PRE-WEDDING SHOWER

There are showers and showers. A very happy surprise kind fell on or ascended to Weetucket Farm, Bible Hill, last Wednesday night when Mrs. Albert Milward and Mrs. Kerwin Ellsworth entertained in honor of Miss Vurlyne Ellsworth who will be married to Bobbie M. Boan of Phoenix, Arizona, in August.

Vurlyne, who was lured to the Milward home by Mrs. Ellsworth who needed help in imaginary car trouble from Vurlyne's father, so she went too. Seeing people assembled on the lawn she was about to withdraw when told the party was all hers.

A buffet lunch was served in the house and Vurlyne led the guests to it in a clever way. A toy aero plane hung in a tree to which streamers were attached. They led to four stops on a trip well known to Vurlyne. At Boston, Chicago and Kansas City she found little envelopes containing $1, $2, $3, respectively. At Tempe, the last stop, she found a goodly sum of money, all in silver dollars, arranged like a flower in a silent butler. Molden ham salad, rolls, potato chips, cake, punch, and coffee were served. Mr. Milward sang several songs accompanied by Mrs. Nettie Yeaton.

Among the 40 neighbors and friends present were three of Vurlyne's Concord friends, Mrs. Kenneth Davis, Mrs. Mildred Davis, and Miss Elizabeth Libby.

Mr. Boan is an instructor at the University of Arizona at Tempe. At the close of the summer term he will come for Vurlyne and after their marriage will return for the new school year.

Perhaps the weather doled out to us over the week-end is not the best kind for corn, but it certainly was good for "rheumatiz" and Miss Marilyn Nancy Clement, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Clement became the bride Sunday of Ralph I. MacCausland, the son of Mrs. Lloyd Snow of Nashua and Ralph I. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin princess style gown with long train and inserts of lace, a finger tip veil with a hand braided satin coronet interwoven with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. George D. Goodrich, sister of the bride. She wore an orchid brocade taffeta, off the shoulder dress, with bouffant skirt and fitted bodice, an orchid picture hat and carried an old fashioned bouquet. Miss Patricia Goodrich, three-year old niece of the bride was flower girl. She wore a yellow, dotted swiss, colonial dress, and yellow net picture hat and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Take $2,000 in Liquor Store Theft Sunday

HILLSBORO, July 29 — The hands of the underworld reached into Hillsboro early Sunday morning when thieves made off with the liquor store safe, containing approximately $2000 in small bills.

The daring robbery shortly after 2 A. M. Sunday was preceded by a theft of a hand push truck from the E. C. and W. L. Hopkins grain company. This was the third major robbery in Hillsboro during the past year.

According to Chief Arthur Jackson, the thieves broke into the Hopkins Feed store shortly before they broke into the liquor store and stole a small two-wheel truck which they apparently used to remove the safe from the liquor store. They gained entrance to the grain store by way of a side window, according to Kenneth Crane, manager.

Breaking down a bulkhead, which was also used as a side entrance to the liquor store, the thieves proceeded to take the safe out through another door on the small truck. They made their getaway in an automobile.

The time of the break was fixed at shortly after 2 a. m., because of a disturbance which awoke Mrs. Peter Trotter, who lives almost directly across Henniker street from the liquor store.

Mrs. Trotter told police she was awakened about 2 by a crash in the neighborhood, but on looking out the window she could see nothing but a car parked across the street and went back to bed, rather than call anyone.

Bernard Webber, manager of the liquor store, discovered the break at about noon Sunday when he went to the store to catch up on some work. He immediately noticed the safe missing and bulkhead broken in. He reported that the safe contained $1,975.00. He said apparently no liquor was taken.

Police had practically no concrete clues to work on as there were no fingerprints left on the premises of either store and no one had seen the car in which they drove from the scene, but they felt fairly sure that the thieves were not Hillsboro residents.

It was also felt that the criminals were very well prepared to commit the crime since the timing which they used was nearly perfect and they were apparently exceptionally well versed in the layout of the two stores.

Assisting Chief Jackson in investigating the break are Sheriff Thomas O'Brien of Manchester and State Police.

A theft of a new Plymouth automobile owned by Peter Metropolis, of Henniker on Saturday around midnight is thought to have been related to the same burglary.

Tracks found by Hillsboro police outside of the liquor store were possibly those of the new car, police said. This was the only concrete clue which police had to work on in the investigation of the break, since no fingerprints were left behind.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Cast of Twenty-Five In Current Peterboro Play

PETERBOROUGH, July 29—Twenty-five people are appearing in "The Skin of Our Teeth", the current Peterborough Players production which is scheduled to run through Saturday night of this week and from Wednesday through Saturday nights of next week. A total of twelve different states are represented in the cast as well as three foreign countries. Solvie Wieberg hails from Norway, James Woodbury from London, England, and Peter Brandon is from Berlin,

Germany. "The Skin of Our Teeth", too, is an international play, because it is the story of MAN, or more specifically, the story of Mr. and Mrs. George Antrabus, their two children, and the maid, Sabina. The cast is on of the largest ever assembled on the Peterborough Players' stage since the 1940 production of Thornton Wilder's classic, "Our Town."

"FROSTY FOODNOTES"

Back again to green fields and real hills. We had a truly glorious trip, but good old New England still can't be beat! And incidentally, you should know by now that frozen foods can't be beat either. We found Locker plants in almost every town out west, and the owners of lockers are as enthusiastic as we are. They use them constantly, and couldn't get along without them. If you can't understand this, better start enjoying your locker NOW.

More gifts for the Art Club—several sable brushes and a set of watercolors with box and palette were given to us by Mr. H. T. Cobb of Belmont, Mass. With so much cooperation our equipment is really growing to the point where anyone dropping in for an evening's work can be sure of material with which to work, an easel, paper, charcoal, and paints. We still need camp stools or folding chairs and a supply chest to keep our stock of paper clean.

Edward Comiskey of Dover, Mass., writes that in spite of the pressure of his studies at Boston College this summer he is trying to get paintings ready for our fall show, as well as the Keene Show which starts August 12 and to which our Club as a unit has been invited to enter paintings without benefit of jury, due to the high calibre of our First Spring Art Exhibition held last June.

A recent letter from our auburn haired Joyce Guild tells us the sad news that due to her husband being transferred to another town, it will be at least three months before her return to the fold.

Stuart Bruce has just finished restoring a very old painting belonging to Mrs. Frank Wheeler of Antrim, and is now at work cleaning up a small oil painting of her son done some years ago at Monhegan. Paintings to which there is a great deal of family sentiment attached should be kept in good condition by being cleaned and revarnished to keep them from cracking.

According to the last issue of Time Magazine, there were 64 paintings that United States Museums had bought in the last two years put on display at the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center last week. The pictures, apparently, are food for thought and argument, but not pictures one would want to live with, but after all, just as we have to have both great literary works and everyday fiction, we must have both types of paintings.

Rita Wilton with her marvelously tanned skin was our model for last Wednesday evening, and with her, visiting the Studio for the first time, was Mrs. Thor Olson. The State House Journal

by Frank Stanton

The filing period for the biennial primaries will close Friday night, and the last-minute rush of candidates is expected to keep Secretary of State Enoch D. Fuller's staff busy until late in the night. Barring surprise candidacies between now and the deadline, the four top spots on the Republican primary ballot offer only one likely contest of serious dimensions.

Sen. Styles Bridges is expected to have no difficulty winning renomination over the opposition of Rep. John McIntire, wealthy Portsmouth legislator. Sherman Adams of Lincoln appears to have no serious opposition for the governorship, and U. S. Rep. Norris Cotton of Lebanon is picked by observers to win renomination to Congress handily over any field of candidates that may combine against him. He will be opposed by Atty. Joseph Moore of Canaan, however, and others probably will file before the deadline.

The existence of a serious contest at the top of the GOP ticket hinges on the decision of Senate President Charles H. Barnard of Manchester. Barnard has been considering his political advancement in terms of a seat in Congress, and so far has not denied he will run against U. S. Rep. Chester E. Merrow of Ossipee for the Republican nomination. This would be a contest to strain Merrow's recognized vote-getting abilities.

Although Barnard comes from Manchester, which is generally considered a Democratic stronghold, observers remember it took Merrow four hard years of campaigning before he finally ousted Congressman Arthur B. Jenks, who also comes from Manchester. Coming as he does from well-organized, Republican Carroll county, Merrow can face any opponent with a comfortable backlog of votes that can practically be counted before the primary. A candidate of recognized standing in the party, and coming from Manchester, would be a tough nut for him to crack, however.

Too many politicians have dug a grave for their careers by overlooking the vote potential of Manchester. Merrow is too smart a politician to be caught this way, and in the event of a Barnard filing, certainly would carry his campaign right into Hillsboro county. Although she is run almost exclusively by the Democrats, the Queen City normally cast about 4,750 ballots in the biennial Republican primary. That is more than any other city in the state casts, and actually exceeds by nearly 1,500 the number of votes cast in the 1946 Republican primary in Merrow's entire Carroll county stronghold. So it cannot be ignored.

Meanwhile, there were signs of activity from the Democratic bullpen. Prof. Herbert W. Hill of Hanover, party chairman, loomed this week as probably standard-bearer in the gubernatorial race. A few other hand-picked party leaders will run for senator and the two congressional seats.

The Democratic high command already has hinted at the direction its campaign will take in New Hampshire this fall. The entire emphasis will be on alleged misconduct in high places on the granting of state construction contracts. The Democrats will pound the GOP administration for its dealings with Standard Construction company of Manchester, and probably will make liberal use of the disclosures made by Atty. Gen. Ernest R. D'Amours, himself a Republican office-holder, on the investigation of these contracts.

Dale May Save The Day

Gov. Charles M. Dale may yet save the GOP candidates from this undue embarrassment, although he is not running for any office in this 1948 primary. To clear his own administration of any shadow of personal guilt, and to prevent a smear campaign against other high ranking Republicans during the months between now and election day, the Governor is expected to force a complete disclosure of every fact and every personality behind the Standard Co. deals.

Dale's legal background has kept the investigation within reasonable bounds so far, and every step of the way has been taken "by due process of law." The Democrats already claim he is "delaying" the Standard Co. probe, and even some Republicans are getting restive over the slow progress of the case. But the evidence is being piled up in an orderly manner, and wise heads in the GOP inner circle expect a fully detailed accounting of the "Story Case" before the election.

As a practical politician, Dale is not going to leave any blot on his record that would bar him from possible candidacy for high public office, should he decide to run again in 1950.

N. H. Resort Business

Although there are indications of a slump in resort income this summer, the state Forestry and Recreation commission could point to an increase in its revenue from the parks and play areas it operates. Eighteen state parks defray part of their expenses by charging service fees for picnicking, swimming and camping. Through July 4, their total income was only $15,000, a drop of $5,500 from the amount taken in last year up to the same date.

But by July 18, after two weeks of summer weather unblemished by rain or cold, state parks had taken in $36,000. Income was already $3,000 ahead of last year, and rising fast. In this respect, the state areas had the advantage of the private commercial recreation industry. Although the resort business picture was spotty—good in places, below expectation in others—the general trend appeared downward.

State Publicity Director Andrew M. Heath blames the high cost of living; people are spending so much to buy the necessities of life, they haven't enough left over for an expensive vacation. He admits there is some reduction in summer trade, hopes it will not become serious. Public preference for overnight cabins he reports is stronger than ever. It's the inns, tourist homes and big hotels that are hardest hit.

Pension List Grows

In the fiscal year ending June 30, the state Employees Retirement System paid $92,954 in pensions to retired civil servants. Since the first pension was granted Jan. 1, 1946, the system has paid $155,750 to 163 men and women on the retirement list. Director Robert Jewell reports 14 pensioners have died, two have accepted lump-sum settlements and one has gone back to work. When the books were closed at the end of the fiscal year, the retirement fund totalled $2,150,000. To keep the fund liquid, 3,978 state, county, city and town employees were paying regular contributions into the system. The amount levied against workers varied according to their age, from 3.76 percent of their wages at 17 years of age, to 7.24 percent of their income at 64 years of age. Their contributions now amount to more than $1,050,000. This money actually belongs to the individual civil employees, can be withdrawn from the fund if they quit their jobs and leave the retirement system.

Matching the contributions of workers, the governmental agencies that employ them pay the Retirement System a flat-rate 6.15 percent of their total payroll. This gives pension privileges to 3,202 state employees, 390 people who work for the eight cities that have joined the system, 179 employees of nine counties, 98 employees of 50 school districts, 82 employees of 11 towns, and 27 employees of five village districts and precincts.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I would greatly appreciate a word from you in your editorial column, regarding the carelessness of boys target shooting, we believe, from across the river. The bullets are coming in the general direction of our land and today, from 3:30 to 4:45, seemed to be close enough to warrant my calling the police.

It is difficult to keep the children indoors during this target practicing and I would prefer the boys coming to the house and asking permission to shoot on our property for at least they'd be aiming away from the house and yard. I do not believe the boys mean any harm and probably do not realize that they have been endangering the children, so perhaps a timely warning would avert an accident.

Thank you for your consideration.

Man Minus Hands Still Swings Scythe

HILLSBORO, July 29—Everett Abbott, who lives near Hedgehog mountain, lost both his hands in a sawmill accident many years ago yet he works hard every day and never complains.

By using leather straps which extend like a harness across his back and down his arms to below the elbows, he is able to swing an axe, use a saw, drive a truck or car and do most anything a man with both hands can do, with the exception of tying his own shoe laces.

The 48-year-old woodsman has a special leather holder for his knife, fork and spoon and can feed himself without difficulty. The axe which he uses to cut wood has special leather holders and he can strike a true powerful blow. He operates a truck with leather fastenings and metal hooks.

Mr. Abbott can shovel, too, by using special leather straps to hold the handle. In fact he works on the highway and does any work the other men can do in his crew.

Swing a scythe? Certainly, and here again leather attachments are brought into play to take the place of hands. It takes a good farmer with two strong hands to keep up with him in the hay field.

He shaves himself by inserting the shaving brush in a special leather holder, then picking up the straight razor and fitting it into a leather groove. He does not consider himself crippled, for during the past 25 years he has learned to use his artificial leather gadgets and learn how to use them to the best advantage.

BEARD BROOK BATHHOUSE II

At this writing it appears that nothing much will be done in regard to the Beard Brook bathhouse establishment this year.

As for the town collection of garbage and trash that Mr. Scruton described so humorously in his column, that too may come to pass—maybe!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY

After reading Henry Wallace's clever speech to the Progressive Party, we are moved to comment that Mr. Wallace's remarks were one sided on the question of Berlin and U. S. militarism. In the same paper a prominent news story told of the huge Russian air fleet and its demonstration of power over the Kremlin.

If this country and its people are saddled with huge military expenditures, so too are the Russians. At least Wallace could have used a phrase of Roosevelt "A plague on both of your houses." Chances are his reception would have been different.

As for this movement and Wallace being the heir to Roosevelt's New Deal, we have yet to see any good the "New Deal" ever did. What was needed then and now is a new deck not a new deal. Roosevelt, "the indispensable man" lied us into war; sanctimoniously, under section 7 NRA, gave the workers the right to organize a right which they've always had. The world and its people are still suffering from the unfortunate decisions (?) of Stalin, Churchill, Roosevelt, and Truman made at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam. In all these deals the American public had been kept in the dark. Roosevelt did not trust the judgement of the American people.

Unable to elect anybody under their own banner, the American Communists are out to prove that they can still muddy the waters of American politics by supporting Wallace. They will probably succeed in defeating Truman and in electing more Republican isolationists to Congress.

FOR THE RECORD

To set the record straight, last week's editorial on the Beard Brook bathhouse was written by the editor of this paper instead of the gentleman whose name appeared on the slug at the bottom. The last line of the editorial read "W. S. K. Yeaple" and was set on the linotype to identify a news story on the front page. How it found itself on the editorial page will remain forever a secret of the gremlins in the composing room.

We're building ONE EVERY 45 SECONDS but that's not fast enough for America!

KAISER

FRAZER

Service wherever you go

In just two years we've built and sold more fine cars than any other new manufacturer in automobile history.

Why? Because America fell in love with the KAISER and the FRAZER on sight. Folks are streaming into Kaiser-Frazer showrooms and learning from present owners how dependable these two great cars are. They're learning — from people who drive them — how soundly they are built... how economical they are... how much enjoyment there is in owning one.

THESE ARE THE MOST-COPIED CARS IN AMERICA, road-proved by 250,000 owners in two billion miles of driving.

Because plenty of Americans insist on comfort, convenience, style and value, traditional leaders had to "move over" — as Kaiser-Frazer became the fourth largest manufacturer of motor cars in the world in two short years.

Why wait? Enjoy your new car this summer. You'll get fair treatment and highest trade-in allowance.

This will answer a few letters last week. Speaking of dog shows, there is always a dog show at the Richard Collins Farm in the home town. It's Collies and the real thing. The Collies are taking the Blues all over the country. Last week at Keene and this week at Fitchburg, Mass. A visit to this farm will give you an eye full. Richard O. I had a bunch come in but they went out just as fast. I believe in giving credit where it belongs. Last week I got wonderful cooperation from Chief Boisse of Greenville, Humane Agt. Gorr of Nashua, Chief Picard of Peterboro, Judge McCuddy of Greenville, Leon Russell of Greenville, Don Daniels of Milford, State Patrolman Smith of South Lyndeboro. It's nice to have friends like these. The other night being my day off I attended a meeting of the Officers Reserve Corps at the beautiful home of Walter Packard on Windy Row at Peterboro. It was a wienie roast and Jackard was the chef. At the big outdoor fire place he put on a feed just as good as any hotel I ever sat down at. Nice bunch of fellows and the Mrs. and I had a most enjoyable evening. Nice long letter from Major Barnaby of the Miscatanapus Fish and Game Club of Brookline. This year he has over 800 nice birds and in fine plumage. Then the Devine mink farm in Milford where he has over 1200 mink this year. A fine bunch of fur bearers. He has been in all colors and one litter of seven, many of 4 and 5. Ever visit the high diving place in Milford. Well, you have missed something. Better run over and see the place. Big improvements over last year.	Sorry to miss the meetings at Peterboro, Greenfield and New Ipswich last week. Too much other business those nights. Too many Fish and Game meetings the same week. Here is a fellow who wants to know why the birds do not build nests in his yards like other people's. Well I found out why. He keeps about a dozen snakes under his house. No wonder the birds don't like his neighborhood. He says the snakes do him a lot of good and I guess he has something there as he always has a swell garden. But give me the birds. If the deer bother you try this. Take a pole and stick into the ground down two feet from pole so it will swing in the wind. This has been tried by Arthur Hayes of Greenfield and Miss Abbie Kendall of Temple with success. This year the crows are worse than the robins in the cherry trees. We have our ear to the ground. Ever hunt wild dogs? Well last week we attended a hunt at the home of Dr. Thompson of East mountain, Peterboro. Dr. Thompson headed the hunt, Humane Agt. Dorr of Nashua, Charles Price and myself. It seems that some mill operator left a female dog when he moved his mill. This dog had five puppies in the Blowdown near the home of the Doctor. Well, the hunt started out and in a few minutes the Doctor spotted a small male pup which Price caught but not before he got a nice bite on the hand. This was a cute little fellow about 4 1/2 weeks old. When he was introduced to a warm dish of milk he forgot all about being wild and was as nice as any house born puppy. The state police were contacted and told the owner of the dog to come and get his family. The Doctor has been feeding the old dog for a week but could not get near her. Thus ended the wild dog hunt. Arthur Hazen, licensed guide of Mont Vernon, and Dr. Glennan of the same town, went bass fishing	at Otter Lake, Greenfield, the other day and got two nice ones, 3 lbs., 18 1/2 inches long, the other one 1 lb. 14 ozs. The bass fishing the past week in this neck of the woods has been the best ever. Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Thompson were motoring in the north country last week and were driving behind a N. Y. car when the car ahead suddenly stopped short. The Dr. got out to see what was the matter and a few rods ahead of the N. Y. car was a 450 lb. bear crossing the road. The Doctor has in the past shot many a bear so he knows his bear. The N. Y. people got the thrill of their lives. Had to go to a nearby town the other day and take a male raccoon out of a steel trap that had been set for a woodchuck. This is getting to be quite a habit as skunk have a habit of getting into these traps. This is my way of doing it. Take an old blanket and very carefully place over the animal. Then drag the trap and animal to edge of the blanket. Take the trap off very carefully and then take off the blanket. He won't scent as he can't get his tail into the proper position to shoot. Yes, you must have a permit for the Director to keep any wild animal or bird. Ray Cluette of Milford, the turtle man, is still at it and last week got about a dozen of the snappers. These turtles are very destructive to fish and ducks. Some of the smaller ones are harmless and do some good. But the big snappers. Take 'em out and eat 'em.

The gardens in town must be well worth seeing, judging by samples from Mrs. Whittle's of regal lillies; roses from Isabel Bowers, very special Iris from Mrs. Grimes, double nasturtiums from Jimmie McClintock, pillar roses from Mrs. Parker on the old Sturtevant farm, and flowers from the Woods' garden. Frank's and our neighbor's vegetable gardens are beautiful too.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shedd, Miss Emma Steele and Miss Lois Rickey of Stoneham, Mass., called on relatives and friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Saltmarsh of New Boston had a double dose of Hillsboro callers on Sunday. Misses Brown, Lightfoot, Marcy, and Mrs. Ethel Peaslee on them, then Frank and Arthur Whitney drifted down there. Have you ever tasted the apple syrup the Saltmarshes make? It is very good.

Miss Hilda Chilson and her friend, Miss Jenks of Milford, Mass., called on Hillsboro friends the last of the week. Miss Chilson taught in H. H. S. 25 years ago and has been teaching in Passaic, N. J., ever since.

Old School Houses Used For Homes

HILLSBORO, July 29—The little white schoolhouse where grandpappy learned the three R's to the tune of the hickory stick is now a Summer home for city folks on Bible Hill.

The building was moved some three miles to its present site by Robert Kendall, a native son, who sold it to Shem Barnes of Boston. A piazza was added, much work was done to both the interior and exterior, and today the home is attractive and modern in every detail.

Hillsboro had nine of these little schoolhouses back in 1920, all used by pupils who lived in the rural areas, but today only three remain, the oldest of which is at the Center, one is located on the Flat and still another at the Upper Village.

STATION UTILIZED
The old railroad station that stood for years in West Deering was moved across the tracks and is used as a year-round home by Mr. and Mrs. Gover Clark and family.

It contains five rooms and makes a comfortable dwelling.

Another of the district schoolhouses was sold recently and is being moved from North Deering to East Deering this Summer to make a home for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rich. The Bear Hill schoolhouse will probably be sold soon at auction.

Folks living in town who desire new homes cannot go wrong when they pay under $500 for these schoolhouses for they are of sturdy construction and in good repair.

"Here's the Pitch"

By "Bump" Hadley

WBZ-WBZA Sportscaster and Former Major League Pitcher

A YEAR AGO when the New York Yankees were riding to the American League pennant, a chubby young man from Naugatuck, Conn., by the name of Frank "Spec" Shea was the toast of New York. He was THE pitcher on the Yankee staff. The rest of the Yanks pitching was just so-so; but it didn't make too much difference, because any time that a pitcher could go seven innings, Lefty Joe Page could amble out of the bull pen and save the ball game.

But this year, Shea has pitched only three complete games. He's been knocked out of the box almost every time he started. When the Yankees call on Joe Page to put out the fire, the opposition knocks Page's ears off.

What makes a player great one year and mediocre the next? The fellow who knows the answer to that one, or can predict the bad years reasonably well, could make a fortune in baseball.

Take the Boston Braves. In 1947, Bob Elliott, the third baseman, was "Mister Team." He was belting all types of pitching and he covered the whole right side of the infield. This year Elliott is having trouble batting .275, and, as so often is the case, his fielding suffers with his hitting.

Rapid Robert Feller has been the most feared pitcher in the American League for a number of years. But not this year. Rapid Robert is just another thrower.

The ace of the Cleveland staff is a Lemon—Bob Lemon that is. A fellow who almost was waived out of the league because he couldn't field well enough as an infielder, and couldn't hit well enough to be an outfielder.

Last year Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was hitting for 200 up to the time of the All-Star game. This year, at All-Star time, he's hitting at a .400 clip. How can you figure baseball?
