Orange Chatham. The first is really a golden New Hampshire Victor and the second one a Chatham. These orange tomatoes are higher in quality and sweeter, with apparently less acid than the red tomatoes, but will probably never be popular commercially on account of their color.

When you grow determinate varieties of tomatoes, start the seed no earlier than April 20, and set out a plant which is young and growing, with no flowers or fruit clusters on it. The plant must not be hardened excessively. Be sure to plant in a rich, warm soil and fertilize these varieties more heavily than you would ordinary kinds, using both nitrogen and super phosphate.

Unusual Rug Design

Do you like the unusual in hand-work? This scatter rug, fashioned from an Oriental rug design, is worked entirely in 'crochet'. The background is made of white rug yarn, then ornamented with colorful crocheted flowers and leaves. A useful and beautiful accessory for any room. A direction leaflet for crocheting this WHITE NUMDAH RUG may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of the paper, requesting Leaflet No. 510.

The Question and Answer
By Lena Lull Rumrill

What is your favorite flower? A small child asked one day When I was weeding in the garden And she was there to play. My favorite flower? Why bless Your soul, I have'n't one, you see, Every living flower that grows Seems beautiful to me.

I love the April crocus, The modest violet blue, The pretty little pansy face That always smiles at you The brave and gaudy tulip So early in the spring The hyacinth, whose dainty flower Joy to our heart's do bring.

I love the stately hollyhock, The larkspur, and the rose The lily of the valley, Beside my door it grows; From the daffodill's of April To the golden rod of fall-- I really have no favorite God made, and loved them all.

HENNIKER HIGH DRUBBED BY HILLSBORO TEAM 16-1

HILLSBORO, June 3—Henniker High's baseball team visited Grimes Field last Thursday, June 3, but they should've "stood in bed."

Hillsboro's aggregation of sluggers clouted the pill to all corners of the field. Leading the assault was Carroll Pierce who flammed out a home run with Ed McClintock aboard. Every regular got at least one hit while Dave Smith blasted two singles to drive in two runs. Hillsboro committed four errors but Henniker forged ahead in this department with seven.

Raoul Sullivan was the winner on a nice four-hit pitching job while Hillsboro blasted starter Parmenter and relief hurler Davis for 10 hits and 16 runs.

Hillsboro Comes Thru With First Win
