NEW YEAR'S PARTIES

There were probably many New Year's parties but I heard of only two of them. Dr. and Mrs. Harrison Baldwin entertained a small party including Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin. They played games in their basement game room until the approach of the New Year. Refreshments were served in 1949.

Another small party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baker, whose guests were Dr. and Mrs. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. John Tasker, and Mr. and Mrs. George Vaillancourt. They also played special games and served refreshments after midnight.

PARLORS OF YESTERYEAR

Can you remember the parlor in your house sixty or more years ago? In our house it was the pleasantest room we had, but was seldom used except in warm weather, then the outside blinds were kept closed to keep out flies and to keep the room cool, for that was before we had screens for doors and windows. I don't remember much about the furniture, there were six, small, cane seated chairs and a drop leaf table with a red felt cover, there were several things on the table but I only remember the "stereoscope" and a number of views. I wasn't interested in them except one of the old town house and church at the Center. The pictures on the wall were of interest because I heard them told about so often. They were my great grandfather and great grandmother Stow, also my great grandfather and great grandmother Gay. The pictures had been enlarged from deguerria types.

I remember an ingrain carpet on the floor which had a layer of straw and newspapers under it, but the thing I remember best was a vase, one of those broad, flat China kind that everyone seemed to have then. It was filled with peacock feathers and stood on the mantle.

There was a fireplace in the room which we used in spring and fall, but a stove was set up for the few times the room was used in winter.

Parlors in those days were used for funerals and a rare wedding. The only time ours was used was for Grange parties and Church sociables. In summer the stove was taken down and the fireplace was filled with pine branches for a background. Then a big ginger jar or one of our set of brown crocks

The golden wedding theme was carried out with gold and yellow table decorations, yellow rose corsages and boutonniere for Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, bouquets of jonquils and chrysanthemums and two beautifully decorated anniversary cakes.

Mr. Burnham has always been active in town affairs. He was selectman for 15 years and was representative to the General Court for one session. He is a member of Aurora Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Henocan Chapter, O.E.S., and Bear Hill Grange. He has been a member of Bear Hill Grange for 44

Bill Prepared for Garbage Collection

HILLSBORO, Jan. 6 — The League of Women Voters of Hillsboro, Mrs. Fred Lundberg president, and Mrs. Clarence Whitehill secretary, will meet with Mrs. Maurice Parker of Preston Street on Tuesday the 11th at 2 P. M. for the first session of the New Year, and a large attendance is looked for. Officials of the League today issued the following statement:

"As the New Year gets under way, the prayer in the hearts of men and women throughout the World is for a Peace which is lasting. The hope and desire of millions is that the United Nations may be kept alive and strengthened, and will be the motivating force toward universal security and harmony.

Becoming acquainted with the structure and functions of this World Organization, and studying means by which it may be strengthened has top place on the agenda of the League of Women Voters, and much information will be made available to the public in the coming months.

Reformation of the national election laws relating to the election of Presidents of the United States is being advocated by the League of Women Voters the country over, and legislation toward this end is anticipated.

League of Women Voters throughout the nation are in favor of legislation making tax-free, colored margarine available to housewives everywhere, and consider the law as it is now administered in the individual states unfair and discriminatory.

National legislation affecting Housing, Labor-Management Relations, Aid to Europe, Repatriation of Displaced Persons, etc., will continue to receive consideration and action by all Leagues as a means of Public Service.

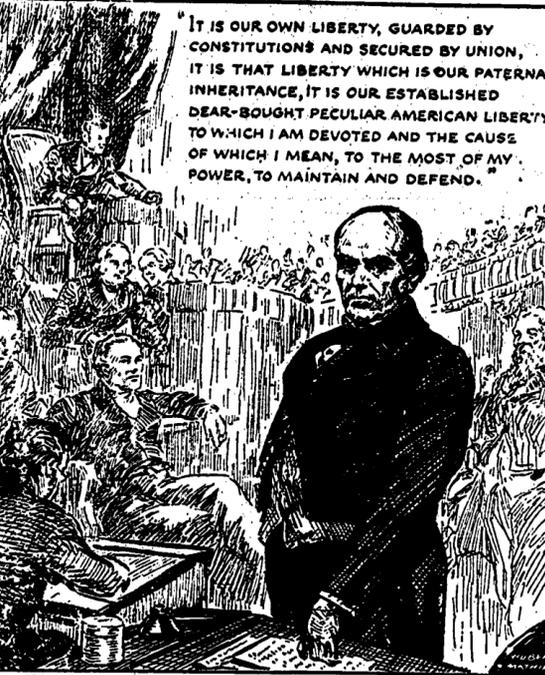

Town Garbage

Of especial interest to our own community is the Bill prepared for the new General Court in New Hampshire to enable towns of 500 population or over to use funds for the collection and disposal of rubbish and garbage. The local League of Women Voters has long agitated legislation to this end, and will work toward its favorable passage.

Deborah Club Members Have 'Surprise Basket'

HILLSBORO, Jan. 6 — Members of the Deborah Society held their first meeting of the year, Monday, with the newly elected president Mildred Eaton presiding.

Sylvia Van Hazinga reported for the "Ways and Means" committee. With plans already in motion, for a card party, a food sale, a supper, the members are going to have a busy season.

The "Surprise Basket" was started on its tour by Dorothy Woods. Each girl will buy an article from the basket, replace it with another and then pass it to the next member. In a month's time, this basket should have completed its tour of members and be at the church for the February meeting.

A delicious lunch consisting of ice cream puffs with chocolate sauce, coffee and hard candies was served by the hostesses, Frances Bennett, Lucille Poluchov, Katie Crosby and Dorothy Woods.

Hillsboro Reviews Past Year, Finds Much Done

HILLSBORO, Dec. 29 — With the passing of the old year, this community has taken a survey of the past 12 months and found a slight decrease in taxes on property, the Woolen Mill has given employment to the majority of employees an estimated 40 weeks during 1948, the new fire truck arrived during the year and has already proven its worth, the Hillsboro Hosiery Mills operated on a curtailed schedule during the past 12 months, and something has been accomplished towards the garbage disposal problem although at present no action has yet been taken.

Hillsboro merchants, this first week of 1949, are busy taking inventory of stock and making out their income tax blanks. Business, although not that of two years ago, was better than the year previous. Twenty-five local businessmen sponsored, for the second time, a successful Christmas contest with about three hundred at the drawing Christmas Eve and at the American Legion sponsored "Bridge of Joy." In addition to the previous mentioned stores Manahan's Studio was one of the Christmas contest sponsors.

During 1948 the town has added larger water pipes from the Loon Lake to the Bible Hill reservoir. A start was made towards the bronze memorial tablet for World War II veterans and it is expected that the memorial will be dedicated during the coming year.

Several new houses were built during 1948 within the confines of the village proper. The chief of police and the road agent received substantial increases in their salaries during the year now passing. The Community association has accomplished much about town, and Old Home Day was observed with plenty of enthusiasm. The town has two new stores and four new managers and owners. New line extensions in town have given light and power to many new customers during 1948. The old Henniker road and Antrim Branch power stations were abandoned and dismantled.

Sportsmen's Meeting

The Hillsboro Fish and Game Club will hold their next regular meeting Sunday, January 9th, in Municipal hall. They expect to have Superintendent Mitchell of the Federal Hatchery of Nashua, talk on the availability of federal trout for 1949. Also to be considered will be the lobster supper for the February meeting.

Rev. Yeaple To Preach at Peddie School for Boys

In the absence of Dr. Whitney S. K. Yeaple, who will be speaking Sunday morning at Peddie School for Boys in Hightstown, New Jersey, the Rev. Mr. J. Albert Clark will conduct the services in Smith Memorial Congregational Church. Mr. Clark is well known to the people of this parish and vicinity. As Minister of Religious Education for The Congregational Christian Conference, Mr. Clark is in great demand throughout the state.

Sunday evening, Dr. Yeaple is to speak in Westfield, New Jersey, about the World Council Meeting which he attended last summer in Holland.

First Baby Arrives As New Year Begins

HILLSBORO, Jan. 6 — Miss Mary Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold LaBier of Henniker, arrives to be the Hillsboroland F. Baby of 1949. She arrived into this world at the Memorial Hospital, Concord, within a few minutes after the stroke of twelve, only 60 seconds after the first boy baby of the New Year, born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Foy of Concord.

Mrs. LaBier is the former Ellen Beane of Weare and a graduate of Weare High School. Mr. LaBier is employed as a lumber sticker in Henniker and was unaware of the contest until notified by friends.

Dr. Eugene Chamberlin of Hillsboro, playing a familiar role, attended Mrs. LaBier at the hospital and was the first to greet the new arrival.

On New Year's Day, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William W. Leclott a Monadnock Community Hospital.

Our third baby is a daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Camara of the Upper Village. She was born on Sunday.

Gifts that the new baby and parents will receive from Hillsboro businessmen are as follows: Baby Gift Set from the P. X.; $1.00 worth of Frozen Foods from the Hillsboro Food Bank; Baby Gift Set from Laundries; movie tickets from the Capitol Theatre; Sterling Silver Baby Locket from the Service Shop; dozen cans Swift's baby

Antrim High School Student Council

ANTRIM, Jan. 6 — The Antrim High School Student Council met recently under the direction of Norman Wallace.

The council voted to frame pictures of recent graduating classes, and athletic teams for placing in the main room. Students in charge of this project consist of: Norma Cuddihy, Francis Allison, Charles Butterfield, Christine Brown.

It was also decided to advertise more completely home basketball games. Donald Paige was placed in charge of this activity.

The president of the council was given the authority of appointing sellers of tonic at each of the home games, and also to appoint two girls to attend to the serving of refreshments to the teams at the halves.

It was voted to appropriate not more than fifteen dollars for the purpose of purchasing material for skirts for cheerleaders' uniforms. The skirts will be made by the students in the home economics classes.

A committee of students was chosen to meet with the faculty on January 10th for the purpose of discussing and drawing up rules and regulations for conduct in study periods. Members of this committee are: Donald Paige, Marguerite Worth, Norman Wallace.

The organization of an outing club was discussed and William Whiles was delegated to investigate the possibilities of this activity and to report back at the next meeting, which is scheduled for January 7.

Miss Anna Childs returned Monday from a visit with Prof. and Mrs. Francis Childs of Hanover.

Weare Church Presents Europe Relief Speaker

LETA CROMWELL

WEARE, Jan. 6 — At the North Weare Federated Church, Monday evening, January 10th, at 8 P. M. The American Friends Service Committee introduces Leta Cromwell, who is visiting Europe again this summer and fall for the Friends. She is going as a special observer of continuing relief needs and international work camps in Finland, Holland, France and Italy. Last year she saw Quaker projects in Germany, Poland, Austria and France.

Mrs. Cromwell wrote, in June, 1948 — "Let's face it; these journeys are rugged. Transportation includes jeeps, drozhkas, barges. And the housing may be a tent, barracks, or ruined castle. Moreover, in terms of the "trouble" one sees, these are journeys into the night; but there is profound adventure in all of this and moments of rare comedy. I look forward this year to the international conference at the College Cevenol in France — topic, The Structure of Peace — and my encounters with the young of many countries as they rebuild schools, hospitals, playgrounds. I expect again to speak with peasants, teachers, business men, local officials, social workers, newspaper men — even diplomats. I know that once more I shall return heartened by the spectacle of quiet heroism abroad — where, indeed, persecution has killed many but conquered few."

Mrs. Cromwell will speak on the following topic: "Candles In The Darkness". Friendship plus material aid for Europe.

In a spontaneous, lively manner, Mrs. Cromwell draws on wide personal experience. This past season some of her engagements were: The Cosmopolitan Club of New York City; St. George's Church, New York City; Queens County Women's Forum of New York, groups in the South and Mid-west, also Junior League and A. A. U. W. groups, men's clubs and parent-teachers associations.

"The Clothes Line"

Most folks found that it was easy to make their exchanges here after Christmas. We try to make everybody happy. Even if any man got a tie that came from here that he didn't like — he is surely welcome to bring it in for exchange.

In taking inventory we discovered some odds and ends in ladies' slippers to clear stock of. Price range from $2 to $4. Some all leather. The early bird will get the choice and they're real bargains at 50c per pair.

Sometime ask us about our merchandise clubs. We've been running them for years but there are many who don't know about them. Recently there has been more interest than ever. Many find it a great help in budgeting for clothes.

Men's all leather Romeo style slippers. Regular price $3.99 and $4.45. Most all sizes. A close out special at this super bargain price — $1.99 a pair.

SALESMAN WANTED

We're looking for a good man who wants to make more money. He's good at following up prospects by mail and landing his share if somebody finds the prospects for him. He's good—or he'll learn to be good—at listing real estate so we can advertise it at our expense. FOUR EFFS advertising finds prospects for FOUR EFFS men. Most real estate advertising tries to sell the property advertised. FOUR EFFS tries to learn what the public wants, then lets people know FOUR EFFS has it. It took a long time to develop the FOUR EFFS plan, but it has produced outstanding results for FOUR EFFS representatives. For example, from Nov. 29 to Dec. 4 it produced 10 per cent more prospects than any week in our history. In the week between Christmas and New Year it produced 35.5 per cent more prospects than in the week just named. In December it produced as many prospects as in 18 mid-season weeks. Today, Jan. 3, 1949, it produced 56 per cent more prospects than any Monday in FOUR EFFS history. The man we want may be a good real estate salesman who needs prospects. He may be a cattle dealer, an auctioneer, a farmer who can sell, or a salesman who wants to get into real estate with a responsible organization. FOUR EFFS REALTY, INC., Box 264HM, Manchester, N. H. 2-3

Weare

Mrs. Irene Flanders
CORRESPONDENT

Don't forget to put 1949 on all your letters now; you will, though.

A good crowd saw the Old Year out and 1949 in at the Legion Hall, at Weare Town Hall. Music for dancing was by Gerald Purington's Orchestra. Vernon Wood, Legion Commandant was in charge. Lloyd Wood received the door prize, which was a very pretty ship's wheel clock.

Ruby Sargent started the New Year right by getting the door prize at the East Weare Grange card party New Year's night. They say, "What you do at New Year's you will do all the year", so it looks like a good year for Ruby.

There were several house parties New Year's Eve, among them one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wood. Fifteen friends got together to see the New Year in, and spent the evening dancing and listening to the radio and of course "Auld Lang Syne" at midnight. Refreshments were on hand of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips and coffee. An ideal way to greet the New Year.

Robert Leggett spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parsons. Robert is now working in Manchester.

Of interest to Weare people is another former town boy, Richard Buckley, now Seaman Recruit. Richard spent the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buckley, now in Derry, N. H., but the Buckley's lived in Weare for many years, and are often in town. He is stationed at present at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

In looking over the December New Hampshire Alumnus, I found this in the Class of 1944 letters. Jeanne Van de Bogart is planning to take up 4-H work this summer. The Class correspondent wrote from Texas. Our U. N. H. graduates apparently are all over the United States, by the addresses on their letters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian McLean and Mrs. Lloyd Wood, Jr., spent Monday in Manchester.

There must be a few lines on ice fishing. Last week Mildred got a nice string of pickerel at Weare Reservoir. After so much rain and warm weather really cautious folks don't care to venture out on the ice. Three or four days of good cold weather and it will be good fishing again.

Norman Chase and Harold Flanders took their wives ice fishing last week. Perfect day? Water on the ice, and fog so thick you couldn't see all the lines set. And two heavy showers raining so hard they had to leave the pond. But nothing ever will taste so good as the coffee cooked on the camp-fire, and the hot dogs cooked in an army-surplus pan. Also a good string of fish to take home.

Wayne Moody, A G 3, is spending the next 10 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Haven Moody of South Weare. He is stationed at Jacksonville, Florida.

Delayed news: the Master-elect of Weare Grange, Mrs. Edith Turner, spent three days as delegate at the recent State Grange Convention at Claremont. She also took the 6th degree while there, which will be of special news to Grangers.

The first Sunday night Sing of the New Year was held at Leon Reade's home. Thirteen people were present. While having refreshments of cake and coffee, the eldest singer, Mr. Ashton of South Weare was thoroughly surprised when they all sang to him, "Happy Birthday to you". Mr. Aston was 73 years old the next day. He also attends nearly all of the Sings.

It looks as if the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold LaBier, who live on the Weare-Henniker road, might be Miss 1949. So far, she is the runner-up in the Baby Derby. Her mother was Ellen Beane, of East Weare and a graduate of Weare High School not too long ago. The first baby in 1949 was a boy, every one knows by now.

Mrs. Diamond Maxwell
CORRESPONDENT

Henocon Chapter, O.E.S., held the annual meeting on Tuesday evening with the matron, Mrs. Marvel Hope presiding. Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer. The following officers were elected: Matron, Mrs. Edith Purington, Weare; patron, John Hollis; associate matron, Mrs. Florence Flanders, Weare; associate patron, Franklin Flanders, Weare; secretary, Mrs. Martha Ayer; treasurer, Mrs. Marion Holmes; conductress, Mrs. Eunice Marshall, Weare; associate conductress, Mrs. Lillian Ayer. The degree was conferred on two candidates with special music by Mrs. Martha Twiss, vocal soloist and Mrs. Evelyn Hollis, pianist. A short social hour was held and refreshments were served.

Miss Eva Eastman, Mrs. Laurie Cox and Miss Georgie Sanborn were in Contoocook, December 26th, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Clara Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Noyes and son of Bellows Falls, Vermont, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carnes of Swampscott, Mass., spent a recent week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Noyes.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chase and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Chase and son spent Christmas in West Newton, Mass., with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cogswell.

Pickerel fishing through the ice was quite successful for several local fishermen recently. Myron Hazen and son, Danny, and Richard Cressy and two sons of Concord, caught 35 nice pickerel from French's pond. On the same day Allison White got ten. A day or so later, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Dowlin and Leon Cooper got 20 pickerel and two perch.

Some of the fishermen had hard luck as their shiners froze during the cold spell around Christmas. They attribute it to the lack of snow on the ground.

Mrs. Bert Smith of Hillsboro and Mrs. Walter Patenaude have gone to Florida for the winter.

Mrs. Ada Dow is recovering from a severe head cold.

A daughter was born December 27, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gay of Boston. Mrs. Gay was Louise Brown, a niece of Mrs. Harry Garland.

Floyd Wilson cracked the bone in his wrist recently while he was cranking the tractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Mert Buckley have returned to their home in Fairfax, Vermont, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Norton and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ernest for the past week.

Mrs. Marjorie Betz and her daughter spent the vacation with relatives in Claremont.

Albert Norton, Jr., spent the week-end in Dedham, Mass.

Mrs. Winfred Ripley has been a patient at the Memorial Unit, Concord Hospital, this week for observation and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold LaBier have announced the birth of a daughter, Mary Ellen, born on January 1st at Memorial Unit, Concord Hospital. The baby was born at two minutes past midnight and lost out by a minute of being the first baby born in New Hampshire, but it would appear that she may be the winner in the contest sponsored by the Messenger Publishing Company.

Mrs. Josie Haokett has returned home from Concord Hospital.

Miss Lois Davis visited relatives in Washington several days last week.

The weather pulled a new one out of the bag last week with a downpour of rain that exceeded any we have had in a year. The river rose about a foot in this vicinity and all the ice except some clinging to the banks has gone out. We don't remember that the river was ever open at this time of the year. What little snow we had all melted and we have just a covering of snow now, that came with the end of the four day rain. The frost started to come out of the back roads, and it certainly did not seem like the first of January.

Miss Dorothy Sawyer has returned to resume her studies at Boston University.

Russell Cuddihy is at Monadnock Community Hospital, where he was taken following an automobile accident which occurred early New Year's morning near Bass Farm. Mr. and Mrs. F. Ewing Wilson of Bass Farm found him unconscious and suffering from exposure in front of their home. He was found to have a broken jaw, a badly cut lip and a slight concussion. His car apparently skidded on the icy road and rammed into a tree. The car was very badly damaged. Roger Hilton of the State Police investigated the accident. Mr. Cuddihy is resting as comfortably as hospital attendants can make him and his friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Antrim Center

A largely attended New Year's dance was held in Gange Hall, jointly sponsored by Myers-Prescott Post, No. 50, American Legion and Antrim Grange. Visitors were noted from all the surrounding towns, even from New York, Mass., and Vermont. A popular square dance orchestra played. Howard Humphrey won the ham which was advertised to be given away. The coming in of the New Year was recognized with a fan-fare of drums and all joined in singing Auld Lang Syne. A gratifying sum was realized for each of the sponsoring organizations. Another party will be held at the same place, Friday, January 14.

Miss Corrinne Johnson of Keene has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Harry Blood and family. Gene Wilson of Yale Graduate School, New Haven, Connecticut, has returned to his studies after enjoying the holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ewing Wilson, Bass Farm. Winslow Caughey has returned to New Hampshire University after a vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Caughey.

The Granite State Gardener

It is seed catalog time again. The first one arrived on my desk just before Christmas, and it was welcome indeed. However, I think it is a little early to get the seed catalog; I prefer to get them in January and February. After all, it is during these months that we look forward to the coming season, when we make our plans, when we like to figure out how much and what we are going to plant.

I know of no book that is quite as optimistic as the seed catalog, and very few as interesting. Some day, hundreds of years from now, the horticulturists will study our present-day seed catalogs and get from them a better idea of the evolution of the various varieties and types of vegetables than they can from any other source because, after all, the seed catalog must record the preference of both the commercial and the home garden trade.

How nice those colored pictures are! I have right now on the walls of my office seed catalog illustrations of tomatoes, muskmelons, squash, radishes, corn, cabbage, turnips, carrots, and cucumbers that are so true to life that you feel like taking that slice of muskmelon right off the illustration and biting into it.

Then comes the big job of deciding what you would like to plant. In some cases this is very important; in others not so important. You probably can grow any kind of cool season crop that you wish with good culture. Cool season crops are those that do best when the night temperatures are below 60 degrees. But with warm season crops, you have to choose your kinds very carefully. There are probably not over two or three varieties of watermelons and perhaps as many varieties of muskmelons in the trade that will do well in northern New England. The same is true of egg plant and peppers, and even tomatoes. On the other hand, the shorter season crops like cucumbers, beans, and the early varieties of corn will do well, and practically all varieties of such crops as cabbage, radishes, peas, carrots, beets, parsnips, will mature very nicely if you give them proper cultural conditions. In fact, many of these crops do much better in our cool New England summers than they do further south where it is much hotter.

Mr. Burnham was born in Roxbury, Vermont, the son of James Kimball and Abigail (Woodard) Burnham. Mrs. Burnham was born in the adjacent town of Northfield, Vermont, the daughter of Horace and Ellen (Cram) Briggs. She graduated from the Northfield High School and taught school for seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham were married in Northfield by Rev. W. S. Hazen and went immediately to Roxbury to live where Mr. Burnham was in the lumber business, operating a saw mill. Later they moved to Barre, Vermont, and Mr. Burnham built several houses. They moved to Henniker in 1904 where he bought the Ingalls gristmill at the end of the dam by Augustine Philibert's house. He sold the mill about 1910 when it was moved to its present position, and now serves as the dormitory for New England College. Mr. and Mrs. Burnham lived in the Philibert house until 1911 when they built the house on Prospect Street. They lived there until the fall of 1946 when they sold it and moved to Mrs. Alsada Hoffman's house on Main Street, where they still live. Since he sold the mill, Mr. Burnham has speculated in the stock market.

Mrs. Burnham is a member of the Congregational Church, Hennicon Chapter, O.E.S., the Woman's Club and was a member of Bear Hill Grange for 30 years. She has a brother, George Briggs, of New Hartford, N. Y., and both have pieces and nephews. They have three daughters and four grandchildren.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Butler Park

Butler park has always been a bone of contention to townspeople. Suggested uses for the park have varied from using the site for a town hall to converting the space to a parking lot.

Lately suggestions have been that the park be re-landscaped and a band shell be erected to face outward from the First National Store side of the park.

Use of the park for a town hall or as a parking lot, are purposes contrary to the wishes of the donor, as such use would change the nature of the park or be a permanent structure.

The erection of a band shell for the use of the town band would in our opinion be a welcomed additional use of the park. Though permanent, the shell would in no way defeat the wishes of the donor. Band shells are as much a part of parks, as trees, grass or benches.

The Wednesday evening Art Group had the pleasure of lawyer Crosby's presence last week and the class did themselves rather proud. It was fun having Bill Ordway of Antrim back in the fold and "Doc" Rigney too. It will be Easter Time before the latter will get back to Hillsboro but we all look forward to his intermittent visits.

Joyce Guild is home after holidays spent out of town and she will be back with us this week to start on another picture for our Second Spring Annual Exhibition. Those last four words sound so good it is a joy just to keep repeating them. Peggy Pender will be with us soon again and we hope Madeline Gilmore made a New Year's resolution to keep on with her Wednesday evening class under Stuart Bruce's guidance.

We all realize now after a full year of setting aside those two hours weekly for the definite purpose of working with pencil, charcoal, pastel, oils or watercolors, under expert instruction, just how much can be done in the way of actual accomplishment. There is a sense of astonishment every Wednesday night when we finish and the work is lined up for general criticism at the high level of all the work than a year ago. Come down and see it, if you don't believe me!

by the makers of trout flies.

Heard a good one the other day. One disgruntled deer hunter blames the raccoon hunters for the deer being so scarce. He said he knew of six different parties of coon hunters out every night before the open season on deer and that their dogs drove the deer all to the mountains. Tell us another one.

hind another tree. Soon I heard them say: "Well, we scared the tripe out of that wise guy." Then they came in. I followed and as they opened the door to the camp I was at their heels, a gun in one hand and a flashlight in the other. Were they a surprised gang? One woman, when she saw the big 33, gave a yell and passed out. I spotted the man who had done the shooting as he was the only one of the quartet who had a chalk white face. He was the only one doing any fishing. There was only one pole in the crowd. Well, I got his driving license and told him to appear in Wilton court the next morning. He did not appeal his case, but paid up. I did not tell the judge about the shooting, and stranger still, I never found the gun. I searched them all.

Ever go coney rabbit hunting without a dog? The other day I saw a man from Nashua all alone and he was jumping on a brush pile and as the rabbit ran out he shot it. He had three when I saw him. "Nothing to it," he said. "Don't have to feed no blame dog."

Down from Farmington comes this story by Conservation Officer Everett Goodwin: "Lawrence Stevenson of Barrington hit a big buck, 8 points, with his automobile last Thursday night. The deer started for the woods with Lawrence after him. He caught up with the deer and after hitting it over the head he took off his belt and put it around the buck's horns. This he hitched to a tree and then started for the Rochester police. They called me and I went down. When we found the deer it was dead but still hitched to the tree with Mr. Stevenson's belt." This is a true story as "Pete" was there.

before I go deer hunting again." Rodney Wright of Brookline was out hunting December 12 and came upon a five foot black snake which he killed. While not being too lively, it watched every move with its head raised six inches from the rest of his body. Why was he out in December?

With the session of the Senate and House a week off, listen to the pros and cons. One man wants to keep all out-of-state hunters out with a $50 license, wants to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. Tut, tut.

A fellow asked me the other day if I was ever fired on and what was my reaction. One night in late summer my son and I were at Otter Lake, Greenfield. We had checked a few fishermen and all were O. K. Driving down the road by the lake we heard talking and we stopped. Someone was just landing at a small wharf. I got out and told the boy to drive down the road out of sight and come back in 15 minutes. I went down to the landing. I took hold of the bow of their boat to pull them in, when one of them said, "Back up, that's the game warden." I had hold of the chain but could not hold them. I dropped the chain and let them go. There was a thick fog on the lake and I could not see them but heard them talking. There was a nice big pine tree handy and I heard one of the people say, "Let's scare the blinky-blank." Then I heard a shot, followed by five more. Some hit the big pine and others went wild. When the sixth report sounded I yelled to them to come in. Then I ran up the road and hid be-

Have you seen the report of Director Carpenter in book form? It's a fine booklet, highly illustrated with the pictures of all the Conservation Officers, the Commissioner, and the three men who were retired in 1948. It's a fine history of the working of the Department the past two years. Better get your copy if you are interested in the Fish and Game Department.

Know your senator and representatives and tell them your wishes. They want your ideas.

Are you interested in feeding the winter birds? Sure, you are. Well, just sit down and write a letter to Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington 25, D. C. and ask for copy of "Feeding Wildlife in Winter." It's free for the asking. Better send a stamp.

Wildlife Management Institute Nation, Capitol recommends that you read the new book of the month entitled, "Road to Survival" by William Vogt.

Aarne W. Aho of Fitchburg, Mass., brought in three bobcats for the bounty. One, a big male, went 41 pounds, the other two, females, 26 and 31. He got them in Richmond and Fitzwilliam. Several years ago this same man brought me in 22 in one season. He has good dogs.

Some man up in Tilton has a bad peeve. He is taking exceptions to me wanting those older men to give their guns to the teen agers. Why, he says his cat has been AWOL for two weeks. Some young fellows shot at a hornet's nest and smashed the windows in his upper story (we mean the house). He was afraid that someone would shoot him, so he did not sign his name. He says he is against the young fellows having guns.

Yes, Walter Somero of New Ipswich was in with a 14 pound female bobcat. This one was shot within four miles of the local post office.

Had a nice call the other day from Director and Mrs. Carpenter from Wolfeboro. Also George O. Stevens of Berlin, who is working with District Chief Martin of Keene during the deer season. The Director dropped me off a pair of young peafowl.

One of the best deer seen this year was shot by James Bell of Mason, 16 points and a perfect set of horns. The big buck shot by Herbert Goodridge to Milford was so old he had few if any teeth, and was he gray. If we counted all his points it would run over 20.

The deer sure know their stuff. The very next morning a herd came back into the fruit orchard of Dan Barry in Temple. Five showed up in a pansy bed in Greenfield worth $500 right on Route 31. Several farmers on Abbott Hill report seeing a small herd of them the very next morning when the law went back on. We have plenty of deer left.

December weather greatly lessened the severity of the winter with the temperature greatly above normal. Rev. Charles E. Reidt, our Deering weather observer, reports. The average for the month was 30 degrees, 6 degrees above the average of Concord for December. Highest temperature for the month was 53 degrees on December 4th and 5th and the lowest just escaped zero by one degree on December 27th, while clouds hovered over this area, about 22 days of the month. Precipitation was nearly normal. On the last three days of the month 2.19 inches of precipitation fell. Had it come as snow it could have been two feet.

By the way, are any of you readers interested in buying a nice dressed rabbit? I know of a party that sells them that-a-way.

The State House Journal

by Enoch Shattuck

Meet the man with the biggest headache in New Hampshire—Gov. Sherman Adams. When he steps to the rostrum this noon, before a joint convention of the General Court, to take his oath of office, Mr. Adams will be envied by nobody with any understanding of what's ahead. He assumes his high office with more direct and personal knowledge of state government, probably, than any other governor in modern times. His inaugural address, for delivery Thursday noon, makes this plain.

The inaugural contains more concrete statements than is usual. It is the summary of what a studious man has learned about department operations and state finances, during two months of daily attention to the substance and details of government. Gone is the old "Sherm" Adams, ready always with a good-natured quip or a song at informal parties and social get-togethers. Mr. Adams has taken on a hard shell of impersonal composure. Brusque almost to the point of unpleasantness, his attitude serves notice on politician and citizen alike that he's going to earn the formal salutation of "Governor."

There'll be no nonsense, no favoritism on personal grounds, the Adams attitude says. In his inaugural message, he treats with a heavy foot on toes that other governors have walked carefully around. In pointing the finger of reorganization at the state Highway department, Mr. Adams is invading ground long considered sacred to Highway Commissioner Frederic E. Everett, the subtlest, most powerful and best-intrenched administrator in the state service.

Mr. Adams is devoting a large part of his inaugural message to the findings of experts who have surveyed the organization and operation of the state Highway Department, at his behest. The Highway Department is substantially an autonomous branch of government, answerable to nobody but the Legislature. Commissioner Everett is practically a law unto himself when it comes to spending about $6,000,000 a year on state roads. And that much money means a lot of "paratropping" to be parcelled out, region by region, as the demand rises.

Commissioner Everett became head of the department in 1915, and in his 34 years at the helm has earned the respect—and fear—of every major politician. From a dirt-road state, New Hampshire has grown in those 34 years to a state with more miles of paved highway per capita than any other state in the union. Yet Everett himself is the first to admit there's no real state highway "system." Like Topsy, New Hampshire's network of highways just grew. Highway planning, in the real sense, has been non-existent. Much of the fault lies with the Legislature, which up to ten years ago was constantly interfering with the Highway Department by passing "road bills" for improvements in one section or another of the state. It's no wonder observers agree that the condition of highways bears little or no relationship to comparative traffic loads or regional needs.

State Salary Increases
Moderate wage increases for state workers are unavoidable this year. Governor Adams admits that in his inaugural address. He gave state employees advance notice of his intentions in that direction, 24 hours before he became governor. At a conference Wednesday morning, he met representatives of the State Employees Association and, it is reported, was prepared to lay it on the line for them. His attitude presumably was: "So far I'll go with you, and no farther."

How It's Being Done
The time-table of the convening of the 1949 General Court and the inauguration of Sherman Adams began Tuesday night. First activity was on the legislative front, with the Republicans and Democrats holding caucuses to pick their nominees for secretary of state, state treasurer and commissary general. Then the senators of each party picked their nominees for president. No. 2 position in the state hierarchy. On the House side, the GOP picked their nominee for speaker, and the Democrats named their minority floor leader for the session.

By custom and law, the General Court convenes in joint session at noon on the first Wednesday of January, is sworn in, and organizes. The constitutional officers—secretary, treasurer and commissary—are elected by ballot. Then a committee of representatives and senators waits upon the outgoing governor, who appears before them to deliver his farewell address. Gov. Charles M. Dale chose the wise course and made his short, leaving the slate clear for his successor.

A humorous sidelight on this farewell address is the popular misuse of the word "exaugural" in referring to it. There's no such word as "exaugural" in English. The nearest thing to it is a verb, "exaugurate," which means "to curse. Whatever the personal feelings of the retiring governor in this respect, it was a perfectly polite farewell.

That concludes the activities for Wednesday. The General Court meets again in joint convention Thursday at 11 o'clock, with justices of the Supreme Court and Superior Court in attendance. A committee waits upon the incoming governor, who is escorted to the rostrum to receive the oath of office from the president of the Senate. The new Executive Council is then sworn in, and the new governor delivers his inaugural address. Following the address, the formally-dressed governor and councillors retire to the Council Chamber for a formal reception to legislators and the general public. Members of the governor's military staff serve as ushers, under the supervision of Brig. Gen. Charles F. Bowen, master-of-ceremonies for the inauguration.

Cleaning The State House Spindle
With the change in administration, Atty. Gen. Ernest R. D'Ammours and Special Counsel Kenneth Graf are expected to step up the pace of their action against those involved in the Standard Construction Co., contracts scandal. New indictments or civil actions are predicted.

The Associated Press year-end roundup picked, as one of the top N. H. new stories of 1948, the deadlock between Governor Dale and his Council over Co. Ralph W. Caswell of the State Police. This story "broke" in the State House Journal 18 months ago, when the Dale-Caswell feud in all its political ramifications was disclosed for the first time.

Atty. Wesley Powell, Senator Styles Bridges' highly competent young administrative assistant, has bought a new home in Hampton Falls. Powell is a native of Portsmouth, joined Bridges' Washington staff eight years ago. He was a gunner in a B-24 bomber in Italy during the war, got winged on a mission over Austria, and wears the Purple Heart.

Secretary of State Enoch D. Fuller had the biennial "Red Book" all ready for the 1949 Legislature when it convened Wednesday. It contained 728 pages of facts and miscellaneous data about the state, was the biggest ever published. Its official title: "Manual of the 1949 General Court."

Congressman Norris Cotton moved from quarters in the Old House Office building into the New House Office building in Washington this week. It marked the end of ten years of uninterrupted tenancy by New Hampshire congressmen of Room 405. Since 1938 it has been occupied consecutively by Congressmen Foster Stearns, Sherman Adams and Mr. Cotton.

SPORTSMEN'S COLUMN

Heard a man the other day cussing the game laws and all that made them. I asked him if he knew the senator in his district. Nope. Do you know the man that goes from your town to the legislature? Nope. Well, I told him he had better get acquainted and tell them his views on the game questions.

One day this past week I spotted a huge seagull flying up the Souhegan river in the rear of the Oulton Clam Bar. Guess he was disappointed to find the clam bar closed for the season. He was as big a gull as I ever saw.

Speaking of the black panther, here is a fellow that says he thinks it's one of those big wild boars that escaped from Corbin Park in the 1938 big blow. Several have been killed in the state the past week. It cannot be a bear as they are all dunned up for the winter sucking their paws.

We were very lucky in this neck of the woods that no one was injured or killed. Only one case was reported in and that was near enough. A miss is as good as a mile. But give us that mile.

Arthur L. Searles of Milford had a very expensive caller the other night. It was a large horned owl and he got two $10 hens in an outside covered yard. I went down and got the baby. He sure is a sassy fellow.

Where to purchase sunflower seeds for the wild birds? Can you tell us? Have several requests for the information.

Speaking of men putting a town on the map, down in Milford is a poultry raiser that has shipped his birds into every state in the Union. He is Arthur L. Searles and his hobby is Light Brahmas and Buff Cochins (very large). They are as good as any I ever saw at the Boston Poultry Show.

Now here is an egg story. If you don't believe it, O. K. by me. My wife several weeks ago purchased ten pullets from the Watts Farm in Mont Vernon. One day last week she got 13 eggs from the ten hens. How come? Well, three of the eggs were doubles, so that made the 13. No encores, please.

Can you blame a farmer for being sore and posting his property? Here is a man that has a lot of bee hives on his property. Some misguided hunter shot a number of holes through his hives which spoiled those hives. As this man has thousands of acres on his farm, what a sad blow to the decent hunter if he should post. He is thinking of it.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all the Friends and Neighbors for the many deeds of kindness and expressions of sympathy shown us in our bereavement. To the donors of cars and helpful acts in anyway, we are most grateful.

Consumption of apples in the U. S. has declined on the average of 3/4 pound per person per year for the past ten years.

Hillsborough County Farm News

Mr. Willard Cummings of Brookline is experimenting with a pen of layers to see if dropping pits or roosts can be eliminated. Mr. Cummings housed this pen of birds in the usual method with deep litter, insulated walls but without any roosts. At this date he reports that this pen is remarkably free from undesirable dropping-pit odors as the litter is being mixed with the droppings by the scratching of the birds. Mr. Cummings believes if his method works in other respects, the particular advantage will be to reduce mortality by controlling rats which have the habit of nesting in dropping pits.

The consumers and producers of milk are equally interested in lower milk prices through efficient farm management. Anyone traveling past the dairy stable of Charles P. Hayward in the early forenoon can spy the mechanical gutter cleaner cleaning the stable and loading the manure spreader by electricity. Mr. Hayward says this installation is saving three hours of hand labor each day on the farm. Figured on 365 days, this means 1095 man hours per year.

Henry Laxson, manager of Crosby Farm Dairy in Milford, has finally solved the housing problem which limited his farm labor supply. Henry purchased a live-in trailer which affords modern housing facilities to the occupants. Mr. and Mrs. George Bevis have taken over the quarters. Mr. Bevis' ability as a herdsman should repay you in this venture, Henry. We wish you luck and will be interested to hear how you make out.

Lloyd Vose, who besides being a dairy farmer with his father, Edward Vose of Peterborough, is a trained cabinet maker and is planning a new hay barn. We are confident that this building will be a success. Previously Lloyd has demonstrated his ability in the construction of his brother's home and a double-decker poultry house which is truly a masterpiece of the building trade.

Users of livestock feed potatoes should not plan on additional potatoes. The 167 Hillsborough County farms now feeding them should make other plans when their present supply runs out. If more potatoes become available, those now feeding them will be contacted by the Agricultural Conservation Office.

The good fall weather has made it possible for the Agricultural Conservation Program "Spread Lime Service" to spread 500 tons of lime on farms in Peterborough, Milford, Wilton, Hillsboro, Deering, Antrim, Goffstown, Manchester, Bedford and Amherst. The spreader trucks are going to continue their work here until deep snow stops them. Hillsborough County farmers have requested and paid their share of the cost for over 2000 tons of "Spread" lime this year.

One of the most popular Agricultural Conservation Program practices this year has been the use of 0-14-14 on legumes. Two hundred fifty tons were received by the farmers in the county this fall. Spring orders will be issued to dealers next month. This is the first year the program has furnished this material in a large volume.

Enrollment in the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program is about complete now. Anyone wishing to take advantage of the Program should see their local committeeman during the next two weeks. Eight hundred fifty of the 918 farms enrolled last year have already made their plans for 1949 Conservation practices and materials.

The Hillsborough County U. S. D. A. Council met recently to discuss the possibility of getting more and better possibility of getting more in the county. Members of the Council represent the several U. S. D. A. Agencies in the county, and its work is largely that of coordinating the work of the Department to give farm operators the best service possible. One of the results of the last meeting is this farm news column.

About half of the 1949 bagged lime requested by farmers for Conservation practices was received during November. It is still arriving and should all be in this year for spring use. Orders for superphosphate have been issued. If your super has not come in yet, see your dealer. Again this year dealers in this county are generally collecting on delivery of materials.

Miss Beecher announces that the New Hampshire Horticultural Society is sponsoring a contest to stimulate the use of fresh apples. The title of the contest is "My Favorite Apple Dish." The recipe must accompany every dish. The Contest will be held in Manchester on January 12, 1949, in conjunction with the Society's annual meeting. Anyone fourteen years of age and over may enter, except professional bakers. There will be first, second and third prizes in each class. After the Contest, the Society plans to publish the most unusual recipes. For more detailed information, write to Miss Myrtis E. Beecher, Home Demonstration Agent, Milford, N. H.

The "Trees for New Hampshire" campaign now being sponsored to interest more woodland owners in forest conservation and better forest management practices has been receiving a very favorable response.

In Hillsborough County over 100 requests, totaling 12,000 acres of woodland, have been received from persons desiring assistance in better management of their woodlands.

For information concerning the campaign or problems relating to woodlot management or marketing assistance of forest products, contact your County Forester, Robert Breck, Post Office Building, Milford, N. H.

Now that the results of the 1948 4-H Club year are summarized, here are a few of the accomplishments. Maurice Parker of Hillsboro, as a member of the State 4-H Dairy Judging Team, attended the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress, Waterloo, Iowa, October 4 to 10. While at the Dairy Cattle Congress, Maurice took part in the national 4-H judging contest. The New Hampshire team pledged first in the judging of Brown Swiss; however, they were not so fortunate in the final placing for all breeds.

...and it has the "Golden Throat!"

Finest tone system in RCA Victor history

You can pack real man-size tone into a midjet radio—You can, that is, if you're RCA Victor, with half a century of musical know-how!

This tiny charmer is just over five inches tall, but you'll never hear such tone in so small a set... plus amazing selectivity, power to spare.

Prettier'n a picture, too, in satin-smooth plastic with gold-color trim. Tuning dial is cleverly set into the cabinet top—you turn it with your finger to get your station. Smart, "different," styled to match the beauty of its "Golden Throat" tone system.
