Coming Events

The Abbie Circle of the Methodist Ladies' Aid will serve a baked bean and salad supper at Community Hall on Saturday, September 24, from 5:30 to 7:00 p. m.

The Hillsboro Center Club will hold a social evening at the Club House on Friday, September 16, at eight o'clock, when Colonel Honeywell will relate interesting and amusing anecdotes in connection with his trip through the Rockies this summer.

Historical Room

The Historical Room in the Community Building still interests me and all those who have seen it. I thought maybe if I mentioned a few of the exhibits there, Messenger readers outside of Hillsboro might send some of their historical relics pertaining to Hillsboro and its people. Andrew Crooker was the first donor. He gave several articles that his father had when he came home from the Civil War; among them, two pocket knives, and two little cup plates. There are little glass plates about three inches in diameter on which a tea cup was placed when it was the fashion to drink tea or coffee from the deep saucers.

Old-timers known about the Hillsboro Band, incorporated in 1825. There must be instruments still in existence like the clarinet played by Newton Gay, which Frank gave or loaned. There is also a hat that was worn by James Bickford, made of cow-hide leather. The Secretary's book, which the late Frank Merrill once loaned to me, ought to be added to the collection, if it can be found. The Band's Rules and Regulations were quite amazing.

William Cobb loaned a little wooden chair and sewing box made by Parker Kimball for his children, of whom Mrs. Cyrus Perry of the Center was one. We used to see the box in her living room.

The D.A.R., loaned a few of their treasures. One is a large chair given them by Mrs. Eliza Haslet, which is 175 years old. Also a teaspoon given her by the National D.A.R., because she was a real Daughter.

There are several pictures of the old Town House and Baptist church, and of other places of interest in Hillsboro.

The certificate awarding Benjamin H. Gay a prize for his potato exhibit in 1861 is proof that Hillsboro used to support a yearly fair on Grimes Field, more commonly known as the "Fair Grounds."

There are many other articles of as much interest, and of historical (Continued On Page 4)

Henniker Townspeople Welcome Returning Students, Faculty of New England College

HENNIKER, Sept. 15 — A new freshman class, entered New England College this week, and brought the enrollment to predicted figures. The some 100 new-comers gave the local institution a unique numerical balance inasmuch as the three classes now in N.E.C. boast about that figure.

Allen L. Bernstein, the Registrar, told the Henniker Weekly, that the student body total may well exceed the 300 mark when all the returns are in. He estimates that registration will continue to some further extent until mid-term. This year the college has several special students and one graduate student in attendance. There are about 12 women students enrolled.

An all-time high in faculty membership has also been attained. Thirty instructors are currently handling the General courses, the Business Administration courses, and the Engineering courses.

Student interest, aside from being directed at the three instructional programs, is turned sharply toward outside student activities. Chief among these is the Fall Sports Program which includes both football and soccer.

One of the pleasing surprises to the returning upperclassmen, as well as a source of satisfaction to the freshmen, is the announced improvement program involving Pilgrim Field. The full details of this program are not yet available, but it is known that facilities will be provided for staging the first intercollegiate football game ever to be played in this town, or, in fact, in this area. It will be played early next November, probably on Armistice Day, Nov. 12, and is expected to be the athletic highlight of the season in the Connecticut Valley.

Students here are favorably impressed by Kenneth H. Brown, the college's new Director of Athletics, is coaching the football team. Brown is a graduate of American University and Columbia.

New recruits have been added to the staff of the college newspaper, "The New Englander," and to the college band and Glee Club. It looks like a banner year for N.E.C., and it will be the first full year of fully accredited operation under its own, and not the State Board of Education's, power.

Fortnightly Club Accents Four Members, One Honorary

HILLSBORO, Sept. 12 — The September meeting of the Fortnightly Club was held last Thursday in the Recreation Hall at Nissen's Camp. Jane Nissen was hostess chairwoman.

Three new members were voted in: Louise Seavy, Louise Casey, Lillian Smith.

A. Gerbert won the shanking doll. The proceeds from the chances will go toward our Beard Brook fund. The club will continue the Beard Brook project next year.

It was voted that Irene Franklin be made an honorary member of the Fortnightly Club. She was the founder of the Junior Fortnightly Club. Five dollars was given by Mrs. Foster Stearns to restore a chair for the kitchen of the Franklin Pierce House.

Alice Nairn as program chairman gave us a hilarious time playing many amazing games in front of a roaring audience. Delicious refreshments were served by our hostesses.

Rev. Yeaple to Discuss What Constitutes Bigotry

HILLSBORO, Sept. 12 — Dr. Whitney S. K. Yeaple will discuss the essential character of authority in Religion under the general theme "Who's A Bigot?" on Sunday morning. He will refer to the recent controversy in the general press which is now being carried on in religious periodicals and point out the futility of name calling in such matters. He will also define what constitutes real bigotry and set forth the need for and way of tolerance and co-operation.

N.E.C. Provost

Distinguished Educator Joins N.E.C. Administration

HENNIKER, — A step of major academic importance to New England College, the designation of Harry Boynton Preston to serve as the institution's Provost and carry on some instruction in fields of his special interest, is announced by President Laurie D. Cox.

Mr. Preston, who retired from Keene Teachers College's faculty this past June, and at that time was honored uniquely by the New Hampshire Department of Education through its award to him of a Distinguished Service Citation for outstanding contributions to the field of education in the State, was elected a trustee of New England College two years ago and was subsequently appointed chairman of the trustees' committee on instruction. His joining both the instructional and administrative staffs give him, hereafter, fourfold duties, a status which is a far cry from retirement as of June this year.

A native of Henniker, Mr. Preston is a graduate of Dartmouth and holds two degrees from that institution, an A.B. and an A.M. For 32 years he has taught in New Hampshire, -12 of those years as Master of Kimball Academy, in Meriden, and for the past 20 years a professor at Keene Teachers College. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary society; Kappa Delta Phi, educational fraternity; and the New Hampshire Historical Society.

He will reside at the Preston homestead in Henniker, known as "Village Home", and make his headquarters there as Provost of the college.

ANTRIM, N. H.

DURHAM — Cited as a "perfect example" of what was really wanted by the sponsors, the Antrim Garden Club's "Measured Mile" is winner of the new contestant division of the 1949 roadside beautification contest.

The contest awards will be distributed Wednesday, September 21, with a luncheon at Bear Brook State park.

The Antrim club's mile is on Route 202, starting at the Antrim-Bennington town line, passing through the village toward Hillsboro.

The area at the foot of Goodell hill was graded and landscaped and poison ivy eradicated. Under a landscaping plan, a 12-foot birch, three white spruce, honeysuckle, forsythia, the 1949 roadside beautification contest.

On the old road section a parking area was made, a bridge railing removed, a drain installed, piles of gravel removed and the whole area raked clean.

The mere cleaning up of the rubbish yielded three full trailer loads, the club discovered. And to the joy of picnic-lovers, enough returnable bottles were found to finance a hot dog roast.

The club estimates that more than 200 working hours were used and that some 75 people contributed time and materials. Because of contributions, the total out-of-pocket cost was only $25.

The roadside committee included: Mrs. Alwin Young, club president; chairman, Mrs. Henry B. Pratt; co-chairman, Mrs. George H. Caughey, Miss Mabel Wilson, F. Ewing Wilson and John Wood.

Relatives Turn Out for Bennington Shingling Bee

BENNINGTON, Sept. 15 — There was an unusual occurrence in town on Sunday last. Your correspondent happened to go past the home of Mrs. Dora Eaton and there were lined up a number of cars.

It turned out to be a shingling bee. The men were doing the work and the ladies were cheering them on and visiting in th front yard.

There were seventy people present including men, women and children all related to Mrs. Eaton. Brothers, sisters, nieces, etc. Dinner was served to all including baked beans, salads, hot dogs, pies and all the rest of the fixin's.

School "Old Stuff" in Hillsboro; Will Antrim Vote to Complete Their Modern School?

School opening in Hillsboro is "old stuff," school sessions having commenced a week ago. In our first picture taken before school opening we see Maurice Randall, 8th grade, rather reluctantly viewing the display of pencils at Board-man's. Mr. Boardman incidentally is the man who will send you that tax bill soon.

In our next picture we see Rodney Gilbert of Deering getting that "must" haircut for the opening of school. Wielding the scissors is John Mayrand of Antrim, who is working with Elton Matthews at Matthews' Barber Shop.

In our visit to N. E. C. we found George H. Morris of the Office of Information preparing for the influx of students. Turning the tables on George who spends so much time getting pictures of others in the newspapers, we hereby present this popular faculty member.

In Antrim, schools are in their first week - in the old building, not the modern, one story building shown in our last picture. Tonight Antrim voters will meet in special school meeting to raise the necessary monies to complete the school. If a majority of two thirds favors the appropriation the students of the elementary grades will celebrate Christmas in the new school. Having gone this far in having the best school in these parts will Antrim voters do the practical thing?

Mrs. R. P. Robinson of Little Gables won the Golf Championship at the Vesper Country Club, Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. Percy Wilson and Mr. Richard Bohanon of Lowell, Mass., were recent guests of the Robinsons at Little Cabins.

David Trecartin was with his mother here last week.

Mrs. Horace Balard and son, Peter, were with her father, David Williams, several days last week.

Mrs. Theodore Allen of Claremont was in our village last week making a survey and sample poll for Life magazine.

At the regular meeting of Purlingbeck grange, Sept. 6, Mr. Preston Rolfe of Lovell grange gave an interesting talk about Grange Insurance.

Mrs. Edith Porter had charge of the literary program. She gave a talk on Citrus fruit. This was followed by a quiz, Robert Porter as Prof. I. Q.

Purlingbeck grange fair will be Saturday the 24th inst.

Walter Chamberlain had an exhibit of maple sugar making equipment at Hopkinton Fair.

Mrs. Bernice Howard and son, Michael, of Rockaway Beach, N. Y., visited her sister, Mrs. Robert Porter, the week end. Thomas Howard, who has been with the Porters all summer, returned home with them. Mrs. Porter's uncle, Geo. Twigger of Ossining, N. Y., is now with them for a few weeks.

25th Wedding Anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morse

HENNIKER, Sept. 15. — A surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morse on Thursday evening in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. It was held at the home of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gould of Concord. Other guests were Miss Bertha Morse, Lois and Forest Morse, Malcolm McComish, Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell of Penacook and Mrs. Ella Farrell Sargent and her husband of Penacook. Refreshments were served.

CONVENTION

Next week's news will feature the trip of our local tax collector, Chester French, and Mrs. French, to Franconia, to the eleventh annual convention of N. H. Tax Collectors Association. Mr. French, by the way, is president. They plan to leave Wednesday, as the meetings begin Thursday, and a full schedule is promised. Thursday evening sounds interesting, with several movies, in colors, of "New Hampshire's Four Seasons," pictures of wildlife habitat, and "Come, Look at New Hampshire," as well as the speaker and music by the Franconia Mens chorus of 25 voices.

September is grange fair time. Wyoming grange, South Weare, is holding the annual fair Monday evening, Sept. 26. In addition to the various exhibits, which go with a fair, around 8 o'clock there will be an Amateur Show, for any one under sixteen years of age, with cash prizes. Any one interested in the exhibits, or amateur show can get any information by getting in touch with Mrs. Helen Dearborn.

I feel I must comment on Camp Bass, at Tall Pines, Bennington. I went over the first day, Wednesday, to stay three days. The weatherman was against us from the start. Mrs. Abbie Sargent, one of the camp organizers, said she thought she was the camp jinx, as every time she came it rained. 24 women sat down at small tables in the dining room three times a day, to very good, and exceptionally well-cooked meals; Miss Beecher, who was also present, found the cook. She taught us the camp project for this year, stenciling on fabrics, which we all found very interesting. Most of it was on unbleached cotton, or Indian Head, with a great variety of subjects; red poppies, brown cat-tails, pink wild roses, blue morning glories and orchid, yellow and water lilies, from a pattern which Miss Beecher herself designed. In the fruits, blue grapes, red cherries and strawberries; also lambs, a Mickey Mouse, and tropical fish. There were luncheon cloths and napkins, table runners, apron borders, and just samples, which made a very pretty display when pinned on the dining room wall. No dishes to do, as there were two high school girls who took over the job of waitress and dish-washer. Miss Ruth Judkins was a happy addition to our party one day. She brought two very lovely samples; one fine linen handkerchief, with daisies, and a really beautiful fingertip towel, with blue and rose poppies, which made my work, at least, look like kindergarden stuff. Of course, we got together for social times in the evenings; cards, books, or whatever we wished. And, of course, the moon came out just as we drove into Weare, after pouring rain all day. I learned the rudiments of stenciling, and also that very lovely things can be made, with not too much effort, or time, or expense; the more concentration, the better the work. Of course, in Miss Beecher we have a hard working and very conscientious leader.

Listening to the radio Sunday morning, I heard a sermon, the subject of which was, "There's a Picture Ahead." The pastor referred to the signs he used to see long some roads. That is a good thought to keep in mind this fall as we drive, ride, or walk. Around the corner, if we are not going too fast, there are many beautiful pictures, and which we can catch with the camera or our mind's eye. Yesterday, in our case it was not scenery, but three deer.

All kinds of ways to take vacations. Leon Taylor took a week off from his duties at the Flanders Poultry Farm, and stayed home, working on his boat, recently acquired. It looks very good, mahogany finish, and was put in the water Sunday. A two-seater, roomy, and will no doubt be seen a great deal on Weare Reservoir until the ice forms.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Reade attended last week, the Farm Bureau Insurance Convention at Sebago Lake, Maine, which was held Tuesday through Friday. There were business meetings every day which the men attended. Their wives were free to do as they chose, and spent their time socially, with embroidery, cards, or sightseeing, but always meeting for their meals.

During their stay they made their headquarters at Goodwin Lodge, at North Sebago, on the shore of the lake. They also drove to Bridgeton and Naples, and took a 7-mile drive to the Son-go Locks, but were unable to see any boats going through, as the water was low; eight feet below the level.

Over the holiday week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Reade were their daughter, Gertrude, from Wakefield, Mass., Miss Marion Drew of Houlton, Me., Mr. and Mrs. George West and son, George, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mae Donald, of South-bridge, Mass.

The County Convention of the W.C.T.U. will be held at the North Weare Federated church, Tuesday, Sept. 20. The program is in charge of the County president, Mrs. Florence Verry of Hillsboro, and dinner will be served by the church circle.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Nichols recently were Mrs. Nichols' sister, Doris, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Woods, of Southington, Conn.

Albert Farmer, selectman, has a new well. Clarence Bundy, with a gas shovel, has just finished digging one back of Mr. Farmer's house in South Weare, which is 10 feet deep, and 14 ft., by 30 ft. This makes the fifth well Mr. Bundy has dug in South Weare, in addition to his work on the road. The others are at Leon Grant's home, the former Zane place, and at the home of Jimmie Stevens, Charles Eastman, and George Selmer's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bauman and two children, Billie and Linda, were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Bauman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gelinus. The Baumans are now living in a new home built by Mr. Bauman.

Monday evening, Sept. 19, is the date for the PTA membership supper, with Mrs. Margaret Wood as new president.

Starting next week Tuesday and Thursday matinees will be discontinued, for the fall and winter season, at the Capitol Theatre.

Union Pomona to Meet With Bear Hill Grange

HENNIKER, Sept. 15 — Bear Hill grange met Tuesday evening with the master, Mrs. Arden Moody presiding. Invitations were read for Neighbors Night at Weare and Capitol granges; for Presiding Masters Night at Hillsboro, Sutton and Contoocook granges; for Overseers Night at Goffstown and Deering granges; and for 75th anniversary programs at Washington and Peterboro granges.

The program consisted of songs, a quiz and special feature by the lecturer, and the required discussion "What Can We Do to Best Meet the Needs of the Young People in Our Community?" Speakers were Leo Fisher, Cecile Derby, Fred Connor and Mrs. Albert Champagne.

Union Pomona will meet with Bear Hill grange on Sept. 20. There will be a 6 o'clock supper in charge of Mrs. Howard Gammell.

Miss Judith Pratt is at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. B. Pratt, for a short vacation. She will attend N. H. U.
Mrs. Guy D. Tibbetts and Miss Catherine Harrington of Hillsboro left Friday for a ten-day trip to Bermuda.
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Wilson are visiting relatives and friends at their former home, Dover, N. H.
Benjamin Griswold and Earl Worth, past commanders of Myers-Prescott Post 60, American Legion, are in charge of four towns. Antrim, Hancock, Franconstown and Greenfield, for the Air Defense Command tests being held from September 10 to 16 in this area. This town's observation post is presently located at the Charles White farm, East Antrim.
Howard Humphrey, local manenroute to California where he will be a delegate to the National Grand Encampment of the IOOF. Stanley Buchanan of Concord went with him. They will be away about three weeks.

Mrs. William F. Clark has been discharged from Monadnock Community Hospital and is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hall in Winchendon. She is still under the care of a nurse.
The postponed PTA meeting will be held Thursday, September 22, in School Hall at 7:30 p. m.
The Mission Circle of the Presbyterian church will hold a public supper Wednesday, September 21, in the church dining room at 8 o'clock.
Stanley Canfield, Jr., and Waide May are ill with Rheumatic Fever.
Mrs. Paul Beaumont and two children from Milton, Mass., are spending a week with her mother, Mrs. William Hurlin. Mr. Hurlin is on a business trip to Chicago.
An all-day meeting of the Ladies Circle of the Baptist church was held Wednesday in the church vestry. Dinner was served at noon by the hostess committee.

Mrs. Wallace George, District 2 Director, assisted by Mrs. Albert Zabriskie, Mrs. Andrew Fuglestad, Mrs. Howard Humphrey, Mrs. Philip Lang, and Mrs. Benjamin Griswold, all of Antrim, and Mrs. Helen Barker, District Alternate, and Thelma Walsh both of James A. Coffey Auxiliary of Nashua, installed the officers of Donald Petrie Post Auxiliary of Hollis, Thursday evening of last week.
Friday, September 23, an ordination service will be held at the Presbyterian church when Rev. Reece Y. Henderson will be installed as regular pastor of the church.
Many townspeople have commented on the tattered and torn condition of most of our street flags. The Myers-Prescott Post 50, American Legion, is planning to order flags for some of its members and extends this invitation to all townspeople, who would like to purchase new flags, to place their orders with the Legion. The names of persons with whom orders may be placed will be announced as soon as the flag prices are ascertained.

LISABEL GAY'S COLUMN
value. It is a fine way to preserve some of the heirlooms we have always treasured. There is a good place for yours.
School opened last Wednesday, both the grades and high school. It is good to know that the boys and girls are passing by each day. Of course I am especially interested in the first grade. Mrs. Mellon began with 27 pupils this fall. As always, there are many interesting remarks made by the children. One child looked up at her and said: "Mrs. Mellon, were you ever a baby?" My next door neighbor, Jack Woods, started to school this year, but he was two days late because of illness.
Improvement Club
The Improvement Club held its first meeting of the fall season at the home of Mrs. Ismay Smith on the Antrim road last Tuesday evening, September 6. After the business meeting each member was asked to relate an experience of her farm life. Those who told the stories left out all the hard work and monotony of such an existence, and told only the happy, funny parts of it, which was probably better to listen to. Those who had no experience told a funny story about it anyway, so farm life to that group seemed quite a joke. Another very interesting feature of the program was a talk by Mrs. Mary Holden describing the plays she attended during the summer given by the Peterboro Players. Mrs. Holden always tells a good story, and made her listeners almost see the the plays themselves.
Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Smith and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. Carrie Cross, Mrs. Statira Barnes, Mrs. Lottie Harvey, Mrs. Eunice Willgeroth and Mrs. Mary Oakes.
The Young Farmers' 4-H Club seems to have made good at the Cheshire Fair, winning plenty of blue ribbons. I was interested to hear over the radio Jack Tasker and Donald Wood as they were interviewed. Frank went over with the Tasker family to visit the Fair on Thursday.
Mrs. Ernest Marcy has been visiting her sister, Miss Bridgen, at Long Lane School, Meriden, Conn., for several days.
Mrs. B. D. Peaslee and the Honeywell's were in Hudson last Friday to visit their friend, Mrs. Kendrick.
Miss Ellen McClintock and Ruth Murdough have returned to Plymouth Normal College.
Walter Colby enrolled Monday, September 12, at New England Aircraft School, Boston, Mass. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Colby over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stasulis and Russell Colby.
Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Baker attended the Rexall Convention in Boston last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gunn attended the Friday session of the same Convention.
Mrs. Dorothy Hefferman is a patient at Margaret Pillsbury hospital, Concord. Her son, Jackie, is staying at the home of Mrs. James Hudson on West Main street.
Mrs. Victoria Loosigan of Henniker was the guest of Miss Pearl Ray last week.
Miss Marion Lundberg returned to her teaching in the Tucker School of Milton, Mass., last week. Also, Miss Gertrude Janowsky and Miss Ethel Farley returned to their teaching positions in Melrose, Mass., on Labor Day.
Mrs. William Salisbury and children left on Sunday for their home in Jefferson City, Mo., after spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lundberg.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herrick and small son of Easton, Mass., were week end guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lothrop Herrick.
Mrs. George Coggan of Yarmouth, N. S., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elwood Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Aim and two children also visited her parents, and all enjoyed a trip through the White Mountains during their stay of five days here.
Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Dill left for Edgewater, Md., after spending three weeks at their summer home on Loon Lake.
Miss Jean Nally, who had a very slight attack of polio, is very much better now.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Colby spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Saybrook, Conn., and both couple attended the wedding of Miss Nancy Taggart and Mr. William K. DuVal at Upper Montclair, N. J.
Mr. Arthur Grainger of Cold Springs, New York, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles L. Whittle.
Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Grimes, Jr., of Athol, Mass., are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Linda, on September 8, at the Henry Heywood hospital, Gardner, Mass.
Funeral Services for Mrs. Georgie Howlett
HENNIKER, Sept. 15. — Mrs. Georgie Howlett died Monday afternoon, Sept. 5, at the home of her sister, Mrs. May Connor after a short illness. She was born Nov. 19, 1861, in Bradford, the daughter of Horace and Eliza (Murdough) Dow. She had always lived in Bradford until she moved to Henniker 23 years ago. She is survived by two sisters: Mrs. Connor and Mrs. Lydia Hoyt of Contoocook, and a brother, H. Ibern Dow of Plaistown, and nieces and nephews.
The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the funeral home of H. L. Holmes and Son with Rev. Robert Lewis officiating. Bearers were Harry and Arnold Hoyt of Hopkinton, John Woods of Keene and Grover Annis. Burial was in the Pond Cemetery at Lake Massasecum, Bradford.
The first meeting of the Mothers Club will be held next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the parish house when Mr. Hall of Goffstown will show children's clothing. All mothers in the community are cordially invited to attend.
Mr. and Mrs. Willis Munsey, Mrs. Albert Champagne and Mrs. R. N. Farley were in New Ipswich on Monday evening to attend the 75th anniversary of the grange.
Mr. and Mrs. T. Edward Fisher and baby have returned from a trip to Long Island where they visited Mrs. Fisher's relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Adams and four children of Durham, Conn., spent Sunday with Mrs. Stella Adams.
Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brill were in Newport, Friday, to attend the funeral of Orra Merrill.

BALDWIN'S SQUARE MARKET
"For the Best Shop at Baldwins, Hillsboro"

On The Street

by PAUL S. SCRUTTON

The hydrant that was moved several months ago from across the street near the Sunoco station is still conspicuously reclining on the front lawn of the Louis Daniels house at the corner of Henniker and Jackson streets. Undoubtedly if a fire occurred on Henniker or Jackson streets the hydrant in Central Square would be used. The hydrant, now peacefully reclining on the lawn, was removed at the request of Joseph Garafoli as was the pole across the street. We just as politely request the placement of the hydrant where it will do some real good in case of fire and no afterwards, and for the benefit of myself and neighbors.

Mrs. Ernest Coombs of Henniker showed us a beautiful Christmas tree growing in her yard and offered it to the town of Hillsboro, providing it is cut down next December. Here is an opportunity to secure a better than average tree gratis. This one has the height, the shape and what it takes to make a real Christmas tree. Lets not pass it up.

If it costs so much to make a horse pulling pit we wonder how much it would cost to build a dirt road of the same dimensions. Estimates vary from 50 to 75 dollars but the one at Grimes Field is evidently an Old Home Day folly.

Speaking of tax rates this year a prominent citizen said that he could not figure out what he gets for his money that the fellow just outside the precinct did not get. The town rate is $3.71 against the precinct rate of $5.60. Just what does the fellow living in the precinct get that the fellow just over the border does not get? If you live in the China town honkey-tonk section of the village you get plenty of noise, canned music, parked cars across your driveway, stray cats across your path, dogs in the garbage pail and might as well try to sleep in hell until after midnight when the owls start hooting to give you peace and quiet.

TIME-PLACE-FACT

by Jeanne Eccles

Karen Rasmussen, Margaret and Bill's spirited youngster, was our model last Wednesday evening, and of us all, Mrs. King, a completely new member of our art class, caught her youthfulness and her sparkle.

It will seem strange not to have Mrs. Bruce dropping in on us, at least, once in a while. Japan is a long way off but hope that she will write us and keep us informed as to her whereabouts and her interesting work on General MacArthur's staff.

Danny Bliss, one of our summer students, had to leave on a Wednesday morning, and according to a letter received from his family, it just broke his heart to have to go before the evening art class. We will look forward to having him with us again next summer.

Let's make a resolution here and now to try to get to class regularly and put in some good, serious, work this fall and winter, so as to make our 3rd Annual Spring Show just tops in interest and quality. Won't be long now before National Art Week.

Visited Mr. Herrick the other morning and each time we do so, it is a revelation the astonishing amount of work he does without seeming effort. To be a craftsman in metalwork, wood carving and woodcraft, to work with precious and semi precious stones, takes years of experience. His knowledge of the metals the woods, and stones (the rock, he calls them) seems to be unlimited.

Cynthia Cooper attended class for the first time last week and shows much promise. All our younger members are talented, all they need is that stick-to-it-tiveness, that is what counts in her end.

Time: From 8 o 10 p. m., every Wednesday evening.
Place: The Cellar Studio in the Valley Hotel.

Facts: You are welcome as a worker or a visitor and Stuart Bruce is our instructor.

U. N. Brings World to U. S. Says League Speaker

HILLSBORO, Sept. 15 — On Tuesday evening, the 13th, the League of Women Voters of Hillsboro opened the fall and winter season, meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Sterling, Central street with a large attendance of members and friends.

Mrs. Daniel Poling of Deering, guest speaker, in a plea for the United Nations, stressed the importance of a spiritual understanding of the issues involved in this great instrument for World Peace. "The United Nations," she said, "has brought the world to New York, and we can all help in making the United Nations successful by a deep desire within us, as we go about our daily tasks for the success of this great endeavor for peace among the nations." Mrs. Poling quoted one Polish woman as saying when she came away from a visit to Lake Success, "Not until we can pray for our enemies will peace come."

The League voted the sum of $5.00 to be sent the Mt. Holyoke Institute for United Nations toward the continuance of these sessions.

Mrs. Yeaple gave a brief summary of how the Program for League agenda is decided upon, and Mrs. Herrick, the president, urged all present to communicate with Legislators in Washington expressing their opinions on current important Bills pending.

Plan Public Reception for Rev. and Mrs. Robert Floyd

ANTRIM, Sept. 15 — The public is cordially invited to attend a reception for Rev. and Mrs. Roger Floyd at the Baptist church, Wednesday, September 21, at 8 o'clock. The social committee, Mrs. Arthur English, Mrs. Philip Lang, and Reginald Cleveland will be in charge. Mrs. B. F. Tenney will present a musical program.

ANTRIM AUTHOR

With the publishing of his book, The Future of Evolution, this week, the author, Junius T. Hanchett, reveals himself to his fellow townsmen in a new role, no longer that of an attorney at law, but philosopher and poet. Along with others in Antrim and Hillsboro we look forward with interest to the reading of this book. Congratulations Mr. Hanchett.

DOWN THE DRAIN

Reports from Concord indicate that the North Country hotels spent some fifteen thousand dollars in lobby fees to defeat the Amonoosuc river pollution bill. They failed. That is a lot of money to pour down the drain. It might have done a lot to improve the sewage disposal plants.

Now the story appears that one lobby member charged a thirty-five hundred dollar fee and is having difficulty in collecting. The client does not think that the results are in proportion to the bill. —Bristol Enterprise.

Dishes containing egg, milk, gelatin, poultry or fish all need to be kept cold during hot weather to avoid spoilage.

WELCOME N.E.C. STUDENTS

Henniker and Hillsboro people this week are welcoming the new students of New England College. With the largest enrollment in its history, many of the students will need places to live, some who are married will need apartments or housekeeping rooms.

If you have a room that some student could use please contact the N.E.C. office in Henniker. Early this week the Messenger Office was visited by a student seeking an apartment or house in Hillsboro for his family of three.

We are wondering whether some of our summer residents would not find it profitable to have a student family use their home during the winter months.

The College starts this new year with a clean slate as far as Hillsboro is concerned, Henniker residents already accepting the college as an asset to their town. We hope with the selection of a provost the few bad apples will be made to walk the straight and narrow path. By this we do not imply that student situations are always the student's error.

We hope the clubs and businessmen of Hillsboro will not oversell any student - it will certainly be a discredit to our town if they do.

SPORTSMEN'S COLUMN by GEORGE S. PROCTOR

NEW HAMPSHIRE CONSERVATION OFFICER
Phone 104 Wilton, N. H.

The Saturday Evening Post has settled a question that the late N. H. Legislature could not agree on. They have a picture of all the state birds and the one for N. H. is the N. H. Red hen.

Connecticut is doing wonderful things on the anti-pollution subject. Other states could copy Connecticut in its great work.

Some time ago someone asked about Siamese kittens. Well, here I have a letter from Mrs. Effie Doe Black of Bennington, saying she has seven of them, all registered.

Ever see a four-legged chicken? Well, Bill Burgeson of Border street, Milford, has one set up in his taxidermy studio. Just a freak of Nature. He also has a museum of waterfowls and animals worth seeing.

In the September number of the American magazine is an article by Prof. W. Michael that will be of great interest to you fishermen. In order to be a success with fish you have to know them. The professor on one expedition alone caught 600, which shows he knows his stuff.

Henry P. Davis of Remington Arms Company tells us that the key to good hunting can be found in the pocket of the farmer. The farmer raises the game birds and animals on his land. Be a friend of the farmer and you are sure of good hunting.

Yep, you have got to dig down for two bucks instead of one if you want to hunt waterfowl this fall.

The postmaster sells stamps to you at the local post office. This will double the income and will buy up more protection for the geese and ducks.

Despite the dry summer they report down from Canada that the waterfowls have hatched well and that there will be a fine supply of ducks this fall. Last year was a bad year for them; too much rain.

Philip Magoon of Greenfield, who rents boats on Otter lake, reports that ex-Capt. Jones of Amherst Street fire station in Nashua, took two 4-pound bass, also some nice pickerel. Starr Sumner of Greenfield and Mr. Gagoon himself got his limit of pout. The pout are running good sized this year at Otter lake.

Word comes from Allied Distributors, Inc., of Gardena, Cal., one of the largest distributors of chinchillas in this country, that Dr. Homer F. MacMurray of Nashua and Milford has been appointed as Territorial Veterinarian.

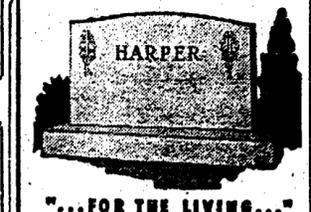

The Massachusetts Department of Conservation reports covers of that state are stocked with 46,000 ringneck pheasants: 13,000 were hatched at the game farm and the sporting clubs in the state. Besides the pheasants the state has raised and liberated over 6,000 bobwhite and quail.

The Fish and Wildlife Service reports that the wood ducks are taking to the boxes put up for them and last year over 90 percent were used by the ducks. Pennsylvania, Vermont, New Hampshire and Ohio are doing good work in this line. A few years ago the wood duck was very low in population, but a little protection and help in the housing situation is making good returns.

Speaking of watch dogs. Here is my list for this week: two year old male Collie-Shepherd, Collie female (young), six Setters 18 months old, one male pup, part Airedale, all for a good home. No strings. Can tell you where they are.

State papers tell us that the bass are down at the bottom of the ponds and lakes. Last week two men from Nashua caught them at Otter lake, Greenfield; in 18 feet of water. Harry Draper of Wilton tells us that he caught two at Sunset lake, Greenfield, in six and 15 feet of water. No doubt the cooler weather has brought them nearer to the surface.

DEERING
Paul Cooper has closed the gaps and improved the big field at Chick-A-Biddy Farm.
Ed. Melton has returned from a three weeks trip to Panama and spent several days with his family at their summer home on the lake.

THE STATE HOUSE JOURNAL

by ENOCH SHINTON

If Gov. Sherman Adams ever thought seriously of opposing U. S. Sen. Charles W. Tobey in the Republican primary next year, his closest associates weren't aware of it. Yet one of the state's political writers burst into print last week with the surprise announcement that Governor Adams wasn't going to run for the Senate. Of course, the paper publishing that astute political prediction has been scrambling around for months trying to build up someone who can "kill off" Brother Tobey.

From this corner, the psalm-singing, crusading Senator from Temple still looks unbeatable. He's a gadfly who constantly stings the stuffed shirts in the GOP hierarchy, as our colleague points out, but the voters apparently love him for it. At the low-water-mark of his political career in 1945, after he had been tarred-and-feathered for his isolationism, he was able to beat Foster Stearns, the popular, learned Second District congressman, by 6,800 votes in the Republican primary. Then he went on, without help from the anti-Tobey GOP political machine, to win by 4,000 in November. And that was the November when Roosevelt swept this state by 10,000 votes, when Congressman Chester E. Merrow of Ossipee came under the wire by only 2,000 votes and Governor Adams, then running for Congress, was able to beat Harry Carlson of Plainfield by a slim 9,000-vote margin.

The columnist who wrote the "dope" story on Mr. Adams' decision to run against Tobey, made passing mention of three outstanding New Hampshire political figures as potential candidates for the Senate next year. They were Atty. Wesley Powell of North Hampton, chief aid to Sen. Styles Bridges; ex-Congressman Foster Stearns of Exeter; and William G. Saltonstall, principal of Phillips-Exeter Academy. It's reasonably sure Powell won't run for senator; it's a certainty Stearns isn't interested at all; and it's doubtful Saltonstall ever gave it a thought.

As for Governor Adams, political observers have known for at least a year he would seek a second term. That was made plain to his intimates even before he was nominated as the GOP candidate for Governor in 1948. He doesn't like Washington, anyhow, which is the main reason he retired from Congress in 1946 to run for Governor.

Congressman Norris Cotton of Lebanon found himself promoted as the current "leading possibility" to take the field against Senator Tobey in 1950. It probably was a surprise to the husky, good-natured lawyer who represents the Second N. H. district so capably in Washington. If ever a politician gave evidence of being perfectly happy in his job, and lacking the desire to do battle for somebody else's place in the light, that's Norris Cotton. Early this year he began writing a smart Washington column for the daily and weekly newspapers "back home." In his distribution of the column he has scrupulously restricted himself to the papers in his own western section of the state. Cotton authors a wonderfully readable weekly piece that papers in the Eastern District undoubtedly would be glad to print—it's free—but he's keeping it in his own bailiwick.

Here's how the State House boys look at 1950: Governor Adams will seek reelection, probably with no serious opposition in the GOP primary. Senator Tobey and Congressmen Cotton and Merrow also will run for reelection. Of this trio, only Cotton seems to be in the position of lacking opposition in his own party.

N. H. Parks Hit Jackpot
New Hampshire's 21 state-owned parks are having the biggest year in their history. Director Russell B. Tobey isn't sure yet where all the money came from, but his department's widely scattered cash registers have been ringing a merry tune all summer. It will take at least a week for his accountants to tell how much came from patronage fees at the parks, and how much was profit from sales at park concessions.

Two weeks before Labor Day, state park income was running 30 percent ahead of 1948, the previous record year. Business was "terrific," park spokesmen said. But the late-August polio scare drove patrons away. Business dropped to nil. When half the parks finally were closed last week, the season's revenue was only about 10 percent ahead of last year's.

Income is most important now to the Recreation division. The Legislature in July withdrew all support from the park system, told Tobey to live entirely on his revenue. This amounts to more than a half-million dollars every year, so it didn't cripple park operations. Some economies had to be made, however, to stay within income. Tobey turned Peterboro pool back to the town, and withdrew state funds from the operation at Bellamy park in Dover.

The biggest boost Tobey got this year was the tremendous patronage at state parks. "We got a lot of help from the weather," he admits. The various facilities for swimming, camping, hiking and sight-seeing got maximum use throughout the season. As a result, Tobey reports, state parks will be in a position to "offer some semblance of public service" when they open next spring.

Foliage Season Soon
All but six parks are now closed. The six that stay open are those that are particularly popular for fall foliage travellers, picnickers and campers. Moose Brook park in Gorham will be open until Sept. 19. White Lake park will close Sept. 28. Cardigan closes Oct. 12, and Bear Brook follows suit the next day. Wellington park, the last to remain open, closes its gates Oct. 15.

About New Hampshire
Many people seem to think Governor Adams, Senate President Perkins Bass and House Speaker Richard F. Upton were kidding when they said new tax legislation would be introduced and probably passed at the special session of the General Court next winter. They must have forgotten this resolution passed in the closing days of the Legislature last July:

"There shall be a Special Legislative Committee who shall examine the fiscal condition of the state and the sufficiency of the funds appropriated to carry on the essential functions of the state. This committee shall report to the special session of his Legislature such additional tax and other revenue measures and appropriations as may be needed to carry on the essential functions of the state government, INCLUDING EDUCATION."

The last clause is significant. State aid to local school districts definitely is not a closed book, as far as this Legislature is concerned. Groundwork for the committee's report already is being done by Remick H. Loughton of Portsmouth, legislature budget assistant, in cooperation with Comptroller Arthur E. Bean.

Watch for early announcement that a new shoe company is opening a manufacturing plant in Nashua, in buildings formerly occupied by Textron, Inc. It will employ a reported 1,000 people.

good quality for LESS

A simple principle—Good Quality for Less—has found favor with thrifty folk for more than three-score years. Bringing Good Quality for Less is daily proof that you can SHOP AT SEARS AND SAVE.

Now, at Anniversary time, Sears counts 63 years, and thanks you for doing business with us. We will continue to offer the Good Quality for Less that has attracted millions of Americans to Sears and brought them back again and again. Back for more goods of high quality at low price.

"But"—you say—"how do you explain the low price? Doesn't low price necessarily mean cheap merchandise?"

Not at Sears.

Large sales volume enables Sears to buy in quantity and sell more economically. Mass buying is thrifty buying. Mass selling is thrifty selling. The two combined make low price possible. Low price means savings passed right on to you, money left in your pocket. You would think that this would be enough. But, Sears isn't satisfied with low price alone. The goods we sell at our low prices are triple tested. First, in Factories where Sears quality specifications must be met. Next, in our own great modern Laboratory, where merchandise must prove its strength or confess its weakness. Then, in Homes and Workshops, on Farms and Highways, under actual "in-use" conditions. All of this to "Guarantee satisfaction or your money back."

No wonder thrifty Americans tell you it's good business to trade with Sears!

Appropriately, we have planned hosts of storewide values for you during the nine great days ahead . . . days when you can celebrate our Anniversary by saving extra money. Anniversary time, all the time, we do everything we know how to do to feature Good Quality for Less, enabling you and millions across the nation to SHOP AT SEARS AND SAVE.

Mrs. Ruth Otterson
CORRESPONDENT

Over 150 attended the Lovell grange meeting and supper last Friday night. It was State Officers' Night and also the 75th anniversary of Lovell grange was celebrated. Members of this grange worked the 1st degree as it was done 75 years ago, dressed in old fashioned costumes. There were 12 State officers and deputies present, including the State Master, Charles Eastman of Kingston, who spoke at the meeting. The program following the meeting consisted of a History of Lovell grange by Mrs. Doris Tucker, duets, sung by Mrs. Ruth Otterson and John Newman, a piano solo by Mrs. Herbert Gove of Newport, and a tableau by the grange chorus.

Following the program an anniversary cake, made by the ladies of Purlingbeck grange, was lighted and served. Dancing followed with recorded music in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deoss of Concord.

Washington observation post is being manned this week as are many other posts throughout the state for a week of test operations. Planes will be spotted and reported from the sunporch at Harry Newman's home. Mrs. A. Stanley Drew is in charge of operations and many who served as observers during the war are taking four-hour shifts.

Mr. Maurice Nichols is quite ill and in a hospital in New Jersey. He was on his way to Virginia with his family, where he had a teaching job in a high school when he was taken sick.

Week end visitors at Millen Pond were the Woods and Rochfords of Peterboro, the Copps, the Halls, the Lees; and Mr. and Mrs. Alan-son Crandall and Diane who just recently returned from a motor trip to Chicago and Oak Park, Ill. Mrs. Kay Hartwell and son, Bob, rode out to their home at Oak Park with them.

Miss Isabel Miller and Mr. and Mrs. "Doc" Lord of Peterboro have been spending a few days at Rochford's camp on Millen Pond.

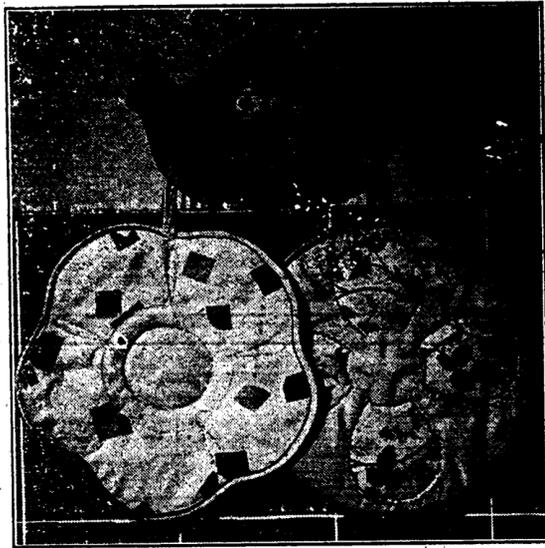

Mr. and Mrs. George Oestreich of Manhasset, New York, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Rodden this week.

There will be church, Sunday morning, at 10:45. Rev. A. A. Mad-son will lead the service. Lets all who can attend and help keep our church active. He had a fine ser- mon last Sunday and the atten- dance was good considering so many of our summer friends have left us.

HILLSBORO

Mr. and Mrs. William Roach are visiting friends in town. They are planning to stay for a few weeks before going on to Florida.

Funeral Services for Summer Resident, Arthur W. Loftus

Arthur W. Loftus, for thirty-one years a resident of Winchester, passed away Friday evening, September 9th, at his home in Range-ley. Although critically ill in Oc- tober of last year, he had been able to spend the summer months at his home in Hillsboro, from which he had returned the Thurs- day previous to his death.

Mr. Loftus was the son of Jo- seph D. and Francis (Knox) Lof- tus. He was born in Winthrop, Mas- sachusetts, on January 5, 1871. Shortly after his birth, the family moved to Chelsea, Massachusetts, where Mr. Loftus was educated in the public schools. As a young man he joined the family firm of J. D. Loftus & Co., oil manufactur- ers in Chelsea, and at the death of his father he became its Junior Partner.

Shortly after his marriage he moved to Winchester, purchasing the home in Rangeley in 1918 from the Edwin Ginn estate. Due to ill health, Mr. Loftus was confined to his home for many years and although unable to take an active part in civic and social affairs, his interest in them remained always keen, and all who knew him were attracted by his quiet, kindly per- sonality and by his friendly humor.

Mr. Loftus had a deep and abid- ing love for Hillsboro. He had spent his summers here since he was a very young man, at the home of his parents at Loon Lake, now occupied by his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Loftus; and later at his own home, Gentian Cottage.

Mr. Loftus is survived by his wife, Marguerite L. (Dolan), three daughters: Esther (Mrs. Philip C. Putnam) of Center Ossipee, N. H., Ruth L. and Mary Virginia of Winchester, and by a brother, Jo- seph F. of Chelsea, Massachusetts, and Hillsboro, N. H.

Funeral services were held at St. Mary's church in Winchester at 10 a. m., on Monday, September 12th. Interment was in the family lot at Glendale Cemetery, Everett, Massachusetts. 12th. Honorary pall bearers were Dr. Richard W. Sheekey and Mr. James A. Newman of Winchester; Mr. Edwin F. A. Benson of West Newton, Mass.; and Mr. Charles F. Smith of New York. Interment was in the family lot at Glendale Cemetery, Everett, Massachusetts.

Old Home Services at Woodbury Memorial

ANTRIM, Sept. 15 — More than one hundred persons attended an Old Home Service Sunday afternoon at Woodbury Memorial Methodist church. Rev. Ray E. Cowen, District Superintendent, preached. The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit R. Stevens of Welesley, Mass., was christened. In the choir were George Curtis, Lester Putnam, Lester Hill, Ethel Roeder, Vera Butterfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Poor. Mrs. Edith Muzzev was organist. Rev. Reece Y. Henderson, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, sang, "The Ninety-and-Nine."

Five ministers besides those al- ready mentioned attended: Rev. H. L. Packard, Rev. C. W. Turner, and Rev. Roger Floyd of Antrim; Rev. George Davis of Hancock, and Rev. G. Bennett Van Buskirk of Laconia.

Out of town visitors included: Mr. and Mrs. Rial Rowe and two daughters, Unity; Miss Florence Boron, Concord; Mrs. Ethel Whit- ney, Concord; Mrs. Hazel Burn- ham Clough, Penacook; Paul Colby, Holbrook, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Curtis and Mrs. Althea Curtis, Athol, Mass.; Forrest Bou- telle, Hillsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Milan Parker and children and Mrs. Ma- bel Parker, Bennington; Mr. and Mrs. Cranston Eldredge and Mr. and Mrs. Buttr Eldredge, Winchen- don, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit R. Stevens and three children, Wellesley, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Folsom and son, John, Springvale, and Miss Jane Hastings, Fryeburg, Maine.

A social hour followed and re- freshments of sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served by the hostess committee, Miss Ethel Muzzy chairman.

Mr. Andrew Carr arrived last Wednesday for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Irving E. Jones, at "Jonesmere."

The first meeting of the season for the Lower Village Ladies Aid was held Sept. 7th at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Wesley Bumford, the president. Routine business was taken care of and year books for this winter's meetings distributed. An interesting and instructive year lies ahead. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Emily Jones and the subject is "Aprons."

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Nelson of Ossining were guests of Mrs. Frank J. Orser last Saturday. Their son, Carl, is Dolly Orser's husband. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nelson have just purchased a ranch at Bridge, Oregon.

Well folks! I have my crops harvested, and have for once gotten one step ahead of "Jack Frost." After checking the different items was surprised to find I had raised more than I produced.

To those that have inquired through the Messenger about how I am coming along with my stamp venture, will give you the facts. The blue prints I sent for arrived, but found them to be for three-decker hen houses and silos. Have already sent to Sears, Roebuck for a predrug ceiling, and when it arrives think I will have "Buster" Davis build the house. (That was a dandy he had in the parade.) To Mrs. Antrim Branch, will say: I may be able to deliver stamps later, but will have to sell for cash as I am unable to buy them on the "Easy Payment Plan."

There has been a lot in the papers about the "Deep Freezer," that President Truman received as a present. If someone had given me one we wouldn't have done so much canning. Years ago how they used to dry the different things like corn, pumpkin and apples. I can almost hear the flies that would swarm on the apples when they were put out to dry. It brings to mind a piece I once spoke about "Dried Apple Pies," when I went to school. It went something like this: I abhor, detest, despise, I abominate dried apple pies. The farmer takes his earliest fruit, It's wormy, bitter, hard too boot, And on a dirty cord is strung, And in some dirty chamber hung; And there it serves for roost for flies Until it's ready to make pies; Tread on my corns, or tell me lies, But don't pass me dried apple pies.

It has been reported to us that ten automobile accidents have occurred in a year near the bridge over Ammi Brook on the Concord Road by O. H. Lange's house, the former Felch Farm. Most of them have happened on the hill and curve as the road approaches the bridge, coming towards the village. These ten accidents have all happened since the road was made over during the summer of 1948, presumably because it was banked wrong.

Insurance must be modern, too!

Suppose you went to an automobile showroom, asked to see the new models and the salesman ushered you over to a bright and shiny contraption, glittering with brass, acetylene lights and informed you that it actually had four cylinders. Would you be interested? Insurance policies, like the automobile they protect, have kept pace of the times. Back of the same old established company names, modernized protection has come forward to meet modern hazards, not only covering automobiles but in every requirement of property and personal need. When you get in touch with us for any kind of insurance protection you may be sure that it will be as up-to-date as tomorrow's newspaper.
