Weare

Mrs. Irene Flanders
CORRESPONDENT

His many friends in Weare extend sympathy to the family of Sewell Huntington, of Henniker, N. H. Mr. Huntington, when able, attended many of the monthly Friends meetings in Weare and was quite well known. Rev. Wilbur Kamp officiated at the funeral services held in Henniker last Monday.

Weare Grange and Wyoming Grange each had Mother's Day programs last week. Wednesday night, at Osborne Memorial Hall, Wyoming Grange held their program, with the men in charge. Highlights of the program were Mr. and Mrs. Ketchum, with a tableau, with Mr. Ketchum singing, "Mother," readings by Gordon Osborne and Fred Cleveland; jokes by Charles Eastman; Louise Philbrick sang, unaccompanied, "Forever and Ever," and "Alphabet Song," and Thomas Dobbs, with Mrs. Nettie Flanders accompanying, "Far-away Places," and as an encore, "Silver Threads among the Gold."

The required essay, "Can suggestions make a successful Grange meeting?" which was written by Mrs. Marian Cram, was read by Mildred Hall as Mrs. Cram was out of town. A talk, on "My Wife's favorite recipe, and how I would make it," Georgia's favorite fish recipe and Charles Eastman improved on his wife's program, which was followed by refreshments.

Weare Grange held Mother's night Friday night. The regular business meeting was first, at which time they voted to give money to the Cancer Drive, which is for the month of May in Weare, and made tentative plans for a "Musical Comedy" to be given possibly in July. The program began with "Home, Sweet Home," by the Grange, followed by the Required Essay, written and read by the Master, Edith Turner. The song, "Mother Machree," by Reg. Hollis was enjoyed, as he is one of the old time singers. A humorous reading by Mildred London, was followed by a very lively debate, "Should children live near parents after marriage, or miles away." On the affirmative side were Hazel Gunn, Esther Hollis, Blanche Gunn and Edith Turner. On the negative side were George Gunn, George Waterman, Milton George, and Rose Marie Hollis. After many remarks, no decision was given. There were too many good reasons on either side. As a special feature, Mildred London sang "Mother," and presented the mothers present with apple-tree buds. The refreshments served were in keeping with the day and time of the year, being cup cakes representing May-baskets, and orange tonic. At the next meeting, on May 20th, it will be Presiding Masters night, and each Master present is expected to furnish one number for the program.

There will be a benefit program, "Hayloft Frolic," put on Tuesday, May 17th, at Weare Town Hall, for the Troop 1, Girl Scouts. Clyde Joy, the Dixie Yodeler, Dusty Withum, Bunny Rogers, Nip, the Yodeling Dod, and the Duo, Lucky and Dixie Lee, make up the program. The girl scouts are selling tickets for this now, and the proceeds will be used to send one girl to Girl Scout camp this summer. Another Girl Scout item; there will be a Girl Scout Carnival, to be held at Weare Town Hall, on Friday, May 27th, similar to the one held last year. Among other features there will be an Auction, or White Elephant Sale. Anyone who wishes to donate to this auction, please get in touch with Mrs. Gladys Hutchins, troop committee leader, or Mrs. Mildred London. Several delegates from the Weare W.C.T.U. went to Nashua last week to attend the Hillsboro County Jubilee, held in the Main street Methodist church. Miss Charlotte Holmes drove down with Mrs. Elsie Strong, Mrs. Gertrude Whitaker, and Mrs. Julia Reade, Mrs. Strong, as president of the Union, provided the number of the program. She spoke on the recent temperance program put on in Weare at a Sunday night service, and in the schools, by James Coney. The Junior Prom will be held Friday night, May 13th, at Weare Town Hall. Dancing will be from 8 o'clock, and the New England College will furnish the music.

Mrs. Paula Stubbe has gone to Chicago, where she plans to spend about ten days. Her brother, James, is working in Weare Center store. A second Boy Scout Troop has been formed in the Weares, with Mr. Connell of East Weare, as Scoutmaster. The first troop, organized last year, meets every other week, in the stone building, at Weare Center, under the leadership of George Campbell. If these boy scout troops do as well as the girl scouts have, we will have two very active Boy Scout Troops.

Weare Community Club met at the Town Hall last Thursday, as usual. Mrs. Gertrude Olmsted, Mrs. Gertrude Stevens and Mrs. Emma Wade, taking the place of Mrs. Dorothy Spaulding, were in charge of the covered dish dinner. During the business meeting they discussed various projects they would like to take up for the last half of the year. Aluminum trays, and caning of chairs were the two important ones just finished. Eight members will go to the yearly program of Home demonstration to be held soon at Milford, to get information on projects. The Club was also invited by Mrs. Nettie Flanders to attend the Institute of the W.C.T.U. to be held Thursday, May 12th, to hear Mrs. Minnie Caswell speak on Socialized Medicine. There will be a penny sale at the next club meeting, on May 19th.

SPECIAL MEETING

Commander Winniatt Griffiths has called a special open meeting of the V.F.W. for tonight at Community Hall. Officers will be nominated.

Hillsboro

There will be a food sale at Beard's Store at 2:00 p. m., Saturday, May 14th, sponsored by the Pearl and Abbie Circles of the Methodist Church Ladies Aid.

With most work being resumed at the woolen mill as fast as conditions permit, this community is optimistic regarding better business, at least for the next six months ahead. A mill town since the late J. B. Smith first started his hosiery mill back in 1867, Hillsboro has depended on its two mills for a living for the past 80 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker and family of Lawrence, Mass., spent the week-end at their summer cottage on the Beard Brook road.

Mrs. John Rowen, who recently returned from the hospital is still regarded as very ill and is under the care of a physician at her West Main street residence.

George Robertson of West Main street, who recently sold his home to Joseph Garafoli of this town, plans to again return to his former position as a pilot, this time commercially. He served during the recent war with the Army Air Force in the Pacific area.

J. Matt Meeker of Hollywood, California and Marie McKay of Brooklyn, N. Y., were united in marriage at the Valley Hotel, Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Meeker immediately left on an automobile trip to Oregon, where they plan to spend their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Meeker plan to return to Hillsboro about June 1st and reside in their home recently purchased from Harry B. Eaton, local real estate agent.

Maxwell Romsey, Herbert Bond and Harry Eaton, associates of West's Agency in this vicinity, motored to Brattleboro, Vermont, to attend a one day convention of West's Agency Associates. Among those present from near by towns were: R. B. Young, L. J. Parrish, Earl Bennett, C. M. Burnham, and Mr. Spooner of Bennington, Vermont. Many items of valuable interest were discussed. All attending the convention, returned to their respective offices, with a thorough understanding of real estate salesmanship and the honest fundamentals of listing property.

Guests of the family class at Hillsboro High School at their May party were Jackie Cochrane, Glenda Crane, Cheryl Ann Cleveland, Tamara Lee Holdner, Gloria Houghton, Alice Kulbacki and Julie Ann Taylor. Members of the class are Yvonne Bennett, Constance Cody, Mildred Crane, Hazel Gee, Lucille Heath, Peggy Jamison and Margaret Faro.

Nelson Maine, Hillsboro cobbler and fishing enthusiast, is busy tying flies for local fishermen, nevertheless, the three times that Mr. Maine has been able to get away from his shop to fish he has come back with the quota.

Portia Chapter, O. E. S. will hold its regular meeting, Monday evening, in the Masonic Hall. The meeting will be called promptly at 7:30 as there is to be a program to follow.

Mrs. Ernest Taylor and infant son, Michael Ernest have returned from the Howlett Maternity home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stafford are the parents of a daughter, born Sunday at the Concord Hospital.

Mrs. James Hines and infant daughter Diana are visiting her parents in Texas. They made the trip from New York to Dallas in six hours via plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances Hill are the parents of a son William Russell born Friday May 6, at Concord Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Hill and William are returning from the hospital today.

Mrs. Carl Harrington is confined to her home by illness.

Hope Rebekah lodge through its noble grand, Francena Yeaton, announced visiting officers night at Lyndeboro on Wednesday evening, May 18. The local lodge will be well represented.

At the last regular meeting of Gleason Young post, American Legion auxiliary plans were made for the observance of Poppy Day Saturday, May 28. Lunch was served by Nellie Sippelle and assistants. The president, Mrs. Alvin Yeaton, Jr., was in charge of activities and the business session.

Rehearsals for the Gay Nineties minstrel show are being held regularly. Chairman Dupuis has announced specialty numbers for the two-hour show which will include a cast of 50 men and women of Hillsboro.

Public Service company employees of the local office were given a party on the Jahonda trail at the cottage of Miss Dorrine Daymond on Contention pond. Those in attendance were James Kimball, Cedric Gilchrist, Walter Carter, Fred Bean, Arthur Amiot, David Hills and Raymond Bennett, together with their wives, and Doris Mason of the Antrim office.

At the Legion meeting held on Tuesday evening the purchase of the former Dr. Charles B. Abbott residence owned by Joseph Garafoli was discussed.

ATTENTION! Hillsboro school children and amateur artists!

From Dorinda Jarest, Secretary of the Creative Arts Association of the Monadnock Region comes an invitation for you to enter drawings, paintings, or other creative work (clay or soap sculpture) in their exhibition to open on May 17th in the Art Room of the Keene Teachers College. Put your NAME and GRADE on the FRONT of your drawing, the SCHOOL'S NAME on the BACK, send or deliver to HALE HALL, (ADMINISTRATION BLDG. on the corner of Winchester and Main Street) Keene, N. H., Sunday, May 15th, or leave them at the Cellar Studio. The school children's work will be put up by the Keene Teachers College students.

The AMATEUR ARTISTS' work should be delivered at the same time and places as the school work. All works can be unframed in all mediums but oil; all oils must be framed. There is no charge for exhibiting.

EVERY SCHOOL ROOM has at least one drawing tacked up on the wall that one of the youngsters has done. SEND IT IN TODAY, and put Hillsboro in the Keene Teachers College Exhibition for SCHOOL CHILDREN and AMATEUR ARTISTS opening May 17th in the Art Room of the College. Louis Ordway of Antrim, one of our members of long standing, hasn't been able to attend class recently due to a severe eye infection. It is clearing up slowly and he will be welcomed back soon. Mrs. Bernstein of Henniker worked with us last week and her charcoal drawings showed a great deal of promise. Joyce Guild, our "Most Beautiful Member" was our model last Wednesday. Almost too many OH's and AH's in the beginning to get our work done but some splendid drawings were accomplished.

Remember the Time: Every Wednesday night from 8 to 10 P. M.

Remember the Place: The Cellar Studio in the Valley Hotel.

Remember the Facts: You are welcome as a worker or a visitor and Stuart Bruce is our instructor.

THE STATE HOUSE JOURNAL

by ENOCH SHENTON

just wound up a rough, but successful campaign to elect a governor, senator and a pair of congressmen. During the campaign, the state committee had neglected to invite Tobey to participate in the battle. At a major rally in Hillsboro county, Tobey made an unscheduled appearance, so the embarrassed committee had to invite him to "say a few brief words". The senator proceeded to publicly tell the Republican party leaders what he thought of them for overlooking him so deliberately.

At the moment, Senator Tobey was trying to overcome the taint of prewar isolationism. The incident in Peterboro postoffice, when an elderly lady whacked him on the head with an umbrella, was fresh in the public mind. So, on the day after the 1942 election, he was the chief item under discussion at a private meeting of party chieftains during the usual campaign postmortems. "We'll get the S. O. B. in 1944," one of the state's most important political figures swore, and nobody raised a voice in Tobey's defense.

The time seemed ripe to get rid of Tobey, whose party irregularity was an added incentive to the anti-tobey element in the GOP. The most important leaders in the party held a strategy meeting behind closed doors in Manchester a few weeks later. Newspaper editors, lawyers and public officeholders were on hand to dig the senator's political grave. The only fly in the ointment was the inability of the strategists to decide on a candidate who could beat Tobey. One group held out for Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, then president of Dartmouth college. Another faction wanted Foster Stearns, then at the peak of his popularity and prestige as the congressman from New Hampshire's Second District.

Stearns finally got the decision, on a secret poll. But the Hopkins supporters promptly lost their interest in unseating Tobey, and the best Stearns could do without their support was to give the senator the closest shave in his political career. Tobey won the nomination by only 6,500 votes. Curiously enough, he won the fight right in the city of Manchester. Stearns gave him an awful beating in the Second Congressional District, but trailed badly in the First District.

Mr. Tobey is serving notice in 1949 that he knows there's another plot a foot to oust him from office. When he took the air the other night to announce his candidacy for re-election, he spoke with the confidence of a politician whose fences are in good condition.

Powell vs. Morrow?

Albert S. Baker, political columnist for the Concord Monitor, recently tossed into the ring against Senator Tobey a hat belonging to Aty. Wesley Powell, administrative assistant to Senator Styles Bridges. He said, rightly, that Powell had political ambition and plenty of the ability and showmanship needed for campaigning, with the consensus of political observers, who see Powell as an almost certain candidate for congress in the First Eastern District.

To bolster this pre-election 'dope' comes word from Washington that Powell will resign his post with Bridges this summer. These reports say he will open law offices at Hampton or Portsmouth, and get himself set for a shot at Congressman Merrow.

About New Hampshire

An oil painting of Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer of Christian Science, is getting gingerly attention from public officials. Nobody knows to whom the painting belongs, but the intention is to have it hung in some public building in Concord, her old home and birthplace. Elmer Hurt, curator of the N. H. Historical society, is reported to have nixed the idea of hanging it there: it would attract too many un-historical visitors to that calm sanctum. State officials don't want it in the State House: wall space there is at a premium, and is reserved for public officials.

New Hampshire is dunning Uncle Sam for $128,700. The state contributed that amount to the rural rehabilitation program, with the promise it would be matched with federal funds and spent here. It wasn't. Now the state wants its money back. It was set up under trust in the federal treasury July 12, 1935, was "rediscovered" by Governor Adams and his legislative advisors last week.

Hillsboro Rolls Over Peterboro 13-4

Hillsboro High took an easy victory Monday afternoon at Grimes Field by scoring 13 runs on 11 hits against Peterboro's 4 runs on 4 hits.

The game was startled by Raoul Sullivan's pitching. He struck 12 men out while giving up only 4 hits.

The team was led by Stamatelos with a double and 2 singles and Macukewicz with three singles.
