Tulips and Lilacs

Gold and crimson tulips, lift bright heads up

Catch the shining dew-drops in your dainty cups.

If the birdies see you as they're flying by,

They will think a sunset dropped from out the sky.

I can see my first grade of a dozen different nationalities singing their little songs.

This is tulip time or has been for a week or more. They may be on the wane, but at least they had the grace to wait until after Memorial Day. Every garden in the town shows at least a few tulips and some have many of them. I can only see those around the big rock, but I am told the tulips in the Irving Read garden are especially gorgeous this year.

Lilacs of every kind were in full bloom for Memorial Day. I cannot go any where to see my state flower, but I can hear Alfred Noyes poem, "Go down to Kew in lilac time." That whole poem is music itself and always makes me feel like dancing.

Musicals

The public is cordially invited to attend a musicale at Community hall, Monday evening, June 5, 7:45 p.m. No admission. The following young people will take part on the program: Leon Nelson, Nancy Woodrow, Richard Ellsworth, Charlotte Reed, Karen Rasmussen, Geraldine Ellsworth, Bonita Baldwin, Jane Woodrow, Susan Olson, Janice Fletcher, Roberta Poulchov, Janette Randall, Marguerite Nelson, Nancy Shopes, David Kendrick, Milly Feldblum, Judith Fogg, Kathleen Teixeira, David Buttrick, Judith Gove, Joan Devlin.

15 Years of Fair Dealing in Well Work - Same Location

THE STATE HOUSE JOURNAL

BY BRUCE SHENTON

By the time this appears in print, Gov. Sherman Adams probably will have announced his candidacy for reelection as governor. In seeking a second term, Mr. Adams is doing what has become traditional among latter-day governors. Every governor in the past 20 years, with the exception of Styles Bridges, has sought and won reelection. That includes John G. Winant, Francis P. Murphy, Robert O. Blood and Charles M. Dale. Bridges served only one term, after which he was elected to the U.S. Senate.

In the case of every governor who sought reelection, the published reason was the chief executive's desire to "carry on to completion my program." Except in the case of Governors Winant and Adams, this excuse was pretty thin. Winant achieved national prominence for the social legislation sponsored by his administration, and carried to completion in his second term. Adams is beginning to get the same sort of national recognition for the state reorganization sponsored by his administration, which will take another two years to put fully into effect.

With no strong opposition in the offing, Governor Adams has only one thing to bear in mind—the dangers of becoming "unpopular" during his second term. Every other governor who sought reelection did so at the peak of his popularity, when he was winding up his first term in office. And every one of them succeeded, during his second term, in alienating his friends, bitterly antagonizing his supporters and annoying the voters.

Tobey vs. Powell

It's not cricket to poke fun at a fellow newspaperman, but Albert S. Baker, who writes the "Candid Politics" column in the Concord Monitor, left himself wide open last week, and the opportunity is too good to miss. He commented on the outcome of Republican primaries in Pennsylvania and Oregon, in which GOP liberals beat the ears of GOP conservatives. He pondered its significance in terms of the New Hampshire senatorial primary this year.

The program of practical education is the special project of H.H.S. Headmaster Sergius Bernard and the faculty members of the school who have given much thought and effort to the program.

Their efforts are now recognized locally and statewide.

IBENE TROTTIER, a senior commercial student of Hillsborough High school, takes dictation from Lisabel Gay, invalid reporter for the Hillsborough Messenger. This is just one of the practical application methods by which Hillsborough townspeople are assisting youngsters to get a first hand view of work in the world so that they can select their proper vocation.

HILLSBORO, June 1—Luncheon of delicious and de-frosted frozen foods such as cakes, pastries, sandwiches and fruits will be served to members of the Hillsboro Fortnightly club and their guests June 8, when the group holds its monthly meeting at the Community building.

The scheduled entertainment by Mrs. Ella Mae West, of Boston, manufacturer's demonstrator of Deepfreeze home freezers and home economics expert, assisted by Nerine Duarte of Hillsboro, who represents Concord Hardware & Plumbing Supply in this county, has been long planned and carefully prepared.

The meeting will start at 7:30 in the evening announced Mrs. Henry Martin, president of the Fortnightly club, and members are urged to bring interested guests. Mrs. William Nairn, chairman of the program committee, will introduce the two popular "Kitchen Diplomats."

A Deepfreeze unit will be installed at the Community building and stocked with a variety of foods. Additional produce will be packed and prepared at the meeting Thursday, June 8, in view of the attending members and guests.—adv.

Before coming to this state, she lived in Pennsylvania, received an A.B. degree from Vassar college, and resided for six years in Ohio, where she was on the board of the Cleveland Consumer's League.

After coming to Exeter in 1932, she helped to start the very successful Exeter Day school for small children, and is still a trustee of this organization. During the war period, she was actively engaged in Red Cross Home Service work. Mrs. Thomas brings to her new office several years' experience in League activities, having been one of the founders of the Exeter League of Women Voters and having served as its first president for three years. For the past two years she has been the second vice-president of the State League with specific responsibility for finance.

This Is Your Paper
Advertising Is Integral Part

By William R. Nelson

ADVERTISING is as much a part of American newspapers as the paper upon which they are printed. Without advertising this newspaper would be a very different publication. Not only would it be less interesting, but it also would cost subscribers considerably more.

Advertising is commercial news. It is as valuable to readers as every other feature of a newspaper. It is so interesting, in fact, that there are papers in many cities devoted exclusively to advertising.

The commercial and professional announcements of this community's business and professional people are important to all who live here. They are also timely cross-sections of the needs, interests, hopes and desires of the people of this locality.

In some communities there are those who apparently do not fully grasp the importance of the role advertising in the home town paper plays in their daily lives. There are merchants, for example, who seemingly do not realize that failure to acquaint people with their goods and services handicaps both the store and its customers.

Those who advertise in this or any other newspaper actually rent space in which to publish their own, generally commercial, news. The space is the property of the newspaper. That has been confirmed by court decisions upholding newspapers in their refusals to provide space for certain advertising uses.

Space rented for advertising is the principal source of revenue to virtually all newspapers. Such revenue makes possible delivery of the paper to subscribers for less than the actual cost of the blank paper in each copy.

The use to which advertisers put the space they rent is of equal importance to the community as a whole. Advertising is the lubricant that keeps the commercial machine of the community functioning at maximum efficiency.

Advertising in the home town newspaper is a sound investment, like buying a bond so a school can be built. The advertiser gets direct return in more business and goodwill, and the community benefits from the information.

HENNIKER

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Neilson were in Jackson Tuesday where Mr. Neilson sheared a flock of sheep. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul LeClerc of Hudson. Mr. LeClerc is an Agricultural teacher who substituted while Silas Dunklee was absent in the winter.

The Memorial Day parade was held in spite of the rain, although it had to be shortened. It was led by Commander Oscar Hatch, who was followed by members of Davis-Woodman post, American Legion, the auxiliary, Boy Scouts and school children. The ceremony was held at the bridge and Rev. Francis Butler offered prayer at the monument in Woodman Park. The parade disbanded in a pouring rain at the Henniker Inn where the Contoocook band gave a half hour's concert. The legion visited the new cemetery in the afternoon. Color bearers were Joseph Fisher, Robert Bishopric and Roger St. Lawrence. Members of the color guard were Myron Hazen and Arnold Ryan. John Hollis was commander of the firing squad.

ANTRIM

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Madden have returned from New Jersey, bringing his father, Thomas Madden, to Hillsboro.

To the Editor:

It is rumored that plans are being considered to annex our new grammar school building to our High school. It is hard to believe that thinking leaders, working to benefit our youth would, for a minute, consider such a site. The cost of building there might be less than in better places but the cost of clearing and grading an area as such a school would demand would be terrific.

Has the site where the Flat school now stands been considered? A modern building set farther back than where the present schoolhouse is would be a beauty spot in the town. The yard in front would be a very suitable and safe place for children to get on and off busses; far from all traffic. In back of the building a wonderful playground could be made without much cost. More desirable land is available here for school purposes. There could be no safer place to play and no place more delightful. The view from this spot is of the best. All children love to be out in the country surrounded by mountains, birds and flowers. Where could children be safer and in a pleasanter place than on the sunny Flat?

Some might argue about the sewerage. Do you realize that soon, and very soon, the sewerage system of our town will be different and the Flat as good as any.

Distance today is a minor factor. All children enjoy a short bus ride with their schoolmates. I know from experience that children coming to school by bus are more comfortable and more ready to work than those who walk half a mile.

In ten years will the "I wanted it there and got it," be sorry. Many people have said, "Too bad our High school was built where it is." Lets not be able to say that about our new grammar school building. Give our youngsters the best there is, out in the country and keep those in the age group between six and twelve by themselves.

I have been in a school room with grammar school boys and girls for thirty-one years, and know the likes and dislikes of many types of children. I can almost hear them shout, "Give us a modern room in which to work and a big, big yard where we can romp and play with boys and girls of our own age, and, 'the World is Ours'."

When we build our new building let's put it away from 'crows and congested traffic'—out in the wide open spaces.

Grace M. Crane

Our contributor is right, the school should be out of the congested traffic—especially the high speed traffic of the Flat school district. There is no congestion at the present High school. Though on an accessible road little through-traffic passes the High school and the proposed site back of the High school would have plenty of fresh air, birds and bees. (There is no human habitation on two sides of the contemplated site for at least one mile.) Besides the above and the fact that sewerage and good water are available should be ample reason to have the school in Hillsboro precinct next or near to the present High school. — J. V. H.

HENNIKER

Eleanor Huntington has received word that she received first prize on her essay, "Why I Would Like to Attend 4-H Camp." The essay had to be 100 words or less. The prize consists of a camp equipment sweater and four tickets to the movies. Eleanor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Huntington. She is nine years old and is in the fifth grade at the Quaker Street school which is taught by Mrs. Minnie Smith.

Time-Place-Fact

by Jeanne Eccles

The Hillsboro art group is glad to have had even just one little finger (actually) in the American Legion poppy sale contest that Mrs. Donald Bonnett carried through so well. Her window in Tasker's with the white crosses and Legion poppies in with the posters made by children in the Hillsboro schools brings to us the meaning of Memorial Day. Oftentimes, we are told to think only of the present, and the future, but, remembering the past is human, let's keep on being human.

Remember the dates of our "Neighborhood Portrait Exhibition," June 10th, Saturday, 3 to 5 p.m., June 11th, Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.,

June 12th, 9:30 a.m., to 11:30 a.m. Sunshine or rain get your vote in for your favorite picture before 3:30 p.m., Sunday, the 11th. How about a spring festival next year? Combination art, music, and flower show? It would put Hillsboro in the "Big Time," and all it would take would be cooperation with a big C.

SENATOR DANIELL TO SPEAK HERE

HILLSBORO June 1 — The Democratic party of Hillsboro will sponsor a series of public forums on vital topics of the day and have secured for their first speaker State Senator Eugene S. Daniell of Franklin, N. H.

Everett Feldblum, secretary of the local Democratic organization, and the local chairman, James L. Ellsworth, said the forums would have both partisan and non-partisan speakers on local, state, national and international problems.

The first speaker in the series, Senator Daniell, a Republican, will give his reasons for opposing the petition of the Public Service Co., for increased electric rates. He will speak at the Community hall Wednesday, June 7, at 8:00 p.m.

In announcing the series of forums Mr. Feldblum said: "We also contacted Vice President Moss crop of the Public Service Company to give the Public Service Company side of the issue but the company counsel has advised the company against lecturing on the issue before anyone but the Public Service Commission at this stage of the hearing. We hope to have a company representative at a later date.

"The views of Senator Daniell are not to be interpreted as the official views of the Democratic party of Hillsboro. We are sponsoring Senator Daniell only to acquaint ourselves and all interested townspeople with his views.

"To prove our sincerity of non-partisanship on this issue you will note that we have scheduled a Republican to speak.

"We all like to see and hear the people who are in the news and at the present time Senator Daniell appears to be in the news in a big way.

"The Democratic party of Hillsboro calls on all you Democrats, Republicans and undeclareds to come to these forums and make them a success. Any suggestions on speakers and issues for future forums whether they come from Republicans, Democrats or undeclareds will be greatly appreciated. We hope to have a very interesting schedule of speakers for the forums of this coming fall and winter."

Inside Story of Tobey-Powell Feud and Bridges 35 Grand

by ENOCH SHENTON

The Pennsylvania and Oregon primaries were strictly party affairs. Of the aftermath, Baker said: "The Young Turks in the Republican party are beginning to feel their oats. They have defeated the Old Guard in key senate primaries in two states at the opposite ends of the country. The rise of the Republican Young Turks, who stand for liberalism and progress....."

Baker doesn't think this trend will have much effect on the Tobey-Powell battle in New Hampshire. But he neglected to specify which Granite State candidate is the "Young Turk" and which is a member of the "Old Guard." Just for the record, and to rub salt in Baker's wounds, this writer will add the necessary postscript: Elderly Sen. Charles W. Tobey is one of the leaders of the GOP "Young Turk" faction in Washington, and his youthful opponent, Atty. Wesley Powell of Hampton Falls, expresses the political philosophy of the GOP "regulars."

Bridges vs. Clark

Senator Bridges expressed to me last week his bitter indignation over the criticism he has received "back home" for his service as a trustee of the United Mine Workers' pension fund. He was particularly displeased with a story in the Claremont Eagle saying he got $45,000 from the UMW fund in two years. "Not true," said the senator.

Bridges said he was coming home this summer to answer his critics "in their own home towns." And some of the verbal brickbats will be aimed at Publisher John M. Clark of the Claremont newspaper, who printed the $45,000 story.

This story will bring Senator Bridges, who is not a candidate in this year's election, into the state at a time when a heated primary contest is being carried on by his senatorial colleague, Mr. Tobey. But it doesn't mean he is going to take any part in the Tobey-Powell fight, Mr. Bridges insists.

That seems like a gratuitous promise, until you look into the circumstances that produced it. The Claremont Eagle reported that Bridges' $35,000-a-year salary as a UMW trustee first came out in the open as a result of a question asked by one Robert L'Heureux, counsel for the Senate committee on banking and currency, during a public hearing in Washington. L'Heureux went to Washington originally as a member of Tobey's staff, and later became counsel for the committee of which Tobey is top-ranking GOP member.

L'Heureux subsequently denied he asked the $35,000 question, and produced a transcript of the committee hearing showing the query was made by Senator Sparkman of Alabama. But L'Heureux did not say whether or not he "planted" the question on Mr. Sparkman. Here is L'Heureux's version of what happened:

"Shortly after the $35,000 question was asked in the hearings, Senator Bridges' administrative assistant, Wesley Powell, telephoned and asked to see a copy of the transcript (of testimony). To accommodate Senator Bridges of my own state, I took a copy of the transcript, as soon as it was available, down to his office. Senator Bridges was out of town. Powell was furious. He waved his arms and pounded the desk like a madman. He referred to the 'damned Democrats' as double-crossers. He said he had been given to understand that those facts would not be brought to light.

"He added that he had told the press in Senator Bridges' absence that Bridges was not using the money as his salary but for legal advice and assistance in determining his course as a trustee. I asked him if he was sure that was the proper way to handle the matter, as the minutes of the trustees' meeting might not bear out that statement. He added heatedly that he knew that Bridges was acting safely in this matter because he (Wesley Powell) had worked long hours and nights to keep Bridges in safe water on the legal end of the deal."

This shows for the first time a serious dispute between Senators Bridges and Tobey, carried on by two of their chief appointees. Bridges promptly acted to squelch any possible inference that he would actively aid Powell, or oppose Tobey in the senatorial primary fight now going on. "I have bent over backwards to stay out of it," Bridges said, "and I shall continue to do so."

About New Hampshire

The price of public service: Atty. Richard F. Upton of Concord, speaker of the House of Representatives, admitted wearily the other day in tenure in office had cost him more than $3,000 in lost earnings. On the closing day of the special session, he told his colleagues, "This probably is the last time I shall have a chance to speak in this hall. In future sessions I shall be a spectator."

Upton was so anxious to return to private life and his law practice that he refused to accept the position of attorney-general when it was offered to him by Governor Adams in May. And those close to him believe he isn't even interested in running for governor in 1952, when Adams' second term expires, although observers consider him the outstanding contender.

For the third time in 10 years, the University of New Hampshire trustees face the task of electing a new president for the college. Both ex-pres. Harold L. Stoke, now president of the University of Louisiana, and Dr. Arthur S. Adams found the position at UNH a stepping stone to higher scholastic dignities.

Resort Trends Favorable

The $120,000,000-a-year New Hampshire resort industry, which ranks second only to manufacturing industry as a source of income for the people, looks forward to a heavy volume of business during the spring, summer and autumn vacation season ahead. Andrew M. Heath, state publicity director, believes business should top 1949, equal the big 1948 vacation year.

The state's spring advertising campaign in national magazines and metropolitan newspapers got a tremendous response. The advertising budget was cut 46 per cent, but responses to the ads were down only 14 per cent. Every advertising medium used by the state is assigned a different symbol, so Heath's office knows where every letter it receives came from.

Despite a drastic cut in the money available for advertising, the "keyed responses" this year totalled 31,149. Last year the number of inquiries by mail totalled 36,014. Heath thinks this is significant of a rising interest in outdoor vacations. New Hampshire resorts in general cater to motoring vacationists, he points out, and there are 10 per cent more cars on the road this year.

One neat trick was used to save money this year. Heath took the three best ads from the 1949 spring campaign and repeated them this year. This eliminated art work and allowed the state to re-use ads that had brought big responses before.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ROY S. DOWNES

ANTRIM, June 1 — Mr. Roy S. Downes, age 57 years, died at Concord, N. H., on Tuesday morning, May 30th. He was born in Antrim, the son of Charles Frank and Mary E. (Holt) Downes, and attended the Antrim High school.

Survivors are four aunts, Mrs. Mabel C. Brooks of Somerville, N. J.; Mrs. Grace E. Woods of Nashua; Mrs. Addie M. Putnam of Milford; and Mrs. Carrie M. Prince of New Boston and several cousins.

Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church at Antrim on Thursday, June 1st, at 2:00 p. m., with Rev. Harrison L. Packard of Antrim officiating. Mrs. Gertrude Thornton was organist.

Bearers were Fred H. Prince, Arthur E. Holt, Fred A. Pettee and Donald A. Pettee. Interment was in Maplewood cemetery at Antrim in the family lot. The Woodbury and Son Funeral home was in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gunn are entertaining for the week their daughter, Pauline, now Mrs. Howard Heath, Mr. Heath and their two children.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson went to Maine to visit Mrs. Wilson's parents. Leaving Friday, they returned home after Memorial Day.

Sunday was the first day of the horned pout season, and among the fishermen losing a night's sleep were "Herb" Cram and John Whitaker, who every year go to camp late at night, and are on the pond almost to the minute when the law goes off. The usual procedure later is to come in for a "fish fry," sleep an hour, or so, and then go out again to get more fish to take home to the family. Herb takes off his hat to no one when it comes to cooking pout, though of course they taste much better at camp, cooked over a hot wood fire, with plenty of bacon fat. With the advent of brook trout, pout and pickerel fishing, many of the fishermen will lose interest in the salmon fishing at Sunapee, and bring their boats nearer home.

Strangers riding through Weare Center question the strange sign, "Boats, Bait, & Guides," which stands in front of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dow. Way back in the spring, when water holes overflowed, Mr. Dow's home, then under construction, apparently was in the middle of a small pond, and being the good sports they are, when a joking friend put up the sign the Dows left it there. It has been the source of many laughs for the townspeople who know the whole story. The pond has subsided, but the sign is still there.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flanders were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McLaren of Arlington, Mass., and Pelham, and Mr. Bert Lowe, of New York City.

News scoop: Frank Buckley and Jack Benny will stage a show soon. Watch this column for details.

Everyone in Weare will be glad to hear that Mrs. Blanche Gunn was at the Weare Library Monday afternoon as usual, after being very ill. Mrs. Gunn received, to her great surprise, sunshine baskets, cards, flowers, and whole meals sent in by her neighbors, and friends. She must have forgotten that she once received the "Good Neighbor" corsage, at a Julie and John show. We all feel that these little attentions are simply her "chickens, coming home to roost," as the old saw goes.

The millstone which marks the end of the Flanders Memorial road now has the flag flying over it. The flag pole was put in place last week, and the flag was flying Memorial Sunday.

Memorial Day was observed in Weare schools Monday afternoon, with a member of the Legion as speaker at each school, who was to conduct them to the nearest cemetery where new flags were put on all the veterans graves. Wendell Colburn was speaker at North Weare school; Murray Wood at South Weare; Chester French, Jr., at Weare Center; and Dan Sawyer at East Weare. This makes the 14th year that Mr. Sawyer has been at East Weare. Rain kept them from marching to East Weare cemetery, but Mr. Sawyer made the disappointment happier by giving each of them ice cream.

Miss Myrtis Beecher met with the Community club in Weare, June 1, discussing kitchen equipment necessary for efficient operation.

"Hy" Stafford Pitches Hillsboro To Victory Over Contoocook

SPORTSMEN'S COLUMN

by GEORGE S. PROCTOR

NEW HAMPSHIRE CONSERVATION OFFICER
Phone 104
Wilton, N. H.

Do you own a dog? Well, Cal Johnson of the Outboard Motor tells us of a novel way to cure mange. "Crush several ripe tomatoes and rub the juice into the dog's skin; repeat the treatment every two days until three treatments have been applied. You will find this operation very effective."

There are certain foods that should never be fed to puppies because their digestive tracts are not equipped to convert certain materials into food. Here is the taboos list: beans, peas, potatoes, cake, candy, dessert, salt pork, fresh white bread or ham.

Did you know that a dog's bark will carry farther than that of any other animal, domestic or wild? It's not unusual for hunters to hear their hounds at a distance of three to four miles. Balloonists say the dogs' bark is the last sound they hear from earth as they ascend.

Never disturb a sleeping dog. Dogs suffer from excessive heat and a dog that normally is of even disposition may become a little unruly and snap at anyone who disturbs his sleep. Don't tease or annoy him when he prefers to curl up and dose. Instruct the youngsters not to disturb on a humid day.

Most dogs can go without food for many days, even weeks, and in some rare cases months, before starving to death. However, one excessively large meal, or one of improper food, can kill a dog in a few minutes.

In removing chewing gum from a dog's coat, one of the best methods is to take a handful of cracked ice and hold for a few seconds on the spot where the gum has adhered. The gum will become brittle and in most cases can be removed without loss of a single hair.

If a dog become well peppered with porcupine quills, take it to a vet at once. They have the proper tools to do a good job. One small quill in the top of a dog's mouth might enter the dog's brain and cause its death.

How to fumigate a dog kennel: place a quantity of sulphur in an iron container; add a little alcohol to it. Ignite the alcohol, which in turn will ignite the sulphur. Let the sulphur burn itself out. This treatment will kill all vermin. Be sure the dog is on the outside.

When a hunting dog has run over rough ground his paws, often crack and bleed. This can be avoided by applying a little asbestos roofing on the pads. This will act as a moccasin and is easily removed with a oil or grease.

If you are in the field and your dog runs across a black and white woods pussy here is the dope to make the dog sweet again. Cut some hemlock and place a good sized Sunday newspaper on the ground; place the hemlock on the paper and set the paper afire. Hold the dog by its four feet over the smoke and your dog is sweet again.

Many people have an idea that when they pay the license fee, due May 1, that gives the dog a license to go where it pleases and do what it pleases. That's not so. That license fee is just a tax and there is plenty of law when the dog leaves its own property.

Great interest is being manifested in the coming Striped Bass Derby to be held at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., starting September 15 to October 15.

Even the government sent me a booklet on "Ginseng," so now I am getting posted on its use. Many people have sent me letters about the plant. Thanks. This Government bulletin is No. 1184 if you are interested. Write to Department of Agriculture for your copy.

All self-hunting dogs are supposed to be confined after April 1 of any year. That means any breed of dog that will hunt alone or in the company of other dogs. Plenty of law. Better check on your dog's habits before he draws for you a good stiff fine. Reports are coming in from all sides of dogs on the rampage. One man reported a small deer being chased by five dogs not far from a main street in a nearby town.

If you want to get an eyefull of beauty you want to stop at the Windy Hill Greenhouse at Greenfield, operated by the Bowes family. They have a wonderful display. A city greenhouse in the country. You will be surprised. I was.

If you are interested in that new rose used as a living fence, send to U. S. Department of Agriculture for Leaflet No. 256. "The Multiflora Rose for Living Fences and Wildlife Cover." Wild birds like to make their nests in the roses. It protects them from all vermin. Get your copy.

Present for opening day of the Tri-Mountain League to see that the Hillsboro got off to a good start was Frank Gay, octogenarian baseball enthusiast and loyal supporter of the Town team. It was twenty-two years ago that Frank Gay and George Gould gave the Flag being raised in the top pictures and Frank has seen it personally that the Old Glory was there opening day. Assisting Frank at the ceremony was Harold Rowell, bugler, Howard Page, and the Legion color guard, while the men of the Warner and Hillsboro teams stand at attention. On the opening day of 1928 Warner defeated Hillsboro 19-4. "We've gained on them," said Frank. "They've lost 8 runs and we gained one." Frank cheerfully recalls that day more than two decades ago when $171. was collected for admission; and when the band played and when Charles Ballard had charge of the Warner team.

Below, the Hillsboro team and bat boys.

Road Agent Lawrence Gibbons of the home town told me to check on the new family on Whiting's pond in the center of the town. I checked and found a mother mallard duck with an even dozen of newly hatched babies. She sat within a few feet of the town sheds. Hope she raises them all. Mrs. Hutchinson at White's market reports several broods in the river behind the stores.

Ain't human nature just funny! People who won't even speak to you on the home town streets will fall all over themselves if they meet you 40 miles from home. Why? Don't ask me.

Could I interest any of you readers with a setting of Golden and Ringneck pheasant eggs. I have no broody hen or incubator and don't want these eggs to go to waste. What say?

This is porcupine weather and many a dog has got a dose the past week. Don't try to pull them out yourself if the quills are in the head or mouth. Take the dog to the vet as he has all the tools to take them out without damage. One small quill in the mouth might kill your dog. One day last week a Boston Terrier got a swipe from the tail of the quillpig and its side was full of quills. They were removed without much trouble.

Abbot Hill has a mystery. Is it a Saint Bernard dog or a big cat? The tracks look to me like a cat's track. Neighbors claim they have seen a strange animal. Dog and cat tracks in the mud do not look much alike.

HENNIKER

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Messer and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Druin of Lebanon were guests of Judge and Mrs. L. H. Carpenter over the holiday.

Mrs. Clifford Crow attended as president of the Women's society as the fall meeting will be held here and Joyce Deviney and Margaret Crow attended for the young people.

"Here's the Pitch"

By "Bump" Hadley

WBZ, WBZ-TV Sportscaster and Former Major League Pitcher

EARLY THIS SPRING when the baseball pennant races were just starting, you read a lot of feature yarns about the Boston Braves - New York Giants trade. The Boston writers were clamoring that the Braves actually perpetrated a steal because Sid Gordon, Will Marshall and Buddy Kerr were playing terrific ball for the Braves, while Al Dark and Eddie Stanky were not doing so well for the Giants.

HADLEY

Well, we're pretty much into the National League season right now and you don't hear so much of that kind of talk. Marshall and Gordon haven't been belting the ball the way the locals hoped they would, and Dark is hitting very well for the Giants. But actually that deal looks better from the Braves' point of view right now, than it did last spring.

The Braves have the best outfield they've had in my memory. Marshall and Gordon cover enough ground to make up for Sam Jethroe's fielding lapses. Sam is so important to the club at bat and on the bases that he has to play, no matter how he fields. And he's not a clown on the field, by any means. He makes some plays that are simply amazing. He'll be all right when he gains a little more experience.

But if the Giants and Braves had merely swapped Buddy Kerr for Al Dark, the Braves would have done all right. Dark just doesn't make those double plays. Leo Durocher wanted Dark because he wanted a double play team. Boston writers could have told him that Al never had started on double plays here. Dark doesn't look any better in New York. Meanwhile, Buddy Kerr's ability to make the double play is helping the Boston pitchers regain their confidence in the Boston infield. That deal must loom as one of the best ever made by the Braves.
