Coming Events

The parish supper of Smith Memorial church will be served at 6:30 Wednesday, January 24. It will be a covered dish supper and all church members and attendants are invited. This is also a good time to informally welcome the new pastor, Rev. Walter Swank, Mrs. Swank and their son, Walter.

Meal and Garden Club Entertained

The president of the Caroline A. Fox Bird and Garden club, Mrs. Ernest Seavey, entertained the members of the club at her home on Saturday afternoon. Plans were discussed for the coming year and suggestions for some of the meetings were submitted to the program committee. They also talked about Butler Park and how it might be improved. From a beautifully appointed table, at which Mrs. Shem Barnes poured, sandwiches, cake, brownies, toll house cookies and tea were served. It was a very pleasant afternoon, well spent.

Grange

The regular meeting of Hillsboro grange was held last Wednesday evening in Grange hall with a small, but appreciative group present. After the regular business was transacted members listened to a program carried out in magazine fashion. A tableau represented the cover, then an editorial, an agricultural talk and a Woman's page featuring a fashion forecast, home hints, etc., a report on the juvenile grange, closing with classified ads. The next meeting on January 24 will feature a surprise program. Come out and help to make this n enjoyable evening.

Y. T. C.

The January meeting of the Youth Temperance Council was held at the home of Mrs. Florence Verry, January 11. Devotionals were led by Mary Lee Stillings. After reports of secretary and treasurer, awards for perfect attendance for the past year were given to Virginia Johnson, Shirley Grimes, Rita Nickerson and Joyce Wheeler, and an award given Virginia Johnson for bringing the most new members. A short New Year's talk was given by Mrs. Russell Perry, followed by games. We welcomed four new members, Walter Swank, Richard Lane, Billy Beaupre and Norman LaBlanc. There were fourteen boys and girls present. Refreshments of potato chips, cookies and cocoa were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Elgar. The next meeting will be February 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Then and Now

Do the children of today really have more fun than the children did long ago, when I was ten years old?

They certainly have much more with which to amuse themselves and much more entertainment provided for them, but sometimes I doubt that they have any more fun than we did. Of course we had no cars to take us to near and far places and see a small part of the world. We had no dozens of "go-things" from kiddiecars to bicycles. We had no movies, no radio, no telephones, no television and no school parties or parties at home, except when people dropped in for an evening.

Fishermen's Luck

Nine men with only six fish doesn't seem very encouraging, especially after spending all Sunday at Island Pond on a dull sunless day. However, our bet is that some of the men of this group will be out again this Sunday hoping for that rare day of limit catches.

The season for ice fishing ends January 31. Above in the picture displaying the pickerel are Alan Day, Harold Stafford, Ernest

Johnson, Axel Olson, James Stafford, Rolland Ives, Ennio Gerini, Joseph Alves and Willis McClintock.

School Board Plans Special Meeting

HILLSBORO — The $64 question in Elementary school building plans will be put to the voters at a special called school meeting Feb. 5. After first rejecting the bids last Thursday night the school building committee rescinded its action and agreed to report its proposals to the voters.

The committee will ask for $40,000 in addition to the $160,000 voted previously to build the eight classrooms and enlarged gymnasium. The decision to reject at the earlier meeting came about after learning that the bids received that night would call for expenditures exceeding the statutory debt limit. (The enabling act giving permission for towns to exceed their statutory debt limits had expired January 1, 1951.)

After learning of the expiration of the law and upon instruction of the building committee Atty. R. Wayne Crosby, representing the building committee, conferred with the State Board of Education. On Wednesday Gardner Turner of Keene introduced a bill to restore the enabling act to the statute books and to legalize all bond issues voted under the expired act.

Atty. R. Wayne Crosby, Hillsboro representative to the General Court, said that the bill had been sent to committee and that it would take a week or so before final passage, that the bill was not controversial, but would take some time to get through.

Give U.S. Lifting Hand, Not Knocking Hand Says Henniker Speaker

HENNIKER — The Woman's club met Tuesday afternoon in the parish house when Dr. Duane Squires of Colby Junior college, New London, discussed "The Present Outlook." He said that the outlook in China was gloomy but not hopeless, that the condition in Western Europe was encouraging and that as far as the United Nations is concerned we should have patience, hope and faith, and give it a lifting hand rather than a knocking hand. He concluded his remarks with three suggestions for members of the club. First, they should read, study and think, and not be swept by sensational and lurid headlines as we have had in some of our recent papers, and not listen to gossip. Second, we should keep our sense of balance and avoid extremes of hysteria. And third, we should keep our senses of perspective and look at the long view and not the short view.

Dr. Squires has been on many state and national committees. He

The notice calling for the special meeting is expected to be posted early next week and is to be published in a paper of general circulation.

Low bid for the school was that of James J. Viette of Littleton, N. H. Mr. Viette's company has just completed the Lancaster, N. H., school. His total bid was for $196,077, but resultant lower base-bids and other economies are expected to make his contract figure $172,077. This latter figure is $37,000 over the previous figure of $135,000 which was planned to be the original construction cost of the school. ($160,000 was the amount voted at the school meeting last year, to cover the costs of building, furniture, grading, etc.)

The committee had considered building the classroom wing of the school and leaving the gymnasium for later construction, but school board members stated this would not solve the problem of a recreational room and cafeteria which are necessary to complement the classroom activity.

The calling of a special meeting is considered necessary to bind the contractor's bid which expires February 10. Should Mr. Viette secure the contract the architect stated that he would break ground in a few days. Only difficult item in the construction is the securing of a 54 ft., 3 ft. thick iron girder costing $5,000 which would be needed, to support the roof at the west wall of the High school.

SCHOOL MEETINGS WERE DIFFERENT BACK IN 1846

HILLSBORO — School meetings were much different in by-gone years, but they concerned the same problems of building, fuel, teachers. Dr. Harvey Grimes has in his possession the minutes of an early Deering school meeting of March, 1846. The hand written, ink document shows signs of deterioration, but the writing is still legible.

Signed by Robert Wilson, clerk of the district, the meeting chose James Forsaith, II, as moderator; voted to hire a woman to teach winter school; voted the boarding in the winter to be sold, and this was struck off at one dollar and eight cents per week; voted to paint the schoolhouse; voted the summer school to begin June 1st, winter school November 1st; voted to get one solid cord of good hardwood cut and split ready for the stove, and put in the shed. Struck off at $1.63 per cord.

St. Mary's Parish Hall

After two weeks spent in organizing, the General Court settled down this week to the transaction of public business. The Senate had only two hearings on new bills scheduled this week, but House committees were running off 13 hearings. Other committees were completing their organization.

The pressure will really start next week. The week will open with what promises to be a sensational hearing on House Bill 17, "an act to discharge the judgement of the state against F. Gordon Kimball," Rep. Raymond K. Perkins of Concord, who stepped into the chairmanship of the House judiciary committee after Rep. Gardner C. Turner of Keene flatly refused to take this important post unless the majority leadership went with it, plans to hold the hearings on the Kimball case in the Hall of Representatives. No other committee room is large enough to accommodate the crowd expected at the hearing.

The hearing is on the proposal by Rep. Ned Spaulding of Hudson to "forgive" Kimball the $237,000 he now owes the state as the result of a suit against him for paying out state money in excess of legal appropriations. The hearing is likely to develop into a lawyer's battle, as nine of the 21 committee members are attorneys.

Two of the committee members have first-hand knowledge of the Kimball case. Chairman Perkins, who just retired as Merrimack county solicitor, was a member of the state's legal staff during the prosecution of ex-Comptroller Stephen B. Story and Contractor Donat F. Cote for fraud. Rep. Norman Pelletier of Nashua, one of the Democratic member of the committee, was associate counsel for the defense in that trial.

The Kimball hearing is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, after the

Now that the deer open season is over for this year we want to ask you to save your deer pelt and send it to Saranac Glove Co., Littleton, N. H. They will make you a nice pair of gloves or will pay you the cash. Then save the deer tails for the disabled veterans to make flies to be used next spring for fly fishing. Send the tails to me and I will send them along.

Yes, ice fishing is reported as being very good so far. The smaller ponds have six inches of ice but the larger ponds and lakes you want to look out for. Watch out for air holes.

Are you interested in taking lessons in fly tying? Well, the Sharon Arts Center will have a class starting Wednesday evening, January 10. Telephone Peterboro 538. The six lessons will cost you $3.50. Cheap enough. They also have other classes. Write for a list of classes.

The National Humane Review published at Albany, N. Y., is a snappy magazine dealing with humane matters. The December number is a sure winner.

A lady in Peterboro says she thinks she has me beat on all my stories. Well here is her story. In October someone opened the door to her goat pen, shot a goat with bird shot and then shot the door. She took the goat to three "Vets" and they all wailed the goat died from gunshot sound. That's not a deer story, but just another goat story. She wants to know who is to pay for her goat. Breaking and entering and murder. What next?

Here is a lady in Bristol who has a lot of old greeting and Christmas cards she wants to send to some children's hospital where they will be put to good use. Just send them to Carney hospital, South Boston, Mass., care of Sister Oliva. The children make them into scrapbooks.

The Wachusett Hound Club with headquarters at Fitchburg held its first fox hunt of the year January 1. The lime was 6 a.m. It was a successful hunt.

One N. H. Fish and Game club thinks that there should be a law forbidding all rabbit and hare hunting during the deer season. Without such a law the real rabbit hunter keeps his dogs at home during the deer season. Too much danger of some trigger happy hunter taking a pot shot at a running dog, either rabbit or foxhound.

The porcupine bounty law is sure to pop up again this session of the Legislature. The dropping of the bounty from 50 cents to a quarter was a grave mistake. We admit that too many were brought in for the bounty. But the nose racket was the cause of all that. Pay on the head and not the nose. You can make five noses from one quillpig. Take the two elbows, the two back knees and the nose; total five noses. Too many town officials have been bled by this racket. If they read the law they would see that the head and not the nose should be paid on.

The idea of getting written permission from a landowner to hunt is not such a crazy idea as some think. The Department has been asking trappers to get written permission to trap their land and the idea has worked out very well.

One hunter walked miles in a snowstorm and never saw a deer track. Now this man did not know his deer. Who ever heard of a deer roaming around in a storm? In fact they do the same thing the wild birds do. They stay put till the storm is over.

We see where some men say that the deer in the state are on the way out. Never in all the years that I have ridden the back roads have I seen as many deer as in 1950. The same holds good with a number of hunters and non-hunters that I have talked with. November is in my opinion a wrong month to open the deer season. Just ask "Rob. the Yankee" of Dublin, the well known weather expert, about the number of years we have had snow in November. Very few years

KI's Play Concord Legion Sunday

HILLSBORO—In their initial appearance in Hillsboro Sunday night the newly organized KI's defeated the New England college team of nearby Henniker. The Portsmouth All-Stars were unable because of storm conditions to keep their appointment as the first probable victim of the KI's.

This Sunday the KI's take on the Concord Legion, a highly rated team from the Capitol City. On the following Wednesday, Jan. 17, at Henniker their opponent will be the Elaine Jewelers of Rochester. This is the team which recently lost to the Kimball Jewelers tentative New England champs by virtue of their win over the Franklin Comets last week. Sports fans will remember the Franklin Comets were riding high with a 36 game winning streak before meeting up with the Jewelers.

have we had enough snow to track a deer. If you think deer are on the way out, just ask any of the fruit men. One man in Temple will tell you that he and his men have seen as many as 18 at one time in his apple orchard.

The weather man was sure again the deer hunters this year. No snow till the wee hours of the season and then he turned on the breeze and then had a nice freeze and crust, all in favor of the deer.

Within rods of my house my neighbors have seen deer two and three in a group. Not only once, but many times this past summer on the point of vanishing?

Don't burn that Christmas tree. Take it to your favorite pond and leave it out on the ice to sink in the spring. These trees are a great protection to very small fish, helping them to keep away from the adults that like to feed on them. Another use is to place it on the lawn and fill it with stale bread and doughnuts for the wild birds. They will enjoy it.

According to a well known daily paper our trespass laws are useless and have no teeth in them. If you are interested in having stronger laws, see your Senator and member of the House and tell him what you want.

The other morning I got a nice tip from Chief Drayton of the home town that a bread truck had some trouble and had dumped a lot of bread on the highway. I went down and picked up several bushels, which my livestock enjoyed. Thanks for the tip.

I guess it's winter. My raccoons have gone in for the winter. Only the big 10-year-old male is coming out to get his feed.

Last Saturday night I was just in time to see a weigh-in of two strings of pickerel at the Caswell market. Both strings were just under the legal limit by ounces, and were they nice fish. The shortest one was 19½ inches. These were caught in a nearby pond by the Cheever brothers, Perley and Charles. All the smaller ponds in this vicinity are producing some nice pickerel.

You know what gets my goat (so to speak) is to write to an owner of a lost homing pigeon and never get an answer. It's only an act of courtesy to drop me a penny post card and tell me what to do with the bird if you don't want it. Ain't some people funny?

Now that the deer season is all over look for a lot of snow.

Here is an old rabbit hunter who doesn't believe in making the hare and rabbit season any longer. If you extend the open season for a longer time you will run into the season that the does are carrying young. Instead of killing one you kill a litter. He says let the law remain as it is. Sounds reasonable.

Reports from the Department office tell us that some of the mallard ducks taken from the Souhegan river and Slony brook produced some fine broods in the back to where they were born, north country. Many of them came The reason we know, all of them were banded.

"Here's the Pitch"

By "Bump" Hadley

WBZ, WBZ-TV Sportscaster and Former Major League Pitcher

THE SIGNING of Lou Boudreau as a player by the Boston Red Sox didn't surprise me much.

Boudreau had indicated that he was in the open market to accept the best contract offer, and that to me meant the Red Sox offer. No one in baseball is quite so quick to take the rubber band off the bank roll as Tom Yawkey, when it comes to purchasing baseball ivory. There's a lot of speculation as to where Lou will play, but I believe that for the next two years at least, he will be the regular Red Sox shortstop. He can still get around, in spite of the fact that he benched himself part of last year in favor of Ray Boone, and he has always hit well in Fenway Park.

One thing Boudreau may do for the Red Sox is to put some fighting spirit into the club. Lou isn't the greatest shortstop I've ever seen, but he's one of the greatest competitors I've ever seen. Boston fans have seen him come through time and again when the chips were down, a lot like Joe Cronin used to do.

How much will Boudreau help the Red Sox? That's a big question. He'll help considerably, of course, but Lou and his fighting spirit can't bring the Red Sox a pennant. There's nothing going to help the Red Sox much in the pennant race except some reasonably sound pitching. So far, there has been no indication that the Sox will have any stronger pitching next season.

Antrim Defeats Hancock

Antrim High's basketball team is still winning. For the second time this season they defeated Hancock, at Hancock, with a score of 59-20. The girls, not quite able to overpower the Hancock group, lost 55-52. Bruce Cuddihy is credited with 36 tallies in the triumph over Hancock.

Legion to Sponsor March of Dimes Dance

HILLSBORO—The annual "March of Dimes" dance is again being sponsored by the American Legion. As in the past all proceeds will be turned over to the Infantile Paralysis Fund to be used in combating the dread disease. Music, for dancing, will be furnished by Wes Herick and orchestra, always a popular choice.

Tickets will be available at various business places including Taster's, Boardman's, Feldblum's, The Square Market, The American Legion club, Hillsboro General Store, Laundry's, Matthews Barber Shop, Baker's Pharmacy and Gerinis Market.

Louis Andrews, who is making arrangements for the dance to be held Friday, January 26, at the High school, urges everyone to mark the date on his calendar and plan to attend the annual affair for the slogan is "Dance so that others may walk."

Admission is 65c tax included and dancing will be from 8-12.

Hillsboro

Cpl. Fred W. Murdough, son of Mrs. Mary Murdough, has been re-assigned to the newly reactivated 6th Infantry Regiment. Cpl. Murdough's new unit, the famous 6th Infantry Regiment, boasts 138 years of distinguished military history and has been reactivated for duty as the U. S. Tactical Organization in Berlin, Germany. Its personnel have been hand-picked from among the best trained units in the U. S. Army for this vitally important mission. Prior to his present assignment he was serving with the 1st Division's 18th Infantry Regiment in the European Command.

On January 16, Milford High school will travel here for what shapes up to be the best game of the year. Milford has one of the best teams in the history of their school. On hand to officiate the game will be Marty McDonough, former football All-American at Colgate.

Hillsboro Juggernaut Rolls Over Pittsfield and Conant

HILLSBORO—On Friday, Jan. 5, Hillsboro rolled over Pittsfield 50-28.

Pittsfield jumped off to an early first quarter lead of 9-6, but when Hillsboro found the range in the 2nd period Pittsfield never had a chance.

In the 3rd quarter Hillsboro played some of the best ball they have played so far this season, both offensively and defensively by scoring 16 points while holding their opponents scoreless. The same even scoring team that has carried Hillsboro victorious through most of the schedule was hitting through the game.

Bud Gove was high scorer for Hillsboro with 12 points while Golden was top man for Pittsfield with 10 points.

Hillsboro Farmerettes In Victory Over Pittsfield

HILLSBORO — The Farmerettes chalked up their fifth victory to the tune of 37-54.

Frances Rosenberg led the attack with 20 points while Pat Perham scored 18. Ginny Bernard was close behind with 14.

The guards led by Joyce Bigwood and Elsie Edwards controlled the backboards and held Pittsfield to 37 points.

It was a fast, well played game on the part of both teams all the way.

Molly Aiken D.A.R. Given National Honors

ANTRIM — Molly Aiken chapter, D.A.R., met at the home of Mrs. William A. Nichols Friday, Jan. 5. The Regent, Mrs. Benjamin Tenney, presided. Mrs. Albert Zabriskie was program chairman. Mrs. Maurice A. Poor gave a very interesting historical sketch of Williamsburg, Va., tracing its history from its settlement through the restoration as far as now completed. Mrs. Poor displayed a map of old Williamsburg and many photographs. Each Daughter at Roll Call read a description of a restored or rebuilt building, these being prepared by Mrs. Poor.

A letter of thanks from Pine Ridge school in Virginia for the box of Christmas gifts sent them, was read by Mrs. Archie Sweet, chairman of Approved Schools.

It was voted to contribute beads and yarn to be sent to the Navajo Indians. These are to be brought to the February meeting or left at the home of Mrs. Carl Robinson.

It was announced that Molly Aiken chapter had been placed on the National Honor Roll for having completed its quota for the Building Fund. Mrs. Robinson read items concerning National defense.

Complimentary copies of a recent issue of the N. H. Troubadour were presented to each Daughter. Dessert and coffee were served by the hostess preceding the meeting.

Fire Destroys Barn, Roof of House in South Weare

A bad fire last Friday evening called out the Fire Department, to the former home of Harry French, in South Weare. The present owner had been having extensive repairs and renovating. The fire apparently started in the barn, which is connected with the house, and the barn and contents, including the car, were destroyed. The house was saved, though the roof is in bad condition. Weare firemen responded promptly, as usual, and the well had plenty of water which was a big help, though water was taken from three other sources. Dan Sawyer slipped and has two broken ribs which are very painful, and I hear Dick Perkins has some cuts on his face, and Leon Taylor scorched his face, for it was very hot, and a lot of smoke. Dan is still in bed, with his ribs tightly strapped.

HILLSBORO—On Tuesday, Jan. 9, Hillsboro High school defeated Conant 61-53, in a duel of fast breaks.

Having beaten Hillsboro earlier Conant arrived here cocky and confident, but were soon shown that they had a hard game to play.

In the first quarter the two teams seemed evenly matched but Conant had a 17-14 edge.

The second quarter was Hillsboro's big frame as they outscored Conant 20-11.

When the forwards were unable to get off their shots in this frame Diz Grimes and Walt Whitney were called on to keep Hillsboro in the game and came through with 8 and 5 points respectively. After this Conant was never in the game again for even though Hillsboro lost 4 men in the fourth quarter on fouls the second team were able to hold them.

Perhaps one of the best shots of the game was made by Ronnie Teixeira. Just as the buzzer was sounding he let a running one-hander go from mid-court which rebounded on the backboard and into the basket.

In the final analysis this was one of the best games Hillsboro has played, for every man played for the team and not for personal glory as is shown by the even scoring.

Diz Grimes was high scorer with 15 points, followed closely by Taylor, Gove and Whitney with 10 points each. Sawyer was high scorer for Conant with 14 points.

Farmerettes Tie Conant After Trailing 39-39

HILLSBORO—The Hillsboro Farmerette girls tied the Conant girls on Jan. 9th in one of the finest girls games that has been seen in this town in a long time.

The forwards were constantly breaking away for easy layup shots. It was close and fast all the way through the game.

With about 2 min. left to play, the Farmerettes were behind by 5 points. Ginny Bernard then contributed 3 points to spark a come back which was climaxed as Anne Carew dropped in the tying basket which made the final score, 39-39.

The guards controlled the defensive backboards all the way through the game.

Ginny Bernard was high scorer with 23 points.

Coming Events

The parish supper of Smith Memorial church will be served at 6:30 Wednesday, January 24. It will be a covered dish supper and all church members and attendants are invited. This is also a good time to informally welcome the new pastor, Rev. Walter Swank, Mrs. Swank and their son, Walter.

Bird and Garden Club Entertained

The president of the Caroline A. Fox Bird and Garden club, Mrs. Ernest Seavey, entertained the members of the club at her home on Saturday afternoon. Plans were discussed for the coming year and suggestions for some of the meetings were submitted to the program committee. They also talked about Butler Park and how it might be improved. From a beautifully appointed table, at which Mrs. Shem Barnes poured, sandwiches, cake, brownies, toll house cookies and tea were served. It was a very pleasant afternoon, well spent.

Grange

The regular meeting of Hillsboro grange was held last Wednesday evening in Grange hall with a small, but appreciative group present. After the regular business was transacted members listened to a program carried out in magazine fashion. A tableau represented the cover, then an editorial, an agricultural talk and a Woman's page featuring a fashion forecast, home hints, etc., a report on the Juvenile grange, closing with classified ads. The next meeting on January 24 will feature a surprise program. Come out and help to make this n enjoyable evening.

Y. T. C.

The January meeting of the Youth Temperance Council was held at the home of Mrs. Florence Verry, January 11. Devotionals were led by Mary Lee Stillings. After reports of secretary and treasurer, awards for perfect attendance for the past year were given to Virginia Johnson, Shirley Grimes, Rita Nickerson and Joyce Wheeler, and an award given Virginia Johnson for bringing the most new members. A short New Year's talk was given by Mrs. Russell Perry, followed by games. We welcomed four new members, Walter Swank, Richard Lane, Billy Beaupre and Norman LaBlanc. There were fourteen boys and girls present. Refreshments of potato chips, cookies and cocoa were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Elgar. The next meeting will be February 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Then and Now

Do the children of today really have more fun than the children did long ago, when I was ten years old?

They certainly have much more with which to amuse themselves and much more entertainment provided for them, but sometimes I doubt that they have any more fun than we did. Of course we had no cars to take us to near and far places and see a small part of the world. We had no dozens of "go-things" from kiddiecars to bicycles. We had no movies, no radio, no telephones, no television and no school parties or parties at home, except when people dropped in for an evening.

Fishermen's Luck

Nine men with only six fish doesn't seem very encouraging, especially after spending all Sunday at Island Pond on a dull sunless day. However, our bet is that some of the men of this group will be out again this Sunday hoping for that rare day of limit catches.

The season for ice fishing ends January 31. Above in the picture displaying the pickarel are Alan Day, Harold Stafford, Ernest

Johnson, Axel Olson, James Stafford, Rolland Ives, Ennio Gerini, Joseph Alves and Willis McClintock.

School Board Plans Special Meeting

HILLSBORO — The $64 question in Elementary school building plans will be put to the voters at a special called school meeting Feb. 5. After first rejecting the bids last Thursday night the school building committee rescinded its action and agreed to report its proposals to the voters.

The committee will ask for $40,000 in addition to the $160,000 voted previously to build the eight classrooms and enlarged gymnasium.

The decision to reject at the earlier meeting came about after learning that the bids received that night would call for expenditures exceeding the statutory debt limit. (The enabling act giving permission for towns to exceed their statutory debt limits had expired January 1, 1951.)

After learning of the expiration of the law and upon instruction of the building committee Atty. R. Wayne Crosby, representing the building committee, conferred with the State Board of Education. On Wednesday Gardner Turner of Keene introduced a bill to restore the enabling act to the statute books and to legalize all bonded issues voted under the expired act.

Atty. R. Wayne Crosby, Hillsboro representative to the General Court, said that the bill had been sent to committee and that it would take a week or so before final passage, that the bill was not controversial, but would take some time to get through.

The notice called for the special meeting is expected to be posted early next week and is to be published in a paper of general circulation.

Low bid for the school was that of James J. Viette of Littleton, N. H. Mr. Viette's company has just completed the Lancaster, N. H., school. His total bid was for $196,077, but resultant lower base-bids and other economies are expected to make his contract figure $172,077. This latter figure is $37,000 over the previous figure of $135,000 which was planned to be the original construction cost of the school. ($160,000 was the amount voted at the school meeting last year, to cover the costs of building, furniture, grading, etc.)

The committee had considered building the classroom wing of the school and leaving the gymnasium for later construction, but school board members stated this would not solve the problem of a recreational room and cafeteria which are necessary to complement the classroom activity.

The calling of a special meeting is considered necessary to bind the contractor's bid which expires February 10. Should Mr. Viette secure the contract the architect stated that he would break ground in a few days. Only difficult item in the construction is the securing of a 54 ft. 3 ft. thick iron girder costing $5,000 which would be needed to support the roof at the west wall of the High school.

Give U.S. Lifting Hand, Not Knocking Hand Says Henniker Speaker

HENNIKER — The Woman's club met Tuesday afternoon in the parish house when Dr. Duane Squires of Colby Junior college, New London, discussed "The Present Outlook." He said that the outlook in China was gloomy but not hopeless, that the condition in Western Europe was encouraging and that as far as the United Nations is concerned we should have patience, hope and faith, and give it a lifting hand rather than a knocking hand.

He concluded his remarks with three suggestions for members of the club. First, they should read, study and think, and not be swept by sensational and lurid headlines as we have had in some of our recent papers, and not listen to gossip. Second, we should keep our sense of balance and avoid extremes of hysteria. And third, we should keep our senses of perspective and look at the long view and not the short view.

Dr. Squires has been on many state and national committees. He was on the Citizens committee of the United Nations for N. H., in 1950, appointed by Gov. Sherman Adams, and he is on the N. H. committee for the study of peace. He was introduced by Mrs. George Kent of the dramatic department.

Mrs. Harry Holmes presided at the business meeting. She urged the members to attend the President's conference to be held at the Historical building, Concord, on Jan. 25. The banquet will be Wednesday evening. Mrs. Ross Robertson stated that she had received only two pictures for the scrap book to be sent to Europe and it must be ready by Feb. 1. Mrs. Henry Colclough reported on the drawing class at school. Members are asked to bring their hooked rugs to the next meeting. Mrs. F. L. Chase won the cake. Hostesses were Mrs. Philip Chase, Mrs. Martha Ayer, Mrs. David Cain, Mrs. Charles Burnham, Mrs. Chester Clapp, and Mrs. Jennie Brown.

Speaker Urges More Industries for Small Towns

HILLSBORO — In the absence of the president, Mrs. Jane Nissen, who is in Florida, Miss Ruth Ryley presided at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly club. An invitation was extended to the members to attend the Guest Night meeting of the Women's Society for Christian Service at the Methodist church, 8 p.m., February 14.

He spoke of the research work and experiments conducted by the University of New Hampshire in this respect. Mr. Teulon warned that communities of one or two industries were in a most precarious state before you get new industries to locate in your community. To beautify your town is one of the best selling jobs... Do not underestimate your town!

Members were asked to bring suggestions for the club's participation in the Youth Service Contest. If you have an idea for the welfare of the youth of our community, contact the chairman, Mrs. Francis Bennett.

"Of the 1,200 industries in New Hampshire, 115 are new in the state. Adequate manufacturing space must be obtained and new plant construction and the financing of same is needed if we are to continue to grow."

The club voted to donate $10.00 to be used as prizes for Shop and Home Economic entries in the High School Sprng Exhibit.

Mrs. Ione Nelson was in charge of the refreshments which were served from a beautifully appointed table. Decorations were carried out in pastel colors with a centerpiece of pink carnations and lighted tapers. Assisting Mrs. Nelson were Mrs. Mildred Eaton, Mrs. Ida Ellinwood, Mrs. Charlotte Fletcher, Mrs. Alice Nairn, Mrs. Florence McClintock, Mrs. Elinor Vaillancourt, Mrs. Sylvia Van Hazinga and Mrs. Mildred Wallace.

We are fortunate in having two of our members on the State Federation Executive Board. Mrs. Helen Keast and Mrs. Dorothy Orser. This Board will meet in session with the N. H. State Federation in Concord, January 24 and 25. Mrs. Mildred Eaton will represent the club at the two-day conference.

He who picks up one end of a stick picks up the other. He who chooses the beginning of a road chooses the place it leads to. Always the means we use must partake of the quality of the goal we seek. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick

Speaker Urges More Industries for Small Towns

HILLSBORO — In the absence of the president, Mrs. Jane Nissen, who is in Florida, Miss Ruth Ryley presided at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly club. An invitation was extended to the members to attend the Guest Night meeting of the Women's Society for Christian Service at the Methodist church, 8 p.m., February 14.

Members were asked to bring suggestions for the club's participation in the Youth Service Contest. If you have an idea for the welfare of the youth of our community, contact the chairman, Mrs. Francis Bennett.

The club voted to donate $10.00 to be used as prizes for Shop and Home Economic entries in the High School Sprng Exhibit.

We are fortunate in having two of our members on the State Federation Executive Board. Mrs. Helen Keast and Mrs. Dorothy Orser. This Board will meet in session with the N. H. State Federation in Concord, January 24 and 25. Mrs. Mildred Eaton will represent the club at the two-day conference.

After the meeting the speaker of the evening, Mr. John Teulon, was introduced by Mrs. Lillian Day. His subject was "The Future of Small Industries." Mrs. Teulon gave a vivid picture of existing conditions. He said that now is the most advantageous time to get organizations to locate in New Hampshire. He spoke of the research work and experiments conducted by the University of New Hampshire in this respect. Mr. Teulon warned that communities of one or two industries were in a most precarious state. "Do not wait until it is a necessity before you get new industries to locate in your community. To beautify your town is one of the best selling jobs... Do not underestimate your town!"

"Of the 1,200 industries in New Hampshire, 115 are new in the state. Adequate manufacturing space must be obtained and new plant construction and the financing of same is needed if we are to continue to grow."

Mrs. Ione Nelson was in charge of the refreshments which were served from a beautifully appointed table. Decorations were carried out in pastel colors with a centerpiece of pink carnations and lighted tapers. Assisting Mrs. Nelson were Mrs. Mildred Eaton, Mrs. Ida Ellinwood, Mrs. Charlotte Fletcher, Mrs. Alice Naim, Mrs. Florence McClintock, Mrs. Elinor Vaillancourt, Mrs. Sylvia Van Hazinga and Mrs. Mildred Wallace.

Fred C. Jones, East Weare

Messengers For Sale at Colburn Bros. Store, Lowe & Johnson,
Corner Grocery Store, A. D. Eastman Store and Sawyer's Weare Center Store.

Mrs. Hazel Avery has opened her shop, "Hazel's Beauty Shoppe," at her home on Flanders Memorial road. Mr. Avery has added a room, with entrance from the porch, where the beauty work is done, so at last Weare has its own beauty shop. The interior is done in pale green, the color scheme chosen by Mrs. Avery assisted by a decorator, and very attractive, including the view out of the different windows, which look out on the trees which make a purely lovely setting for the house. The Averys bought the land, which was all woods, and cut down the trees they didn't want, and have white birches and evergreens which a landscape gardener would envy. The shop will be open every day but Wednesday, I believe 9 to 5, but appointments can be made for Wednesday, or any evening. Incidentally, Mrs. Avery was a beautician in Boston before coming to Weare.

Mrs. Lyla Regan has received news from her granddaughter, Janet Leroux, who has arrived safely at Fort Lee, Va. Miss Leroux, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leroux, of Laconia, will be taking basic training for the next 11 weeks.

High scorer for the evening at the weekly card party of the Riverdale Improvement Society was Bryan Sargent. Other scorers were Mrs. Ruby Sargent, Betty Wilson, and Charles Regan.

The Sunday night singers met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crandall Wallenstein. This group meets every Sunday evening, "weather or not".

Dan Sawyer is convalescing, so to speak, with two broken ribs, injured at the South Weare fire.

Several of our Weare residents attended the Ice Capades in Boston this past week. Weare is quite skating conscious, with a nice little skating pond at Whitney's Corner, which is kept cleared by Mr. Whitney and members of the skating club. The Club house, near the shore, offers a chance for skaters to rest or get warm, and also a place for non-skaters to visit and watch the fun.

Ice fishing is present business of the Weare sportsman, with the usual stories; wonderful strings yesterday, and today they are not biting. Good strings of pickerel I hear have been brought home.

Alden Colburn and Lloyd Wood are busy at Odd Fellows hall, re-decorating.

This Friday evening is the scheduled-date of the annual meeting of Deering-Weare Credit Union, at Judson hall, in Deering. The regular meeting was held last Friday night.

Mrs. Benjamin Stein, Jr, the former Mary Lou Taylor, had a letter from her husband, who is a corporal, in the 5th regiment. He flew overseas and is probably in Korea at present. Mr. and Mrs. Stein have one daughter, Janice Deborah.

OUT OUR WAY By Uncle Cy

There is almost a lull in the news this week out our way. The deer season is over and there were no hunting accidents, and no one was mistaken for a deer of which we are thankful.

Now ice fishing has taken its place. Ira Snobbs, was in Elmer's store and guess he has told the No. 1 whopper to date.

Said he was fishing on the pond over there (that's what they always say when they don't want anyone to know where they went), fishing with tom cods for bait and put the largest one he could find on the hook, and had just put it down through the hole in the ice and started off to cut another hole. He heard a snap as the flag went up on the tilt he had just set. He started to pull in the line and knew he had a big one. When he got it up through the hole and on the ice it was a three pound pickerel. He wasn't hooked but the tom cod had grabbed the pickerel by the tail and hadn't let go all the time he pulled him in, and still hung to the pickerel when he was on the ice.

Elmer said, "Two whoppers!"
"Two whoppers - what?" said Ira.

"Pickerel and story," said Elmer. Sorry George Proctor couldn't have been there to have heard that one.

I know that I shouldn't find fault with what "Santa" brought me for Christmas. But as "Santa" is out of the picture and my wife is in it, think she has young ideas for a person her age by giving me two sets of pajamas. They are stored away in the bureau drawer, and if we have company, may come in handy if they leave their outfit at home. They can be used for persons weighing from 100 pounds to 300. Guess she will know what I think about pajamas after she reads the following verses I made up a spell back, if she doesn't already.

When I go to bed at night
I like to be undressed,
I go to bed to get some sleep,
Likewise, get some rest.

Pajamas, don't appeal to me
At such a rig, I scoff;
Why not wear your clothes to bed,
Why take your britches off?

I don't have two sets of clothes,
One for day and night;
Pajamas, they are gaudy things
With colors that are bright.

I want a night shirt that is long,
I want it wide, you bet;
I won't wear a cotton one,
I want it flannel.

Perhaps I'm fussy that may be
Now I'm getting old,
Pajamas if they do look hot
I call the things darned cold.

I tried to wear pajamas once,
I wore them once, no more;
A night shirt suits me to a "T"
The same as "Granddad" wore.

Dunno as I will be able to write much more of the doing out our way after my wife reads this. I may be crippled for life.

CONTROLS - - OF WHOM? by Dorothy Riefler: "---Womne at meat counter: Isn't it dreadful? Ninety cents a pound for round steak! Why don't they slap on price controls?"

Man at automobile show: 'We've got to have a new car. Have you seen the wreck I'm driving? We should have got one before the new rules went into effect: About $68 a month would have bought a Chevrolet then. It takes about $88 now. The government doesn't seem to realize a car's a necessity these days.'

Woman at the bank: 'I want to cash this savings bond, please. I did hope to keep it but the cost of living's gone up so. Yes, we're going to get a television set. The children are simply demanding it.'

Women scanning the real estate pages: 'Will you look at that! $100 for a two-room apartment! It would be a relief from this dump. Why doesn't the government control those rents?'

Couple going over tax returns: 'But darling, they can't do that to us. My heavens! We can't live on our income after those taxes. Why don't they take it out of the profiteers and stop this inflation?'

Women chatting between bridge hands: 'Danger of real war? Don't tell me. I think we ought to mobilize right away - - and have complete price controls to prevent war profiteering. Look at steel. Do you know what I had to pay for a simple stainless steel roaster the other day?'

Woman looking over her bank accounts: 'But you'll just have to ask for a raise, dear. I simply can't get along on my allowance any more. They say the XYZ Co. is giving a raise all around - - just to cover the increase in the cost of living.'

What is wrong with this picture? Where's the villain in the drawing? Can it be that the villain and the victim are the same? Or perhaps it's that cat chasing its tail, that cat they call inflation.

Who started the cat chasing its tail anyway? Of course, it was the North Koreans and the Chinese. Still, I never met a Korean in a department store, and I don't believe they order by mail from Macy's.

Department store sales alone went up 30 percent between March and July while the total volume of production increased by less than 1 per cent. A lot of buying was temporary "scare buying" - - silly hoarding of sugar and nylons for example. But people kept on buying all kinds of things in quantities that are a record for all time. The factories couldn't turn them out fast enough - - even though they still were devoted almost entirely to civilian production. What will happen now some of these have gone and others will have to go into military production?

Where does all the money come from that people have been spending? Well first, we've been earning and been paidziffiff...mfwyprdu a lot. Nearly everybody has had a job and been paid better than last year. Then we've been spending our savings, what we couldn't spend in 1943-48 when we couldn't get automobiles, refrigerators, furniture and houses.

More than that, people have been borrowing to spend. The total of money and credit being spent amounts to much more than the total of things to be bought if figured at the old level of prices. Naturally, their prices have gone up. Could they have been held down with all that money available to bid for them?

We all know that something has been done to reduce spending. Credit regulations have cut down installment purchases and little or no downpayment buying of houses. That has cut down the demand for some other things too. Moreover, new taxes have been voted and none of us will have so much to spend after we've met our tax bills. In view of the size of the defense program, however, even before all-out mobilization, that is only a beginning.

The passage of huge appropriation bills doesn't provide the materials for defense. These must be made of steel and copper, wool and nylon, and above all, manpower, using materials and labor that cannot, then, be used for civilian needs. But civilians will have to pay for them just the same. We'll have to cut our spending down to the levels of the available supplies after defense needs are met, and use what we would have spent to pay our taxes. That's what 'pay as we go' budget means, and that's what controlling inflation means. Price controls, if or when instituted, aren't for the purpose of making it possible for you and me to buy what we want more cheaply but, combined with rationing, are simply intended to make the limited supplies go round as fairly as possible.

The fundamental idea of all anti-inflationary measures is to make it hard to spend, and necessary to save, to work hard and to pay taxes. If that isn't fun, neither is it fun to be a soldier in Korea."

Time-Place-Fact

by Jeanne Eccles

Have you seen the January issue of Outdoor Life magazine? On page 26 is a most interesting story, "Hair Trigger Contest" by Stuart Bruce, our Wednesday evening art group teacher. You may remember a story by Stuart "Death of a Masked Raider" published Sept. 1948. Besides his writing Stuart is interested in hunting, in guns, in raising beagles, and in horses. Because of the latter two he contracted to do a series of delcomania designs for a pottery and plastic concern in N. Y. His splendid knowledge of all animals stands him in good stead when doing such fine exacting work. With his "spare time" taken up in doing portrait commissions in and around Claremont this winter, but in the spring we hope to claim him full time again, meantime, our Wednesday evening art group will meet as usual from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Cellar Studio every week. Whenever Stuart is in town he will run in and give our work a look-see and a criticism and keep us on the right track for our 4th annual spring exhibition, coming in June.

It is remarkable when you stop to think how much a part of our daily lives, our business, and our fun is centered about our traveling men who stop here every week, six weeks or other interval, however, their trips are scheduled. Our out parts men, Mr. Mills from Fitchburg, J. Weinbaum from Brighton, Mass., come every week. LeRoy Burns from Sawyer Barker Co. in Portland comes every three weeks and has for many years, Dick Osgood of Rochester, N. H., comes every month and has for the last 33 or 34 years, and Herbert Kelly of Rival Foods, in Cambridge, Mass. holds the record, coming here every two weeks for the last 59 years. He will have his 85th birthday March the 15th. Want to start something? Ask "Herb" about men who retire? Each one of these men and many more I'll mention later, has made a circle of friends here who look forward to his coming with a great deal of anticipation. Each according to his tastes go to the movies the entertainments, and the basketball games, or spends the evening catching up on the news and swapping stories with others in the hotel lobby. Till next week or this won't even be published.

40 GRAND QUESTION

What to do now? seems to be the $40,000 question confronting Hillsboro school voters between now and the special meeting. At this meeting the building committee will ask for an additional $40,000 to build the school and gymnasium.

The calling of a special meeting is necessary to hold the contractor to his bid.

While $200,000 for a new school is a lot of money for an individual to pay, as a community enterprise it would mean $10,000 plus interest additional to the general budget of the town for the next 20 years. The man paying $49.00 in taxes would pay $53.00 the first year, less each year after.

Advantages in building now are that:

- 1, interest rates are low.
- 2, the present elementary school will need extensive repairs (the architect estimated it would cost $100,000 to place the elementary school in satisfactory condition).
- 3, the sale of the old schools as homes, and the elementary school site would bring a high figure at present.
- 5, the elementary school is unsafe and the third floor especially is not safe and has been considered so by insurance company representatives.
- 5, the new school would combine into one plant all of the town schools with resultant savings in teaching personnel, administration, fuel, and other overhead expenses.
- 6, the new school would give the town the enlarged hall, modern stage, large gymnasium it needs for town and school functions.

7, school children are our most important natural resource.

8, a new school, good instruction can assist Hillsboro children in becoming ready for the problems of tomorrow. They will be the citizens, the town of the next generation.

9, Hillsboro will be known as a community of good schools. People will want to come here, live here, and stay here.

LEND A HAND

January is March of Dimes month, established as such by the efforts of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, who experienced firsthand the suffering and anxiety occasioned by polio. This is the month Americans are called on to give a few dimes to help win the fight to save many lives and limbs.

The slogan this year is the plea of a small child: "Lend me a hand..." Thousands of young Americans who have been struck by the dread poliomyelitis need a helping hand; their small bodies have been twisted and crippled in many instances. But, they can win the fight for complete recovery if the nation answers their plea and supplies the dimes and dollars necessary to continue the battle against polio, a war that is being constantly waged in hospitals, laboratories and rehabilitation centers throughout the land.

Let no child lose his battle because we failed to lend him a hand.

YOU Are Needed In the PTA

"Why?" you ask. "Why am I needed in the PTA?" "What can I do that millions of other parents and teachers aren't doing or haven't done?"

YOU are Needed in the PTA because:

Children's needs won't wait. It doesn't take a child long to grow up. And growing up under undesirable conditions means tragedy to the child and loss to the community and nation. By uniting forces with others who care about what happens to the rising generation of Americans, YOU can help to overcome these unwholesome influences.

Many heads are better than one. The PTA is a democratic organization, with democratic principles. As a member YOU will have a chance to pool your thinking with that of others who are giving useful service in a notable cause. In the PTA you, as an individual, count and are counted upon.

By joining hands with others who are working for better homes, better schools, and better communities, you can hasten the coming of a better future for all children.

There's a new and better world to be fashioned for the sake of all mankind. But only as YOU unite your efforts with those of every other citizen can young minds and hearts be taught the ideas, ideals, and attitude that will build a true and lasting peace.

YOU are Needed in the PTA to: Help raise the standards of mental, emotional and spiritual health. Help build a nation of homes where parents and children get along will together and enjoy a satisfying family life.

Put into practice the findings of those who have made a lifework of understanding young people and their development.

HILLSBORO

The Hillsboro practice alarm was declared fairly successful. The siren was heard in some areas but not in others. The length of the short blasts was not quite three minutes due to the pressure being down in the first alarm whistle.

PTA PLANS BANQUET FOR BASKETBALL TEAM

ANTRIM - At a board meeting of the PTA held at the home of Mrs. Oliver Wallace, with Carroll Nichols, president, presiding, plans for an honorary banquet for the High School basketball teams were discussed at some length.

It was decided to have it in March, date to be decided later. Program chairman, Mrs. John Lawson, announced that teachers and pupils would present the February program, and that an historical speaker was scheduled for March when the town's patriotic groups will be invited to attend.

HILLSBORO

Valley lodge of Odd Fellows met in lodge hall on Monday evening with Noble Grand Alvah Hilliard presiding. Plans were made for the erection of two signs of either end of the town with the wording, "Valley Lodge of Odd Fellows. Welcome to Hillsboro. Meetings held the first and third Monday nights at 7:45." Plans were also made for visits with other lodges in the state and for the district meeting at Keene on Feb. 17.

Mr. Avery has added a room, with entrance from the porch, where the beauty work is done, so at last Weare has its own beauty shop. The interior is done in pale green, the color scheme chosen by Mrs. Avery assisted by a decorator, and very attractive, including the view out of the different windows, which look out on the trees which make a purely lovely setting for the house. The Averys bought the land, which was all woods, and cut down the trees they didn't want, and have white birches and evergreens which a landscape gardener would envy. The shop will be open every day but Wednesday, I believe 9 to 5, but appointments can be made for Wednesday, or any evening. Incidentally, Mrs. Avery was a beautician in Boston before coming to Weare.

Weare is quite skating conscious, with a nice little skating pond at Whitney's Corner, which is kept cleared by Mr. Whitney and members of the skating club. ## OUT OUR WAY By Uncle Cy

There is almost a lull in the news this week out our way. The deer season is over and there were no hunting accidents, and no one was mistaken for a deer of which we are thankful.

Now ice fishing has taken its place. Ira Snobbs, was in Elmer's store and guess he has told the No. 1 whopper to date.

Said he was fishing on the pond over there (that's what they always say when they don't want anyone to know where they went), fishing with tom cods for bait and put the largest one he could find on the hook, and had just put it down through the hole in the ice and started off to cut another hole. He heard a snap as the flag went up on the tilt he had just set. He started to pull in the line and knew he had a big one. When he got it up through the hole and on the ice it was a three pound pickerel. He wasn't hooked but the tom cod had grabbed the pickerel by the tail and hadn't let go all the time he pulled him in, and still hung to the pickerel when he was on the ice.

Elmer said, "Two whoppers!"
"Two whoppers - what?" said Ira.

"Pickerel and story," said Elmer. Sorry George Proctor couldn't have been there to have heard that one.

I know that I shouldn't find fault with what "Santa" brought me for Christmas. But as "Santa" is out of the picture and my wife is in it, think she has young ideas for a person her age by giving me two sets of pajamas. They are stored away in the bureau drawer, and if we have company, may come in handy if they leave their outfit at home. They can be used for persons weighing from 100 pounds to 300. Guess she will know what I think about pajamas after she reads the following verses I made up a spell back, if she doesn't already.

When I go to bed at night
I like to be undressed,
I go to bed to get some sleep,
Likewise, get some rest.
Pajamas, don't's appeal to me
At such a rig, I scoff;
Why not wear your clothes to bed,
Why take your britches off?

I don't have two sets of clothes,
One for day and night;
Pajamas, they are gaudy things
With colors that are bright.

I want a night shirt that is long,
I want it wide, you bet;
I won't wear a cotton one,
I want it flannelet.

Perhaps I'm fussy—that may be
Now I'm getting old,
Pajamas if they do look hot
I call the things darned cold.

I tried to wear pajamas once,
I wore them once, no more;
A night shirt suits me to a "T"
The same as "Granddad" wore.

Dunno as I will be able to write
much more of the doing out our way after my wife reads this. I may be crippled for life.

CONTROLS - - OF WHOM? by Dorothy Riefler: "---Womne at meat counter: Isn't it dreadful? Ninety cents a pound for round steak! Why don't they slap on price controls?"

Man at automobile show: 'We've got to have a new car. Have you seen the wreck I'm driving? We should have got one before the new rules went into effect: About $68 a month would have bought a Chevrolet then. It takes about $88 now. The government doesn't seem to realize a car's a necessity these days.'

Woman at the bank: 'I want to cash this savings bond, please. I did hope to keep it but the cost of living's gone up so. Yes, we're going to get a television set. The children are simply demanding it.'

Women scanning the real estate pages: 'Will you look at that! $100 for a two-room apartment! It would be a relief from this dump. Why doesn't the government control those rents?'

Couple going over tax returns: 'But darling, they can't do that to us. My heavens! We can't live on our income after those taxes. Why don't they take it out of the profiteers and stop this inflation?'

Women chatting between bridge hands: 'Danger of real war? Don't tell me. I think we ought to mobilize right away - - and have complete price controls to prevent war profiteering. Look at steel. Do you know what I had to pay for a simple stainless steel roaster the other day?'

Woman looking over her bank accounts: 'But you'll just have to ask for a raise, dear. I simply can't get along on my allowance any more. They say the XYZ Co. is giving a raise all around - - just to cover the increase in the cost of living.'

What is wrong with this picture? Where's the villain in the drawing? Can it be that the villain and the victim are the same? Or perhaps it's that cat chasing its tail, that is they call Inflation.

Who started the cat chasing its tail anyway? Of course, it was the North Koreans and the Chinese. Still, I never met a Korean in a department store, and I don't believe they order by mail from Macy's.

Department store sales alone went up 30 percent between March and July while the total volume of production increased by less than 1 per cent. A lot of buying was temporary "scare buying" - - silly hoarding of sugar and nylons for example. But people kept on buying all kinds of things in quantities that are a record for all time. The factories couldn't turn them out fast enough - - even though they still were devoted almost entirely to civilian production. What will happen now some of these have gone and others will have to go into military production?

Where does all the money come from that people have been spending? Well first, we've been earning and been paidziffiff...mfwyprdu a lot. Nearly everybody has had a job and been paid better than last year. Then we've been spending our savings, what we couldn't spend in 1943-48 when we couldn't get automobiles, refrigerators, furniture and houses.

More than that, people have been borrowing to spend. The total of money and credit being spent amounts to much more than the total of things to be bought if figured at the old level of prices. Naturally, their prices have gone up. Could they have been held down with all that money available to bid for them?

We all know that something has been done to reduce spending. Credit regulations have cut down installment purchases and little or no downpayment buying of houses. That has cut down the demand for some other things too. Moreover, new taxes have been voted and none of us will have so much to spend after we've met our tax bills. In view of the size of the defense program, however, even before all-out mobilization, that is only a beginning.

The passage of huge appropriation bills doesn't provide the materials for defense. These must be made of steel and copper, wool and nylon, and above all, manpower, using materials and labor that cannot, then, be used for civilian needs. But civilians will have to pay for them just the same. We'll have to cut our spending down to the levels of the available supplies after defense needs are met, and use what we would have spent to pay our taxes. That's what 'pay as we go' budget means, and that's what controlling inflation means. Price controls, if or when instituted, aren't for the purpose of making it possible for you and me to buy what we want more cheaply but, combined with rationing, are simply intended to make the limited supplies go round as fairly as possible.

The fundamental idea of all anti-inflationary measures is to make it hard to spend, and necessary to save, to work hard and to pay taxes. If that isn't fun, neither is it fun to be a soldier in Korea."

Time-Place-Fact

by Jeanne Eccles

Have you seen the January issue of Outdoor Life magazine? On page 26 is a most interesting story, "Hair Trigger Contest" by Stuart Bruce, our Wednesday evening art group teacher. You may remember a story by Stuart "Death of a Masked Raider" published Sept. 1948. Besides his writing Stuart is interested in hunting, in guns, in raising beagles, and in horses. Because of the latter two he contracted to do a series of delcomania designs for a pottery and plastic concern in N. Y. His splendid knowledge of all animals stands him in good stead when doing such fine exacting work.

With his "spare time" taken up in doing portrait commissions in and around Claremont this winter, but in the spring we hope to claim him full time again, meantime, our Wednesday evening art group will meet as usual from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Cellar Studio every week. Whenever Stuart is in town he will join in and give our work a look-see and a criticism and keep us on the right track for our 4th annual spring exhibition, coming in June.

It is remarkable when you stop to think how much a part of our daily lives, our business, and our fun is centered about our traveling men who stop here every week, six weeks or other interval, however, their trips are scheduled. Our auto parts men, Mr. Mills from Fitchburg, J. Weinbaum from Brighton, Mass., come every week. LeRoy Burns from Sawyer Barker Co. in Portland comes every three weeks and has for many years, Dick Osgood of Rochester, N. H., comes every month and has for the last 33 or 34 years, and Herbert Kelly of Rival Foods, in Cambridge, Mass. holds the record, coming here every two weeks for the last 59 years. He will have his 85th birthday March the 15th. Want to start something? Ask "Herb" about men who retire? Each one of these men and many more I'll mention later, has made a circle of friends here who look forward to his coming with a great deal of anticipation. Each according to his tastes go to the movies, the entertainments, and the basketball games, or spends the evening catching up on the news and swapping stories with others in the hotel lobby.

Till next week or this won't even

40 GRAND QUESTION

What to do now? seems to be the $40,000 question confronting Hillsboro school voters between now and the special meeting. At this meeting the building committee will ask for an additional $40,000 to build the school and gymnasium.

The calling of a special meeting is necessary to hold the contractor to his bid.

While $200,000 for a new school is a lot of money for an individual to pay, as a community enterprise it would mean $10,000 plus interest additional to the general budget of the town for the next 20 years. The man paying $49.00 in taxes would pay $53.00 the first year, less each year after.

Advantages in building now are that:

1. interest rates are low.
2. the present elementary school will need extensive repairs (the architect estimated it would cost $100,000 to place the elementary school in satisfactory condition).
3. the sale of the old schools as homes, and the elementary school site would bring a high figure at present.
4. the elementary school is unsafe and the third floor especially is not safe and has been considered so by insurance company representatives.
5. the new school would combine into one plant all of the town schools with resultant savings in teaching personnel, administration, fuel, and other overhead expenses.
6. the new school would give the town the enlarged hall, modern stage, large gymnasium it needs for town and school functions.

7. school children are our most important natural resource.

8. a new school, good instruction can assist Hillsboro children in becoming ready for the problems of tomorrow. They will be the citizens, the town of the next generation.

9. Hillsboro will be known as a community of good schools. People will want to come here, live here, and stay here.

LEND A HAND

January is March of Dimes month, established as such by the efforts of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, who experienced firsthand the suffering and anxiety occasioned by polio. This is the month Americans are called on to give a few dimes to help win the fight to save many lives and limbs.

The slogan this year is the plea of a small child: "Lend me a hand..." Thousands of young Americans who have been struck by the dread poliomyelitis need a helping hand; their small bodies have been twisted and crippled in many instances. But, they can win the fight for complete recovery if the nation answers their plea and supplies the dimes and dollars necessary to continue the battle against polio, a war that is being constantly waged in hospitals, laboratories and rehabilitation centers throughout the land.

Let no child lose his battle because we failed to lend him a hand.

YOU Are Needed In the PTA

"Why?" you ask. "Why am I needed in the PTA?" "What can I do that millions of other parents and teachers aren't doing or haven't done?"

YOU are Needed in the PTA because:

Children's needs won't wait. It doesn't take a child long to grow up. And growing up under undesirable conditions means tragedy to the child and loss to the community and nation. By uniting forces with others who care about what happens to the rising generation of Americans, YOU can help to overcome these unwholesome influences.

Many heads are better than one. The PTA is a democratic organization, with democratic principles. As a member YOU will have a chance to pool your thinking with that of others who are giving useful service in a notable cause. In the PTA you, as an individual, count and are counted upon.

By joining hands with others who are working for better homes, better schools, and better communities, you can hasten the coming of a better future for all children.

There's a new and better world

to be fashioned for the sake of all mankind. But only as YOU unite your efforts with those of every other citizen can young minds and hearts be taught the ideas, ideals, and attitude that will build a true and lasting peace.

YOU are Needed in the PTA to: Help raise the standards of mental, emotional and spiritual health. Help build a nation of homes where parents and children get along will together and enjoy a satisfying family life.

Put into practice the findings of those who have made a lifework of understanding young people and their development.

Open the doors of educational opportunity to all children - - and to all adults as well - - whose knowledge that will make them informed citizens of a country where the rights of the individual will be forever safeguarded.

Take an active part in doing something practical and effective about juvenile delinquency, the most urgent child welfare problem facing America today.

The Hillsboro practice alarm was declared fairly successful. The siren was heard in some areas but not in others. The length of the short blasts was not quite three minutes due to the pressure being down in the first alarm whistle.

In summer we had an occasional Sunday school or grange picnic up at the lakes or on somebody's farm, and children sometimes came to play with us. We had the big barn and the whole farm for a play ground with a trout brook running through it. The trout had sense enough to keep out of sight. But we did fish for minnows with a worm on a willow stick - no line. We had the grandest sand bank that anybody ever had to play in - clean white sand with streaks of colored clay, which served as frostings for numerous pies and cakes we made.

We enjoyed the harvest season and the maple sugar time in the spring. The winter was long, but we had all kinds of games and two small boys across the road to play with, but the chief fun was coasting. We coasted all over God's country. We had no rules or regulations. The hills and the dales are still there but we liked to coast in the road best of all because after the snow had been well packed down by sleighs and a few broad runners of logging sleds it was very smooth and slippery. Children wouldn't be allowed to coast in the roads now and they couldn't anyway, as the the snow is taken off to well. I even had a bit of a sorry feeling come over me when I read that Jackson Street was to be open for coasting by the children. It seemed such a limited space.

When I heard Meeting House hill had been streightened I wished that it might have ben done sixty years ago, for we had time to slide down the hill once each noon, but at the turn in the road, before the last hill, we had to turn out in the snow to see if anyone was coming up that last pitch. One time when the boys, Ethel and I were coasting down the hill below our house a man came down in a sleigh right behind us and when we got to the foot he stopped and said we had beaten him down the hill, so gave us some cards. Well we were delighted with any kind of a card, and took them home and told the story. Walter said he gave them to us to advertise his business. But any card was treasured in those days and we were not interested in the advertising.

We had no skis in those days but we used anything to slide on the crust - milk pans, ironing boards, dishes, anything we could sit in to go down the little steep places. I even smashed my married sister's ironing board by running into a rock. We liked best the crust that came about the time we were making sugar. It was solid and we scampered around the crust like bugs. We always walked up the hills; there were no ski tows then.

We had a good time then, as children always will have a good time. Comparisons are useless.

Miss Ruth Brush and her fiance, Nils Wenblad, both of Peterboro, called on us Saturday. The Brushes formerly lived on School street in the present Tasker house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berger were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Seavey. The Bergers live on the old Crooker farm, which they have extensively repaired and improved.

Mrs. James Leach and son, Raymond Bennett, were in Manchester, Vt. Sunday to see her sister, Miss Stella Kendall, who has been ill in the past three weeks.

Sunday snow and rain made Monday like an April day with water running like rivers down the street. Tuesday morning the whole town was a vast skating rink.

House adjourns for the day. Presumably few of the representatives will leave their seats after the House adjourns, and plenty of others will jam into the hall to take in the hearings.

It still is rather indefinite as to who will appear as witnesses in favor of the Kimball forgiveness, and who will oppose it. Sen. Stanley Brown of Bradford has threatened a full-fledged fight against the proposal, but it is not known whether he will take his case to the Judiciary committee, or save his ammunition for use on the floor of the Senate, if the House passes the bill.

Remick Leighton, acting commissioner of the treasury since Kimball's removal from office, may be called by the committee to tell what he has learned about the treasury department since he took over three weeks ago. Another possible witness may be Leslie Frey, the Higelow-Kent-Willard management expert who is now investigating the department at the behest of Gov. Sherman Adams. There are rumors the committee may call both men to answer questions about state papers reported missing from the files. Nobody is willing to reveal what these missing papers are supposed to pertain to, or even to specify what sort of papers are missing.

Locking The Barn
Rep. Charles A. Holden of Hanover is sponsoring legislation that effectually should prevent any repetition of the overpayments on which the state hanged Treasurer Kimball. It wipes out a section of the 1931 Comptroller Act, which exempted the treasurer from keeping any records beyond those necessary to keep track of money received, held in the treasury or disbursed. It was the existence of that provision of law that most observers had expected would clear Kimball of liability when the state sued him. Obviously it didn't.

Rep. Holden has introduced House Bill 14, which requires the treasurer to set up detailed appropriation ledgers for every item for which the Legislature votes money. It would require the treasurer to keep records showing "at all times" the cash balances in every account. (In the past Kimball has had no records that showed whether or not any particular account had a balance. That's how he got into this mess.)

The Holden Bill also would give the treasurer the duty of refusing to honor any manifest, if it would result in an overdraft of an account.

About Kimball's Bond
Some commentators are giving the impression the $50,000 bond on Treasurer Kimball cannot be collected by the state, because the courts went out of their way to insist he "acted in good faith" while paying out illegal amounts of money to Cote. After repeated talks with state counsel, I am satisfied this is incorrect. The state can and will collect $50,000 from Kimball's bonding companies, unless the Legislature cancels the court's $237,000 judgement against him.

Gas Tax Increase
State House circles expect little or no opposition to the state Highway department's proposal for a one-cent increase in the state gas tax on auto users. Legislation is being prepared to boost the gasoline road toll to five cents a gallon, and will have the backing of the administration. Everybody concerned accepts this as a necessary step to finance a 15-year program of highway improvement being drawn up by Public Works Comr. Frank D. Merrill.

With this money available, General Merrill will begin immediately to construct a four-lane bypass around Nashua to the west of the city. Nashua's Main street carried 20,367 cars a day during November, a jump of 25 percent in one year. Within 18 months this four-lane road should reach Manchester, whose Elm street carries 15,000 cars a day. The next link of the four-lane super highway will be built to Concord, in an estimated three to four years.

Plenty of others roads are showing big increases in traffic, and will require better pavements and wider shoulders soon. The D. W. highway in Franconia now handles 750 cars a day, up 33 percent in one year. (It should be explained here these are November recordings, and are much less than peak summer traffic figures). Route 18 in Ossipee carries 1,207 cars a day, up 25 percent in one year. Route 4 in Andover carries 1,849 cars a day, up 19 percent. Traffic on Route 302 in Landaff is up 14 percent, and on Route 2 at Jefferson is up 13 percent.

The $7,000,000 Hampton toll road is about the only one that needs no attention, except for connecting highways. It carried 5,356 cars a day in November. To pay for itself and all necessary maintenance, this road must produce $800 a day in tolls. The average daily income so far is about $1,200 a day.

The toll road has caused some changes in nearby roads. Route 1 in North Hampton, which parallels the toll road, is now carrying 49 percent less traffic than it did a year ago. But traffic on Route 1-A in North Hampton has increased 60 percent, and on Route 101-C in Hampton is up 36 percent.

Plenty of cities and towns have one-way traffic laws, but the state has no such law, so the Highway department will ask the Legislature for this authority. The reason? The now four-lane Nashua-Manchester road will, due to contours and villages, have separations as wide as a quarter of a mile between its northbound and southbound lanes in some places. The existing highway will serve as one lane, and the new lane will be built as close to it as possible, without running into excessive land damage and construction costs. So the highway department wants authority to establish one-way traffic on these lanes.

Rev. Thomas Billings officiated at the service. The bearers were Philip and David Traxler, Ralph Smith and Peter Martel. Burial was in the family lot in Sunnyside cemetery. Woodbury and Son Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Bennington Speaker

REV. STANLEY NORTH

BENNINGTON — "The Protestant churches of the United States face both a real opportunity and a real danger. The loyalty of too many churches has been 'third rate sectarian' in the face of a Christian gospel that is too vital not to be taken seriously," says Rev. Stanley U. North, of New York City, General Secretary of the Division of Church Extension and Evangelism of the Congregational Christian Board of Home Missions, who will speak at the Sunday service, Jan. 21, in the Congregational Church of Bennington and at a meeting of ministers and lay people from this area in Peterborough Congregational Church, Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

We wonder how many of our readers are familiar with the magazine "Consumer Reports"? It is published monthly, in magazine form, but the December issue is in the form of a catalogue called the "buying guide issue" and is sort of a resume of the year's articles. The Consumer's Union purchases articles from soup to nuts in cities throughout the United States and then examines them in laboratories to find out how long they will wear or last, if they live up to the manufacturer's advertising, etc. The monthly reports and the guide list the results of their tests. Some of their articles are very revealing about certain products. The products are listed mostly as best buy, acceptable, (excellent, fair or good) and not acceptable. Sometimes they are listed in the order of cost. The last December issue has chapters on food products, drugs and medicine, clothing and textiles, household supplies, toilet goods and cosmetics, home equipment, gardening and miscellaneous. Automobiles, tires and electric shavers are discussed in this last chapter. If a person is going to buy an expensive piece of equipment it is well to see what Consumer's Report has to say about the various brands. But even if one is not going to buy anything it is very interesting reading. The pages on soaps and shampoos were very interesting to us and we intend to change our brand of soap. Probably not all brands listed in the guide will be found in the local stores, but we shall try to get the best we can for our money according to the report and the brands that are in the stores. Another interesting page was on liquid fertilizers and plant tablets for house plants.

Even if one doesn't care much about the results of the tests most of the articles are prefaced with a paragraph of good common sense about each item.

In summer we had an occasional Sunday school or grange picnic up at the lakes or on somebody's farm, and children sometimes came to play with us. We had the big barn and the whole farm for a play ground with a trout brook running through it. The trout had sense enough to keep out of sight. But we did fish for minnows with a worm on a willow stick - no line. We had the grandest sand bank that anybody ever had to play in - clean white sand with streaks of colored clay, which served as frostings for numerous pies and cakes we made.

We enjoyed the harvest season and the maple sugar time in the spring. The winter was long, but we had all kinds of games and two small boys across the road to play with, but the chief fun was coasting. We coasted all over God's country. We had no rules or regulations. The hills and the dales are still there but we liked to coast in the road best of all because after the snow had been well packed down by sleighs and a few broad runners of logging sleds it was very smooth and slippery. Children wouldn't be allowed to coast in the roads now and they couldn't anyway, as the snow is taken off to well. I even had a bit of a sorry feeling come over me when I read that Jackson Street was to be open for coasting by the children. It seemed such a limited space.

When I heard Meeting House Hill had been streightened I wished that it might have ben done sixty years ago, for we had time to slide down the hill once each noon, but at the turn in the road, before the last hill, we had to turn out in the snow to see if anyone was coming up that last pitch. One time when the boys, Ethel and I were coasting down the hill below our house a man came down in a sleigh right behind us and when we got to the foot he stopped and said we had beaten him down the hill, so gave us some cards. Well we were delighted with any kind of a card, and took them home and told the story. Walter said he gave them to us to advertise his business. But any card was treasured in those days and we were not interested in the advertising.

We had no skis in those days but we used anything to slide on the crust - milk pans, ironing boards, dishes; anything we could sit in to go down the little steep places. I even smashed my married sister's ironing board by running into a rock. We liked best the crust that came about the time we were making sugar. It was solid and we scampered around the crust like bugs. We always walked up the hills; there were no ski tows then.

We had a good time then, as children always will have a good time. Comparisons are useless.

Mrs. James Leach and son, Raymond Bennett, were in Manchester, Vt. Sunday to see her sister, Miss Stella Kendall, who has been ill in the past three weeks.

THE STATE HOUSE JOURNAL

House adjourns for the day. Presumably few of the representatives will leave their seats after the House adjourns, and plenty of others will jam into the hall to take in the hearings.

It still is rather indefinite as to who will appear as witnesses in favor of the Kimball forgiveness, and who will oppose it. Sen. Stanley Brown of Bradford has threatened a full-fledged fight against the proposal, but it is not known whether he will take his case to the Judiciary committee, or save his ammunition for use on the floor of the Senate, if the House passes the bill.

Remick Loughton, acting commissioner of the treasury since Kimball's removal from office, may be called by the committee to tell what he has learned about the treasury department since he took over three weeks ago. Another possible witness may be Leslie Frey, the Bigelow-Kent-Willard management expert who is now investigating the department at the behest of Gov. Sherman Adams. There are rumors the committee may call both men to answer questions about state papers reported missing from the files. Nobody is willing to reveal what these missing papers are supposed to pertain to, or even to specify what sort of papers are missing.

Locking The Barn
Rep. Charles A. Holden of Hanover is sponsoring legislation that effectually should prevent any repetition of the overpayments on which the state hanged Treasurer Kimball. It wipes out a section of the 1931 Comptroller Act, which exempted the treasurer from keeping any records beyond those necessary to keep track of money received, held in the treasury or disbursed. It was the existence of that provision of law that most observers had expected would clear Kimball of liability when the state sued him. Obviously it didn't.

Rep. Holden has introduced House Bill 14, which requires the treasurer to set up detailed appropriation ledgers for every item for which the Legislature votes money. It would require the treasurer to keep records showing "at all times" the cash balances in every account. (In the past Kimball has had no records that showed whether or not any particular account had a balance. That's how he got into this mess.)

The Holden Bill also would give the treasurer the duty of refusing to honor any manifest, if it would result in an overdraft of an account.

About Kimball's Bond
Some commentators are giving the impression the $50,000 bond on Treasurer Kimball cannot be collected by the state, because the courts went out of their way to insist he "acted in good faith" while paying out illegal amounts of money to Cote. After repeated talks with state counsel, I am satisfied this is incorrect. The state can and will collect $50,000 from Kimball's bonding companies, unless the Legislature cancels the court's $237,000 judgement against him.

Gas Tax Increase
State House circles expect little or no opposition to the state Highway department's proposal for a one-cent increase in the state gas tax on auto users. Legislation is being prepared to boost the gasoline road toll to five cents a gallon, and will have the backing of the administration. Everybody concerned accepts this as a necessary step to finance a 15-year program of highway improvement being drawn up by Public Works Comr. Frank D. Merrill.

With this money available, General Merrill will begin immediately to construct a four-lane bypass around Nashua to the west of the city. Nashua's Main street carried 20,367 cars a day during November, a jump of 25 percent in one year. Within 18 months this four-lane road should reach Manchester, whose Elm street carries 15,000 cars a day. The next link of the four-lane super highway will be built to Concord, in an estimated three to four years.

Plenty of others roads are showing big increases in traffic, and will require better pavements and wider shoulders soon. The D. W. highway in Franconia now handles 750 cars a day, up 33 percent in one year. (It should be explained here these are November recordings, and are much less than peak summer traffic figures). Route 16 in Ossipee carries 1,207 cars a day, up 25 percent in one year. Route 4 in Andover carries 1,869 cars a day, up 19 percent. Traffic on Route 302 in Landaff is up 14 percent, and on Route 2 at Jefferson is up 13 percent.

The $7,000,000 Hampton toll road is about the only one that needs no attention, except for connecting highways. It carried 5,356 cars a day in November. To pay for itself and all necessary maintenance, this road must produce $800 a day in tolls. The average daily income so far is about $1,200 a day.

The toll road has caused some changes in nearby roads. Route 1 in North Hampton, which parallels the toll road, is now carrying 49 percent less traffic than it did a year ago. But traffic on Route 1-A in North Hampton has increased 60 percent, and on Route 101-C in Hampton is up 36 percent.

Plenty of cities and towns have one-way traffic laws, but the state has no such law, so the Highway department will ask the Legislature for this authority. The reason? The now four-lane Nashua-Manchester road will, due to contours and villages, have separations as wide as a quarter of a mile between its northbound and southbound lanes in some places. The existing highway will serve as one lane, and the new lane will be built as close to it as possible, without running into excessive land damage and construction costs. So the highway department wants authority to establish one-way traffic on these lanes.

Funeral Services for Fred Anson Bartlett

BENNINGTON — The funeral of Fred Anson Bartlett took place at his residence on Wednesday of last week. Mr. Bartlett was born here eighty-nine years ago, the son of John M. and Martha (Gould) Bartlett. He married Emma G. Keyser on Jan. 1, 1892 in Winchendon, Mass. He was the oldest native born Bennington resident and lived with his wife in their own home in town. He is survived by his wife; sister, Minnie Bartlett Cady, and several nephews and nieces.

Rev. Thomas Billings officiated at the service. The bearers were Philip and David Traxler, Ralph Smith and Peter Martel. Burial was in the family lot in Sunnyside cemetery. Woodbury and Son Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Bennington Speaker

REV. STANLEY NORTH

BENNINGTON — "The Protestant churches of the United States face both a real opportunity and a real danger. The loyalty of too many churches has been 'third rate sectarian' in the face of a Christian gospel that is too vital not to be taken seriously," says Rev. Stanley U. North, of New York City, General Secretary of the Division of Church Extension and Evangelism of the Congregational Christian Board of Home Missions, who will speak at the Sunday service, Jan. 21, in the Congregational Church of Bennington and at a meeting of ministers and lay people from this area in Peterborough Congregational Church, Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Each member of the aide is asked to bring a friend to this meeting. At the regular meetings the members mend for the hospital. Our local Hospital Aide is only one of many in the surrounding towns. Every lady in town should be interested in this project. ## SPORTSMEN'S COLUMN

By GEORGE S. PROCTOR

NEW HAMPSHIRE CONSERVATION OFFICER

Wilton, N. H.

There is a very interesting article on page 134 of the January number of Popular Science. It describes the Souhegan Mill at Wilton, owned by C. Randolph Myer. They are making stronger wood out of wood waste. The article is entitled "Man Made Lumber Better and Cheaper Than Natural Wood." The article is illustrated by pictures of Robert Mallows, Sr., Norman Batchelder, Fred Beauregard and my son-in-law, Evan Day, Jr. Nice article.

Here is a party that wants to get some nice films for a grange program. Write to the fish and Game Department, Concord, N. H. They have a fine library of fish and game films and will be glad to let you use them. You pay mail or express charges both ways.

The deer season for 1950 is over but will remain in the minds of a good many people for a long time to come. The other day just before the season closed one of my neighbors went down to get his mail and found where some trigger happy hunter had fired three bullets right through the metal mail box. There was mail in the box at the time. Had it happened a few days before it would have ruined some Christmas mail. Now who is this up to: the Federal government? the State? the County? or the local Police Department? It was a high powered rifle and of a high calibre.

A lady over in Perham Corner phones over to tell me of a large flock of robins in her yard eating berries from bushes. It may be she saw grosbeaks but she still maintains they were robins.

Old hunters tell us that you can tell what the winter will be. If the fur on a cat or raccoon is thick, look for a hard winter. I hate to tell you but my old male raccoon was out for food a few days ago and I ran my hand into his fur and—I hate to tell you—it was thick. Watch out.

E. P. Baldwin of East Jaffrey reports that the last snow storm drove in eight hen pheasants and one big male. He runs a free lunch counter for the wild birds and this is the first time they have showed up.

Some time back I reported that a mallard duck had a band on its leg that was placed in the wrong place. This made the duck very lame. One of the men at Whiting's mill caught the hen, removed the band, and now the duck is enjoying better health. Abbott Machine shops takes a great interest in that flock of mallards and feeds them daily. Woe to anyone who tries to disturb that flock. Last reports place the flock at 34. The ratio of drakes is running four to one.

A man in a nearby town found a big buck deer dead a short ways from his home. He went up to see if the pelt was worth saving and found that a huge bobcat had come and ruined the pelt. By the tracks in the fresh snow this cat was a big one. This man is a hunter and knows his cats.

Did you see the 1949-50 Biennial Report of the N. H. Fish and Game Department? A 103 page report, well written and with pictures galore and a lot of real interesting reading. If you are a licensed fisherman or hunter, write for your copy. It's good.

Who said that hunting and fishing was not big business. Here are the official figures by Director A. M. Day of the fish and Wildlife Service: Paid in by all the states in 1949-50, $37,641,049 by 12,626, 539 people. Non-residents were 196,592. Duck stamps were bought by 1,954,734. Total hunters for N. H. were 84-706 who paid in $500,-088.

'Here's the Pitch'

By "Bump" Hadley

WBZ, WBZ-TV Sportscenter and Former Major League Pitcher

TWO BROOKLYN Dodger cast-offs may make the Chicago Cubs a first division ball club this next season. The Chicago Cubs picked up Kevin (Chuck) Connors, a pretty fair first baseman, and then they acquired Omar (Turk) Lown, a right handed pitcher, in the player draft. It looks as though some one in Brooklyn slipped up on Turk Lown. He was born and reared in Brooklyn, and has been in the Dodger farm system for six years. In those six years he won 72 games and lost only 43, but in spite of this record, he never had a chance to display his talents with the Dodger varsity.

Turk is as wild as a hawk, and that may be one reason why the Dodgers didn't bring him up to Brooklyn. Despite this wildness he won 13 while losing nine for the Montreal Royals in the International League last season. His 13 victories included five in a row at the start of the season. His chief stock in trade is a smoking fast ball, but he also has a knuckler and a change up, to keep the batters uneasy. Lown may be the answer to the Cubs' crying need for a strong-armed right hander.

As for Connors, this former Seton Hall and N.B.A. basketball star, has been up with the Dodgers two or three times, and never stuck around even though he has consistently hit better than .300 in the International league. These two ex-Dodgers could make a terrific difference in the Chicago picture, if the Cubs come through this Spring.

Hillsboro Farmerettes Lose First Game to Penacook

by Marjorie Jones

HILLSBORO — Friday night the Hillsboro Farmerettes played in the gym in Penacook.

The game was close and fast all the way, which made it a thrilling game.

Ginny Bernard was high scorer with 17 points; Pat Perham made 6; Franny Rosenberg and Anne Carrew made 2 points each.

The score at the half was 18-18. In the last quarter the Penacook team dropped in one basket and a foul shot. The Farmerettes played very hard but they just couldn't beat that score.

Elsie Edwards did a very good job of keeping the score down by intercepting many passes.

J.V.'s BEAT KEENE On Wednesday, Jan. 10, the Hillsboro J.V.'s beat a fighting Keene team 40-31. In a preliminary to the KI-Kimball Jeweler game.

It was a hard fast game all the way but the dead-eye shooting of Serge Bernard, Jr., with 24 points proved to be all that was needed.

more places that want them but let's send them to Mrs. LaChance.

A frog breeder in West Virginia is trying to get me interested in raising big frogs. There is big money in frogs, so he says. Do you know of any one in this neck of the woods that has ever tried to raise them in our climate?

I heard a man ask a poultryman once something like this: "Is there any money in the poultry business?" To which the poultryman replied, "You bet your life there is. I have $10,000 in it. He knew.

You know I like an argument, but some of them I can't solve so I write to the Department for the right answer. Well, I got two of them solved. Can a man or woman help his pal get a deer by barking like a dog? You can't use a whistle or any other noise-making device, but you can sing or bark. Can a man who has got his deer go into the woods with a rifle? There is nothing in the N. H. Game laws to stop him. He might be hunting bobcats or other vermin.

KEARSARGE INDEPENDENTS DEFEAT CONCORD LEGION

by Robert C. Record

HILLSBORO — The high riding Kearsarge Independents rolled to their third straight victory of the season, by defeating the Concord Legion 98 to 64 in Hillsboro Sunday night.

The KI's started the game off with a bang when Art Kendrick scored in the opening thirty seconds followed by Russ Baston who scored and sank a foul shot to make the score 4 to 0. The game was fast played and not once during the whole time was the Legion able to come close to giving the KI's any trouble.

Russ Baston, former St. Anselm's ace, captured the scoring honors for the Independents, with 27 points; while Capt. Ed. Tunny paced the losers with 26 points.

Height and the ability to score at will, was the deciding factor, and the Concord Legion was soon steam-rollered by the Independents. The KI's recent victory over the strong Kimball Jewelers of Dover, added the Legion to their victory list with comparative ease, to retain their winning streak.

The Kearsarge Independents will play the Penacook Legion this coming Thursday, January 18, at Henniker. The game will start at 8:00 with no preliminary.

HENNIKER TEAM PLAYS AT BOSTON GARDEN

HENNIKER — The High school basketball team was in Boston on Tuesday to play a game at the Boston Garden. Their opponents, St. Andrews Episcopal school of Barrington, R. I., won the game. We are not sure of the score but believe it was about 68-36. The Rhode Island boys were taller and heavier, and the local boys were all tired out from a hard game played with Hopkinton High school on Monday evening. Quite a number of parents and pupils went to Boston to attend the game. Everett Hadley, formerly of Henniker taught at the St. Andrews school last year, but he is now studying at Brown University for his Master's degree.

Plan Organization of Junior 4-H Dairy Club

HILLSBORO — The Young Farmers 4-H Club of Hillsboro is sponsoring the formation of a Junior 4-H Dairy Club. This club will take in anyone between the ages of 10 and 13. The prospective member must have a dairy project, that is, own a calf or cow and assume the responsibility of feeding and managing the animal. The purpose of the 4-H Dairy Club is to create an interest in better dairy animals and better methods of raising them. Those who would like to join a club of this kind should contact John Tasker, Jr., before February 4th.

HILLSBORO — On Friday, Jan. 12, Hillsboro High traveled to Penacook to take a 62-32 victory. Hillsboro jumped off to an early lead and held it throughout the rest of the game against the hard fighting but much out-classed Penacook five.

The Hillsboro forwards and center were continuously stealing the ball from the Penacook guards for easy scores and this coupled with the fine shooting of Diz Grimes, floating in and out from his guard position, spelled defeat for Penacook.

Bud Gove was high scorer with 16 points followed closely by Diz Grimes with 15.

CHRISTINE BROWN TO REPRESENT ANTRIM

ANTRIM—Miss Christine Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Brown of North Branch Village, has been selected to represent Antrim High school in the Good Citizenship contest being conducted by the National Society of the DAR. She will represent Molly Aiken Chapter.

Next Saturday, Miss Brown will answer a written examination in American History prepared by the Good Citizenship committee of the N. H. State DAR.

On March 14 she will attend the annual luncheon for Good Citizenship girls in Concord as guest of the local chapter.

The state winner will be selected at this event.

Miss Brown is an excellent student. She is treasurer of the student council and Editor-in-chief of the school paper "Snews." She attended grade school at the North Branch rural school.

Antrim Club Plans Senior vs Junior Matches

ANTRIM — The Antrim Rod and Gun club rifle teams will hold a junior vs. senior rifle match Thursday evening, Jan. 18, at the Hillsboro Indoor Gallery. The teams, which were organized and affiliated with the National Rifle Association last July, have been shooting regularly ever since.

During the winter months the junior team has been shooting at the Hillsboro range every Thursday evening except the second Thursday of the month, on which night the regular monthly meeting of the Rod and Gun club is held. The boys are now participating in the N.R.A. Junior Pistol Matches which run for four months.

HILLSBORO — Milford came to Hillsboro rated as one of the best teams in Class B but were soon shown that they would have to prove it, Hillsboro winning the game, 46-42.

In the first half Hillsboro played much superior to Milford and had a four point advantage, 29-25, at half-time.

In the third frame Milford cut the lead slowly and led 36-35 at the end.

The final period was a different story for with both teams driving hard and the score steadily rising the Hillsboro defense suddenly clicked and Milford was unable to score. The Hillsboro offensive continued to work as in the final minute Jim Duval twice stole the ball and dribbled down the floor for lazy scores.

It was definitely the best ball game Hillsboro has played this year for every man was playing the game to the limit, playing as he had never played before.

Al Taylor, playing his heart out and taking rebounds from much taller opponents, Walt Whitney and Diz Grimes controlling the defensive backboard and Jim Duval's final minute drive were some of the highlights for the terrific ball game Hillsboro played. T. Forsyth was high scorer with 19 points, Bud Gove was high man for Hillsboro with 15 points.

In the preliminary the Hillsboro J.V.'s defeated the Milford J.V.'s 50-42 in one of their best performances this year. The Hillsboro J.V.'s were on top all the way due to the fine shooting of Dean Jordan with 21 points and Serge Bernard with 16 points.

HILLSBORO (46)
Rf. Taylor 5-0-10; lf. Mordough 2-1-5, Duval 3-0-6; c. Teixeira 0-1-1, Gove 5-5-15; rg. Grimes 1-1-3; lg. Whitney 2-2-6.

MILFORD (42)
Lg. McLeod 4-0-8; rg. Villane 1-0-2; c. J. Forsyth 1-4-6, Stimpson 0-0-0; lf. T. Forsyth 8-3-19, Hardwick 1-1-3; rg. Frosier 2-0-4.

A great tribute to Hillsboro High school was the fact that Marty McDonough who has refereed only two other high school games this year was on hand for the game.

McDonough has officiated many college games in the Boston Garden this year and will be one of the officials at the Holy Cross-Springfield game next week.

Watch for the scores of this junior-senior match. The boys challenged the 'Old Boys' and stipulated that the losing team will furnish refreshments at the next Rod and Gun club meeting.
