Coming Events

The Historical Room in the Community building, sponsored by the D.A.R., will be open to the public for inspection on Monday, July 17, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Visitors should use the south entrance.

Don't forget the good time scheduled to be given at the Hillsboro Center clubhouse Saturday night.

Bird Club Picnic

Members of the Caroline A. Fox Bird and Garden club and a few friends, enjoyed a picnic supper at six o'clock last Thursday at the Fox Reservation. They drove in at the lower entrance and parked their cars. It was only a few steps to the very pretty picnic ground, well equipped with tables, fireplace, and a shelter, and even a book and pencil in which visitors might leave their names.

The party made good use of the tables, but did not utilize the fireplace on this outing. The mosquitoes were a bit too friendly with some of the ladies, but might have been more so. The members did not stay as long as they would have liked because of the dedication of the Honor Roll at the Community house which some of them wished to attend.

At the upper end of the Reservation there is another very fine picnic spot on what used to be our apple orchard. It is easily reached from the main highway and has some picnic equipment. The road up through the Reservation is good and a very pretty ride.

Antrim Garden Club

Thirteen members of the Caroline A. Fox Bird and Garden club were guests of the Antrim Garden club at the showing of the John Ott film in the Baptist church on Monday night. They all returned enthusiastic in their praise and appreciation of the fine pictures of flowers and nature scenes of many kinds, interesting not only for their beauty, but because as the result of special cameras and technique, the film depicted the actual progress of growth of plants and the opening of buds. The closing portion of the film, "Oddities of Nature," showed the strange life cycle of various cacti as well as the pitcher plants which have such an amazing appetite for insects.

My Children

In the thirty years that I have lived in this village, I have acquired a large family of children belonging to my neighbors. The first children I knew were Mary and Mabel Flanders and the Colby children, especially Leota. One of the greatest delights of summer is having my children come back to visit their friends and bring their children in to see me. Last Sunday Mary Elizabeth Dodge brought her husband and two boys in to see me on their way home to Cincinnati, N. Y., after a visit to the Dodge relatives in Maine. Richard, 11, played his flute for me. He plays in the senior school band. He also played for Mr. Leon Hill, who is always interested in young musicians. Bobby, 9, recited "The Legend of the Dogwood," which he had given at a recent Sunday (Continued on Page 3)

Many Attend Unveiling of Honor Roll

Impressive dedication services were held last Thursday at the Community building with Brig. Genl. Charles F. Bowen as the guest speaker. Hillsboro gold star mothers and wives of World War II dead were honored guests. At the ceremony Rev. Russell Perry gave the invocation and prayer and Mrs.

Flossie O'Brien, gold star mother, unveiled the Honor Roll. The Hillsboro Band, the Hillsboro unit of the N. H. N. G. and the Legion color bearers were present and assisted in the program. Philip Woodbury, chairman of the Honor Roll committee made the welcome address and introduced the speakers.

HONOR ROLL EXPRESSES COMMUNITY PRIDE SAYS BRIG. GEN. BOWEN

HILLSBORO, July 13 — The erection of military memorials in the form of honor rolls is a means by which a community properly expresses pride in its contribution to the national defense. Brigadier General Charles F. Bowen, The Adjutant General, told several hundred citizens of Hillsboro and adjacent towns on the occasion of the dedication of the World War II memorial tablet at the Community building, on July 6. In our time, every generation seems to be having its opportunity to make a terribly expensive contribution out of the best manpower it has, he said. But, in all countries of the world, people are coming to a realization that we must either end wars or war will end us.

"We are today in one of the most dangerous moments in our national history but it is a moment which is filled with the greatest significance. For the first time in the history of the world, a numerous group of peace-loving nations have banded together to wage war on another nation which has disturbed the peace, this enterprise being carried on under the banner of the United Nations. Upon the success of this cooperative venture in the maintenance of peace depends the whole future of our country.

"The National Administration has acted with great wisdom, with firmness and courage. So ought our people to do at every level. At the local level, as in Hillsboro, the joint effort should be to keep the flame of democracy burning at its brightest, insisting on good government in order that democracy may be strong and free; endeavoring to insure economic opportunity for every citizen in order that all may thus experience the benefits of democracy."

General Bowen stated that the tablet which had been dedicated was in the nature of a challenge to the entire community, for every one to do his part even as those whose names are inscribed on the tablet did theirs. He praised Hillsboro for its magnificent contribution during World War II, a total of 319 men in the service nine of whom met death and said it was an outstanding record for a community of this size. He emphasized the values, especially in the area of public spirit of undertaking to accomplish many things as a town, each of the people acting together. All public accomplishment adds to the morale of the community and to its public spiritedness. Without those a community is apt to stagnate. With good public spirit, there is almost no limit to the progress which can be made.

Funeral Services for Mrs. Silas Rowe

HENNIKER, July 13 — Mrs. Silas Rowe died in her sleep early Sunday morning after being in ill health for two years.

She was born in Henniker, August 1, 1873 the daughter of David and Mary (Andrews) Robbins on the Fowler Green place now occupied by George Horne and owned by Carl Rowe. When she was ten her folks moved to the farm now owned by Hugh Smiley. Ten years later, her father bought the place where she has lived ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe observed their 50th wedding anniversary on August 21, 1947 when many people from far and near came to congratulate them. Although Mrs. Rowe was a member of the Congregational Church, Bear Hill lodge and Azalea Rebekah Lodge, Mrs. Rowe's first duty was to her family and even after she was taken ill more than two years ago she continued to do the best of her ability. And her family faithfully cared for her doing everything as she wanted it.

Birthday Parties

Barbara Lennon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lennon, of School street, was six years old on July 6. Her mother helped Barbara entertain a few of her playmates at a party in the afternoon. The children played games and enjoyed ice cream and cake served from a table prettily decorated in pink. Barbara received some lovely gifts from her small guests and other friends. Each guest was given a small white pocket book.

Carol Tasker was also six years old on Sunday so her party came on Saturday, from three to five. She entertained her friends in her own way, and they all enjoyed their refreshments of ice cream and cake. Carol is a marvelous conversationalist. No one can "out-converse" her. When she says "Do you know what?" she has some very interesting things to say.

Oldest Man in Town

At the other end of the line was the 92nd birthday of Mr. Herman Janowsky, on July 10. Although he is confined to his bed he was able to enjoy the flowers, many cards, and other remembrances which came to him, as well as a number of visitors.

Afternoon Tea

Miss Gladys Lightfoot, who is vacationing in Mrs. Peaslee's house on School street, entertained Mrs. Porter and her guests, the Misses Horsburgh, Saplo, and Ware, at tea at four o'clock on Saturday.

Everybody loves a parade, so they say, but one took place in the vicinity of Wyman street last week at which no crowds assembled. Three men of the neighborhood reported they watched from a respectful distance. A mother skunk and four baby skunks paraded across gardens, across Wyman st., and were heading for the river when last seen. Nobody attempted to stop them.

Last week a fawn was seen back of Mrs. Porter's house as it bounded toward Church street. Eddie Tasker saw the fawn in Duane Williams vacant lot a few minutes later.

An enormous woodchuck has been watched at his lookout on the stone wall just below us, and there are supposedly a family of small ones a little lower down. They don't bother our gardens because of the field of clover right near.

The Scott Nelson and Erskine Broadley families and Walter Gay took a trip into the wilderness north of Concord End on Sunday afternoon. Walter and Jim Devoy made the journey in their two-horse dump cart. The rest walked. Mrs. Nelson met a stick in her path which tripped her so that she sprained her ankle. Mrs. Devoy took the ladies through a short cut back to the Devoy house. The men went off at a tangent and found themselves in the apple orchard on top of the Wilkins hill, as old timers call it, later known as High Mount. They were astonished at the marvelous view down through the valley. All the party arrived home without further mishaps.

Mrs. Harry Thornton entertained a family party of 23 at The Homestead on July 4th. After dinner she showed pictures she had acquired while on her trip around South America.

Miss Beatrice Horsburgh of Macan, Ga., Miss Olga Saplo of New York City, and Miss Gladys Ware of Bayside, Long Island, were guests of Mrs. Mildred Porter over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge, Richard and Robert, were Saturday over-night guests of Mrs. James Leach. Mary's aunt, Stella Kendall, her son and wife with two children of Manchester, Vermont, came down to see her and her sister's family.

A party of Hillsboro grangers visited Lovell grange on Saturday night and heard Mrs. Stuart Bruce's interesting talk on Japan.

Whitney S. K. Yeaple, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting his parents this week. His sister, Miss Beverly Yeaple, of Plymouth, Mass., also spent the weekend at home.

Bruce Evans of Nashua is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis.

Because his aunt, Mrs. Lillie Chase of Massachusetts, sent Ernest Harriman of Columbia, Ohio, a Messenger with my picture in it, he wrote me an interesting, but rather nostalgic letter. He spent many summers on the John Harriman farm at the head of Loon lake before the boy's father built The Birches. He would like to come back to visit the places he used to like so well.

The Misses Janet Tasker and Melita Whitcomb had their day off from their work at Hampton Beach on Monday and came home Sunday night and stayed until Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Mark Buttrick and grandson, David Buttrick, are spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Morse, in Mattapoisett, Mass.

Mrs. Virginia Temple MacWilliams and two children of Auburn, Mass., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Willgeroth.

Miss Irene Trottier and her sister are employed in a summer home at Darien, near Sanford, Conn. Irene thinks the surrounding country is very pretty and it is also near the beaches.

Mr. Alfred Dodd, who moved from town over two weeks ago is taking a much needed rest at the New England Sanatorium and hospital at Stoneham, Mass.

Visitors at the Ray home this weekend were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Farley, Saco, Me., Mrs. Owen Wakefield, Miss Dorothy Wakefield, East Braintree, Mass., Mrs. Rachel Pinkney, Suncook, N. H.

Kendall Bagley, Henniker, and Brainard Newton, New Boston, are helping with the haying.

One of the recent newcomers is Roger Hight, brother of our Fire Chief, Jed Hight. Roger is staying at his brother's home, and has a position in the Forestry dept. Incidentally, he was one of the winners in the boat races at the Water Carnival Sunday.

Mrs. Ren Philbrick and nephew, Richard Larson, visited the well known Cathedral in the Pines, at Rindge, this past week. Richard also was a winner Sunday, in the swimming races.

Two more of our Weare residents have joined the corps of Weare folks working at the State hospital in Concord: Mrs. Elsie Purington and her son, Michael, who is home for the summer, but with plans to attend Cornell University this fall.

Last week the regular meeting of Weare Community club was held at the home of Mrs. Marian Welch. Cancer dressings were the work of the day, 76 being made. Plans were made for the Hampton Beach trip, July 27, Thursday. The club has been invited to meet with Mrs. Millie Philbrick the next meeting, July 20, and the following meeting, August 3, will be a picnic at Lake Horace. Next meeting will also include a penny sale. Through the warm weather they will meet at the different homes.

Friends of Herbert Cram will be interested to hear that his expected operation took place last Friday morning; Saturday morning he walked a little, and each day is on his feet for a short time. At this rate he should be home soon, even though unable to exercise actively. Richard Holden, who is a recent graduate of M.I.T., writes home from Houston, Texas, that he has accepted a position as Junior Geologist with the Shell Oil Co., there. He will take a year's training, which will take him also to Colorado and Kansas.

The schedule for Weare band for July was in last week's Messenger, for those interested. Mr. Davis, band president, tells me that this band really dates back to May 30, 1879, when it was Batten's Cornet band, and that two of the charter members, Alonzo Chapin and Frank N. Simons, are both playing today.

Cpl. Donald Gregg writes home from Norton Air Force Base, in San Bernardino, California, that he arrived there June 26th. He and Roy Trydell left Weare, June 17th, arriving in Piqua, Ohio, Sunday evening. Continuing on their way, they drove to Detroit and into Canada, which they found wonderful, though they were caused some embarrassment when they couldn't find their car registration. From there they drove to Fort Worth, Texas, stopped in Whites City, New Mexico, and took a four hour tour of the famous Carlsbad Caverns, their last stop.

Oliver Pare, a former resident of East Weare with his wife and daughter, Virginia, called on friends over July 4th. He now resides in Uxbridge, Mass., where he is still engaged in some blacksmith work.

Walter Keddy's house is progressing along these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aker, former East Wearites are now living on the Willie Eaton place on Wildwood Ave.

Robert Fottler of Contoocook called on friends and relatives in East Weare on Sunday. He is much improved and we're glad to hear it. William T. Stokes is feeling much better these days and is able to enjoy the sunshine and fresh air from his lawn chair and rides out to call on friends.

The four scouts who went to Valley Forge have returned with plenty of experiences to tell about, and lots of "swaps" to show for their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe and son of Boston spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lowe.

"The Dixieland Billies" Minstrel show of Dunbarton will be presented at the Halestown grange lawn party on July 20. Mildred London of Weare is the coach and Helen Mills of Dunbarton is the interlocutor.

August Heino has purchased the lumber lots of Howard Ineson, and Arthur Blake.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Souter were at their summer house over the weekend.

Chas. D. Eaton entertained his brother Frank of Rochester over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose entertained his nephew and family of New York last week.

The River Road is progressing along fine and is going to be a wonderful improvement for this end of the town.

John McGrath has sold his place in town and has moved into Clarence Russell's camp for three weeks.

Rides Surfboard At Weare

The annual Water Carnival of Weare Boat club is again a thing of the past. As usual, a large crowd, with more facilities this year. 818 cars were counted at one time in the two parking lots. The program started with a boat parade, 75 boats, with Channing Rowell, vice-pres., leading. Boat races, swimming races, bathing beauty contest, which was won by a Weare girl, auburn haired, brown eyed, Barbara Farwell, and for a change, a Junior bathing beauty contest, too, with a bevy of cute little girls. George Johnson was announcer, the same as last year, and kept things going, announcing events, lost and found articles, calling in the bathers for each race, as well as paging "Commandore Ren Philbrick," several times. For extra entertainment records were played over the loudspeaker. Charles Rose, and his "Little Helpers," Charlotte, Frances and Ray Eaton, had a standing line at the pavilion for hamburgers; hot dogs, and tonics, and two men were kept busy at the ice cream stand, finally sold out.

One of the hits of the day was surfboard riding, by Charles Paschall and his dog, Elextra, C.D.X.,

28th day of July, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

Said Velma C. Walker for Charlotte M. a three year old black Doberman Pinscher. She has won in several shows, and only three more points will make her a champion in her class. She rode the surfboard with her master like a veteran, and when finally they upset, the crowd were entertained watching her swim to shore. She had already spent some time floating in an inner tube, with keen enjoyment. Another surfboard act was mother and daughter, which with water skiing, and also with acrobatics, helped to make up for the show planned by the fleet of boats from Winnepesaukee. On account of an accident they were unable to be there. The television set went to Norman Antill of Manchester; the other prizes were well distributed in Weare and Goffstown. Chet French, popular young bachelor and fisherman in town, won a nice reel. George Bellegrove, our South Weare nurseryman, came from the pavilion beaming, with an electric fan. Many family parties brought picnic lunches, and in all, it was a successful day, though doubtless Mr. Johnson was a trifle hoarse the next day. Chase Recreational park, since being donated by Horace Chase, has been an asset to the town.

Technical Assistance

"You will not find a word in your morning papers about the United Nations' expanded program of technical assistance for the economic development of under-developed countries. The world's attention is directed to Korea and the former 'cold war' now a 'hot war.' No one would seek to minimize the seriousness of the situation but I do want to give you some facts about what may be termed the most promising development in the international picture since the signing of the UN Charter. I refer to the start of the expanded program of technical assistance for the economic development of under-developed countries.

"Here in the United States some of us may be prone to think that this effort began with the famous 'Point Four' of President Truman's inaugural address. Actually this is not the case. Hard-headed businessmen both in this country and abroad, to say nothing of the Governments and, indeed, the United Nations and the specialized agencies themselves, had long since found that economic and social progress develops faster if all concerned enjoy better living and working conditions. What was 'new' was that Pres. Truman and his administration acted to put such a program on a world-wide basis. At the Eighth Session of the Economic and Social Council, Assistant Secretary Thorpe brought out the proposal. Some delegates objected but actually the response was just what might be expected, one of almost unbounded enthusiasm. During the Ninth Session of the Council and the Fourth Session of the General Assembly we got resolutions actually authorizing action. But for all the lack of headlines there was progress. The Council set up a Technical Assistance Committee and the various agencies established the very important Technical Assistance Board (TAB). But the program needed money, and that is just exactly what was made available at the Technical Assistance Conference held here at Lake Success early this month. Over seventy governments were invited -- a country had only to be a member of one of the participating agencies to receive an invitation and to be an acceptable candidate for future assistance. Fifty-four governments were represented around the table, and the equivalent of over $20,000,000 was pledged for deposit in the special account from which the expanded program will be financed.

"Now let us be very frank. $20,000,000 is a lot of money any way you look at it. In fact, it is still a lot, even when one considers that the General Foods Corporation alone is purported to have spent over $40,000,000 in 1949 just for advertising, or when one dares to think of how much money, let alone how many lives, have been wasted in Korea in the past five days. Consequently, come what may, the expanded program will come into operation this coming Saturday, July 1, 1950, and you and I and the average citizen of the economically less-developed countries may confidently expect to see results.

"With due respect to the other agencies participating in the expanded program, I can say that the WHO (World Health Organization) has throughout its existence been practicing technical assistance and we were the first agency to prepare an expanded program.

"The WHO is one of a dozen international agencies, all of which are or will be related to the United Nations by written agreements. The objective of the organization is 'the attainment by all people of the highest possible level of health,' and for the record, health is defined as 'a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.'

"The members of the World Health Organization are governments and including one associate member and eight who have indicated that they no longer consider themselves members, they number 75. Our headquarters are in the Palace of Nations, Geneva, Switzerland and Regional Offices have been established in Alexandria, Egypt, for the Eastern Mediterranean; New Delhi, India, for South East Asia; and Washington, D. C., for the Americas. Similar offices are planned for the European, African and Western Pacific regions.

"We are neither an old nor a large organization. The WHO came formally into being on September, 1948, prior to that time an Interim Commission functioned for two years. Our international secretariat numbers scarcely six hundred. For that matter, neither do we have much in the way of money. Expenditures for 1950 are limited to $6,300,000 and, if the funds expected to be available under the expanded program are not counted, there will be no increase in the scale of operations in 1951. But, and note this, we are in operation and there is an acute need for the organization as evidenced by the requests for assistance."

MORE about WHO next week. We feel that the scope of the various organizations of the United Nations are so varied, and complex, that a better understanding may be had if one particular organization is studied thoroughly. Consequently, as many highlights of Mr. Hill's speech will be reported as time and space allow. Since health affects each one of us personally, we believe that this vital subject will be of particular interest to people as they learn how it is to be handled on a world-wide basis.

THE STATE HOUSE JOURNAL

BY ENOCH SHENTON

New Hampshire's biennial political filing period opens Friday, and for two weeks the would-be officeholders of both political parties will be trooping into the office of Secretary of State Enoch D. Fuller to make themselves official candidates for primary nominations.

Up to now, all the noise has been on the GOP side of the fence, and observers are beginning to wonder if the Democrats will have any primary contests. One of the state's political writers conjectures Sen. Robert P. Bingham of Manchester, the only announced candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, may be opposed by Harry Carlson of Plainfield or "Bob" Sanderson of Pittsfield, a former Democratic floor leader in the House of Representatives who returned to New Hampshire about a year ago after an absence of a few years." To put the record straight again, Sanderson returned to this state a few weeks ago, for a vacation, and still makes his permanent home in Florida. He's no candidate for anything, he told me when I met him on the street in mid-June. As for Carlson's candidacy--well, maybe.

In the Republican column, the big fight is between Sen. Charles W. Tobey of Temple and Atty. Wesley Powell of Hampton Falls. No major officeholder running for reelection ever got such bad breaks as Tobey. There's a good chance Congress may not adjourn at all this summer, due to the Korean civil war. If the senator takes time off from his Washington duties to campaign, he'll be criticized for it. If he sticks to the job, he may lose the senatorship by default. To use an old Yankee expression, he's "damned if he does, and damned if he don't."

Senator Tobey has run into a "bad press" he couldn't have counted on six months ago. Like any man in public office, his record is open to attack by his opponents, while his opponent from Hampton Falls is much luckier in that direction. He never held elective public office, so he hasn't any record for the senator to shoot at. If Tobey agrees to stand up and debate Powell, the only subject for debate will be Mr. Tobey's own record. Even at that, plenty of observers wish he would get together with his young adversary and map out a series of joint appearances, just for the sake of keeping his own record straight.

So far, Powell has had everything his own way. He has been saying whatever he likes about the senator, grabbing the front page headlines, and leaving the senator to puff along behind with his denials, documented with facts and figures. Of course, between statement and denial, everybody has forgotten the original charges.

Newspapermen covering the political scene about a tie-up between Powell and ex-Gov. Charles M. Dale. In Manchester, the political organization that came into existence during Dale's first campaign for governor has provided most of the leadership for Powell's city committee. This city, which upset Foster Stearns' campaign in 1944 by going for Tobey, now seems to be an even split between the 1950 candidates.

Portsmouth, which went solidly for Tobey six years ago, has swung the other way. One of the city's ex-mayors advises it's Powell's, 10 to

1. That's probably exaggerated, but Portsmouth not only is Powell's home town, but also the private bailiwick of Mr. Dale. Carroll county, convenient as a sample because of its political lay-out was pro-Tobey up to a month ago. Now it seems to have tipped so Powell would get at least a 50-50 break if the primary were held today.

It all comes down to one thing--Powell's continual pounding at Mr. Tobey is showing results. The senator will have to campaign strenuously to make up lost ground and counteract the inroads made by the younger candidate.

Daniell Opens Campaign

Sen. Eugene S. Daniell of Franklin, critic of the utilities and proponent of state aid for local schools, opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor right on the steps of the State House at Concord. Speaking on the State House plaza, Daniell told an audience made up mostly of state employees they were being "abused" by Gov. Sherman Adams. Several state workers, feeling sorry for themselves under the austerity budget, said afterwards Daniell "had something there."

The hot-tempered, acid-tongued Franklin solon talked for 40 minutes, and didn't waste a minute of it. He hammered at Mr. Adams for just about everything he has done in the past 18 months, and challenged him to a debate.

The political blotters already put out by Senator Daniell carry his three-item platform: Cheaper lights and telephone; State aid amounting to $1,500,000 for local schools; More jobs by abolishing the stock-in-trade tax and reducing property taxes. The blotter is signed by Kenrick Hackett of Franklin, his campaign manager. Treasurer of the Daniell campaign, according to a recent newspaper advertisement he signed is Donald Kimball of Franklin, chairman of the N. H. Committee for the Public Schools, an organization intent on getting more state aid for local school systems. We can see the Daniell tie-up.

About New Hampshire

The 2,000 ground troops in the N. H. National Guard may be among the first state forces called into the federal service, if the international situation gets any worse. The 195th Regimental Combat Team and the 197th Anti-Aircraft Group will go on their annual maneuvers at Camp Edwards, Cape Cod, August 5. When the summer training program ends, it's a toss-up whether they'll return to their homes August 19, or stay for further training.

The University of New Hampshire trustees will act this summer on the selection of a new president, to

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Editor: "The Reporter"

To the Editor:

Please allow me to congratulate you on selecting and voting for a new school house. The meeting was the best and cleverest one we have ever attended as an outsider and disinterested summer resident.

Your superintendent of schools is also to be congratulated on the most skulduggery we have ever heard and your school board is certainly plain suckers.

As for you - you don't dare print this, you shirt tail politician.

Charles B. Tucker,
Andover, Mass.

The meeting to which you refer was preceded by weeks of study on the part of an elected committee, considerable discussion took place in the paper and at a community forum about the new school. I think almost every person that attended the meeting knew what he wanted - it was just a question of counting the votes. Everyone had his chance to speak and it was democratic in every way.

As for being a shirt tail politician we've been accused of not working, always working, drinking behind the barn etc. Really, it's only tea that we send over to Harry's for.

lager beer?

"Not beer at all...
it's BALLANTINE ALE!"

The LIGHT refreshing ale that's strong on flavor!

When the warm Summer sun turns your thoughts to a refreshing glass of beer... your smartest move is to call for Ballantine ALE... the light ale that's strong on flavor.

Millions have found Ballantine Ale so much more to their taste that they drink it regularly... in preference to the beers they formerly swore by.

And when, for old time's sake, they order beer one day, they find it somehow lacking in flavor, in character.

Next time why not indulge your taste for the finest? Ballantine Ale costs no more than the finer beers. Look for the 3 Rings; Ask the Man for Ballantine Ale. Purity, Body and Flavor in every glass, and no mistake!

Pillows and Words

Eaton's has a new line of foam pillows and the manufacturer has a new line of words.

They claim the pillow is the biggest sleep discovery in one thousand years. We checked back to see what was invented 1,000 years ago, and found that was when people learned to lie down.

They claim this pillow will make you sleep soundly and feel good in the morning. Lot of responsibility for a pillow to take.

The maker claims that these pillows "actually breathe." Do they also walk and talk?

All WE say is that they are fairly good pillows — come in and see them sometime.

The Concord key point air raid

Wilton, N. H.

Down from Greenfield comes the news that the first bass was taken out of Otter lake by Earl H. Bergh of Brookline, 19 1/2 inches and went four pounds. Phil Magoon, who has a number of boats on this lake, reports that the pout are running large many being taken 15 inches and better. Limit catches are reported every night.

Harold Grant of Greenfield, breeder of high class setters, has to get rid of four beautiful breeders as his business has taken him away from home too much.

Here is another chance to see a dog show. Beagle hounds and springer spaniel puppies. All are AKC registered. At the Butternut Acres Kennels, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, at Weare Center.

Here is a chance to get a real nine months old female cocker spaniel. No faults. Owner can't keep her.

The Government has sent me a copy of "Turtles" by Karl F. Lager. It's a 300 page booklet and tells all about the different kinds of turtles. This man claims that the snapper is very destructive to all small animal and bird life. Too many in one pond or lake will destroy millions of fish and bird and animal life.

The East Rindge turtle catchers have to date in three weeks taken 74, and 13 in one night. These were taken in two ponds. This firm, Messrs. White, Raymond and Stevens have 64 traps. Last year they got 95 and this year they expect to double that number. Removing a lot of turtles will make better fishing and hunting in that district. Mrs. Warren Coulter of Peterboro has an 18 month old collie shepherd for a good home. A good watch dog.

Here is a lady in East Jaffrey who says she has some male three colored cats. In P. T. Barnum's time a cat like this would be worth money. At one time he advertised that he would give $1000 for a male three colored cat. Anyone now interested?

The other night I went up to visit with 75 boys of the Union Camp on Otter lake. A fine, well-behaved lot of youngsters. On the way out of the camp we nearly picked off a young doe deer. She showed no signs of fear. John Robertson at Hollywood reports seeing deer every day.

The streams are showing the lack of rain and are down to the danger point. Heron are fishing the trout from the small pools where they have been caught by the low water. We saw a huge tom cat fishing the other day in a small brook.

It must be a woodchuck year. You hear farmers complaining that the chucks are more numerous than ever and doing a lot of damage. We have not heard how the town of Greenfield came out after planting 700 bombs in their holes.

The humane society are making a plea for everyone to refrain from leaving cats and dogs in closed cars in this hot weather. It's not good for them and in some cases not good for the car. When one man came back to his car the dog had torn all the back seat in his efforts to get out.

Some of the western states realize what the beavers are doing for conservation and are protecting them from the trappers. Right under our nose we have three cases of the beaver having had fine ponds full of trout. The open season came, all the beavers were trapped out and now those same ponds are no more, just a mere trickle, and no trout would live in such a so-called brook. In this case the trapper eats his cake and there is nothing to show for it.

Never have we heard so many reports of deer being seen by everyone. It's not safe to hit it up with the car after dark even on the trunk lines. A deer was killed by a car only last week on a trunk line. Don't forget, you pay your own damages on the car. In some states you are also asked to pay for the deer, at least a hundred bucks. So it pays to drive at a reasonable speed.

WBZ, WBZ-TV Sportscaster and Former Major League Pitcher

ALVIN DARK, a former member of the Boston Braves, made a surprising statement in New York recently. Dark said simply, "The Braves have the best pitching staff in the National League." The reason why Dark's statement is surprising is that most of us regard the Braves' pitching as weak. It has been said right along that when you get Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn and Vern Bickford, the Braves don't have much to offer.

But Normie Roy has come up with several good games. Bob Chipman is definitely a winning pitcher. And Bob Hogue has done some fine relief work.

Now compare that with the other National League staffs. The Phils have three good starters in Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons and Bob Miller. But the Braves' trio has a better record. The New York Giants' top three are Sheldon Jones, Larry Jansen and Monte Kennedy, and only Jansen has been effective.

The Dodgers have only two top men, Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe. Newcombe has been erratic, and Roe, getting along in years, is strictly a Sunday pitcher. The Cardinals have six name pitchers—Howie Pollett, Harry Brecheen, Red Munger, Alpha Brazle, Ted Wilks and Gerry Staley. But only Staley is doing anything this year.

When you stop to analyze it, Al Dark may have something. The Braves' pitching—by comparison at least—is far better than most Boston fans realize!

out of ten the mother is close by and can take much better care than you can. And besides, it's against the law with a good stiff fine.

If the Greenville man who borrowed a box trap of me several weeks ago will return same I will be much pleased and know he is an honest man. Otherwise, well, you know the rest.

Bernard E. Smith reports that strippers weighing 40 pounds have been taken at Dover Point. Kenneth Larow of M.P.D. Motor Express took 11 eels and one pout and his fishing pal caught 7 eels and no pout. Vernon Chesley of Northwood caught a 30 pound collock off Dover Point bridge. Some fish.
